Theme: "Inequality and Social Policy: A Challenge for Sociology"

The past quarter century has witnessed rising inequality in the distribution of income and wealth and declining job stability for many groups of workers. Sociologists have been at the forefront of research on the causes of these trends, the role of social policy in intensifying or alleviating them, and the unintended consequences of policy outcomes. Sociology's presence in policy analysis, once a subject of contention, is now an established fact. Sociological research has revealed how the scarcity of jobs in inner city neighborhoods undermines public policies designed to encourage the poor to work, how constricted opportunity early in life affects the distribution of health, income, and wealth in later life, and how the process of measuring inequality influences the public agenda. Much progress has been made. Much work remains to be done. One challenge for sociology, in the words of C. Wright Mills, is to reveal how "personal troubles of milieu" are linked to "public issues of social structure." Another challenge is to help the lay public, policymakers, and public officials recognize the relevance of sociological research for public policy. The final challenge is to confront once more an old question: What is a good society and how can sociology help create it?
1998 Annual Meeting Schedule

The official days of the 1998 ASA Annual Meeting are Friday to Tuesday, August 21-25, 1998. Program sessions are scheduled on all five days. There are also pre-meeting activities scheduled on Thursday, August 20; see Program Highlights for complete details.

Most program sessions are 1 hour and 45 minutes in length, followed by a 15-minute break. Exceptions are clearly noted in the detailed program schedule. The turnover schedule is as follows:

- 8:30 a.m.-10:15 a.m.
- 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
- 12:30 p.m.-2:15 p.m.
- 2:30 p.m.-4:15 p.m.
- 4:30 p.m.-6:15 p.m.
- 6:30 p.m.-8:15 p.m.
- 8:30 p.m.-10:15 p.m.

The 6:30-8:15 p.m. time slot is normally allocated for Section receptions and member-sponsored activities and meetings of other groups. The major Plenary Sessions are scheduled for 4:30-6:15 p.m. on the first and second days, and 12:30-2:15 p.m. on the third day of the meeting. All sessions end by 4:15 p.m. on the fifth day.

Plenary Sessions Focus on Inequality and Social Policy

The Annual Meeting theme of "Inequality and Social Policy: A Challenge for Sociology" is being addressed in both of the 1998 plenaries. The opening plenary session will look at the dismantling of Affirmative Action nationally and in the state of California. Beginning with a short address by Mayor Willie Brown, this session builds upon sociological research and insights to reflect on affirmative action and the attempts to dismantle this policy framework.

The focus on social policy and inequality continues with the mid-day plenary on Sunday, August 23. Welfare reform, the global economy, and the changing fabric of U.S. society are altering the nature of the welfare state. Attendees are invited to brown-bag their lunches and participate in a presentation and discussion of the future of the welfare state. Make sure your meeting schedule includes both of these major sessions!

Opening Plenary. A Town Meeting on the Dismantling of Affirmative Action
Session 106, Friday, August 21, 4:30-6:30 p.m.

ASA Business Meeting and Open Forum

The ASA Business Meeting is an opportunity for members of the Association to discuss important issues facing the discipline and profession. Members are encouraged to attend this “town business meeting” convened by ASA officers and Council.

In response to member feedback, President Jill Quadagno indicates that one agenda item will be an open discussion on the ASA Committee restructuring (featured in the April issue of Footnotes). This is an opportunity for members to learn about and discuss the implications of and next steps under the new committee framework.

Summary reports on the Association and its key activities this year will be given by President Quadagno, Secretary Sullivan, and Executive Officer Levine. The meeting concludes with the traditional transfer of the gavel, marking the transition of duties from President Quadagno to incoming President Portes.

All meeting attendees are invited to join ASA officers, Council members, and staff for continental breakfast and discussion at the ASA Business Meeting on Monday, August 24, 7:30-8:30 a.m., in Continental Ballroom 4 at the San Francisco Hilton.

Thematic Sessions

Thematic Sessions are devoted to investigating the meeting theme, "Inequality and Social Policy: A Challenge for Sociology." Cataline Hering, University of Illinois, Chicago
The Scope of Welfare in the Lives of the Poor: Policy and Research
Assumptions. Sandra K. Danziger, University of Michigan Given that one of the major charges of the public sector has been to ensure the protection of the public, what does the fact that the public sector is being reduced mean for that public, especially those people who cannot secure private services for themselves and their families? Can we see specific patterns in increased vulnerability of certain populations or areas of government service (for example, the imbalance as we expand prisons, even private ones, while many municipalities neglect public schools)? What are the responses to protests if they occur? Can we look and see if privatizing works? Is it cost effective? Does it really mean high quality service for people? There are many issues and unintended consequences of the reduced commitment of federal, state, and municipal governments.

A Town Discussion on Race, Racism, and Race Relations: ASA’s Initiative and Social Science Contributions to the National Conversation (co-sponsored by the Sydney S. Spivack Program in Applied Social Research and Social Policy)
Session 359, Monday, August 24, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Ballroom 6
Organizer and Presider: Felix J. Levine, American Sociological Association
Panel: John M. Goering, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and the President’s Initiative on Race
Roderick Harrison, U.S. Bureau of the Census
Melton L. Oliver, The Ford Foundation
Roberta M. Sailer-Roth, American Sociological Association
Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation
This thematic session is designed as an open forum on the ASA Initiative on Race, Racism, and Race Relations and the implications of this project for President Clinton’s National Conversation on “Race, One America.” The purpose of this session is to present and consider the results of ASA’s project to map social and behavioral science knowledge on key issues related to race and race relations in society. The conversation will focus on the nature of this knowledge; what it means; how, where, or if it dispels myths or misconceptions; what future research needs to be done; and the relevance of this work to key decisionmakers and opinion leaders. Materials will be available in advance of the session; brief presentations will be followed by a town meeting discussion.

Gender and Welfare State Restructuring
Session 388, Monday, August 24, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Ballroom 5

Seventh Annual Research Support Forum

Featured speakers include NSF’s William Butz, NIMH’s Ellen Stover, OSTP’s Judith Auerbach, former Census Director Martha Farnsworth Riche

ASA is pleased to announce the seventh annual Research Support Forum on Saturday through Monday, August 22-24. This year’s Forum features two science policy sessions, three professional workshops (two on proposal preparation), and two poster/exhibit sessions (one on research funding and the other on data resources).

The Forum begins on Saturday morning at 8:30 a.m., with a session on “Proposal Grantsmanship and Opportunities for Federal Funding for Research.” Representatives from leading science agencies will discuss available support, offer advice on how to best develop competitive research proposals, and outline the review and evaluation process. Audience questions are encouraged.

The second session in the Forum on “Science Policy and Core Issues and Opportunities in the Social Sciences” is scheduled for Saturday at 10:30 a.m. Panelists include William Butz (National Science Foundation), Ellen Stover (National Institute of Mental Health), and Judith D. Auerbach (Office of Science and Technology Policy). This Special Session brings together key science policy leaders to discuss current policy issues relating to the social and behavioral sciences. Panelists will assess the past year and consider opportunities, priorities, and strategies for advancing the social sciences and funding support.

The poster/exhibit session on “Research Funding Opportunities” takes place on Saturday from 1:00-4:00 p.m. Representatives from public and private funding organizations will be available to talk individually with meeting attendees about funding priorities, application procedures, and other specific issues of concern. It is an important opportunity to obtain face-to-face advice and information. See page 205 for a complete listing with program descriptions.

The Research Support Forum continues with a second three-hour poster session on “Data Resources,” Sunday morning from 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon. This session provides meeting participants with an opportunity to meet principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale data sets that are publicly available for use. Each exhibit showcases at least one major data set of significance for secondary analysis. This event is an excellent way of learning about available data and their potential for a range of research and teaching uses. Page 213 presents a complete listing with program descriptions.

On Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p.m., a Special Session centers on the Challenges to Census 2000. Martha Farnsworth Riche, Director of the Bureau of the Census from 1994-1998 will join a panel including Reynolds Farley (Russell Sage Foundation), Linda Gage (California Department of Finance), and Felice J. Levine (American Sociological Association). This session will focus on the challenges to and controversy about the conduct of a Census 2000 of the highest quality and accuracy.

This year’s Forum also features two practical sessions dedicated to writing grant proposals. An intensive Didactic Seminar on “Crafting a Competitive Research Proposal” is scheduled for Sunday morning at 8:30 a.m. Preregistration and fee payment are required. Also, a Professional Workshop on “Writing a Successful Grant Proposal: Advice and Opportunities for Beginners” is scheduled for Monday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. for all meeting participants.

The Research Support Forum is designed to provide invaluable help, access, and consideration of important substantive and policy issues for new researchers and more experienced scholars. From the opening workshop on Saturday morning to the closing session on Monday afternoon, attendees can count on plentiful access to a variety of funding experts and data sources during the 1998 Forum.

Professional Workshop. Proposal Grantsmanship and Opportunities for Federal Funding for Research
Session 114, Saturday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza A
Organizer and Presider: Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation Panel: Christine Bachrach, National Institute of Child Development, National Institutes of Health
Joseph Orany, Office of Educational Research and Improvement, U.S. Department of Education
Edward J. Hackett, Science and Technology Studies Program, National Science Foundation
Barry Markovsky, Sociology Program, National Science Foundation
Sidney M. Stahl, National Institute on Aging, National Institutes of Health

Science Policy and Core Issues and Opportunities in the Social Sciences
Session 140, Saturday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza A
Organizer and Presider: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association
Panel: William Buzz, National Science Foundation
Ellen Saxer, National Institute of Mental Health
Judith D. Auerbach, White House Office of Science and Technology Policy

Poster Session. Opportunities for Research Support
Session 194, Saturday, August 22, 1:00-4:00 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizers: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association; and Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation

Didactic Seminar. Grant Writing: Crafting a Competitive Research Proposal
Session 225, Sunday, August 23, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Fee: $25; tickets required for admission
Martin K. Whyte, George Washington University

Poster Session. Data Resources
Session 245, Sunday, August 23, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon

San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizers: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association; and Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation

Special Session. Census 2000: Issues for Sociologists (co-sponsored by the ASA Committee on National Statistics)
Session 304, Sunday, August 23, 4:30-6:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 15-16
Organizer and Presider: William H. Frey, University of Michigan
Panel: Martha Farnsworth Riche, U.S. Census Bureau, Director (1994-98)
Reynolds Farley, Russell Sage Foundation
Linda Gage, California Department of Finance
Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association

Writing a Successful Grant Proposal: Advice and Opportunities for Beginners
Session 421, Monday, August 24, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation
Christine Bachrach, National Institute of Child Development, National Institutes of Health

Open Refereed Roundtables

The 1998 Program Committee has continued this open roundtable component which was added to the general program three years ago. Bruce Bellingham (Florida State University) was invited to review submissions and organize roundtable sessions using a "mini-session" format: a general topic identified for each table, two to five paper presentations, and a table presider to coordinate presentations and discussion.

Three Open Refereed Roundtable Sessions are included on this year’s program; details are in the Program Schedule under sessions 255, 310, and 424.

Informal Discussion Roundtables

This popular program component is designed to bring together small groups of people interested in discussing specific topics. The 1998 Program Committee invited William A. Edwards (University of San Francisco) to review submitted proposals and coordinate topics and discussion leaders. Five informal discussion sessions have been organized around general topics. Please refer sessions 119, 229, 256, 311, and 367 in the Program Schedule for complete details on these roundtable sessions.

In addition, one session was allocated for regional networking discussions hosted by the Committee on International Sociology; see session 119x in the Program Schedule.

Since roundtable discussions are held simultaneously in one large meeting room, no audio-visual equipment or recording devices may be used.
Poster Sessions

This program component features a series of display presentations that allow face-to-face conversation between authors and viewers. By facilitating informal discussions between presenters and "browsers," Poster Sessions provide a more direct forum for information exchange than do formal paper presentations.

The 1998 Program Committee invited Allan L. McCutcheon (University of Nebraska, Lincoln) to review general submissions and select poster presentations. Three sessions have been arranged from the open submissions. In addition, the Program Committee reserved space for a computer demo poster session on "Computer Simulations for Use in Research and Teaching," organized by Jacqueline Cashen (Sociometrics Corporation).

The Research Support Forum (announced on page 10 in this program) includes two major poster sessions to highlight research funding opportunities and data resources. As part of the Graduate Education focus, a poster session is scheduled featuring displays and representatives from participating graduate departments of sociology.

The varied roster of display presentations includes something of interest for every meeting attendee. Be sure to include some time in your schedule to visit this year’s poster displays.

Research Poster Session. Methodology and Rational Choice
Session 89, Friday, August 21, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizer: Allan L. McCutcheon, University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Research Poster Session. Family and Health
Session 118, Saturday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizer: Allan L. McCutcheon, University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Poster Session. Opportunities for Research Support
Session 194, Saturday, August 22, 1:00-4:00 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizers: Felice J. Levine and Andrea Lose, American Sociological Association; and Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation

Poster Session. Data Resources
Session 245, Sunday, August 23, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizer: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association

Poster Session. Graduate Programs in Sociology
Session 309, Sunday, August 23, 4:30-6:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizer: Steve Hoffman, American Sociological Association

Research Poster Session. Inequality, Mobility, and Social Change
Session 338, Monday, August 24, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizer: Allan L. McCutcheon, University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Computer Demo Poster Session. Computer Simulations for Use in Research and Teaching
Session 397, Monday, August 24, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizers: Jacqueline Cashen and James L. Peterson, Sociometrics Corporation

Didactic Seminars

Didactic Seminars are designed to keep sociologists abreast of recent scholarly trends and developments. Experts considered to be at the forefront of a given field are invited by the Program Committee to conduct these sessions. There are eight seminars this year.

Seminar speakers will present materials to explain specialized developments within their topic areas. Seminars are scheduled for two to four hours, except for the pre-meeting course co-sponsored by the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research and the ASA Section on Methodology. Please see the listing below for session details and brief descriptions provided by the leaders.

Attendance at each Didactic Seminar is limited to 50 people unless noted otherwise, and prepaid registration is required. Fees are noted with each seminar listing below. All persons registering for seminars must also be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting. Attendees who preregistered should have received their tickets with their name badges when they picked up their program materials at ASA Preregistration.

Reservations for all seminars are accepted in order of receipt in the ASA Executive Office. Those who did not make advance reservations may check at the ASA Tickets counter in Grand Ballroom A at the San Francisco Hilton for possible openings.

Statistical Graphics for Data Analysis and Regression (co-sponsored by the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research and the ASA Section on Methodology)
Session 1, Thursday, August 20, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon; 1:00-4:00 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza B
Fees: $100 Methodology Section member, $60 students, $125 other
Ticket required for admission
John D. Fox, McMaster University

Effective data analysts have always examined their data carefully, and the efficiency of the human visual system makes statistical graphs a particularly effective means for looking closely at data. Perhaps because constructing graphs used to be tedious and time-consuming, the prescription to graph data as part of the process of statistical analysis is most often honored in the breach. The widespread availability of powerful computing and modern statistical software, together with John Tukey's seminal work on exploratory data analysis in the 1970s, have produced a resurgence of interest in statistical graphs. This seminar will focus on the role of statistical graphs in data analysis, although there will also be some discussion of presentation graphics, the psychophysics of graph perception, and the history of statistical graphics. Emphasis will be placed on graphical methods associated with linear regression analysis and related techniques, including nonparametric regression. The seminar assumes prior exposure to linear least-squares multiple regression.

Organizational Learning
Session 85, Friday, August 21, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Fee: $25; ticket required for admission
Robert Cole, University of California, Berkeley

This seminar will explore approaches to organizational learning which grow out of long term study of how and to what extent American managers in the automotive and electronic sectors were able to respond to the Japanese quality challenge of the 1980s. We will contrast conventional views of fads as ephemeral phenomena with a view of fads serving as building blocks linked to organizational learning. The latter approach is premised on the understanding that we learn something new by connecting it to what we already know. We will also explore the role of national infrastructures in imposing order on management understanding of new initiatives and creating a building block mentality. We will detail the role of the quality movement in evolving an agreed-upon process of how quality improvement could and should unfold.

A second theme we explore is the various ways in which one firm’s practices may serve as a model for another and how missing elements may seriously compromise the ability to turn learning into practice. We do this through a case study of Hewlett-Packard, an exception, which has neither ideal conditions for learning about the new innovations. In doing so we will compare various approaches to facilitating the learning process. We will also examine the role of organizations operating at the national, industry and local levels which came to constitute a national infrastructure for diffusing quality improvement and their impact on bridging the gap between learning and doing. We stress the intermediary role played by institutional infrastructures in helping organizations learn from one another. Critical to organizational learning is the sharing of information. We examine the conditions under which firms were willing to engage in such sharing to improve quality.

Finally using the case of Hewlett-Packard, a highly decentralized company, we ask what conditions facilitate one part of an organization learning from another. This model is contrasted with the top-down approach favored by highly centralized firms.

Theory and Methods in Historical Sociology: Changing the Canon
Session 112, Saturday, August 22, 8:30-11:30 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Fee: $25; ticket required for admission; attendance limited to 25
Mary Jo Deegan, University of Nebraska, Lincoln
Michael R. Hill

Historical sociology requires major changes in the practices associated with data collection and the conception of sociological knowledge. The first half of this seminar discusses the use of qualitative historical data, with a segment drawing on Michael R. Hill's book, Archival Strategies and Techniques (Sage, 1993). The second half of this seminar discusses the reconceptualization of sociology in terms of leading figures, core writings, and using historical knowledge. Participants will read a packet on archival strategies, socioautobiographies, institutional histories, and sample writings by women and people of color who are often excluded from the canon of sociological theory.

Multilevel Models, Contextual Effects
Session 200, Saturday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Fee: $25; ticket required for admission
William M. Mason, University of California, Los Angeles
Vincent Kang Fu, University of California, Los Angeles

Techniques for the analysis of data with one or more blocking structures have recently attained "must know" status in the conduct of quantitative social science research. We describe approaches and software for multilevel and repeated measures data structures based on regression, discrete response, ordinal response, event history and other regression-like models. The emphasis will be on key insights and on software-linked examples. A web site will be provided for post-meetings follow-up and contact. Participants should gain from this Didactic Seminar an understanding of the need for the general class of models discussed, and the capacity to make sensible decisions about the specific types of modeling they wish to use in their own research.

Grant Writing: Crafting a Competitive Research Proposal
Session 225, Sunday, August 23, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Fee: $25; ticket required for admission
Martin K. Whyte, George Washington University

This seminar is intended for sociologists who have limited prior experience in applying for outside grants and fellowships to support their research. While not attempting to be comprehensive, the session will discuss several major kinds of funding agencies and how they differ in terms of the kinds of research they support and their procedures for awarding grants. Primary attention will focus on the National Science Foundation, the relevant parts of the National Institutes of Health, and private foundations. Techniques for gathering information about funding sources and ways to effectively frame a research proposal will be discussed.

The Issue of Reflexivity in Interviewing— and Qualitative Methods, More Generally
Session 250, Sunday, August 23, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Fee: $25; ticket required for admission
Avleen Kapan Daniels, Northwestern University and University of California, Berkeley

Both novices and "old hands" at interviewing are interested in the "war stories" about contretemps and surprises in encounters with respondents. But the topic of telling war stories has become more systematically investigated in recent times under the topic of reflexivity: how we influence the research participants, and how they influence us. Feminist theorists and researchers have most particularly elaborated on the issue of the relationship—and partnership—with respondents which can minimize power differentials between them. This seminar will address the problems—and opportunities—provided by reflexivity in the interview situation. The leader will provide many examples from her own work, but participants will be encouraged to reflect upon their own experiences to consider what general precepts we may discover to guide us—both to protect us and our respondents, but also to extract the best insights that we can from this experience to help us in understanding and analyzing our findings for write up and publication. These precepts are also what we need when introducing our students to field work.

Conducting Cross-National Research: Studying Transnational Migration and the Mexican Migration Project
Session 305, Sunday, August 23, 4:30-6:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Fee: $25; ticket required for admission
Douglas S. Massey, University of Pennsylvania

The Mexican Migration Project (MMP) is a binational study of Mexico-U.S. migration jointly sponsored by the University of Guadalajara and the University of Pennsylvania with support from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development and the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation. This seminar provides an introduction to the philosophy, organization, and design of the MMP as an exemplar of cross-national research, covering the topics of sampling, questionnaire design, data file construction, data accessibility, and potential uses of the information. Attendees will be shown the project’s website and how to use it, and applications of the data will be discussed.

Software for Qualitative Analysis
Session 334, Monday, August 24, 8:30-11:30 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Fee: $25; ticket required for admission
Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College
GREG LEE CARTER, Bryant College
UDO KELLE, University of Bremen, Germany

This seminar is for qualitative researchers who wish to use computer software to analyze textual data (e.g., case records, newspaper articles, field notes, transcripts of interviews or focus group discussions), pictures, graphics, or audio and video tapes. We will briefly explore the history of computer-assisted software programs in the social sciences. We will describe some of the computer software programs on the market today and compare and contrast some of the important programs. We will discuss the factors you should consider in selecting a software program. We will analyze the key methodological and theoretical issues involved in using computer-assisted software programs for qualitative data analysis. If time permits, we will demonstrate some "cutting-edge" software programs.

Professional Workshops

The twenty Professional Workshops on this year's program roster provide opportunities for attendees to update their knowledge and skills in a variety of professional areas. These workshops are open to all meeting registrants.

Leading Focus Groups...at the Edge: An Overview
Session 33, Friday, August 21, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 3
Organizer and President: Hy Mariappan, Hunter College, City University of New York
Leading Focus Groups...at the Edge: An Overview. Hy Mariappan, Hunter College, City University of New York
Focus Groups on Sensitive Health-Related Topics. P. Rafael Hernandez, QualiData Research, Inc. and Brandeis University
Conducting Focus Groups in Support of Large Organization Management. Christine Wright-Icek, Young & Rubicam

Most focus groups conducted throughout the world concern themselves with relatively prosaic issues and target the "typical" voter or consumer. Sometimes, however, the delicate nature of the subject matter, vulnerable or reluctant respondents, or the complexity of the brief create challenges that can daunt the most experienced moderators. This workshop is designed to assist and inspire those who welcome these challenges. Suitable for both experienced and beginning moderators who are seeking to augment their arsenal of tools and techniques, this session will cover such issues as: techniques for motivating respondents to cooperate, gaining valid and reliable information under adverse circumstances, and ethical consideration in sensitive topic research. Each presenter is an experienced practitioner skilled in dealing with research on sensitive topics or among extraordinary respondents. For the first half of the workshop, these professionals will share brief highlights of advice through interactive demonstrations and videotapes of actual focus groups. And, for the second half of the workshop, audience participants will be invited to ask questions and share their own experiences "on the edge."

Making the Most of Your Dissertation: Publishing Opportunities
Session 58, Friday, August 21, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 5-6
Organizer: Joshua Garnson, Yale University
Panel: Michael Doniger, University of California, Santa Barbara and University of Wisconsin
Joshua Garnson, Yale University
Peter Labelle, Sage Publications
Madonna Harrington Meyer, Syracuse University
Doug Mitchell, University of Chicago Press

This workshop is intended to provide practical information for advanced graduate students interested in moving from dissertation-writing to publication. Panelists from a range of experiences—acquisitions editors, scholars who have published articles from dissertations, and scholars who have published dissertations as books—will briefly offer their perspectives on key aspects to consider in the publishing process and the publishing environment. Topics to be covered include: article-publishing versus book publishing, writing the dissertation as a book versus converting a dissertation into a book, considerations of audience and writing style, presenting your work to editors, demystifying the book acquisition process, publishing quantitative work versus publishing qualitative work, and the current scholarly publishing environment. The bulk of the workshop will be devoted to question-and-answer exchange between participants and panelists.

MFP Professional Development Workshop. Presenting and Publishing in the Sociology of Mental Health (co-sponsored by the ASA Minority Fellowship Program and the Minority Affairs Program)
Session 86, Friday, August 21, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Organizer and President: Hexiday Rodriguez, University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez, and the American Sociological Association
Panel: Jeffrey Chin, LeMoyne College
Glen Finke, Pennsylvania State University
John Mironovsky, Ohio State University
Ruth D. Peterson, Ohio State University

The Practice of Sociology: Consulting and Applied Research
Session 113, Saturday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Organizer and President: Ross Kopp, Social Research Corporation and University of Pennsylvania
Panel: Joyce Miller Isaac, Keystone University Research Corporation
Andrew Ziner, Atlantic Social Research Corporation
Ross Kopp, Social Research Corporation and University of Pennsylvania

This professional workshop will discuss starting and operating a business based on sociological knowledge, theory, methods and statistics. The participants represent new and old as well as small and large enterprises. Topics include: doing research for money, consulting, differences between large and small firms, incorporating, hiring others, joint projects with other firms or universities, dual citizenship in business and academia, writing contracts, subcontracting, and budgeting (estimating time on tasks, material costs, others' services).

Proposal Grantsmanship and Opportunities for Federal Funding for Research
Session 114, Saturday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza A
Organizer and President: Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation Panel: Christine Redman, National Institute of Child Development, National Institutes of Health
Joseph County, Office of Educational Research and Improvement, U.S. Department of Education
Edward J. Hackett, Science and Technology Studies Program, National Science Foundation
Barry Markovsky, Sociology Program, National Science Foundation
Sidney M. Stahl, National Institute on Aging, National Institutes of Health

Representatives from leading federal science agencies will discuss available support, offer advice on how to best develop competitive proposals, and outline the review and evaluation process. Questions from the audience are encouraged.

The Credentialing Process: Accreditation, Certification, and Licensure
Session 143, Saturday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Van Ness
Leader: John M. Kennery, American Sociological Association and Indiana University Panel: Michael Fletcher, Organizational Design and Development, Inc.
Harry Perlman, Michigan State University and Chair, Commission on Clinical and Applied Sociology
Linda Weber, State University of New York, Utica/Rome, and Chair, Sociological Practice Association Certification Committee Certification, licensure and accreditation in sociology have been more or less salient throughout the history of sociology in the U.S. In the past ten years, a number of organizations, including the ASA, the Sociological Practice Association, the Commission on Applied and Clinical Sociology, have addressed this issue in various ways. At the same time, many social and behavioral scientific associations and other occupational groups have enacted state legislation which, at times, impedes sociologists’ entry into traditionally interdisciplinary professions. The actions of organizations to “professionalize” their membership through program accreditation along with registration, certification, and licensure, asks what is appropriate response of sociologists and sociology organizations. In this workshop, the panel will discuss the current issues and activities of the various groups in this area.

Preparing Your Credentials for Teaching-Oriented Faculty Positions
Session 171, Saturday, August 22, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza B
Organizer and Presider: Fadi O’Brien, Seattle University
Panel: Rachel Eismundt, University of Washington
Anne Martin, Edmonds Community College
David Newman, Depauw University
Richard Seppe, California State University, San Marcos
Panelists will discuss qualifications for applicants who apply for positions at community colleges, liberal arts schools, and state universities with a Teaching Emphasis. The panelists will give information on preparing teaching portfolios, letters of recommendation, and guest lectures. We will also discuss ways in which the current political economy of the academic job market shapes hiring decisions.

Retirement Planning and Opportunities
Session 172, Saturday, August 22, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 3-4
Organizer and Presider: Avlene Kaplan Daniels, Northwestern University and University of California, Berkeley
Panel: Joyce Bird, Oakland, CA
Joseph Gusfield, University of California, San Diego
The focus of this session is preparing for retirement in terms of transition periods and the formulation of meaning in life. Issues to be addressed include creative indolence, professional status changes, staying off the inevitable, and economic and life course adjustments.

Libraries in the Electronic Society: Dinosaurs or Gateways to Cyberspace?
Session 201, Saturday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Mason
Organizers: Sally Willson Warner, University of California, Santa Barbara; and Brian Quinn, Texas Tech University Library, Lubbock
Panel: Leigh S. Estabrook, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign
Sydney Pierce, University of Washington
Michael C. Winter, Shields Library, University of California, Davis Does the widespread use of personal computers spell the end of the library? Or does the widespread adoption of information technology in society mean that libraries will become the new electronic information centers of society? Panelists will speculate about the future of the library in the emerging electronic society.

Research Ethics, Protection of Human Subjects, and the Role of Institutional Review Boards (co-sponsored by the ASA Committee on Professional Ethics and the ASA Minority Fellowship Program)
Session 226, Sunday, August 23, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Van Ness
Organizer and Presider: John M. Kennedy, American Sociological Association and Indiana University
Panel: Sue Hoppe, University of Texas, San Antonio
Diane R. Brown, Wayne State University
Helen A. Moore, University of Nebraska, Lincoln
Eleanor M. Miller, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee
In the past few years, Institutional Review Boards (IRBs) have started to review more carefully the research of sociologists and other social scientists.
Many sociologists believe the IRBs are an impediment to their research, but they need not be. In this workshop, the participants discuss the roles of IRBs, how to work effectively with them, and how the ASA’s Code of Ethics can be used to work with IRBs.

The Crisis in University Press Publishing: Is It Real and How Will It Affect the Discipline?
Session 251, Sunday, August 23, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 15-16
Organizer and Presider: Woody Griswold, Northwestern University
Panel: Walter W. Powell, University of Arizona
Arm Swidler, University of California, Berkeley
Peter Dougherty, Princeton University Press
This panel will address the questions of (1) what impact current developments in publishing are having on university presses, and (2) what impact could this have on sociology? The publishing crisis is both the general one of industry consolidation, greater focus on the bottom line, and the squeezing out of independent bookstores and small publishers, and the specific one whereby university presses can no longer count on the same number of library sales as in the past. Some sociologists think university presses are now chasing after trade book or being led by fads of popularity, instead of publishing quality work; editors maintain that they are responding to intellectual shifts in the discipline, not just economic pressures. Everyone agrees that academic publishing is changing; what is not clear is whether this is having an adverse impact on the assistant professor trying to publish her book or a distorting effect on the graduate student trying to figure out on what areas of sociology he should focus.

Advice on Publishing in Scholarly Journals
Session 281, Sunday, August 23, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 1
Organizer: Elizabeth Higginbotham, University of Delaware
Presider: Ronald Taylor, University of Connecticut and Editor, Race & Society Panel: Glenn Firebaugh, Pennsylvania State University and Editor, American Sociological Review
Lawrence T. Nichols, West Virginia University and Editor, The American Sociologist
Jeffrey Ohr, LeMoyne College and Editor, Teaching Sociology
Beth E. Schneider, University of California, Santa Barbara, and Editor, Gender & Society
Panelists will offer suggestions on preparing papers prior to submission to a scholarly journal. The discussion will include strategies for writing well, how to decipher the specific contribution of one's work, and how to tailor it to the journal's audience. Panelists will also address the mechanics of working a paper through the journal system, especially access to the editor, handling reviewers' comments, and making the most of the revise and resubmit process.

Professional Opportunities in Research Firms Outside the University
Session 282, Sunday, August 23, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
Renaissance Parc 55 Hotel, Medici Organizer and Presider: Elinore E. Lurie, University of California, San Francisco
Panel: Elinore E. Lurie, University of California, San Francisco
Panelist: James L. Peterson, Sociometrics Corporation
Rick Zawadowski, RTZ Associates
Panelists will discuss the nature of work at research firms, including investigator-initiated and contract research, consultation, and developing areas of expertise and reputation. Panelists may also discuss developing and maintaining working relationships with private and public agencies, sources of career satisfaction and dissatisfaction, and choice or evolution of careers.

Home and Work: Should You Draw the Line?
Session 306, Sunday, August 23, 4:30-6:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Mason
Christina Nipper-Eng, Illinois Institute of Technology

This workshop takes a cultural, contextual look at the problem of deciding where and how a sociologist should draw the line between "home" and "work." The session focuses on the practical but symbolic ways in which individuals integrate or segment these realms and the messages these actions send to self and others. Sources of personal and organizational satisfaction/dissatisfaction with one's efforts are examined by comparing individual practices and expectations with those of family and colleagues. Also, the workshop will address the effects of how one negotiates the homework boundary on professional success within a variety of academic and corporate environments and the impact of one's behavior on organizational/occupational culture and family life.

Writing for the Trade Press
Session 335, Monday, August 24, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 3-4
Organizer: Jula Wrigley, Graduate Center, City University of New York
Panel: Dean Berkman, Rowman & Littlefield
Fred Black, University of California, Davis
Dan Claxton, University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Barbara Katz Rothman, Graduate Center and Baruch College, City University of New York
Pepper Schwartz, University of Washington

Panelists will discuss their experiences writing for the trade press, with special attention to their advantages and disadvantages compared to university publishers. Panelists will address issues such as shaping their books for a broad audience, their experiences with advertising and media coverage, and the fate of their books in the marketplace, including attempts to keep their books in print and the transfer of rights to other publishers. They will also assess trends in publishing and their implications for sociologists wanting to write for trade presses.

Advice on Publishing an Article or Monograph
Session 364, Monday, August 24, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Organizer and Presider: Paula England, University of Arizona
Panel: Richard Kofler, Aldine de Gruyter Publishing
Calvin Morrill, University of Arizona
Nancy Schneider, University of California Press
Lynn Smith-Lovin, University of Arizona and Editor, Social Psychology Quarterly

Preparing for Graduate School
Session 394, Monday, August 24, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Organizer: Teresa A. Sullivan, University of Texas, Austin
Panel: Marilyn Binger-Talman, Washington State University
Jacqueline Maia Suurcoa Hagan, University of Houston
Stephen O. Murray, El Instituto Obregon
Teresa A. Sullivan, University of Texas, Austin

This session will provide advice and tips for those preparing to enroll in master's or doctoral programs and for faculty members who are mentoring them. We will consider the details of finding and applying to graduate school as well as more general concerns about undergraduate preparation and preparation of master's students for doctoral work. Among the topics we will discuss are undergraduate preparation inside and outside the Sociology Department; the GRE general test and the GRE Subject test; the graduate application process, including writing personal statements; preparing for non-academic careers; and selecting your graduate institution.

Writing a Successful Grant Proposal: Advice and Opportunities for Beginners
Session 421, Monday, August 24, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation
Christine Buchsch, National Institute of Child Development, National Institutes of Health

This workshop targets graduate students, faculty, and researchers who are new at proposal writing and submission. Representatives from the National Science Foundation and the National Institutes of Health, major supporters of social science research, will discuss from the perspective of their organizations: the proposal development process; elements of a competitive proposal; proposal submission and review; and funding opportunities for graduate students and new researchers. The format will be interactive, allowing for audience questioning and participation.

Communicating Research to the Media
Session 446, Monday, August 24, 4:30-6:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan B
Organizer and Presider: Lisandra Perez, Florida International University Panel: Peter Dreser, Occidental College
Beha Dura, KRON-TV, San Francisco
Louis Freedberg, San Francisco Chronicle
Anne L. Boyle, Yale University

Sharing the findings of research with an audience beyond the academic community involves effectively communicating with the media. The panelists, two sociologists and two representatives from the media, have experience in this process and will discuss ways to enhance that communication and avoid pitfalls.

Adolescent Health Survey: Methodological Issues
Session 447, Monday, August 24, 4:30-6:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 5-6
Peter Beaumari, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Introducing Sociology
Sessions highlighting students' first encounters

Whether you teach sociology to seniors in high school, to freshmen of all ages at a community college, or in a range of courses in the lower division curriculum at a four-year or graduate institution, faculty face the challenge of presenting the discipline to newcomers. At every session slot on Saturday, August 22, there is a workshop, panel, or other event to help attendees think about Introducing Sociology.

The day begins with the popular teaching workshop (Session 117) on the "Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time," which features strategies for making the first teaching experience something other than a trial by fire. But those teaching sociology to newcomers need to think about issues beyond the introductory course. Three more sessions on Saturday (Sessions 144, 174, and 202) focus on challenges and strategies of open admissions and remediation, teaching critical thinking skills, and effective collaboration with K-12 teachers.

The ASA Exhibits also feature book and software displays relevant to introducing sociology. Be sure to pencil in a time to visit each booth and see what is offered to enhance the foundational courses in the lower division curriculum.

Teaching Workshops

Teaching Workshops are a popular part of each Annual Meeting program. These sessions provide opportunities for attendees to enhance their teaching skills and discover ways to integrate new materials into their courses. Teaching workshops emphasize interaction between leaders and audience, and attendees are encouraged to bring questions or problems for discussion and new ideas to enliven classroom activities. Teaching Workshops are open to all meeting registrants.

Humanist Teaching Activities
Session 35, Friday, August 21, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Organizer: Kathleen A. Tiernan, University of North Dakota
Presider: Stearns J. McGown, Muskingum College
Panel: Lloyd Klein, Medgar Evers College
Lyneen Wodrich, Syracuse University
Wick Criswick, University of Hartford
Toby Ewing, Syracuse University
Bruce Dayton, Syracuse University

The goal of this workshop is to share teaching activities that promote humanist teaching and learning inside and outside of the classroom.
Questions to be covered include: How can we teach more humanistically?
How can small groups be used to empower students? How does experiential learning promote student learning? How can we develop a learning community in our classrooms? How can video promote inquiry and active learning? Handouts will be provided by presenters.

Integrating Race, Class, and Gender in the Curriculum
Session 60, Friday, August 21, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Catherine White Berghold, Skidmore College
Kiki Kasunick, Santa Clara University

The goal of this workshop is to discuss how to use race, class, gender, and ethnicity as the central categories of analysis in sociology courses. The workshop is designed to afford participants the opportunity to reflect on their current curriculum and present strategies for building a more diverse and inclusive curriculum. The workshop involves sharing resources for teaching inclusive courses, examining guidelines for reviewing existing courses, and developing strategies for overcoming resistance to new materials on race, class, gender, and ethnicity. Handouts will be provided; participants are asked to bring syllabi and course materials that they believe have been transformed successfully and a syllabus for a course into which they wish to incorporate more material on race, class, and gender.

Teaching Sociology of Disabilities
Session 88, Friday, August 21, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 1
Diane E. Taub, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale
Lynn Schlegel, State University of New York, Plattsburgh

This workshop is designed for individuals who would like to include disability studies or disability-related topics in their sociology courses, as well as for those interested in teaching a course on the sociology of disability. The content and relevance of disability studies for sociology will be discussed.

Suggestions for lectures, syllabi, class exercises, and assignments will be presented. Handouts also will be provided.

Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time
Session 117, Saturday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 3
Frances V. Mudd, Three Rivers Community Technical College
Kent Sandstrom, University of Northern Iowa
Dipanita Basu, Pitzer College

This workshop will address the issues of the first-time sociology teacher.
It will be an interactive workshop intended for first-time sociology instructors who have many questions. The diversity of teaching contexts will be addressed, including community colleges, large universities, and liberal arts colleges. Specific issues to be addressed will include teaching philosophies, course objectives, syllabus construction, course content, selecting texts and alternative materials. The workshop will also discuss strategies for teaching, including lectures, collaborative learning, service learning, audio and video, and simulations. Attention will also be focused on different modes of evaluating student work, and on classroom research techniques to improve teaching and learning. Handouts will be provided (bibliography of teaching references, sample course materials).

Sharing Computer-Based Instructional Materials
Session 145, Saturday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan A
Nan Chico, California State University, Hayward
Edward Nelson, California State University, Fresno
Elizabeth Nelson, California State University, Fresno
Jim Ross, California State University, Bakersfield

The purpose of this session is to demonstrate computer-based instructional materials developed by faculty in the California State University
(CSU) system. The CSU is currently developing a Social Sciences Teaching Resources Depository which will house these materials and others developed in the CSU. Faculty will be able to download these materials for use in their classes. The Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research has recently approved a similar depository at their archive. The development of these depositories and their use in teaching will be discussed.

Teaching Critical Thinking Skills within Sociology Courses
Session 174, Saturday, August 22, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza A
Organizer: Dean Dom, California State University, Sacramento
Panel: Carole W. Barnes, California State University, Sacramento
Douglas Anderson, University of Southern Maine
Susan McWilliams, University of Southern Maine
Wendy Chaplin, University of Southern Maine
Charles S. Green, III, University of Wisconsin, Whitewater

The goal for this workshop is to provide instructors with examples of how to teach critical thinking in three courses that are commonly found in the sociology curriculum: marriage and the family, a course that covers a research methods context, and a course on social issues. Discussion will cover the place of critical thinking in the sociology curriculum and the ways in which critical thinking, as taught in and by sociology departments, is similar to and different from critical thinking taught by humanities programmers. Presenters will focus on techniques and assignments to implement critical thinking, many of which are easily adaptable to other courses, and discuss how they have designed their courses to incorporate critical thinking. Participants will receive handouts that illustrate the techniques and assignments that are used.

Teaching Feminist Theory
Session 203, Saturday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
Renaissance Parc 55 Hotel, Cervantes
Leader: Joey Sprague, University of Kansas
Panel: Kathleen Bier, University of Pittsburgh
Katharine O'Donnell, Hartwick College
Barrie Thorne, University of California, Berkeley
The goal of this workshop is to offer practical suggestions for meeting challenges commonly facing those who teach feminist theory, whether as a separate course or as an element of another course. Some questions we might address are: identifying good reading materials, useful classroom exercises and assignments, dealing with student hostility and anxiety, and feminist strategies for evaluating students. We will begin with brief presentations by panelists but most of the time will be devoted to small and large group discussion. Panelists will provide examples of teaching materials and participants are also invited to share materials they have found useful.

Teaching Sociology on the Internet
Session 204, Saturday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Jaan M. Morris, University of Central Florida
Arlan D. Case, University of Central Florida
Rodney D. Gomes, Miami University
Vincent N. Parillo, Willam Paterson University

Panelists will discuss the process of web-integrating sociology courses.

Topics to be covered include: how to convert sociology courses for web-delivery, adding web-enhancement in face-to-face courses, using chat rooms for real-time class interaction, and long distance faculty collaboration on sociology courses. Web-based computer demonstrations will focus on available tools and resources and will show examples of existing sociology courses on the Internet.

Effective Courses and Programs in Sociological Practice
Session 228, Sunday, August 23, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan A
Jen Marie Fritz, University of Cincinnati
Harry Perlstein, Michigan State University
Kathy Trier, Indiana University- Purdue University, Fort Wayne

This workshop will examine the basic elements of effective clinical sociology and applied sociology courses. We will discuss graduate and undergraduate level courses and programs that exist or may be implemented in sociology or interdisciplinary departments. We will provide basic materials, and participants will have an opportunity to share successes, concerns, and strategies. As the workshop leaders are all involved in the commission for the accreditation of applied and clinical sociology programs, we will also provide some basic information about accreditation.

Teaching Social Policy Issues: In the Classroom and to the Public at Large
Session 253, Sunday, August 23, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza B
Organizers: Clarence Y.H. Lo, University of Missouri, Columbia; and Michael Schauer, State University of New York, Stony Brook
Leaders: Ronald Walters, University of Maryland, College Park
Frances Fox Piven, Graduate Center, City College of New York
Discussion: Carole Jeffe, University of California, Davis
Jerry Lembcke, Holy Cross College
Gregory McLaughlin, University of Oregon

We will compare how we teach students about social policy controversies, and how we use the media to educate the public about policy choices. Are we effective when we hammer out the facts? Or is it better to unmask how opponents think, revealing their values and interests? Presenters are contributors to Social Policy and the Conservative Agenda.

Teaching about the Life Course
Session 254, Sunday, August 23, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan A
Organizers: Timothy J. Owens, Indiana University, Indianapolis; and Eliza K. Perelth, Indiana University, Bloomington
Panel: Eliza K. Perelth, Indiana University, Bloomington
Timothy J. Owens, Indiana University, Indianapolis
Richard Settersten, Case Western Reserve University
Susan Pershbacker Melia, Assumption College

Theresa Cooney, University of Missouri, Columbia
The goal of this workshop is to help instructors bring a life course perspective into their new or existing courses. Emphasis will be placed on successful exercises, assignments, and demonstrations that link the conceptual and academic aspects of the life course perspective with students' lives and communities. Among the covered topics are: how experiences in people's lives shape their life courses, and how lives are embedded within historical contexts. Participants should be prepared to participate in some exercises, demonstrations, and discussions.

Art Worlds: Teaching Sociology of Culture and the Arts
Session 284, Sunday, August 23, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 3
Leader: Vera L. Zolberg, The New School for Social Research
Panel: Howard S. Becker, University of Washington
Jeffrey C. Goldfarb, New School for Social Research
Larry Gross, University of Pennsylvania
Bruce Jackson, State University of New York, Buffalo
Raymond Moula, Centre de Sociologie des Arts, Paris

The goal of this workshop is to help instructors develop courses, objectives, and assignments for this field of study. Centered on the contributions of Howard S. Becker, who pioneered in the sociology of the arts as writer/scholar and teacher, as well as practitioner (pianist and photographer), the session will consist of Becker himself presenting the approach that he has developed over the years. The participants, acting as discussants, will comment on his ideas, noting the continuities, variations, and elaboration that they have experienced in light of differing institutions, student bodies, and other contextual conditions. Becker and the discussants will have the opportunity to comment, question, and clarify their ideas. The audience will have the opportunity to intervene with questions and comments. Sample syllabi and reading lists will be provided.

Computing across the Sociology Curriculum
Session 308, Sunday, August 23, 4:30-6:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Organizer: Ken Stewart, Angola State University
Leaders: Staef Bird, Taylor University
Roger Fink, Purdue University
Dale M. Conley, Berry College
Ken Stewart, Angola State University

Experienced leaders will demonstrate and discuss techniques, applications, benefits, and problems associated with using new computing innovations with ready access to social science data to teach in a variety of standard undergraduate courses across the sociology curriculum. Demonstrations and discussion will encompass use of computer-based materials to enhance classroom presentations and discussions, for developing both short and semester-long student projects, and use of different types of computer-based textbooks. Handouts will be provided, and discussion will take place both during and after demonstrations.

Teaching Environmental Sociology
Session 337, Monday, August 24, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Organizers and Presenters: Karen Long Kruse, Saginaw Valley State University; and J. Timmons Roberts, Tulane University
Panel: J. Timmons Roberts, Tulane University
Susan Holland Rostek, Bradley University
F. Kent Gebe, State University of New York, Genesee
Charles Harper, Creighton University

This workshop will cover a wide variety of techniques for teaching about environmental issues using collaborative and participatory teaching styles. Panelists will share information about class projects such as environmental audits and campus environmental surveys, community research projects, computer-based course exercises, interactive teaching using the computer, and theoretical and applied projects. Specific examples and successful strategies will be discussed. Handouts will be provided. Participants are urged to bring syllabi, exercises, and ideas to share with the group.

Teaching the Sociology of Law
Session 366, Monday, August 24, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 3-4
Organizer: Shannon E. Griffiths, Hood College
Panel: Susan S. Silksey, Wellesley College
          Robert L. Keder, Temple University
          Shannon E. Griffiths, Hood College
Panelists will open discussion around such topics as valuable and appropriate texts and reading resources, assumptions about what students should know or understand about law, effective course assignments, and teaching to increasingly diverse student populations. Handouts will be provided and participants are asked to bring syllabi for discussion and sharing purposes.

Teaching the Required Statistics Course
Session 396, Monday, August 24, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Rhonda Estep MacDonald, California State University, Stanislaus
Paul T. Murove, Stanford University
This session is intended for persons who will be or have been teaching statistics at the undergraduate level. A review of top-selling books in the field will be featured along with samples of syllabi for the course. Both parametric and non-parametric statistics will be discussed. Handouts and demonstrations of using SPSS-PC+ for statistical analysis will be covered.

Teaching Qualitative Methodology
Session 423, Monday, August 24, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
Timothy Diamond, California State University, Los Angeles

Academic Workplace Workshops

Academic Workplace Workshops are a relatively new category of events at the Annual Meeting, building on the success of Teaching Workshops and Professional Workshops. The many pressing issues in higher education and the importance of chair and faculty leadership led the Program Committee to design sessions to increase sociology's strength and effectiveness in the academic context. Similar in format to Teaching Workshops, these sessions emphasize interaction between leaders and audience, and attendees are encouraged to bring questions or problems for discussion. Academic Workplace Workshops are open to all meeting registrants.

Graduate Training for Sociological Practice and Working in Applied Settings
Session 5, Friday, August 21, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Leaders: James G. Houckard, Jr., University of Kentucky
          Russell K. Schott, University of Massachusetts, Boston
Panel: Ronald Hughes, California State University, Fullerton
          John Ryan, Clemson University
The workshop is intended to provide information on how to utilize course work, degree requirements, internships, and other projects to prepare graduate students to work in applied settings. Experiences of successful programs will be shared. Participants will be encouraged to share ideas and issues from programs with which they are familiar.

Teaching and Evaluation Portfolios for Faculty Development
Session 34, Friday, August 21, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Diane Priebe, Augsburg College
The goal of this workshop is to motivate and persuade participants that portfolios (both for teaching and for evaluation purposes) are in their own as well as their institutions' interest. Participants will engage in learning the conceptual model developed at Augsburg College, as well as producing actual portfolio entries. A workbook will be provided and session time combines shared expertise with practice and product.

The Sociology of Faculty Governance
Session 39, Friday, August 21, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Organizer and Presider: Jeanne H. Ballantine, Wright State University
Panel: Jeanne H. Ballantine, Wright State University
    Harold Cremokey, California State University, Dominguez Hills
    James Richardson, University of Nevada, Reno
    Fernando Rodriguez, University of Texas, El Paso
To serve or not to serve—what are the questions? This session will explore the role sociologists can play in faculty governance and senate to enhance their role and that of sociology departments on campus, and to learn more about the institution, how it works, and how it can be made to work for sociology and individual faculty.

College Honors Programs and Sociology's Role in Them
Session 87, Friday, August 21, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Kerry J. Strand, Hood College
Shannon E. Griffiths, Hood College
In this workshop, we will describe some distinctive contributions that sociology and sociologists can make to general college honors programs, with a focus on course and curriculum development, interdisciplinary teaching, service-learning, and assessment. The goal is to help participants find ways to secure or strengthen the role of sociology in honors programs at their own institutions. Handouts, including course syllabi and assessment instruments, will be distributed.

Challenges and Opportunities in Teaching Sociology in the Community College
Session 115, Saturday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan A
Maria L. Bryant, Charles County Community College
This workshop will explore issues related to teaching sociology in the community college. Specifically, the workshop will address some of the implications of distance learning technology, community service projects, and the creation of web-based courses in the community college.

Grassroots Policy Work through Community Action Research
Session 116, Saturday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Organizer: Nancy Naples, University of California, Irvine
Panel: Nancy Naples, University of California, Irvine
          Susan Stull, Northeastern Illinois University
          Randy Stocker, University of Toledo
          David VanZyl, Loyola University, Chicago
From classroom to community, from local to international sites, how can sociologists effectively engage in grassroots policy work? This workshop will illustrate how sociologists can involve students, community groups, and others in the design of community action research and contribute to a variety of social change efforts in their communities and beyond. Presenters will discuss their experiences (1) working with students to develop local community action projects, (2) using the internet as a site for linking academics and community organizers, (3) generating internships inside and outside the U.S., and (4) developing collaborative research projects between university and the broader community. Resource materials will be provided.
Presenters will provide a framework for the discussion that will be further shaped by the contributions of those in the audience.

The Challenges and Strategies of Open Admissions and Remediation
Session 144, Saturday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan B
Barbara J. Johnston, North Hennepin Community College
Ken Magoon, Santa Rosa Junior College

This workshop will examine the challenges and problems posed by an open admissions policy, including those related to such issues as inadequately prepared students, re-entry or nontraditional students, part-time students, and students not pursuing a degree program. Strategies for dealing with these populations will be discussed, with emphasis on programs and models that have been developed and implemented. The nature and extent of remediation efforts required will be addressed, as will the impact of this on retention. Participants are encouraged to bring their own concerns, dilemmas, and ideas to discuss.

Evaluation, Evaluation, Evaluation: What We Know about Faculty Evaluations, Assessment of Student Learning, Program Evaluation, Workloads, and Other Metrics of Accountability
Session 173, Saturday, August 22, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Organizer and President: Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association
Panel: Theodore C. Wagner, Miami University
William S. Johnson, Arizona State University
Paula L. Dressel, The Anna E. Casey Foundation
Terrence Russell, Association for Institutional Research

Pressures for accountability in higher education come from legislators, parents, faculty, students, and administrators. How can sociologists stay ahead of these trends and use their methodological tools to make assessment an aid rather than a burden? Panelists, knowledgeable in the literature of evaluation, will share strategies for creating and using evaluation measures. In particular, the workshop will focus on student evaluations of faculty, outcome assessment of student learning, and post-tenure review and workload metrics.

Effective Collaboration with K-12 Teachers in Your Community
Session 202, Saturday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Bob Grace, Greenfield High School

The goal of this workshop is to provide participants with strategies that will bridge the gap between university or community college instructors and teachers from K-12. Session leaders will share methods that have proven to be successful from personal experience as well as provide insights into how those interested can work with K-12 teachers and advance sociology at the pre-college level.

Enhancing the Undergraduate Curriculum: An Interdisciplinary Approach to Research Training and Mentoring
Session 227, Sunday, August 23, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Harriett Rodriguez, University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez, and the American Sociological Association
Walter Diaz, University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez

Research training and mentoring increase the likelihood that students will complete their undergraduate degrees successfully and are key variables in enhancing students' professional development and employment opportunities. Furthermore, research training and mentoring are extremely important in socializing students into the discipline and profession. Panelists for this workshop will present and discuss different models to enhance research training and mentoring at the undergraduate level. Concrete initiatives, developed through the American Sociological Association's Minority Opportunities through School Transformation (MOST) Program and the Center for Applied Social Research at the University of Puerto Rico-Mayaguez, will be presented during this workshop.

Timely Completion of Graduate Degrees
Session 283, Sunday, August 23, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Masanari Kuhara, Northeastern University

The goal of the workshop is to help Directors of Graduate Studies and other interested faculty in developing effective strategies for the timely completion of graduate degrees. We will first evaluate traditional programmatic roadblocks to completion such as program hurdles, foreign language requirements, and limited funding. Second, we will look at departmental-level strategies that can help students complete their degrees, including such devices as effective mentoring programs and ongoing student progress evaluations. We will consider these strategies in relationship to faculty motivation. Finally, we will look at the shifting demographic profile of our students—more women and minorities, more mid-career, non-traditional models—and assess the requirement to tailor completion strategies to the changing needs of this new population.

Sociology's Opportunities in Interdisciplinary Courses
Session 307, Sunday, August 23, 4:30-6:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Organizer: Lynda D. Nyce, Bluffton College
Panel: Roberta Lessor, Chapman University
Norah D. Peters, Beaver College
Lynda D. Nyce, Bluffton College
Den Will, Chapman University

Panelists will discuss their experiences of teaching in interdisciplinary courses. The workshop will serve as a "briefing" on the topic, outlining the role of sociology in interdisciplinary teaching, presenting practical advice and resources, discussing problems and concerns, and providing examples of successful models and approaches.

Effective Graduate Research Training
Session 336, Monday, August 24, 8:30-10:15 a.m.
Renaissance Parc 55 Hotel, Raphael
William T. Bailey, University of California, Santa Barbara
Karen E. Campbell, Vanderbilt University
Juan L. Gonzales, Jr., California State University, Hayward
Barrett A. Lee, Pennsylvania State University

This workshop is aimed at persons who plan or administer graduate programs in sociology. We will examine the research component of such programs, focusing on a central issue: how best to prepare students for future research roles in academic and applied settings. Different models of research training will be considered, with particular attention to their goals, design, and assessment. The workshop format will be interactive, including ample time for questions and discussion.

Preparing Your File for Promotion and Tenure
Session 365, Monday, August 24, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Lisa Frohmann, University of Illinois, Chicago

Making Tenure Viable
Session 395, Monday, August 24, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Organizer and President: Norma Stoltz Chinchilla, California State University, Long Beach
Panel: R. Eugene Rice, American Association for Higher Education
Harold Chermovsky, California State University, Dominguez Hills
Norma Stoltz Chinchilla, California State University, Long Beach

Serious questions are being raised about tenure, not only by the anti-intellectual "faculty bashers" but by legislators and trustees who care about higher education—and even our own colleagues. What can be done to improve the tenure process? How can post-tenure review (mandated in 30 states) be structured in ways that contribute to the vitality and resilience of senior faculty and build collegiality in our departments? Can we enlarge our notions of scholarly work to include the intellectual challenges of teaching
ASA Chair Conference

The ASA Academic and Professional Affairs Program is convening the Fifth Annual ASA Chair Conference. Entitled “Pulling on the Same Oar: Working Effectively with Colleagues, Administrators, and Other Departments to Advance Sociology,” the conference is designed for new and current chairs at all types of institutions. The conference provides “briefings” on issues of critical importance for departmental leadership. Panels and informal conversation facilitate sharing information and advice. As always, chairs will meet in groups with chairs from similar institutions to discuss common issues. The ASA Research Program on the Discipline and Profession will also present data on important trends in the profession.

The conference begins in Union Square 5-6 at the San Francisco Hilton on Thursday, August 20, at 1:00 p.m. and concludes at 2:15 p.m. on Friday, August 21. The major briefing sessions will focus on: Successful Negotiations with the Dean and Provost; Effective Departmental Meetings, Committees, and Retreats; Managing an Office Staff, Student Help, and All the Comings and Goings; Issues in Joint Departments; Preventing and Handling Sexual Harassment; Taking the Lead on Campus: Sociologists Engaged in Major Institution-Wide Leadership Positions; Managing Anger in the Classroom; Nurturing Junior Faculty, Revitalizing Older Faculty; and Linking Individual Careers and Institutional Goals.

Preregistration and fee payment are required. Fees for the Chair Conference are $95 for chairs from Department Affiliates; $125 for chairs from non-affiliate departments. The registration fee includes all conference materials, coffee breaks, dessert on Thursday night, and breakfast and lunch on Friday.

Preregistered attendees should have received their tickets with their name badges when they picked up program materials at ASA Preregistration. Those who did not preregister may check at the ASA Tickets counter in Grand Ballroom A at the San Francisco Hilton for possible openings.

Special Events for Directors of Graduate Study

Because Directors of Graduate Study (DGS) are important leaders in shaping department policies and opportunities for effective graduate programs, ASA has planned a series of events to encourage interchange among sociologists in the DGS role. On Sunday, August 23, will be events pertinent to graduate studies. The sessions that are double-starred () are open only to Directors of Graduate Study and require registration and fee payment. Fees are $25 for Directors of Graduate Study from Department Affiliate departments; $45 for non-affiliate Directors of Graduate Study. The registration fee includes all conference materials and a bagel breakfast.

Preregistered attendees should have received their tickets with their name badges when they picked up program materials at ASA Preregistration. Those who did not preregister may check at the ASA Tickets counter in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton for possible openings.

Undergraduate Advisors to Meet
Special Poster Session on Graduate Programs

Attention to the undergraduate curriculum, advising, students' socialization, and articulation with graduate programs are the responsibility of an undergraduate advisor or committee. This year's Annual Meeting includes a forum for undergraduate advisors to meet and share information.

This session will be held on Sunday, August 23 from 2:30-4:15 p.m. in the Francisca D room at the San Francisco Hilton, Cliff Brown (University of New Hampshire), Charles Green III (University of Wisconsin, Whitewater), and Carla B. Howery (American Sociological Association) will lead the discussion. Afterward, the group will adjourn to the Graduate Program Poster Session being held from 4:30-6:15 p.m. in Yosemite Hall at the Hilton. This event is designed to brief prospective students and their advisors about graduate programs in sociology. There is no fee or preregistration for the undergraduate advisor events.

Film/Video Screenings

Based on the success of last year's film/video screening series, a new line-up of films and videos is being developed for the 1998 program. The Lombard room at the San Francisco Hilton has been set aside for showing recent video and film releases throughout the Annual Meeting.

Videos and films to be shown include:

Anther Perspective on "The Cold War and the University" (56 minutes). Among the seven scholars who contributed to the book The Cold War and the University (The New Press, 1997), the film chronicles interviews of Noam Chomsky and Richard Lewontin on the effects of the Cold War on the development of academia and research. To present via a video recording the viewpoints of researchers from other fields is an opportunity to raise a major sociological issue, that of war and peace. Isn't sociology concerned both at the micro- and macro-sociological levels, by the opposition consensus/dissensus which has marked its development since the origin of the field? Filmmakers Martine Godard-Flisman and Nathalie van Bockstael will be present to lead a discussion about the film.

The Black Press: Soldiers without Swords (86 minutes) is the first film to chronicle the history of the black press and its central role in the construction of modern African American identity. It recover an intimate picture of black life from the antebellum period to the Civil rights Movement: its distinct view of national events, of its own community and leaders, even of the products it consumed. The documentary recounts the largely forgotten stories of generations of black journalists who risked life and livelihood so African Americans could have a voice of their own. California Newsreel

Breaking the Rule of Thumb (35 minutes). Combining powerful interviews with documentary footage, this timely and compelling videotape takes a comprehensive look at the issues still confronting battered women twenty years after the beginning of the domestic violence movement. Featuring the stories of three women - one a police officer - who went through the Philadelphia family courts to ensure their safety, Breaking the Rule of Thumb examines contemporary domestic violence in terms of changing historical definitions of abuse. Incorporating individual stories into a strong argument for legal reform, filmmaker Andree Elovson exposes how domestic violence's seemingly personal gender issues are inextricably tied to flawed ideas of civil justice. Filmmaker: Andrea K. Elovson; Women Make Movies

Deadly Force (58 minutes). The use of “deadly force” is a recurring and a divisive issue in communities across the nation. This powerful and provocative documentary examines police accountability for civilian fatalities by zeroing in on a case that rocked city hall, stirred national press, and resulted in the re-writing of L.A.’s gun policy for officers.

Filmed in cinema verite, Deadly Force follows the Burkholder killing through a coroner’s inquest and investigation by the DA’s office. It provides telling insights into the conflicting views of police officials who defend the use of “deadly force” in dangerous situations and Burkholder’s friends and relatives who charge the authorities with engineering a cover-up. Filmmaker Richard Cohen will lead a discussion after the viewing of the film.

Homecoming (56 minutes) is the first film to explore the rural roots of African American life and chronicles the generations-old struggle to own land. It has been a fight against both the southern white power structure and the federal agencies intended to help farmers. The film presents how black farmers have organized and are currently suing these agencies for discriminatory loan practices over the last three decades. And the filmmaker weaves this story together with a fond portrait of her own Georgia farming family. Filmmaker: Charlene Gilbert; California Newsreel

Hurry Tomorrow (76 minutes) is a powerful statement about the loss of human rights suffered by psychiatric patients and offers a shocking portrait of the side of psychiatry that is ordinarily hidden from public view. This highly acclaimed verite documentary was filmed over a six week period on a locked ward of a California state hospital. It shows patients being tied down with straps and cuffs, forcibly drugged with tranquilizers, reducing them to helpless and zombie-like states. The film shares moments of warmth between inmates trying to keep some dignity in a dehumanized environment. In 1975 there was an effort to ban the film in California. Instead, the controversy led to a statewide investigation of patient deaths in the state hospital system. Richard Cohen will lead a short discussion immediately following the presentation of the film. Filmmakers: Richard Cohen and Kevin Raftery

Miss India Georgia (56 minutes). An award-winning new documentary that follows four contestants during the hectic weeks leading up to Atlanta’s annual South Asian beauty pageant. In discussions with grandparents about arranged marriages, in quarrels with boyfriends, and in revealing conversations with Indian and non-Indian friends, these resilient young women disclose the complexity of their feelings about growing up in the U.S. as children of immigrant parents. An intimate look at the lives of teenagers struggling with everyday dilemmas of ethnic identity, “Miss India Georgia” is an excellent discussion-starter for courses in sociology, anthropology, and ethnic studies. Filmmakers: Daniel Friedan, Antioch College; and Sharon Grinberg, Cambridge, Massachusetts

My Feminism (55 minutes). In an era of anti-feminist backlash, this articulate documentary by the makers of Thank God I'm a Lesbian forcefully reminds us that the revolution continues. Powerful interviews with feminist leaders including Bell Hooks, Gloria Steinem, and Urvashi Vaid are intercut with documentary sequences to engagingly explore the past and present status of the women’s movement. Discussing the unique contributions of second wave feminism, they explore their racial, economic, and ideological differences and shared vision of achieving equality for women. An essential component of women’s studies curricula, My Feminism introduces feminism’s key themes while exposing the cultural fears underlying lesbian bashing, backlash, and political extremism. Filmmakers: Dominique Cardona and Laurie Colbert; Women Make Movies

Taylor’s Campaign (75 minutes). A Grapes of Wrath for today, an unforgettable world of hardworking people living in cardboard lean-tos who survive by finding joy and safety together. When new laws threaten their existence, homeless trucker Ron Taylor runs for Santa Monica City Council as a voice for tolerance. There will be a short discussion following the movie with filmmaker Richard Cohen. Director: Richard Cohen; Producers: Amy Ziering Kofman and Richard Cohen

Voices from Inside (60 minutes). This new award winning documentary features the in-depth stories of four women prisoners: a woman who robbed a bank, a Puerto Rican political prisoner with a 55-year sentence, a Black mother of five who helped hijack a plane to Cuba in the 70s, and an African-American jailed for drug conspiracy. Voices is unique among prison films in its focus on motherhood, the children left behind, and the pain of separation. We witness also the remarkable strength of these women, their capacity for personal growth, and the building of community in such an unlikely environment. Beginning in 1992, Karina Epperlein formed a multi-ethnic circle in a California federal women’s prison where for four years she led the women in creating poetry, songs, and movement. The work culminated in a stunning and emotionally charged theater performance for the other inmates which in the film is interwoven with the first person narratives.

Voices will shatter the stereotypes of your students in introductory and advanced Sociology, Women’s and Ethnic Studies, Criminology, Law, and Social Work. Filmmaker Karina Epperlein will be present to introduce her film and lead a brief discussion afterwards.

Section Activities

Section sessions and activities at the Annual Meeting are interspersed throughout the five-day schedule. These specialized sessions range in format from formal paper presentations to panels and discussion roundtables and are open to all meeting attendees, whether a section member or not.

The number of sessions allocated to each Section is based on the size of the Section. For the 39 sections, including one section-in-information (History of Sociology), there are a total of 158 sessions/meetings scheduled. There are also meeting scheduled for those interested in forming new sections on “Economic Sociology” and “Consumers and Consumption”; see the “Activities of Other Groups” listing for details.

ASA members with interests in specialized areas of sociological inquiry may join any of 39 Sections of the Association. These Sections promote ongoing communication among their members by publishing newsletters, supporting cooperative research ventures, recognizing outstanding work by professionals and students in their specialities, and sponsoring program activities at each Annual Meeting.

Section activities are summarized below for quick reference. Meeting days are Friday, August 21; Saturday, August 22; Sunday, August 23; Monday, August 24; and Tuesday, August 25.

Student Activities

The ASA welcomes the attendance of undergraduate and graduate students at the Annual Meeting. Special arrangements for students include discounted registration fees, special housing blocks, workshops oriented to issues of interest to students, student paper and roundtable sessions, and space for an informal Student Center.

Orient Yourself to the Meeting. Plan to attend the Orientation for First Time Attendees and the Welcoming Party (see page 28) to kick off your Annual Meeting experience. Visit the exhibit area, the ASA Publications Center, and the Information Desk to acquaint yourself with meeting service areas. Welcome!

Student Center. All students attending the Annual Meeting are welcome to use this hospitality room. The Student Center in the Union Square 21 room at the San Francisco Hilton will be open from 8:00 a.m.-8:00 p.m. on Friday through Monday, August 21-24, and 8:30 a.m.-1:00 p.m. on Tuesday, August 25, to provide a place for students to meet, make dinner arrangements, caucus, etc.

Student Discounts. Registration fees are substantially discounted for students. Special blocks of hotel rooms were also been arranged. Valid student IDs may be required at check-in to verify eligibility for student rates.

Graduate School Poster Session. On Sunday, August 23, from 4:30-6:15 in Yosemite Hall at the San Francisco Hilton, come view the displays of graduate programs in sociology and talk to program representatives.

Data Resources and Funding Sessions. Be sure to attend poster sessions 194 and 245 to advance your work in sociology.

Student Reception. All students registered to attend the Annual Meeting are invited to a special student reception on Sunday, August 23, at 6:30 p.m.

Student Book Giveaway. Don't miss the special student book giveaway at the end of the exhibits on Monday, August 24, at 6:30 p.m. All students who registered for the meeting are eligible to select one or more books. Tickets to the Book Giveaway were included in preregistered students' badge envelopes.

Student Sessions. Whether you are planning to attend graduate school, or are further along and look to employment in sociological practice or the academy, please take a look at the professional and teaching workshops. In addition to those workshops, five student sessions have been organized by the ASA Honors Program and Honors Program Student Association.

Don't let the huge program overwhelm you. Start by looking at the following sessions of special interest to students: 36, 58, 81, 135, 171, 205, 230, 277, 285, 306, 309, 379, 394, 398, and 421. See the Program Schedule for details on these sessions and then check the Topic Index to identify other sessions in your particular areas of interest.

Experience San Francisco

An easy and enjoyable way to learn about this year's host city is to participate in at least one or perhaps several of the special tours planned for the 93rd Annual Meeting. Tours are a vital segment of the Annual Meeting Program, enjoyed by meeting attendees and their guests. The opportunity to view local attractions through a sociological lens is one not widely available, so it is with much pride and enthusiasm that ASA presents its 14th year of tour programming.

San Francisco has always been known as a city with unique individuals and political activism. The California Gold Rush of 1849 set a tone for the personality of the city—that of the importance of individual efforts, mixed with a hope for capital gain and corporate enterprise. Throughout the decades, open mindedness and a tolerant spirit have continued to be characteristics that have held a city of great diversity and many different cultures together. Experience as many different aspects of this multi-cultural city by stepping into an adventure with one of our knowledgeable tour guides. Hear from local area experts about the beginnings of the some of the most colorful neighborhoods in San Francisco today. Take a walk through Chinatown with a chef, taking in the sights, sounds, and smells, of a "city within a city." Learn aspects of the city's past by examining the stories told in murals and other forms of art. Witness how far we have come technologically by seeing first-hand the work of the NASA Ames Research Center. Join forces with some of the homeless advocacy groups in the San Francisco area and see the selfless work that is being done. Meet the locals in surrounding cities and compare the past and present in the cities by the bay.

You will note that several tours on this year's program are offered by City Guides. This is a group sponsored by the San Francisco Public Library which offers an extensive range of tours, all led by locals who specialize in the various areas. These tours have been customized for ASA meeting attendees. The other tours offered by travel companies are also customized and shaped around the interests of meeting attendees.

No matter which adventure you decide to embark upon, there is one common denominator: the way to experience and learn about a new city is to meet with, talk to, and learn from the people who live there. Jump into California culture by becoming a part of it.

The schedule of tours is provided below. Reservations are mandatory. Those who already enrolled in tours should have received their tickets with their name badges. Attendees who wish to join a tour may check at the ASA Tickets counter in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton for availability.

Most tour sites are accessible to persons with disabilities; however, tours are generally not accessible to attendees in wheelchairs unless alternative transportation is arranged in advance. Attendees may make such arrangements on their own or contact the ASA Office in the Union Square 23-24 room at the San Francisco Hilton for assistance.

Fees are noted with the descriptions below and include all entrance fees. All fees go toward tour handling, entrance fees and group transportation costs. Tour fees are non-refundable. Some of the tours stop at local restaurants for lunch and this cost is generally not included in the tour fee. Please read the tour descriptions carefully for clarification.

Transportation costs are covered by tour fees, and the type of transportation involved is noted with each tour description. Attendees who opt to use an alternate mode of transportation, e.g., taking a cab instead of walking or using the subway, will be completely responsible for the cost of that transportation.

Limits on tour attendance are noted below.

Most groups will depart from the Taylor Street entrance of the San Francisco Hilton. Check your tour ticket for your departure area. Attendees are asked to arrive promptly so that departure times may be observed. Keep in mind that the arrival times back to the hotel are estimates only and may vary somewhat due to traffic congestion.

Tour 1: Marin City: A Community Past and Present
Friday, August 21, 10:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m.
Fee: $35.00
Leader: Bill Edwards, University of San Francisco

Marin City was built in 1942 as a temporary community to house thousands of workers hired to build ships during World War II. By 1946 the government declared its intention of closing down the community.

Thousand residents who had come from across the country decided to stay. Among them were many black residents from the deep south who saw in the post war years an opportunity to fashion a new life in the west. During the height of the demand for ship building, Marin City was a thriving integrated community. After the war, however, the population grew predominately black. Located in one of the most affluent counties in the United States, Marin City residents have, since 1946, pursued vigorously the development of their community. On December 6, 1995, a groundbreaking ceremony was held in Marin City to inaugurate a multi-million dollar redevelopment project.

This tour is a trip into the past and present of Marin City, a meeting with some of the original residents, a walking tour of the new development, presentations by community organization leaders, an overview of the development program, and a visit to the site of Marinship shipyard in Sausalito. A sit-down luncheon is planned where tour participants will have an opportunity to interact with community residents. (Bus/Walking Tour, limited to 40 participants)

Tour 2: Cow Hollow
Saturday, August 22, 9:00-11:00 a.m.
Fee: $12.00
Leader: Jill McArthur, City Guides, San Francisco Public Library

Take a walk through time to discover how one of San Francisco's most attractive areas had its beginnings. Learn the history of Cow Hollow from the early days of truck gardens and dairy farms to the lasting architecture that beautifies the neighborhood. A touch of nostalgia and a sampling of history add to the charm of this walking tour. (Walking tour, limited to 25 participants)

Tour 3: Walking Tour of San Francisco's China Town
Saturday, August 22, 10:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
Fee: $29.00
Leader: Chef Shirley Feng-Torres, HMS Travel Group

Of course, one can always simply “walk” through Chinatown. However, how often are you invited to sit in and learn the rites of a traditional Chinese Tea Ceremony, or be given the opportunity to see some of the oldest noodle making factories and fortune cookie bakeries, all in the same tour? On this walking tour of San Francisco's Chinatown, you will be given all of these experiences and more. Guided by world-famous Chinese culinary author and teacher, Shirley Feng-Torres, you will trek through dozens of usually inaccessible back shops, stores, and alleyways filled with history and lore. You will have the chance to get really close to the heart of the city opening vistas for the first time, possibly eliminating certain myths. An optional Dim Sum lunch will follow for those who would like to attend at their own expense ($21/person, including tax and gratuity) and who do not need to return to the hotel by 12:30 p.m. (Walking tour, limited to 20 participants)

Tour 4: An Emphasis on Art
Saturday, August 22, 1:00-4:00 p.m.
Fee: $35.00
Leader: Maria, Allison, and Associates

San Francisco, like all cosmopolitan cities, lays claim to a plethora of museums. On this tour you will visit two of the City's best art museums—the DeYoung and the Asian Art Museum. Housed in one building, these two museums offer a wide range of art, from east to west.

The deYoung, the city's most diversified art museum, now boasts 22 galleries of American art from the 17th century to the 20th. You are invited to take a guided docent tour through time, including works by Copley, Sargeant, Bingham, Home, Whistler, and Cassatt. Of particular note are still life works from the turn of the century and a grand gallery of American paintings. The museum also possesses important textile and glassware collections and powerful art from Oceania and the Americas, as well as significant holdings in ancient art.

Stepping through an impressive arched doorway, you will find yourself on the other side of the world at the Asian Art Museum. San Francisco achieved international distinction when Avery Brugade selected the city as the permanent showcase for his collection. On the main floor, the installation of the Chinese permanent collection galleries features more than 500 masterpieces, many on public view for the first time. The new Korea Gallery doubles the number of Korean art objects on display, while the second floor is divided among the arts of India, Tibet, Nepal, Pakistan, Japan, and Southeast Asia. Docents will lead the tours through both museums; all entrance fees are included. (Bus/walking tour, limited to 44 participants)

Tour 5: Redevelopment in Oakland
Sunday, August 23, 9:00 a.m.-1:00 p.m.
Fee: $8.00
Leader: Robin Wolf

Ride BART to downtown Oakland and learn of its history and redevelopment period. Exiting the train at 12th Street and City Center, you will be in the heart of downtown Oakland's redevelopment area. Walk down
Tour 6: Mission Murals
Sunday, August 23, 10:00 a.m.-12:00 p.m.
Fee: $12.00
Leader: Maybelle Marr, City Guides, San Francisco Library
The Mission District has become one of San Francisco's hottest new neighborhoods. It has been a primarily Hispanic neighborhood for decades, named after the Mission Dolores, one of the oldest missions in San Francisco. See the colorful people's art of the Mission District and learn the history of the neighborhood by the tales left behind in the murals. (Walking tour/limited to 25 participants)

Tour 7: Victorian Home Walk
Sunday, August 23, 3:00-5:30 p.m.
Fee: $22.00
Leader: Jay Gifford
The Victorian Home Walk takes visitors off the beaten path into historic San Francisco on a custom designed walking tour. This tour offers visitors and native San Franciscans alike a rare glimpse into the City's historic past. As one of the only San Francisco tours devoted entirely to Victorian Homes, the emphasis is on exploring little-known neighborhoods and Victorian treasures which cannot be seen from a tour bus or public transportation.
This tour is designed to include a wide range of architectural styles including Queen Anne, Edwardian, and Italianate. These historic homes are found in several unexplored neighborhoods, each with its own unique character and charm. And, because the hills of San Francisco can be daunting, tours are self-paced and low-impact, making them perfect for young and old. (Public Transportation/walking tour, limited to 20 participants)

Tour 8: Labor Fest Mural Tour
Monday, August 24, 10:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
Fee: $20.00
Leader: Tim Drescher, San Francisco State University
Take a special tour of some of San Francisco's outstanding labor murals, including the famous Coit Tower (model for nationwide WPA mural programs), Diego Rivera's The Making of a Fresco Showing the Building of a City, Anton Refregier's Rincon Annex murals (the final WPA murals, investigated by McCarthyite Senators in 1953), and the ILWU Mural-sculpture (a collective effort of a dozen muralists celebrating the 50th anniversary of the ILWU).
The tour is sponsored by Laborfest, an annual, month-long series of labor-culture events organized by local labor activists and union members. It will be led by Tim Drescher, muralist, teacher at SFSU, and author of S.F. Bay Area Murals: Communities Create Their Muses. (Bus/walking tour, limited to 22 people)

Tour 9: Innovative Homeless Programs in San Francisco's Tenderloin
Monday, August 24, 12:00-2:30 p.m.
Fee: $2.00
Leader: Alex Vitale, City University of New York
This walking tour will visit several community based service providers and advocacy groups that deal with homelessness in the Tenderloin district. Two of the programs you will be able to see in action include the Community Housing Partnership and the Tenderloin Housing Clinic, each providing permanent housing and advocacy services for welfare recipients in the city's welfare hotel system. You will meet representatives from the San Francisco Coalition on Homelessness, which publishes the "Street Sheet" and has advocacy committees dealing with a wide variety of issues. The tour will also have representatives from organizations such as Street Watch, General Assistance Recipients Union Committees, and Food Not Bombs, an all volunteer organization that provides free meals in parks and streets throughout the city in defiance of laws restricting their activity. (Walking tour, limited to 20 participants)

Tour 10: NASA/Ames Research Center
Monday, August 24, 12:30-4:30 p.m.
Fee: $21.00
Leader: Mans, Allison, and Associates
Ames Research Center was founded in 1940 as an aircraft research laboratory by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (NACA) and named for Dr. Joseph S. Ames, Chairman of NACA from 1927 to 1939. In 1958, The Ames Center became part of NASA, and in 1981, NASA merged Ames with the Dryden Flight Research Center. The two installations are now referred to as Ames-Moffett and Ames-Dryden.
Ames specializes in scientific research, explorations and applications aimed toward creating new technology for the nation. The center's major research thrusts are concentrated in computer science and applications, aerodynamics, flight simulation and research, aeronautical and space human factors, and infrared astronomy. The center also supports military programs, the Space Shuttle, and various civil aviation projects. These projects and responsibilities will continue to evolve as NASA's needs change and Ames' capabilities develop.
You will be driven along the San Francisco Peninsula past scenic Candlestick Point to the research center, where a two-hour tour of the facility will be conducted by a professional guide. (Bus/walking tour, limited to 40 people)

Tour 11: Old South Park
Monday, August 24, 2:30-4:30 p.m.
Fee: $12.00
Leader: Donna O'Neil-Francesconi, City Guides, San Francisco Library
Learn of the story of San Francisco's first planned community. Hear of some of the ups and downs, and listen to the stories of the past of fortune, romance, and the infamous "2nd Street Cut." (Walking tour, limited to 25 participants)

Sociology by Transit in San Francisco

Looking for a quick way to experience the sociological layout of the city and some of its communities? Pick up a copy of the "Sociology by Transit" guide prepared by Brian S. Sherman (Albany State University), available for just $2 at the ASA Tickets Counter in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton.

Six do-it-yourself tours are outlined in this 12-page guide. Sherman provides instructions for using MUNI and BART, time estimates for each tour, and points of cultural and historical context, as well as street-wise advice. If you want to get out of the central business district and acquire a sense of San Francisco's social ecology, this is the best $2 buy in the city.
Other Events

Orientation for First-Time Attendees

This orientation to ASA and the Annual Meeting is a must for first-time meeting attendees. Scheduled from 3:00-4:15 p.m. on Friday, August 21, in Imperial A at the San Francisco Hilton prior to the Opening Plenary Session and Welcoming Party, this special orientation hour provides the opportunity to meet Association officers and staff and begin networking with experienced colleagues.

ASA Secretary Teresa A. Sullivan and Executive Officer Felice J. Levine host this orientation. Pointers on navigating the Annual Meeting will be shared in informal roundtable discussion. First-time attendees who pre-registered should look for an admission ticket in their badge envelopes as soon as they pick up their program packets and come prepared to ask “what makes it work?”

Welcoming Party

All meeting registrants are invited to the Welcoming Party on Friday, August 21, from 6:45-8:00 p.m. in the Imperial Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton to celebrate the opening of the 1998 Annual Meeting. This social event kicks off after the opening plenary session on the first day of the meeting.

Make new acquaintances, chat with old friends, and find a first-time meeting attendee to befriend. New members and first-time meeting attendees are particularly encouraged to come and have fun!

MFP Benefit Reception

What better way to enjoy your first night in San Francisco than by a welcoming “toast” with good friends while admiring the skyline of San Francisco and contributing to the Minority Fellowship Program? The spacious Vista Room on the 45th floor of the San Francisco Hilton provides a comfortable setting to relax after dinner, satisfy your sweet tooth, and meet current Fellows and MFP alumni on Friday, August 21, 9:30-11:30 p.m.

Admission is by ticket only: $25 donor, $50 sponsor. A major portion of each ticket price will go to the Minority Fellowship Program, which supports predoctoral training for students of color.

Those who enrolled in advance should have received their tickets with their name badges. Others may purchase tickets at the ASA tickets counter in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton. Ticket sales will close at 1:00 p.m. on Friday, August 21, so don’t delay!

Honorary Reception

All meeting attendees are invited to attend the Honorary Reception at 6:30 p.m., Saturday, August 22, in the Imperial Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton to express appreciation, congratulations, and best wishes to President Quadagno and the major ASA award recipients on this festive occasion.

Since 1984, the American Sociological Association has been joined by social science departments and regional societies in co-sponsoring the annual Honorary Reception that follows the President’s address. This year the Association is pleased to acknowledge the following co-hosts of the Honorary Reception:

In Remembrance

At the beginning of the Presidential Plenary (Saturday, August 22, 4:30-6:15 p.m.), there will be a "Moment of Silence" to remember those members of the profession who died since the previous Annual Meeting. Names submitted to Footnotes are listed below. If you know of other sociologists who should be on this list but whose names do not appear below, please contact ASA Meeting Services staff in the Union Square 23-24 room at the San Francisco Hilton by 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 22.

Community College Faculty Breakfast

A special outreach effort to colleagues teaching in community colleges is scheduled as a continental breakfast at 7:00 a.m. on Saturday, August 22 in Union Square 17-18 at the San Francisco Hilton. Please join this occasion to meet with other sociologists teaching at community colleges.

Just Desserts!
A Teaching Enhancement Fundraiser

Escape the fast pace of paper sessions, books displays, and convention life to unwind with friends at the fundraising event for the Teaching Enhancement Fund, "Just Desserts." Come to the Vista Room on the 45th floor of the San Francisco Hilton on Saturday, August 22, 9:30-11:30 p.m., for a wonderful nighttime view of the San Francisco Bay area. As the name "Just Desserts" implies, if your energy is flagging, enjoy special desserts, good coffee, stimulating conversation, and smile that all of this pleasure goes to a good cause.

Admission is by ticket only: $25 donor, $50 sponsor. A major portion of each ticket price will go toward supporting the Teaching Enhancement Fund, a small grants program designed to support teaching-related projects that have long lasting and transferable impact.

Those who enrolled in advance should have received their tickets with their name badges. Others may purchase tickets at the ASA tickets counter in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton. Ticket sales will close at 1:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 22, so don't wait too long!

Departmental Alumni Night (DAN)

Be sure your meeting schedule for Sunday, August 23, includes the 25th annual Departmental Alumni Night (DAN), where sociologists from around the world meet to reminisce about graduate school days, create new coalitions, and catch up on the latest news!

Each graduate department of sociology in the United States and Canada was given the opportunity to sponsor a table to attract alumni and friends. Tables are provided for sociologists in business and industry as well as for international scholars and guests.

The gathering will begin at 9:30 p.m. in Continental Ballroom 4-5 at the San Francisco Hilton. Let your ears lead you as you follow the sound of jazz played by sociologists who also happen to be musicians! A big thank you goes to Rob Faulkner for getting the group together for this special event this year.

Special Book Giveaway for Students!!

The ASA is planning a special student book giveaway at the end of the exhibits on Monday, August 24, at 6:30 p.m.

Students may browse through books donated by the publishers who had displays at the Annual Meeting. Depending on the number of donations, each student will be allowed to select one or more books at no charge. This is an ideal opportunity for students to acquire new, groundbreaking books.

All students who registered for the meeting are eligible to select one or more books. Tickets to the Book Giveaway were included in preregistered students' badge envelopes. In addition to this food for thought, ASA will provide beverages. Please join us for this occasion to meet other students and obtain some reading material for the trip home. Just come to the poster session area in Yosemite Hall at the San Francisco Hilton on Monday at 6:30 p.m.!

Other Group Activities

The wide-ranging interests of ASA members generate meetings of special interest groups during each year's Annual Meeting. Space is assigned as available to these groups to hold their meetings and/or sessions in evening time slots when no program sessions or other ASA activities are scheduled. In addition to the scheduled meeting time, some groups will have membership information and publications on display in the Table Space Area in the West Lounge at the San Francisco Hilton.

ASA Information

The ASA Information desk, located in Grand Ballroom A at the San Francisco Hilton, is staffed with ASA Executive Office personnel who will be able to assist attendees who have questions about meeting events, activities, and accessibility resources. Information hours are 1:00-8:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 20. Hours on Friday-Tuesday, August 21-25 correspond to the On-Site Registration hours shown above.
ASA Bookstore

For the first time this year, ASA is opening a bookstore to feature the works published by the Association. The ASA Bookstore will be located near the ASA Exhibits in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton. The bookstore will be staffed by ASA Executive Office personnel and open during the same hours as ASA On-Site Registration.

Allocate some time in your meeting schedule to browse through this area filled with current career publications, syllabi sets, sociological practice materials, recent journal issues, indexes, teaching resources, departmental guides and directories, and other special publications.

Exhibits

The 1998 ASA Exhibits highlight the middle days of this year’s Annual Meeting. Located in Grand Ballroom B at the San Francisco Hilton, ASA Exhibits will be open to meeting registrants from 9:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Saturday-Monday, August 22-24.

The location of the Exhibits offers excellent accessibility by meeting attendees, due to its close proximity to ASA Registration. Always one of the most popular activities at the Annual Meeting, Exhibits offer variety, convenience, and opportunities to discover current trends in sociological publishing, information processing, and services.

Meeting attendees are encouraged to schedule several visits to the exhibit area so that ample time can be given to exploring the many offerings. Browse through the latest sociological publications, explore current computer software, chat with representatives of statistical resources and informational literature, and meet the editor of your next publication!

See the Directory of Exhibitors elsewhere in this Program for the names and booth numbers of all exhibitors. Don’t forget to look through the Program for special ads!

All persons wishing access to ASA Exhibits must be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting; badges are required for entrance into this area.

Café ASA

Where do you go when you have only an hour to visit exhibits and each lunch? Café ASA, of course. This convenient service in the middle of the exhibit area is the place to buy coffee, sodas, sandwiches, and light snacks, as well as meet friends and chat about the morning’s sessions.

Café ASA can be found in Grand Ballroom B at the San Francisco Hilton on August 22-24, 9:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Paper Sales

All session papers submitted to the ASA Paper Sales Service by July 20 will be available in the Paper Sales area in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton. Meeting attendees may purchase papers for $3.00 each; these fees go toward service setup and shipping costs. Authors who indicated that they would bring copies with them to the Annual Meeting are urged to deliver them to the Paper Sales area as soon as possible upon arrival.

The Paper Sales service hours are 8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Friday through Monday, August 21-24, and 8:00 a.m.-1:00 p.m. on Tuesday, August 25.

Copies of papers will not be available from the Executive Office either prior to or following the Annual Meeting. Authors must be contacted directly if copies of papers are not available in the Paper Sales Room nor accessible through the Sociological Abstracts document delivery service (Sociology*Express).

Membership Desk

Information on ASA membership and subscriptions will be provided at the Membership tables in Grand Ballroom A at the San Francisco Hilton. The Membership desk will be staffed by ASA Executive Office personnel and open during the same hours as ASA On-Site Registration. Attendees may investigate current membership benefits and join the Association, sign up for Section memberships, and subscribe to ASA journals. Display copies of current journals will be available for reference.

Section Information

Looking for information about 38 active ASA Sections or copies of 1998 section newsletters? Check at the Sections Display Tables near the ASA Bookstore in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton.

Sections have been invited to designate representatives to attend the display table during each meeting day. Staff from the ASA Executive Office will also be available occasionally to answer questions or you may consult staff at the Membership Desk about joining any and all sections.

Tickets

Registrants already enrolled for didactic seminars, San Francisco Tours, and special events should have received tickets with their meeting packets. Those who did not make advance reservations may check at the ASA Tickets counter in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton for ticket availability. The Tickets counter will be open from 1:00-8:00 p.m. on Thursday, August 20, and from 8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Friday-Monday, August 21-24. Event tickets are non-refundable and cancellations cannot be accepted. You may, however, sell your ticket to someone else if you are unable to attend.

Accessibility Resources and Services

The ASA offers several services and oversight arrangements to facilitate attendance at the Annual Meeting. The ASA Information desk will coordinate resources during the meeting week for registrants with physical disabilities who are attending the Annual Meeting. Special services which were arranged in advance may be verified with Information Desk staff on your arrival to ensure that you receive the assistance you need. Should you encounter any problems during the week or need any additional information while in San Francisco, please see ASA staff at the ASA Information Desk or in the on-site ASA Office (Union Square 23-24, 4th floor, Bldg. 3, San Francisco Hilton).

Comfort Zone. Attendees coping with illness, meeting fatigue, or stress may relax in Union Square 25 on the 4th floor at the San Francisco Hilton, a small meeting room set aside by ASA as a "safe haven" to escape briefly from the noise and bustle of meeting activities. This space is provided in response to concerns brought to the ASA Council by the Sociologists' AIDS Network, Sociologists' Lesbian and Gay Caucus, and the ASA Committee on Society and Persons with Disabilities. Anyone needing immediate medical attention may contact the ASA Office and hotel personnel by picking up the nearest house phone.

Sessions. ASA has made arrangements for sign language interpreters, sighted guides, and other communication avenues for meeting registrants who provided requests in advance of the meeting.

Housing. Attendees who requested wheelchair accessible rooms, bathrooms with safety equipment (grab bars), amplified telephone receivers, closed captioned TV equipment, TDD access, "shake awake" alarms, or other resources when making room reservations and who have not received the desired equipment are asked to contact the ASA Office immediately.

Travel. Attendees with mobility impairments who are flying in and out of San Francisco are advised to notify their airline 24 hours before departure if they will need assistance in getting from their arrival gate to the baggage claim area. Airline and airport personnel will gladly assist any meeting attendee needing transportation aid. For information regarding accessible public transportation services from the airport to various downtown locations, call the Ground Transportation Hotline at 800-736-2008, weekdays between 7:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. With an advance reservation, SuperShuttle's access van is available; call 800-258-3826 to make a reservation or get more information about SuperShuttle's accessible transportation.

Other Services. Registrants who did not make advance arrangements for services or equipment are requested to contact staff in the ASA Office in Union Square 23-24 at the Sheraton Centre. Every reasonable effort will be made to assist registrants on-site. However, if you have a physical disability and need special services, equipment, or accommodations, and did not notify ASA in advance of your arrival at the meeting site, ASA may not be able to provide the proper services due to the limited availability of some equipment and services.

Child Care

ASA is continuing the tradition of providing an innovative program of activities for children of Annual Meeting registrants. Arrangements have again been made with KiddieCorp to offer a full child care program from 8:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on August 21-24 and 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on August 25 for children between the ages of 6 months to 12 years.

KiddieCorp is dedicated to providing quality child care services across the nation for meeting attendees. Staffing will be based on a 1:2 ratio for children 6 months to 1 year, 1:3 ratio for children 1-2 years of age, and a 1:5 ratio for children 3-12 years of age. The program includes a customized hourly schedule of creative and educational activities, age-appropriate toys and games, popular arts and crafts projects, and child-pleasing movies and cartoon videos.

The Child Care Service is located in Union Square 12-14 on the 4th floor, Bldg. 3, at the San Francisco Hilton. The service is available to preregistrants only. Daily use fees per preregistered child are $50 per full day, $30 per half day (8:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.). For children using the service for shorter periods, the half-day fee will apply to encourage stable populations. Fees include on-site activities and snacks; lunch is not included but meal arrangements can be made through KiddieCorp.

Parents/guardians using these services must be registrants for the Annual Meeting.

There is no guarantee that non-preregistered families can be accommodated on-site. Child care providers reserve the right to refuse admittance to non-preregistrants. Last year it was not possible to accept non-preregistered children into the service. If there are any openings, fees for children who were not preregistered will be $75 per day per child. No half-day rates are available for non-preregistrants.

Employment Service

In addition to the monthly Employment Bulletin, now available in print and on-line as part of ASA's homepage (http://www.asanet.org), the Association assists prospective employers and employees by sponsoring an Employment Service during each year's Annual Meeting.

The 1998 Employment Service will be open at the Renaissance Parc 55 Hotel from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, August 20; and from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Friday-Monday, August 21-24. The service will not be open on Tuesday, August 25.

Anyone using this service, whether as Candidate or Employer, must register for the Annual Meeting as well as with the Employment Service. Once registered, you will be issued a pass permitting your entrance to the Service any time it is open. No one will be admitted without a pass; no browsing by non-registered attendees is permitted.

The fee for using the Employment Service is $100 for employers; $20 for candidates who are members of the ASA; and $35 for candidates who are not ASA members. All employer listings must be prepaid (a valid purchase order will be accepted); post-meeting billing is not available.

Forms for listing positions (Employer Forms) and applications for individuals (Candidate Profile Forms) were printed in the Preliminary Program and in the Employment Bulletin. Extra copies of these forms are available in the Employment Service Registration areas for those unable to preregister.

Facilities will be available at the Parc 55 Hotel for reviewing listings, exchanging messages, and initiating introductory interviews. Position listings supplied by preregistered employers will be available for viewing when the Service opens on Thursday afternoon, August 20. Listings supplied by employers who register on-site will be posted as the listings are received and processed.

Employment Service Candidates should report to the Barcelona II room in the Parc 55 Hotel as soon as possible after arrival in San Francisco to activate their candidate profiles and deliver two copies, three-hole punched, of their complete resumes to the Service. These resumes will be used to create supplemental resume reference books for use by registered employers during the meeting. For candidates unable to preregister, it is recommended that you visit the

Hotel Information

The 1998 ASA Annual Meeting is being held at the San Francisco Hilton and Towers and the Renaissance Parc 55 Hotel. Program sessions are being held at both hotels. ASA Exhibits, Registration, Child Care, and Paper Sales are located at the San Francisco Hilton. The Employment Service is located in the Renaissance Parc 55 Hotel.

Blocks of sleeping rooms for meeting attendees and students were reserved at seven hotels in San Francisco and special meeting discounts on room rates were arranged. The cutoff date for reservations at ASA rates was July 21; availability of rooms at ASA rates ($110-140 single, $120-160 double) was on a first-come, first-served basis. All hotel rooms are subject to the 14% occupancy tax per night.

Attendees with questions or reservation problems may consult the TTG representative at the ASA Housing Desk in the Grand Ballroom at the San Francisco Hilton. The housing coordinator will have up-to-date reservation information and will provide assistance in resolving reservation discrepancies.

For your convenience, a list of hotels where ASA registrants are staying is given below. Included is information on the headquarters hotels for the sister associations and societies, such as the Association for the Sociology of Religion (ASR), the Society for the Study of Social Problems (SSSP), the Society for the Study of Symbolic Interaction (SSSI), and Sociologists for Women in Society (SWS).

Travel Arrangements

The American Sociological Association appointed Travel Technology Group, Ltd. (TTG) as travel and housing coordinator for the 1998 ASA Annual Meeting. Arrangements were made to offer special fares on American Airlines, Delta Airlines, and US Airways. TTG guarantees lowest airfare on any airline, special negotiated fares of up to 10% off the lowest American, Delta, or US Airways fares, and $100,000 free flight insurance when booking through TTG. Call 1-800-631-5353 (from the U.S. or Canada) for complete details. For your convenience, you may also fax or e-mail your travel inquiries to TTG at 312-329-9513, traveldesk@ttgonline.com.

Airport Transportation

San Francisco International Airport, also known as the gateway to the Pacific, brings in approximately 50 different airlines to the San Francisco area. The airport is located 16 miles south of the downtown San Francisco area, usually about a 30 minute car ride during non-rush hour periods; however, allow yourself plenty of time to navigate around the three large terminals of the airport.

For physically challenged individuals needing assistance getting from their arrival gate to the baggage claim area, it is suggested that you contact the airline 24 hours before departure. Airline and airport personnel will gladly assist any meeting attendee needing assistance. For information regarding public transportation services for the disabled from the airport to the various downtown locations, call the Ground Transportation Hotline at 800-736-2008 weekdays between 7:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. With an advance reservation, SuperShuttle's access van is available for around $11. To make a reservation or get more information about SuperShuttle, call 800-258-3826.

Airport Buses/Shuttle Services: You will find a multitude of bus/shuttle options outside the upper level of each terminal. One well known shuttle service is the SFO Airporter, with fares of approximately $10 one-way/$18 round-trip. The Airporter bus serves downtown every 30 minutes, 6:00 a.m. to midnight, and it is the only bus company that provides regular, scheduled service to the hotels. For convenient reference at the meeting site, SFO Airporter schedule information is provided near the Mason Street entrance at the San Francisco Hilton.

You can also ride a Door-To-Door van service which will bring you directly to the hotel for $10-$14. Super Shuttle (415-558-8500) is another good alternative that runs around $11 for a one-way fare. To obtain detailed schedules and information about all of the alternatives, call the SFO Ground Transportation hotline, 800-736-2008. Each bus ride should take approximately 30 minutes. If there are others in the van, bear in mind that there might be other stops before you reach your destination, which will increase the travel time.

Taxi Service: Those travelling in a group can find it just as economical to take a taxi between downtown hotels and the airport. A cab ride will cost approximately $21-34, with no additional fees for extra passengers. Depending on traffic, the ride should take around 30 minutes. Yellow-striped pillars identify taxi stands on the center island outside the baggage claim exits at the airport. For the return trip, cabs are readily available at the main entrances of the most downtown hotels.

Getting Around San Francisco

The San Francisco Municipal Railway (MUNI) is the 7th largest public transportation system in the United States, as measured by the amount of people who ride on a daily basis. Muni provides public transportation throughout the city on trolley buses, streetcars, and cable cars. Bus and streetcar fare is $1 for adults, 35¢ for children ages 5-17, and there are discounts for seniors and passengers with accessibility needs. The initial fee includes transfers within a 90-minute period. Exact change is required to ride any part of the Muni system. Muni passports which allow unlimited travel on the transit system are a good deal for those planning to use local transportation frequently: 1-day pass—$6, 3-day pass—$10, 7-day pass—$15. For schedule and fare information, call the Muni Transport at 415-673-6864. For information about wheelchair accessibility on Muni, call the Accessible Services program at 415-923-6307 (TDD: 415-923-6366).

Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) links San Francisco to surrounding cities, including Oakland. BART operates Monday-Friday 4 a.m.–midnight, Saturday, 6 a.m.–midnight, and Sunday 8 a.m.–midnight. You can purchase tickets at any BART station; fares are $1.25 to $3.45. Downtown terminals are located along Market Street at the Embarcadero, Montgomery Street, and Powell Street. For schedule information, call 415-992-2278.

1. Didactic Seminar. Statistical Graphics for Data Analysis and Regression (co-sponsored by the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research and the ASA Section on Methodology)
   San Francisco Hilton, Plaza B
   Thursday, August 20, 9:00 a.m.–12:00 noon; 1:00-4:00 p.m.
   Ticket required for admission
   John D. Fox, McMaster University
   Effective data analysts have always examined their data carefully, and the efficiency of the human visual system makes statistical graphics a particularly effective means for looking closely at data. Perhaps because constructing graphs used to be tedious and time-consuming, the prescription to graph data as part of the process of statistical analysis is most often honored in the breach. The widespread availability of powerful computing and modern statistical software, together with John Tukey’s seminal work on exploratory data analysis in the 1970s, have produced a resurgence of interest in statistical graphs. This seminar will focus on the role of statistical graphs in data analysis, although there will also be some discussion of presentation graphics, the psychophysics of graph perception, and the history of statistical graphics. Emphasis will be placed on graphical methods associated with linear regression analysis and related techniques, including nonparametric regression. The seminar assumes prior exposure to linear least-squares multiple regression.

Focus Groups on Sensitive Health-Related Topics. P. Rafael Hernandez, QualiData Research, Inc. and Brandeis University
Conducting Focus Groups in Support of Large Organization Management. Christine Wright-Isak, Young & Rubicam
Most focus groups conducted throughout the world concern themselves with relatively prosaic issues and target the "typical" voter or consumer. Sometimes, however, the delicate nature of the subject matter, vulnerable or reluctant respondents, or the complexity of the brief create challenges that can daunt the most experienced moderators. This workshop is designed to assist and inspire those who welcome these challenges. Suitable for both experienced and beginning moderators who are seeking to augment their arsenal of tools and techniques, this session will cover such issues as: techniques for motivating respondents to

Organizer: Joshua Gamson, Yale University
Panel: Mitch Duneier, University of California, Santa Barbara and University of Wisconsin

Joshua Gamson, Yale University
Peter Labella, Sage Publications
Madonna Harrington Meyer, Syracuse University
Doug Mitchell, University of Chicago Press

This workshop is intended to provide practical information for advanced graduate students interested in moving from dissertation-writing to publication. Panelists from a range of experiences—acquisitions editors, scholars who have published articles from dissertations, and scholars who have published dissertations as books—will briefly offer their perspectives on key aspects to consider in the publishing process and the publishing environment. Topics to be covered include: article-publishing versus book publishing, writing the dissertation as a book versus converting a dissertation into a book, considerations of audience and writing style, presenting your work to editors, demystifying the book acquisition process, publishing quantitative work versus publishing qualitative work, and the current scholarly publishing environment. The bulk of the workshop will be devoted to question-and-answer exchange between participants and panelists.

To serve or not to serve—what are the questions? This session will explore the role sociologists can plan in faculty governance and senates to enhance their role and that of sociology departments on campus, and to learn more about the institution, how it works, and how it can be made to work for sociology and individual faculty.

60. Teaching Workshop. Integrating Race, Class, and Gender in the Curriculum

San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D

Catherine White Berheide, Skidmore College
Kichi Isuamoto, Santa Clara University

The goal of this workshop is to discuss how to use race, class, gender, and ethnicity as the central categories of analysis in sociology courses. The workshop is designed to afford participants the opportunity to reflect on their current curriculum and present strategies for building a more diverse and inclusive curriculum. The workshop involves sharing resources for teaching inclusive courses, examining guidelines for reviewing existing courses, and developing strategies for overcoming resistance to new materials on race, class, gender, and ethnicity. Handouts will be provided; participants are asked to bring syllabi and course materials that they believe have been transformed successfully and a syllabus for a course into which they wish to incorporate more material on race, class, and gender.

85. Didactic Seminar. Organizational Learning
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Ticket required for admission
Robert Cole, University of California, Berkeley
This seminar will explore approaches to organizational learning which grow out of long-term study of how and to what extent American managers in the automotive and electronic sectors were able to respond to the Japanese quality challenge of the 1980s. We will contrast conventional views of fads as ephemeral phenomena with a view of fads serving as building blocks linked to organizational learning. The latter approach is premised on the understanding that we learn something new by connecting it to what we already know. We will also explore the role of national infrastructures in imposing order on management understanding of new initiatives and creating a building block mentality. We will detail the role of the quality movement in evolving an agreed-upon process of how quality improvement could and should unfold.

Second theme we explore is the various ways in which one firm's practices may serve as a model for another and how missing elements may seriously complicate the ability to turn learning into practice. We do this through a case study of Hewlett-Packard, an exception, which had nearly ideal conditions for learning about the new innovations. In doing so we will compare various approaches to facilitating the learning process. We will also examine the role of organizations operating at the national, industry and local levels which came to constitute a national infrastructure for diffusing quality improvement and their impact on bridging the gap between learning and doing. We stress the intermediary role played by institutional infrastructures in helping organizations learn from one another. Critical to organizational learning is the sharing of information. We examine the conditions under which firms were willing to engage in such sharing to improve quality.

Finally using the case of Hewlett Packard, a highly decentralized company, we ask what conditions facilitate one part of an organization learning from another. This model is contrasted with the top-down approach favored by highly centralized firms.

San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Ticket required for admission
Mary Jo Deegan, University of Nebraska, Lincoln
Michael R. Hill
Historical sociology requires major changes in the practices associated with data collection and the conception of sociological knowledge. The first half of this seminar discusses the use of qualitative historical data, with a segment drawing on Michael R. Hill’s book, Archival Strategies and Techniques (Sage, 1993). The second half of this seminar discusses the reconceptualization of sociology in terms of leading figures, core writings, and using historical knowledge. Participants will read a packet on archival strategies, socioautobiographies, institutional histories, and sample writings by women and people of color who are often excluded from the canon of sociological theory.

113. Professional Workshop. The Practice of Sociology: Consulting and Applied Research

San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D

Organizer and Presider: Ross Koppel, Social Research Corporation and University of Pennsylvania
Panel: Joyce Miller Ivtovich, Keystone University Research Corporation
Andrew Ziner, Atlantic Social Research Corporation
Ross Koppel, Social Research Corporation and University of Pennsylvania

This professional workshop will discuss starting and operating a business based on sociological knowledge, theory, methods and statistics. The participants represent new and old as well as small and large enterprises. Topics include: doing research for money, consulting, differences between large and small firms, incorporating, hiring others, joint projects with other firms or universities, dual citizenship in business and academe, writing contracts, subcontracting, and budgeting (estimating time on tasks, material costs, others' services).

114. Professional Workshop. Proposal Grantsmanship and Opportunities for Federal Funding for Research

115. Academic Workplace Workshop. Challenges and Opportunities in Teaching Sociology in the Community College

San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan A

Maria I. Bryant, Charles County Community College

This workshop will explore issues related to teaching sociology in the community college. Specifically, the workshop will address some of the implications of distance learning technology, community service projects, and the creation of web-based courses in the community college.

San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7

Organizer: Nancy Naples, University of California, Irvine
Panel: Nancy Naples, University of California, Irvine
Susan Stall, Northeastern Illinois University
Randi Stoecker, University of Toledo
David VanZyveld, Loyola University, Chicago

From classroom to community, from local to international sites, how can sociologists effectively engage in grassroots policy work? This workshop will illustrate how sociologists can involve students, community groups, and others in the design of community action research and contribute to a variety of social change efforts in their communities and beyond. Presenters will discuss their experiences (1) working with students to develop local community action projects, (2) using the internet as a site for linking academics and community organizers, (3) generating internships inside and outside the U.S., and (4) developing collaborative research projects between university and the broader community. Resource materials will be provided. Presenters will provide a framework for the discussion that will be further shaped by the contributions of those in the audience.

117. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time

San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 3

Frances V. Moulder, Three Rivers Community Technical College
Kent Sandstrom, University of Northern Iowa
Dipanitha Basu, Pitzer College

This workshop will address the issues of the first-time sociology teacher. It will be an interactive workshop intended for first-time sociology instructors who have many questions. The diversity of teaching contexts will be addressed, including community colleges, large universities, and liberal arts colleges. Specific issues to be addressed will include teaching philosophies, course objectives, syllabus construction, course content, selecting texts and alternative materials. The workshop will also discuss strategies for teaching, including lectures, collaborative learning, service learning, audio and video, and simulations. Attention will also be focused on different modes of evaluating student work, and on classroom research techniques to improve teaching and learning. Handouts will be provided (bibliography of teaching references, sample course materials).

Panel: Michael Fleischer, Organizational Design and Development, Inc.
Harry Perlstadt, Michigan State University and Chair, Commission on Clinical and Applied Sociology
Linda Weber, State University of New York, Utica/Rome, and Chair, Sociological Practice Association Certification Committee
Certification, licensure and accreditation in sociology have been more or less salient throughout the history of sociology in the U.S. In the past ten years, a number of organizations, including the ASA, the Sociological Practice Association, the Commission on Applied Clinical Sociology, have addressed this issue in various ways. At the same time, many social and behavioral scientific associations and other occupational groups have enacted state legislation which, at times, impedes sociologists’ entry into traditionally interdisciplinary professions. The actions of organizations to “professionalize” their membership through program accreditation along with registration, certification, and licensure, asks what is appropriate response of sociologists and sociology organizations. In this workshop, the panel will discuss the current issues and activities of the various groups in this area.

144. Academic Workplace Workshop. The Challenges and Strategies of Open Admissions and Remediation

171. Professional Workshop. Preparing Your Credentials for Teaching-Oriented Faculty Positions
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza B
Organizer and Presider: Jodi O'Brien, Seattle University Panel: Charles Lawrence, Seattle University
   Anne Martin, Edmonds Community College
   David Newman, Depauw University
   Richard Serpe, California State University, San Marcos
Panelists will discuss qualifications for applicants who apply for positions at community colleges, liberal arts schools, and state universities with a teaching emphasis. The panelists will give information on preparing teaching portfolios, letters of recommendation, and guest lectures. We will also discuss ways in which the current political economy of the academic job market shapes hiring decisions.

172. Professional Workshop. Retirement Planning and Opportunities
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 3-4
Organizer and Presider: Arlene Kaplan Daniels, Northwestern University and University of California, Berkeley
Panel: Joyce Bird, Oakland, CA
   Joseph Gusfield, University of California, San Diego
   The focus of this session is preparing for retirement in terms of transition periods and the formulation of meaning in life. Issues to be addressed include creative indolence, professional status changes, staving off the inevitable, and economic and life course adjustments.

San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Organizer and Presider: Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association
Panel: Theodred C. Wagenaar, Miami University
   William S. Johnson, Arizona State University
   Paula L. Dressel, The Anna E. Casey Foundation
   Terrence Russell, Association for Institutional Research
   Pressures for accountability in higher education come from legislators, parents, faculty, students, and administrators. How can sociologists stay ahead of these trends and use their methodological tools to make assessment an aid rather than a burden? Panelists, knowledgeable in the literature of evaluation, will share strategies for creating and using evaluation measures. In particular, the workshop will focus on student evaluations of faculty, outcome assessment of student learning, and post-tenure review and workload metrics.

174. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Critical Thinking Skills within Sociology Courses
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza A
Organizer: Dean Dorn, California State University, Sacramento
Panel: Carole W. Barnes, California State University, Sacramento
   Douglas Anderson, University of Southern Maine
   Susan McWilliams, University of Southern Maine
   Wendy Chapkin, University of Southern Maine
   Charles S. Green, III, University of Wisconsin, Whitewater
The goal for this workshop is to provide instructors with examples of how to teach critical thinking in three courses that are commonly found in the sociology curriculum: marriage and the family, a course that covers a research methods context, and a course on social issues. Discussion will cover the place of critical thinking in the sociology curriculum and the ways in which critical thinking, as taught in and by sociology departments, is similar to and different from critical thinking taught by humanities programs. Presenters will focus on techniques and assignments to implement critical thinking, many of which are easily adaptable to other courses, and discuss how they have designed their courses to incorporate critical thinking. Participants will receive handouts that illustrate the techniques and assignments that are used.

194. Poster Session. Opportunities for Research Support (to 4:00 p.m.)
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite
Organizers: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association; and Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation

This poster/exhibit session is an important opportunity to meet program officers and representatives of major research funding institutions to talk about research and fellowship support. This is a chance for conference participants to speak one-on-one with representatives and learn about new and continuing funding initiatives, application procedures and review processes, and elements of a competitive research proposal. Each exhibit provides a visual overview of research funding and the application process, materials for distributions, and time for direct individual discussion. All meeting participants, including students, are encouraged to attend.

For detailed information on participants, see page 205.

200. Didactic Seminar. Multilevel Models, Contextual Effects
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Ticket required for admission
William M. Mason, University of California, Los Angeles
Vincent Kang Fu, University of California, Los Angeles
Techniques for the analysis of data with one or more blocking structures have recently attained "must know" status in the conduct of quantitative social science research. We describe approaches and software for multilevel and repeated measures data structures based on regression, discrete response, ordinal response, event history and other regression-like models. The emphasis will be on key insights and on software-linked examples. A web site will be provided for post-meetings follow-up and contact. Participants should gain from this Didactic Seminar an understanding of the need for the general class of models discussed, and the capacity to make sensible decisions about the specific types of modeling they wish to use in their own research.

201. Professional Workshop. Libraries in the Electronic Society: Dinosaurs or Gateways to Cyberspace?
San Francisco Hilton, Mason
Organizers: Sally Willson Weimer, University of California, Santa Barbara; and Brian Quinn, Texas Tech University Library, Lubbock
Panel: Leigh S. Estabrook, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign
Sydney Pierce, University of Washington
Michael F. Winter, Shields Library, University of California, Davis
Does the widespread use of personal computers spell the end of the library? Or does the widespread adoption of information technology in society mean that libraries will become the new electronic information centers of society? Panelists will speculate about the future of the library in the emerging electronic society.

San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Bob Greene, Greenfield High School
The goal of this workshop is to provide participants with strategies that will bridge the gap between university or community college instructors and teachers from K-12. Session leaders will share methods that have proved to be successful from personal experience as well as provide insights into how those interested can work with K-12 teachers and advance sociology at the pre-college level.

203. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Feminist Theory
Renaissance Parc 55 Hotel, Cervantes
Leader: Joey Sprague, University of Kansas
Panel: Kathleen Blee, University of Pittsburgh
Katherine O'Donnell, Hartwick College
Barrie Thorne, University of California, Berkeley
The goal of this workshop is to offer practical suggestions for meeting challenges commonly facing those who teach feminist theory, whether as a separate course or as an element of another course. Some questions we might address are: identifying good reading materials, useful classroom exercises and assignments, dealing with student hostility and anxiety, and feminist strategies for evaluating students. We will begin with brief presentations by panelists but most of the time will be devoted to small and large group discussion. Panelists will provide examples of teaching materials and participants are also invited to share materials they have found useful.

204. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Sociology on the Internet
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Joan M. Morris, University of Central Florida
Arlen D. Carey, University of Central Florida
Rodney D. Coates, Miami University
Vincent N. Parrillo, William Paterson University
Panelists will discuss the process of web-integrating sociology courses. Topics to be covered include: how to convert sociology courses for web-delivery, adding web-enhancement in face-to-face courses, using chat rooms for real-time class interaction, and long distance faculty collaboration on sociology courses. Web-based computer demonstrations will focus on available tools and resources and will show examples of existing sociology courses on the Internet.

225. Didactic Seminar. Grant Writing: Crafting a Competitive Research Proposal
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Ticket required for admission
Martin K. Whyte, George Washington University
This seminar is intended for sociologists who have limited prior experience in applying for outside grants and fellowships to support their research. While not attempting to be comprehensive, the session will discuss several major kinds of funding agencies and how they differ in terms of the kinds of research they support and their procedures for awarding grants. Primary attention will focus on the National Science Foundation, the relevant parts of the National Institutes of Health, and private foundations. Techniques for gathering information about funding sources and ways to effectively frame a research proposal will be discussed.

226. Professional Workshop. Research Ethics, Protection of Human Subjects, and the Role of Institutional Review Boards (co-sponsored by the ASA Committee on Professional Ethics and the ASA Minority Fellowship Program)
San Francisco Hilton, Van Ness
Organizer and Presider: John M. Kennedy, American Sociological Association and Indiana University
Panel: Sue Hoppe, University of Texas, San Antonio
Diane R. Brown, Wayne State University
Helen A. Moore, University of Nebraska, Lincoln
Eleanor M. Miller, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee
In the past few years, Institutional Review Boards (IRBs) have started to review more carefully the research of sociologists and other social scientists. Many sociologists believe the IRBs are an impediment to their research, but they need not be. In this workshop, the participants discuss the roles of IRBs, how to work effectively with them, and how the ASA's Code of Ethics can be used to work with IRBs.

227. Academic Workplace Workshop. Enhancing the Undergraduate Curriculum: An Interdisciplinary Approach to Research Training and Mentoring
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D
Havidan Rodriguez, University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez, and the American Sociological Association
Walter Diaz, University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez
Research training and mentoring increase the likelihood that students will complete their undergraduate degrees successfully and are key variables in enhancing students' professional development and employment opportunities. Furthermore, research training and mentoring are extremely important in socializing students into the discipline and profession. Panelists for this workshop will present and discuss different models to enhance research training and mentoring at the undergraduate level. Concrete initiatives, developed through the American Sociological Association's Minority Opportunities through School Transformation (MOST) Program and the Center for Applied Social Research at the University of Puerto Rico-Mayaguez, will be presented during this workshop.

228. Teaching Workshop. Effective Courses and Programs in Sociological Practice
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan A
Jan Marie Fritz, University of Cincinnati
Harry Perlis, Michigan State University
Kathy Trier, Indiana University-Purdue University, Fort Wayne
This workshop will examine the basic elements of effective clinical sociology and applied sociology courses. We will discuss graduate and undergraduate level courses and programs that exist or may be implemented in sociology or interdisciplinary departments. We will provide basic materials, and participants will have an opportunity to share successes, concerns, and strategies. As the workshop leaders are all involved in the commission for the accreditation of applied and clinical sociology programs, we will also provide some basic information about accreditation.

245. Poster Session. Data Resources (to 12:00 noon)
San Francisco Hilton, Yosemite

Organizers: Felice Levine, American Sociological Association; and Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation

This poster/exhibit session provides a unique occasion to meet principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale data sets that are publicly available for use. Each exhibit showcases at least one major data set of tremendous value for primary and secondary analysis.
Representatives are available to talk about the nature of these data sets, their analytic potential, and issues relating to access and use, including the development of state-of-the-art Internet services to access data sets. This is an opportunity for conference participants to learn about these data sets and their potential for research and teaching. All meeting attendees, including students, are encouraged to attend.

250. Didactic Seminar. The Issue of Reflexivity in Interviewing— and Qualitative Methods, More Generally
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Ticket required for admission
Arlene Kaplan Daniels, Northwestern University and University of California, Berkeley
Both novices and "old hands" at interviewing are interested in the "war stories" about contretemps and surprises in encounters with respondents. But the topic of telling war stories has become more systematically investigated in recent times under the topic of reflexivity: how we influence the research participants, and how they influence us. Feminist theorists and researchers have most particularly elaborated on the issue of the relationship—and partnership—with respondents which can minimize power differentials between them. This seminar will address the problems—and opportunities—provided by reflexivity in the interview situation. The leader will provide many examples from her own work, but participants will be encouraged to reflect upon their own experiences to consider what general precepts we may discover to guide us—both to protect us and our respondents, but also to extract the best insights that we can from this experience to help us in understanding and analyzing our findings for write up and publication. These precepts are also what we need when introducing our students to field work.

251. Professional Workshop. The Crisis in University Press Publishing: Is It Real and How Will It Affect the Discipline?
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 15-16
Organizer and Presider: Wendy Griswold, Northwestern University
Panel: Walter W. Powell, University of Arizona
Ann Swidler, University of California, Berkeley
Peter Dougherty, Princeton University Press
This panel will address the questions of (1) what impact current developments in publishing are having on university presses, and (2) what impact could this have on sociology? The publishing crisis is both the general one of industry consolidation, greater focus on the bottom line, and the squeezing out of independent bookstores and small publishers, and the specific one whereby university presses can no longer count on the same number of library sales as in the past. Some sociologists think university presses are now chasing after trade book or being led by fads of popularity, instead of publishing quality work; editors maintain that they are responding to intellectual shifts in the discipline, not just economic pressures. Everyone agrees that academic publishing is changing; what is not clear is whether this is having an adverse impact on the assistant professor trying to publish her book or a distorting effect on the graduate student trying to figure out on what areas of sociology he should focus.

253. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Social Policy Issues: In the Classroom and to the Public at Large
San Francisco Hilton, Plaza B
Organizers: Clarence Y.H. Lo, University of Missouri, Columbia; and Michael Schwartz, State University of New York, Stony Brook
Leaders: Ronald Walters, University of Maryland, College Park; and Frances Fox Piven, Graduate Center, City College of New York
Discussion: Carole Joffe, University of California, Davis; Jerry Lembcke, Holy Cross College; and Gregory McLauchlan, University of Oregon

We will compare how we teach students about social policy controversies, and how we use the media to educate the public about policy choices. Are we effective when we hammer out the facts? Or is it better to unmask how opponents think, revealing their values and interests? Presenters are contributors to Social Policy and the Conservative Agenda.

254. Teaching Workshop. Teaching about the Life Course
San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan A
Organizers: Timothy J. Owens, Indiana University, Indianapolis; and Eliza K. Pavalko, Indiana University, Bloomington

283. Academic Workplace Workshop. Timely Completion of Graduate Degrees

San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7

Maureen Kelleber, Northeastern University

The goal of the workshop is to help Directors of Graduate Studies and other interested faculty in developing effective strategies for the timely completion of graduate degrees. We will first evaluate traditional programmatic roadblocks to completion such as program hurdles, foreign language requirements, and limited funding. Second, we will look at departmental-level strategies that can help students complete their degrees, including such devices as effective mentoring programs and ongoing student progress evaluations. We will consider these strategies in relationship to faculty motivation. Finally, we will look at the shifting demographic profile of our students—more women and minorities, more mid-career, non-traditional models—and assess the requirement to tailor completion strategies to the changing needs of this new population.

284. Teaching Workshop. Art Worlds: Teaching Sociology of Culture and the Arts

San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 3

Leader: Vera L. Zolberg, The New School for Social Research
Panel: Howard S. Becker, University of Washington
Jeffrey C. Goldfarb, New School for Social Research
Larry Gross, University of Pennsylvania
Bruce Jackson, State University of New York, Buffalo
Raymonde Moulin, Centre de Sociologie des Arts, Paris

The goal of this workshop is to help instructors develop courses, objectives, and assignments for this field of study. Centered on the contributions of Howard S. Becker, who pioneered in the sociology of the arts as writer/scholar and teacher, as well as practitioner (pianist and photographer), the session will consist of Becker himself presenting the approach that he has developed over the years. The participants, acting as discussants, will comment on his ideas, noting the continuities, variations, and elaboration that they have experienced in light of differing institutions, student bodies, and other contextual conditions. Becker and the discussants will have the opportunity to comment, question, and clarify their ideas. The audience will have the opportunity to intervene with questions and comments. Sample syllabi and reading lists will be provided.

Peter M. Hall, University of Missouri, Columbia
Roslyn Mickelson, University of North Carolina, Charlotte
Alan Sadovnik, Adelphi University
Two inclusive theoretical frameworks based on research on "scaling up" educational reform will be presented. They will then be examined in the context of macro-micro scholarship and inequality in educational institutions. Discussion will aim toward illumination of theoretical contributions, convergencies, problems, and contradictions.

304. Special Session. Census 2000: Issues for Sociologists (co-sponsored by the ASA Committee on National Statistics)
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 15-16
Organizer and Presider: William H. Frey, University of Michigan
Panel: Martha Farnsworth Riche, U.S. Census Bureau, Director (1994-98)
Reynolds Farley, Russell Sage Foundation
Linda Gage, California Department of Finance
Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association
The panelists will discuss contemporary issues and controversies embedded in making the year 2000 Census as scientifically sound, accurate, and useful as possible. Issues include debate over sampling for nonresponse and its impact for the underrepresentation of certain groups, changes and challenges to the long form and the items to be included in the Census, and new electronic products that will be available for research, teaching, and policy making. The panel is intended to stimulate discussion and reaction on the part of the sociological community on these and related questions. The American Sociological Association is a member of the Advisory Committee to the Census 2000.

305. Didactic Seminar. Conducting Cross-National Research: Studying Transnational Migration and the Mexican Migration Project
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8
Ticket required for admission
Douglas S. Massey, University of Pennsylvania
The Mexican Migration Project (MMP) is a binational study of Mexico-U.S. migration jointly sponsored by the University of Guadalajara and the University of Pennsylvania with support from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development and the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation. This seminar provides an introduction to the philosophy, organization, and design of the MMP as an exemplar of cross-national research, covering the topics of sampling, questionnaire design, data file construction, data accessibility, and potential uses of the information. Attendees will be shown the project's website and how to use it, and applications of the data will be discussed.

San Francisco Hilton, Mason
Christena Nippert-Eng, Illinois Institute of Technology
This workshop takes a cultural, contextual look at the problem of deciding where and how a sociologist should draw the line between "home" and "work." The session focuses on the practical but symbolic ways in which individuals integrate or segment these realms and the messages these actions send to self and others. Sources of personal and organizational satisfaction/dissatisfaction with one's efforts are examined by comparing individual practices and expectations with those of family and colleagues. Also, the workshop will address the effects of how one negotiates the home-work boundary on professional success within a variety of academic and corporate environments and the impact of one's behavior on organizational/occupational culture and family life.
307. Academic Workplace Workshop. Sociology's Opportunities in Interdisciplinary Courses

San Francisco Hilton, Franciscan D

Organizer: Lynda D. Nyce, Bluffton College
Panel: Roberta Lessor, Chapman University
    Norah D. Peters, Beaver College
    Lynda D. Nyce, Bluffton College
    Don Will, Chapman University

Panelists will discuss their experiences of teaching in interdisciplinary courses. The workshop will serve as a “briefing” on the topic, outlining the role of sociology in interdisciplinary teaching, presenting practical advice and resources, discussing problems and concerns, and providing examples of successful models and approaches.

308. Teaching Workshop. Computing across the Sociology Curriculum

San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7

Organizer: Ken Stewart, Angelo State University
Leaders: Steve Bird, Taylor University
    Roger Finke, Purdue University
    Dale McConkey, Berry College
    Ken Stewart, Angelo State University

Experienced leaders will demonstrate and discuss techniques, applications, benefits, and problems associated with using new computing innovations with ready access to social science data to teach a variety of standard undergraduate courses across the sociology curriculum. Demonstrations and discussion will encompass use of computer-based materials to enhance classroom presentations and discussions, for developing both short and semester-long student projects, and use of different types of computer-based textbooks. Handouts will be provided, and discussion will take place both during and after demonstrations.

309. Poster Session. Graduate Programs in Sociology

Organizer: Steve Hoffman, American Sociological Association

Graduate programs will display information about their programs, special emphases, financial aid and admissions criteria, and the opportunities to work with their faculty. Representatives from the department will be on hand to answer questions from undergraduate students and their advisors, MA students looking to pursue a PhD, and interested others. Departments will hand out information as well.

Falling without a Safety Net: Plight of the Poor in the Post-Welfare State. Cedric Hewing, University of Illinois, Chicago
The Scope of Welfare in the Lives of the Poor: Policy and Research Assumptions. Sandra K. Danziger, University of Michigan

Given that one of the major charges of the public sector has been to ensure the protection of the public, what does the fact that the public sector is being reduced mean for that public, especially those people who cannot secure private services for themselves and their families? Can we see specific patterns in increased vulnerability of certain populations or areas of government service (for example, the imbalance as we expand prisons, even private ones, while many municipalities neglect public schools)? What are the responses to protests if they occur? Can we look and see if privatizing works? Is it cost effective? Does it really mean high quality service for people? There are many issues and unintended consequences of the reduced commitment of federal, state, and municipal governments.

334. Didactic Seminar. Software for Qualitative Analysis
(to 11:30 a.m.)
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 8

Ticket required for admission
Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College
Gregg Lee Carter, Bryant College
Udo Kelle, University of Bremen, Germany

This seminar is for qualitative researchers who wish to use computer software to analyze textual data (e.g., case records, newspaper articles, field notes, transcripts of interviews or focus group discussions), pictures, graphics, or audio and video tapes. We will briefly explore the history of computer-assisted software programs in the social sciences. We will describe some of the computer software programs on the market today and compare and contrast some of the most important programs. We will discuss the factors you should consider in selecting a software program. We will analyze the key methodological and theoretical issues involved in using computer-assisted software programs for qualitative data analysis. If time permits, we will demonstrate some “cutting-edge” software programs.

335. Professional Workshop. Writing for the Trade Press
San Francisco Hilton, Union Square 3-4

Organizer: Julia Wrigley, Graduate Center, City University of New York
Panel: Dean Birkenkamp, Rowman & Littlefield
Fred Block, University of California, Davis
Dan Clawson, University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Barbara Katz Rothman, Graduate Center and Baruch College, City University of New York
Pepper Schwartz, University of Washington

Panelists will discuss their experiences writing for the trade press, with special attention to their advantages and disadvantages compared to university publishers. Panelists will address issues such as shaping their books for a broad audience, their experiences with advertising and media coverage, and the fate of their books in the market place, including attempts to keep their books in print and the transfer of rights to other publishers. They will also assess trends in publishing and their implications for sociologists wanting to write for trade presses.

336. Academic Workplace Workshop. Effective Graduate Research Training
Renaissance Parc 55 Hotel, Raphael

William T. Bielby, University of California, Santa Barbara
Karen E. Campbell, Vanderbilt University
Juan L. Gonzales, Jr., California State University, Hayward
Barrett A. Lee, Pennsylvania State University

This workshop is aimed at persons who plan or administer graduate programs in sociology. We will examine the research component of such programs, focusing on a central issue: how best to prepare students for future research roles in academic and applied settings. Different models of research training will be considered, with particular attention to their goals, design, and assessment. The workshop format will be interactive, including ample time for questions and discussion.

337. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Environmental Sociology
San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7

Organizers and Presiders: Karen Lang Krause, Saginaw Valley State University; and J. Timmons Roberts, Tulane University
Panel: J. Timmons Roberts, Tulane University
Susan Holland Roschke, Bradley University
F. Kurt Cylke, State University of New York, Geneseo
Charles Harper, Creighton University

This workshop will cover a wide variety of techniques for teaching about environmental issues using collaborative and participatory teaching styles. Panelists will share information about class projects such as environmental audits and campus environmental surveys, community research projects, computer-based course exercises, interactive teaching using the computer, and theoretical and applied projects. Specific examples and successful strategies will be discussed. Handouts will be provided. Participants are urged to bring syllabi, exercises, and ideas to share with the group.

San Francisco Hilton, Continental Parlor 7
Organizer and Presider: Norma Stoltz Chinchilla, California State University, Long Beach
Panel: R. Eugene Rice, American Association for Higher Education
Harold Charnovksy, California State University, Dominquez Hills
Norma Stoltz Chinchilla, California State University, Long Beach

Serious questions are being raised about tenure, not only by the anti-intellectual "faculty bashers" but by legislators and trustees who care about higher education—and even our own colleagues. What can be done to improve the tenure process? How can post-tenure review (mandated in 30 states) be structured in ways that contribute to the vitality and resilience of senior faculty and build collegiality in our departments? Can we enlarge our notions of scholarly work to include the intellectual challenges of teaching and professional service? Should effective teaching and good professional and department citizenship be given greater recognition? Need there be a single tenure clock or can there be greater flexibility with regard to tenure timelines? Should there be a "teaching track" to tenure? These are some of the important questions that are being discussed in national forums and conferences related on higher education. We would like to stimulate a more informed and "forward-looking" discussion of the subject of tenure within our profession by sharing ideas and proposals gleaned from the national conversation and inviting workshop participants to join with us in extending the conversation to our discipline and to colleagues on our campuses. The format is a brief discussion of issues and proposals from the panel members, followed by questions and open discussion among workshop participants. Handouts and bibliographies will be shared.

SPECIAL POSTER SESSION 194
OPPORTUNITIES FOR RESEARCH SUPPORT

Organizers: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association and Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation
Saturday August 22 • 1:00 - 4:00 p.m.
San Francisco Hilton and Towers
Yosemite Room

Meet program officers and representatives of major research funding institutions to talk about opportunities for research and fellowship support. This is a chance for conference participants to speak one-on-one with representatives and learn about new and continuing funding initiatives, application procedures and review processes, and elements of a competitive research proposal. Each exhibit provides a visual overview of research funding and the application process, materials for distribution, and time for direct individual discussion. All meeting participants, including students, are encouraged to attend.

1. National Science Foundation
Division of Social, Behavioral, and Economic Research, Sociology Program
Presenter: Barry Markovsky, Sociology Program, National Science Foundation, 4201 Wilson Boulevard, 995 SBER, Arlington, VA 22230; phone (703) 306-1756; fax (703) 306-0497; e-mail: bmarkovs@nsf.gov; homepage: http://www.nsf.gov.

The Sociology Program at the National Science Foundation (NSF) supports research on human social organization, demography, and processes of individual and institutional change. The Program encourages theoretically focused empirical investigations aimed at improving the explanation of fundamental social processes. Included is research on organizations and organizational behavior, population dynamics, social movements, social groups, labor force participation, stratification and mobility, family, social networks, socialization, gender roles, and the sociology of science and technology.

The Sociology Program resides in NSF’s Division of Social, Behavioral and Economic Research. The Division supports disciplinary and multidisciplinary research, data collection, measurement and methodological research. Its goal is to develop basic scientific knowledge of social, behavioral, and economic systems, organizations and institutions, and human interaction and decision making. It also provides support for research conferences, doctoral dissertation research, international group travel, and data resource development.

2. National Science Foundation
Office of Polar Programs, Arctic Science Section

The Arctic Research Program at the National Science Foundation (NSF) offers a focused multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary research program emphasizing the special character of the Arctic for scientific study. The arctic regions are among the most sensitive to environmental change, have long natural climate records, and thousands of years of human settlement. The Arctic Research Program consists of the Arctic Natural Sciences, Arctic System Science, and Arctic Social Sciences programs. The Arctic Social Sciences Program encompasses all social sciences supported by NSF, including anthropology, archaeology, economics, geography, linguistics, political science, psychology, sociology, and related subjects.

Areas of particular interest include rapid social change, community viability, and human/environment interactions.
3. National Science Foundation

Directorate for Education and Human Resources, Division of Undergraduate Education

Presenter: Myles Boylan, Division of Undergraduate Education, Directorate for Education and Human Resources, National Science Foundation, 4201 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, VA 22230; phone (703) 306-1681; fax (703) 306-0445; email: mboylan@nsf.gov; homepage: http://www.nsf.gov.

The Division of Undergraduate Education (DUE) is the focal point for the National Science Foundation’s (NSF) agency-wide effort in undergraduate education. DUE supports both curriculum (the continuing renewal of undergraduate courses, curricula and laboratories) and faculty (the preparation of future faculty, teachers and other educators at all levels) development activities. A range of Foundation publications will be available, including "Shaping the Future: New Expectations for Undergraduate Education in Science, Mathematics, Engineering, and Technology," and the DUE program announcement which outlines current funding opportunities and application procedures.

A number of research themes have been stressed by DUE over the past year. These include introductory level courses that provide opportunities for active student participation; courses with interdisciplinary perspectives to enable students to better understand the relationship of a number of disciplines and their contributions to addressing problems and issues; training the next generation of elementary and secondary school teachers in mathematics and the sciences (including the social and behavioral sciences); and projects that teach students how to learn and to prepare for a lifetime of learning.

4. National Institutes of Health

National Institute of Child Health and Human Development

Presenter: Christine Bachrach, Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch, National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD), 600 Executive Boulevard, Room B13, Bethesda, MD 20892-7510; phone (301) 496-1174; fax (301) 496-0962; email: bachracc@hd01.nihd.nichd.nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nih.gov/nichd/.

The National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD), through its Center for Population Research, is the nation’s largest funder of behavioral and social science research on population. Program areas of interest include family and household structure and their relationship to children’s well-being, fertility and contraceptive behavior, sexual behavior related to risk of pregnancy, HIV infection, and other sexually transmitted diseases; immigration, migration, and population distribution; the relation of demographic factors to labor markets and labor force participation; child care; social factors in mortality, especially infant mortality and child health; and formal demographic and methodological research. The Center for Research on Mothers and Children also supports behavioral and social research in the areas of child development, mental retardation, and nutrition and growth. A new program, the National Center for Rehabilitation Research, founded in 1991, supports work on the behavioral aspects of disability.

5. National Institutes of Health

National Institute of Mental Health

Presenter: Emeline Otey, National Institute of Mental Health, 5600 Fishers Lane, Room 18C-26, Rockville, MD 20857; phone (301) 443-9400, fax (301) 443-9876; email: eotey@nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nimh.nih.gov/

The National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) funds and conducts research and supports research training on mental health and illness. NIMH support in the social and behavioral sciences addresses such issues as the factors associated with health and well-being; the etiology, genetics, prevention, treatment, and clinical course of mental disorders; clinical mental health services and service systems research; epidemiology; assessment and classification of mental disorders; violence and traumatic stress; and law and mental health.

6. National Institutes of Health

National Institute on Aging

*Presenter: Ronald P. Abeles, National Institute on Aging (NIA), Gateway Building, Room 533, 7201 Wisconsin Avenue, MSC 9205, Bethesda, MD 20892; phone (301) 496-3136; fax (301) 402-0051; email: ronald_abeles@nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nih.gov/.

The National Institute on Aging (NIA) supports a wide variety of qualitative and quantitative sociological research and training related to aging processes, the relationship between the aging population and social institutions (including the health care system), and the impact on society of the changing age composition. Opportunities and options for Federal funding of aging research will be available. Of particular interest is the potential for sociological contributions to issues of women and minorities in later life.

7. National Institutes of Health

National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism

Presenter: Susan Martin, National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA), 6000 Executive Boulevard, Suite 505, Rockville, MD 20892; phone (301) 443-8767; fax (301) 443-8774; email: smartin@willco.niaaa.nih.gov; homepage: http://www.niaaa.nih.gov/
National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) supports basic and applied research related to the causes, consequences, treatment, and prevention of alcohol-related problems. Most social science research is funded through the Division of Clinical and Prevention Research and the Division of Biometry and Epidemiology. NIAAA also supports several alcohol research centers and an intramural research program. Research priorities include sociocultural and environmental determinants of drinking; safety, trauma, and alcohol-related performance; economic and socioeconomic issues in the prevention and treatment of alcohol problems; the prevention of alcohol-related problems in children, adolescents, and other at-risk populations; and alcohol-related health services studies.

8. National Institutes of Health
National Institute for Dental Research

Presenter: Patricia S. Bryant, Division of Extramural Research, National Institute for Dental Research (NIDR), Natcher Building, Room 4AN24E, Bethesda, MD 20892; phone (301) 594-2095; fax (301) 480-8318; email: BryantP@de45.nidr.nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nidr.nih.gov/.

The National Institute of Dental Research (NIDR) supports basic, patient-oriented, community-based, and policy research to improve oral and craniofacial health and oral health care delivery. Research focuses on many oral diseases and conditions including caries, periodontal diseases, oral cancers, acute and chronic orofacial pain conditions and TMJ disorders, salivary disorders, cleft lip and palate and other inherited or acquired craniofacial defects, and orofacial injuries, including those resulting from domestic violence or child abuse. Dental health care delivery settings provide opportunities for preventive and health promotion interventions (e.g. tobacco education and cessation programs). A wide range of sociological, behavioral, economic, health services delivery, environmental, genetic and biomedical factors are relevant to these conditions and to oral health.

Topics supported by NIDR include basic social science or health services research relevant to dental, oral, and craniofacial health or health care; the impact of oral health care delivery systems, clinical decision-making, and health promotion on oral and related systemic health outcomes; evaluation of the impact of factors affecting diffusion and adoption of preventive or therapeutic measures; the role of patients' and providers' knowledge, beliefs and behaviors on health outcomes; the basis for clinical decision making; the relationships among behavioral, environmental, and biological factors in determining health risks; the effects of social and psychological stress on the onset, course and outcomes of treatments; and health promotion intervention research for vulnerable population subgroups at high risk of disease. In addition, the NIDR supports training and career development for individuals at the predoctoral and postdoctoral levels in areas related to behavior, health promotion, and environmental aspects of oral, dental, and craniofacial health and diseases.

9. National Institutes of Health
Office of Behavioral and Social Science Research

Presenter: Susan Persons, Office of Behavioral and Social Science Research (OBSSR), Building 1, Room 326, Bethesda, MD 20892; phone (301) 402-3930; fax (301) 480-7555; email: persons@od.nih.gov; homepage: http://www1.od.nih.gov/obssr/obssr.htm.

In 1995, the National Institutes of Health established the Office of Behavioral and Social Sciences Research (OBSSR) to advance the growth and development of research on the social and behavioral aspects of health, disease, treatment, and prevention. The OBSSR serves as a primary focal point for stimulating attention at NIH for behavioral and social factors, which have been underfunded relative to their contributions to health and illness. OBSSR is seeking to integrate the behavioral and social sciences with other areas of the health research enterprise. This Office provides discretionary funds for special initiatives and for coordinated activities across Institutes.

10. National Institutes of Health
Office of AIDS Research

Presenters: Paul Gaist, Office of AIDS Research (OAR), Building 31, Room 4C06, Bethesda, MD 20892; phone (301) 402-3555; fax (301) 796-4843; email: paul_gaist@hdol.nichd.nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nih.gov/od/oar/oar.htm.

The Office of AIDS Research (OAR) is located within the Office of the Director of the National Institute of Health (NIH) and coordinates the scientific, budgetary, legislative, and policy elements of the NIH AIDS Research Program. The OAR is charged with developing an annual comprehensive Plan outlining science priorities in AIDS research and a budget that corresponds to that Plan; evaluating the NIH AIDS research program; and administering a discretionary fund. Additionally, the OAR helps foster cross-Agency and cross-disciplinary activities in AIDS research, including, sponsoring or co-sponsoring scientific meetings and symposia and facilitating inter-Institute mechanisms for research support.

11. Center for Scientific Review, National Institutes of Health

Presenter: Bob Weller, Center for Scientific Review, National Institutes of Health, 6701 Rockledge Drive, Room 5200,
The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in conjunction with the American Educational Research Association and the National Science Foundation, NCES sponsors three funding programs: a research grant program (up to $25,000 for 2 years), a resident fellows program (maximum $32,000 for 9 months), and a dissertation grants program ($20,000 for 2 years). Applications can be submitted at any time and will be reviewed three times during the next fiscal year. Since 1992, the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) has conducted a grant competition for secondary analysis of student achievement.
data. In partnership with the American Statistical Association and National Science Foundation, NCES also hosts a resident fellows program. Finally, to encourage new research on higher education, NCES is sponsoring a grant program through the Association for Institution Researchers (maximum $30,000 for 2 years).

16. U.S. Department of Education
Office of Educational Research and Improvement

Through support of basic and applied research, evaluations, and syntheses, the Office of Educational Research and Improvement (OERI) serves parents, teachers, school administrators, and policy makers at local, state, and national levels. OERI supports the National Center for Education Statistics; the Office of Reform Assistance and Dissemination; the National Institute on Early Childhood Education; the National Institute on At-Risk Students; the National Institute on Student Achievement, Curriculum, and Assessment; the National Institute on Educational Governance, Finance, and Policy Making; and the National Institute on Postsecondary Education, Libraries, and Lifelong Learning. A major function on OERI is to fund and coordinate research carried out by a national system of research and development centers and regional education laboratories. In addition, the Office supports a variety of grant programs, including Field-Initiated Studies which encourage research pertinent to national education concerns and issues.

17. U.S. Department of Defense
Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences
Presenter: Jaqueline A. Mottern, Research and Advanced Concepts Office, Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences (ARI), 5001 Eisenhower Avenue, Alexandria, VA 22333-5600; phone (703) 617-8641, fax (703) 617-5162; email: mottern@ari.army.mil; homepage: http://www.ari.army.mil/.

The U.S. Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences (ARI) is responsible for conducting research and development on manpower, personnel, and training issues for the Army. ARI also supports basic research in military sociology to gain a better understanding of how major societal issues and changes in society affect both the Army and how military personnel perform their jobs.

18. U.S. Department of Justice
National Institute of Justice
Presenter: Jordan Leiter, National Institute of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice, 810 7th Street, Washington, DC 20001; phone (202) 616-9487; fax (202) 616-0275; email: leiterj@ojp.usdoj.gov.

The National Institute of Justice (NIJ), a component of the Office of Justice Programs, is the research agency of the U.S. Department of Justice. Created by the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, as amended, NIJ is authorized to support research, evaluation, and demonstration programs, development of technology, and both national and international information dissemination. In recent years, NIJ has greatly expanded its initiatives, the result of the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994 (the Crime Act), partnerships with other Federal agencies and private foundations, advances in technology, and a new international focus. New research and evaluation is exploring key issues in: comparative cross-national crime, sentencing and sentencing reforms, prosecution and adjudication, corrections, community policing, violence against women, and specialized courts such as drug courts. This research is being carried out in cooperation with Department of Justice and Office of Justice Programs Crime Act offices, supported by funds from the Crime Act. Information will be provided on NIJ funding opportunities for research on crime and criminal justice.

19. U.S. Department of Labor
Bureau of Labor Statistics
Office of Survey Methods Research
Presenter: Roberta L. Sangster, Office of Survey Methods Research, Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), 2 Massachusetts Avenue, NE, Washington, DC 20212; phone (202) 606-7517; fax (202) 606-7426; email: sangster_r@bls.eov; homepage: http://www.bls.gov/.

The American Statistical Association (AStatA), jointly with the National Science Foundation (NSF) and the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), provides support for research fellowships at the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Fellowship terms are flexible and range from four to six months. Salaries are commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits and a travel allowance are also provided. Applicants must have a Ph.D. and a recognized research record in their area of proposed research. Possible research areas related to BLS data or methodology include, but are not limited to: price index estimation, time series methodology, statistical quality control, statistical disclosure limitation methodology, questionnaire design, expert systems, computer-assisted interviewing, statistical computing and graphics, social and demographic studies, longitudinal data analysis, and analysis of labor markets, prices, and productivity. Detailed research proposals are due December 10, 1998.

20. United States Institute of Peace

The U.S. Institute of Peace is an independent, nonpartisan Federal institution, authorized and annually funded by Congress for the express purpose of strengthening the nation’s capabilities to promote the peaceful resolution of international conflicts. Its major research programs are funded through grants and fellowships. Solicited and unsolicited grants support research, education, training, and dissemination of information to nonprofit organizations (including private colleges and universities), official public institutions, and individuals. The Jennings Randolph Fellowship Program provides resident fellowships and other forms of support to enable outstanding scholars, diplomats, journalists, and other professionals to conduct research and education projects focused on the nature of international conflict and methods for achieving peace. Fellowships are also available for doctoral candidates conducting dissertation research on topics concerned with sources and resolution of violent conflict.

21. Social Science Research Council

Presenter: Jennifer A. Winther, Social Science Research Council (SSRC), 810 Seventh Avenue, 31st Floor, New York, NY 10019; phone (212) 377-2700; fax (212) 377-2727; homepage: http://www.ssrc.org.

The Social Science Research Council (SSRC) is an independent, nongovernmental, not for profit, international association devoted to the advancement of interdisciplinary research in the social sciences. It does this through a wide variety of interdisciplinary workshops and conferences, fellowships and grants, summer training institutes, scholarly exchanges, and publications.

Founded in 1923, the Council is governed by a board of directors comprised largely of social and behavioral scientists. It is an international enterprise in which a rotating group of some 300 social scientists work together in pro bono service giving continued and cumulative attention to topics at the frontiers of research, training, field development, and public policy in both the United States and other regions of the world. SSRC’s committees encourage the development of new methods, confront theoretical controversies, and identify promising topics and issues for new empirical investigation.

22. Scholars in Health Policy Research

Presenters: Eileen Connor, Deputy Director, National Program Office, Boston University, School of Management, 595 Commonwealth Avenue, Room 546B, Boston, MA 02215; phone (617) 352-9220; fax (617) 353-9227; email: econnor@bu.edu; homepage: http://www.rwjf.org.

The Scholars in Health Policy Research Program, a national program sponsored by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, is intended to foster the development of creative thinkers and problem solvers in health policy. The Program provides recent graduates of doctoral programs in economics, political science, and sociology with a unique and challenging two-year experience in both academic and applied policy research environments. Up to 12 scholars are selected annually to participate in the Program at one of three nationally prominent academic institutions – the University of California at Berkeley (in collaboration with the University of California at San Francisco); The University of Michigan; and Yale University. At these sites, scholars have the opportunity to work closely with faculty from the social sciences—as well as from medicine, public health, and public policy—in an environment conducive to multidisciplinary learning and collaborative research and have access to the full range of university resources.

23. Association for Institutional Research, Florida State University

Presenter: Terrence Russell, Executive Director, Association for Institutional Research, 114 Stone Building, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306-4462; phone (850) 644-4470; fax (850) 644-8824; email: trussell@mailer.fsu.edu.

The Association for Institutional Research (AIR), an international membership organization devoted to management research, policy analysis, and planning in higher education, announces the 1999 competitions for research grants and fellowships. Solicited and unsolicited grants support research, education, training, and dissemination of information to nonprofit organizations (including private colleges and universities), official public institutions, and individuals. The Jennings Randolph Fellowship Program provides resident fellowships and other forms of support to enable outstanding scholars, diplomats, journalists, and other professionals to conduct research and education projects focused on the nature of international conflict and methods for achieving peace. Fellowships are also available for doctoral candidates conducting dissertation research on topics concerned with sources and resolution of violent conflict.
proposals are solicited from all postsecondary staff and faculty with an interest in learning to use these data for institutional or other research purposes. Proposals for the NSF institute are solicited from graduate students in any of the social sciences with a research interest in science and engineering, human resources and higher education. A similar NSF institute for faculty and staff is contemplated, but plans are incomplete at this time. Awards for the institutes pay all travel and onsite expenses.

The deadline for proposals is January 15, 1999.

Presenter: Pamela B. Kerin, AARP Andrus Foundation, 601 E Street, NW, Washington, DC 20049; phone (202) 434-6190; fax (202) 434-6483; email: pkerin@aarp.org.

The AARP Andrus Foundation focuses its funding of aging research in the following two areas: Aging and Financial Security and Living With Chronic Health Conditions. Specific funding priorities include research focusing on the impending changes in the Social Security system, the economic impact of chronic health conditions, new means for assessing the impact of chronic diseases, and maximizing adaptation to chronic health conditions.

25. American Sociological Association Minority Fellowship Program (MFP)

Presenters: Havidan Rodriguez, American Sociological Association (ASA), Bernice Pescosolido, Minority Fellowship Advisory Committee Member, and MFP Fellows Tony Brown, Lisa Sun Hee Park, Kevin Hylton, and Vinetta Goodwin-Witt, 1722 N Street, NW, Washington, DC 20036; phone (202) 833-3410, ext. 322; fax (202) 785-0146; email: minority.affairs@asanet.org; homepage: http://www.asanet.org.

Through its Minority Fellowship Program (MFP), the American Sociological Association supports the development and training of minority sociologists in mental health. Funded by a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), the MFP seeks to attract talented minority students interested in mental health issues and to facilitate their placement, work, and success in an appropriate graduate program. In addition to providing financial support, the MFP works with Fellows and their faculty advisors at their home departments to help prepare Fellows in the sociology of mental health. Also, the MFP conducts symposia sessions at scholarly meetings, offers travel support to scientific conferences, and undertakes other initiatives that foster the development of formal and informal training for Fellows.

26. American Sociological Association Research and Fellowship Support for Sociologists

Presenter: Roberta Spalter-Roth, American Sociological Association (ASA, 1722 N Street, NW, Washington, DC 20036; phone (202) 833-3410; fax (202) 785-0146; email: executive.office@asanet.org; homepage: http://www.asanet.org.

The American Sociological Association (ASA) provides funding for sociologists through two small grants programs and several fellowships programs. The ASA and the National Science Foundation jointly support the Fund for the Advancement of the Discipline (FAD). The goal of FAD is to nurture the development of scientific knowledge by funding ground breaking research initiatives and other important scientific research activities. FAD provides grant support (up to $5,000) for substantive and methodological breakthroughs that can advance knowledge and provide leverage for acquisition of additional research funds. Awards are limited to individuals with Ph.D. degrees or the equivalent.

ASA makes awards (up to $1000) through its Teaching Endowment Small Grants Program to support projects that extend the quality of teaching in the United States and Canada. Individuals, departments, and a program or a committee of a state or regional association are eligible to apply.

Through its Sydney S. Spivack Program in Applied Social Research and Social Policy, ASA supports a Congressional Fellowship, Community Action Research Fellowships, and a Mass Media Fellowship. The ASA Congressional Fellowship provides a Ph.D. level sociologist with in-depth experience as a staff member of a Congressional Committee or in a Congressional Office or agency. The Community Action Research Fellowships provide support up to $2500 for sociological work with community organizations, local public interest groups, or community action projects.

The ASA sponsors a summer media fellowship in collaboration with the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), as part of its Mass Media Science and Engineering Fellow Program. The Fellowship gives sociologists the opportunity to enhance their skills in and commitment to public communication through a ten week placement at a media site. The fellowship is open to Ph.D. sociologists and to advanced graduate students (ABD).

27. Consortium of Social Science Associations

Presenter: Angela L. Sharpe, Consortium of Social Science Associations (COSSA), 1522, K Street, NW, Suite 836, Washington, DC 20005; phone (202) 842-3525; fax (202) 842-2788; email: alsharpe@aol.com.

The Consortium of Social Sciences Association (COSSA) was established as an advocacy organization in 1981 and is... supported by more than 100 professional associations, scientific societies, universities, and research institutes. COSSA stands alone in representing the full range of social scientists. COSSA lobbies Congress and the Executive Branch on issues affecting the social and behavioral science portfolios of the National Science Foundation, the National Institutes of Health, the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Education, Justice, and Labor, and many other federal agencies. (The American Sociological Association is a founding member of COSSA and serves on its Executive Committee.)

National Institutes of Health
National Institute on Drug Abuse
National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA), 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857; homepage: http://www.nida.nih.gov.

Note: Although not part of the Research Support Poster Session this year, the National Institute on Drug Abuse is exhibiting (at booth #71) and information can be obtained there.

The National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) is the nation’s foremost biomedical and behavioral research organization on drug abuse issues. Its mission is to bring the power of science to bear on understanding, preventing, and treating drug abuse. NIDA supports a wide range of research and training activities, and is a prominent source of funding for social and behavioral sciences research on drug abuse, dependence, and addiction. Sociologists and other social scientists are supported in research and training programs in many of the NIDA units, especially in the Division of Epidemiology and Prevention Research. Special research foci in the extramural research program of the Division of Epidemiology and Prevention Research include drug abuse behaviors, the roles of drug practices in the spread of diseases, and the implications for the delivery of health-related services such as primary medical care, drug treatment, and prevention. There are also funding opportunities for efficacy studies and health services research that examine preventive interventions against problems associated with drug abuse, such as criminal behavior, violence, tuberculosis, hepatitis B and C, and infection with HIV; preventive intervention against the initiation of drug abuse; and treatment of drug abuse.
SPECIAL POSTER SESSION 245
DATA RESOURCES

Organizers: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association and Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation
Sunday, August 23 ♦ 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon
San Francisco Hilton and Towers
Yosemite Room

Meet principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale data sets which are publicly available for use. Each exhibit showcases a major data set or multiple data resources of tremendous value for secondary analyses. Representatives are available to talk about the nature of these data sets, their analytic potential, and issues relating to access and use, including the development of state-of-the-art Internet services to access data sets. This is an opportunity for conference participants to learn about these data sets and their potential for research and teaching. All meeting participants, including students, are encouraged to attend.

1. General Social Survey
National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago
Presenter: Tom W. Smith, National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago, 1155 East 60th Street, Chicago, IL 60637; phone (773) 256-6288; fax (773) 753-7886; email: smitht@norcmail.uchicago.edu; homepage: http://www.norc.uchicago.edu/.

The Directorate for the General Social Survey (GSS) of the National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago, monitors social change in the United States. Since 1972, the GSS has gathered data on contemporary American society in order to monitor and explain trends and constants in attitudes, behaviors, and attributes of the adult population. These high quality data are easily accessible to a broad-based user community, including researchers, teachers in colleges and universities, students at undergraduate and graduate levels, business and corporate planners, journalists, and public officials who need to understand the pulse of our country in their work. The 22 national probability samples include interviews of 32,380 respondents. Of the 3,400 items that have been asked, there are time trends for over 1,000 items.

Two recent developments regarding the GSS are the GSS Data and Information Retrieval System (GSSDIRS) and the 1998 GSS. The GSSDIRS is a new Web product that links together code book, trends, bibliography, project reports, and other documentation; permits on-line analysis and data sub-setting; and provides the latest information via an announcement section, contact with the GSS staff, and a GSS newsgroup. The 1998 GSS contains supplements on religion, mental health, sexual behavior, work orientation, social security, social capital, culture, and social networks.

2. International Social Survey Program
National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago
Presenter: Tom W. Smith, National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago, 1155 East 60th Street, Chicago, IL 60637; phone (773) 256-6288; fax: (773) 753-7886; email: smitht@norcmail.uchicago.edu; homepage: http://www.issp.org/.

The International Social Survey Program (ISSP) is the cross-between the General Social Survey (GSS) and its counterparts in Germany, Britain, and Australia. Studies on 15 different topics, ranging from the environment to social inequality have been completed. There are now 31 member countries participating in the ISSP. It is a valuable resource for researchers undertaking comparative analysis or studying attitudes, behaviors, and attributes of adult populations in other countries.

3. The Panel Study of Income Dynamics
University of Michigan, Institute for Social Research
Presenters: Sandra Hofferth and Bill Shay, Institute for Social Research, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI 48106-1248; phone (734) 763-5131 or (734) 963-1773; fax (734) 647-4575; email: psid_staff@umich.edu; homepage: http://www.umich.edu/~psid/.
Now in its thirtieth year of data collection, the Panel Study of Income Dynamics (PSID) is a longitudinal survey of a representative sample of U.S. men, women, and children and the families in which they reside. Data on employment, income, wealth, health, housing, and food expenditures, transfer income, and marital and fertility behavior have been collected annually since 1968. From 5,000 families in 1968, the study has grown to include over 10,000 families, including more than 2,000 families of Cuban, Puerto Rican, and Mexican descent, interviewed from 1990 through 1995.

The study has collected high quality intergenerational data on economic capacity, income, and the transmission of wealth, as well as information on such issues as the long-term effects of life events (early childbearing, divorce, illness) on workers and their families, the relationship of business cycles to economic well-being, and the interaction of labor mobility and geographic mobility. In recent years, the value of the PSID has been further extended through matching PSID respondents to Census geocodes, permitting the addition of valuable neighborhood characteristics to individual files. The coverage of the PSID was expanded in 1997 with the addition of an immigrant refresher sample and a child development supplement covering children from birth through age 12.

The Panel Study of Income Dynamics homepage is available to Internet browsers worldwide. The most recent versions of all PSID data and supplements can be downloaded from this site. Documentation, errata, and a newsletter are also available.

4. The Wisconsin Longitudinal Study
University of Wisconsin-Madison, Center for Demography and Ecology

Presenters: Robert M. Hauser and Taissa S. Hauser, Center for Demography and Ecology, University of Wisconsin-Madison, 1180 Observatory Drive, Madison, WI 53706; phone (608) 262-2182; fax (608) 262-8400; email: wls@ssc.wisc.edu; homepage: http://dpls.dacc.wisc.edu/wls/wlsarch.htm/.

The Wisconsin Longitudinal Study (WLS) is a 35-year study of the social and economic life course among 10,000 men and women who graduated from Wisconsin high schools in 1957, and who have been followed up at ages 25, 36, and 53-54. Data from the original respondents or their parents from 1957 to 1975 cover social background, youthful and adult aspirations, schooling, military service, family formation, labor market experience, and social participation. The 1992-93 surveys cover occupational histories; income, assets, and economic transfers; social and economic characteristics of parents, siblings, and children; and mental and physical health and well-being. Parallel interviews have been carried out with siblings in 1977 and 1993-94. WLS data and documentation are available on the world wide web.

5. Children and Young Adults of the National Longitudinal Survey of Youth
Ohio State University, Center for Human Resource Research

Presenter: Paula Baker, Center for Human Resource Research, 921 Chatham Lane, Suite 200, Columbus, OH 43221-2418; phone (614) 442-7300; fax (614) 442-7329; email: baker@postoffice.chrr.ohio-state.edu; homepage: http://www.chrr.ohio-state.edu/.

The Children of the National Longitudinal Survey of Youth (NLSY79) is a longitudinal data set that focuses on the cognitive, socio-emotional, and physiological development of the children of the mothers in the NLSY79. Sponsored by the U.S. Department of Labor, with support from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD), the NLSY Child is an outgrowth of the National Longitudinal Surveys of Youth.

Started in 1986 and repeated biennially, the NLSY79 Child uses mother report and direct assessment to gauge the children's cognitive ability, temperament, motor and social development, behavior problems, perceived self-competence, and home environment. Since 1988, information has been gathered from older children on child-parent interaction, family decision-making, school attitudes, work activities, peer relationships, religious service attendance, substance use, and sexual activity. The 1994 Survey round replaced, for children 15 and older, the child assessment series with an hour-long CAPI interview on schooling, employment, training, family experiences, health, and attitudes. Repeated in 1996, the NLSY79 Young Adult survey also includes a confidential self-report on substance use, sexual activity, non-normative activities, computer use, and pro-social behavior. By 1996, the child sample ranges in age from birth to early twenties. The National Longitudinal Surveys are also a featured exhibit (see #20 listed below for a description of these data).

The Center for Human Resource Research (CHRR) issues the maternal and child data and documentation at a nominal cost on CD-ROM. Topical research bibliographies and a users handbook are available at no charge to users.

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
Carolina Population Center

Presenter: Jo Jones, The National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent Health, The Add Health Project, Carolina Population Center, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC 27516-3997; phone (919) 962-8412; fax (919) 966-7019; email: jo_jones@unc.edu; homepage: http://www.cpc.unc.edu/adhealth.
The National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent Health (Add Health) is a longitudinal study which provides data uniquely qualified to address the most important questions about adolescent health and health behaviors today. A national sample of 7th to 12th grade students completed 90,000 in-school questionnaires during the 1994-1995 school year. Twenty thousand students and a parent were interviewed in their homes during the summer of 1995; fourteen thousand of the adolescents were re-interviewed during the summer of 1996. Add Health provides a comprehensive view of adolescent health with information on: (1) physical, mental, and emotional health status, including self-reported and measured height and weight, injuries, physical disabilities, sleep disorders, self-esteem, suicide ideation; and (2) health behaviors, including eating disorders, substance use and abuse, weapon carrying and use, measures used to prevent HIV and other sexually transmitted infections, sexual behavior, contraceptive use, nutrition, exercise, and use of health services. The Add Health Study’s unique design provides an unprecedented view of how an adolescent’s health is shaped by characteristics of the world in which he or she lives. As well as the adolescent’s view of his or her world, independent measures of the adolescent’s social contexts are available. For example, the adolescent’s family context is provided through data from the parent questionnaire. Peer influence is assessed through network data collected for same and opposite sex friends, as well as romantic partners. School policies and characteristics are reported in a short school administrator questionnaire, collected in 1995 and updated in 1996. A rich data set of local indicators provides information about constraints and opportunities in the local community.

7. Mexican Immigration Project
University of Pennsylvania, Population Center
Presenter: Douglas S. Massey, Population Studies Center, University of Pennsylvania/University Of Guadalajara, 3718 Locust Walk, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6298; phone (215) 898-4688; fax (215) 898-2124; e-mail: dmassey@lexis.pop.upenn.edu; homepage: http://lexis.pop.upenn.edu/mexmig/.

Each year the Mexican Migration Project surveys 4-6 communities located in Mexico’s leading sources states for migration to the United States. These community surveys are gathered using simple random sampling and generally include 200 randomly selected households. In the course of interviewing, it quickly became clear where in the United States migrants from each community go. Consequently, several months later interviewers are sent to these U.S. destinations to survey 10-20 out-migrants who have settled north of the border and no longer return home frequently enough to be interviewed in the Mexican surveys.

A weighting scheme has been developed to pool the U.S. and Mexican surveys into a single sample that accurately represents the binational migrant community. To date, 52 communities have been sampled and incorporated into the database, which contains six basic datafiles; PERSFILE contains basic socioeconomic information on household members, including basic information on the first and last U.S. trips. HOUSFILE contains information on the sociodemographic composition and economic status of households; MIGFILE contains detailed information on the household head’s last trip to the United States; LIFEFILE contains a complete life history of all household heads, which includes a complete migration and border-crossing history. The final two files are at the community level: COMCROSS contains cross sectional information on the survey at the time of the survey, and COMYEAR is an event history from 1940 to the survey year that records the changing social and economic setting in each community. All datafiles are publicly available via the Internet from the Mexican Migration Project’s home page, listed above.

8. The Multi-City Study of Urban Inequality (MCSUI)
Presenter: Irene Brown, Department of Sociology, Emory University, Atlanta, GA 30322; phone (404) 727-7508; fax (404) 727-7532; email ibrown@soc.emory.edu.

The Multi-City Study of Urban Inequality (MCSUI) is a data set consisting of household and employers surveys conducted between 1992 and 1994 in four cities: Atlanta, Boston, Detroit, and Los Angeles. A large area-probability based sample of households, with over-sampling of racially-segregated and poorer neighborhoods, was selected in each city. Randomly selected adults from each household were interviewed about their labor market experiences, residential preferences, and perceptions of their own and other racial groups. Respondents with recent labor force experience provided interviewers with information about their employer and work location, forming an employment-based sample of employers that was combined with an establishment-based sample. These employers were contacted and interviewed by telephone, supplying information on hiring and pay practices, skill requirements, and the racial and ethnic composition of the labor force. There are 8,916 households and 3,497 employers in the data set.

9. American Religion Data Archive
Purdue University, Department of Sociology and Anthropology
Presenters: Roger Finke, Jody Wilkinson, and Jennifer L. McKinney, American Religion Data Archive, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Purdue University, 1365 Stone
The Contextual Data Archive brings together variables from more than 15 national data sets that contain contextual data at various geographic levels. The goal of the Contextual Data Archive is to organize the data into a series of data files from more than 15 national data sets that contain contextual data at various geographic levels. The Contextual Data Archive brings together variables from various sources, making it a valuable resource for researchers.

1. The Data Archive: A Data Resource for Contextual Research

Sociometrics Corporation

Presenters: Katryn Murrell, Molly Petrick, Tamara Kuhn, Sociometrics Corporation, 170 State Street, Suite 260, Los Altos, CA 94022; phone (650) 949-3282 x 203; fax (650) 949-3299; email: kmurrell@socio.com or mpetrick@socio.com; homepage: http://www.socio.com.

Sociometrics Corporation is a research and development firm specializing in social science research applications. Sociometrics produces many data resources for researchers, including easy to use CD-ROMs of data archives. Data archives are compilations of original data and documentation from outstanding studies in important social science fields. Data archives on CD-ROM include complete raw data, and SPSS and SAS command statements files, and Search & Retrieval/Data Extract software.

This exhibit will highlight the Sociometrics' Electronic Social Science Data Library. The Library consists of six topically focused data archives: AIDS/STD, Disability in the U.S., American Family, Adolescent Pregnancy and Pregnancy Prevention, Maternal Drug Abuse, and Aging. With over 300 data sets from 187 different studies, the Sociometrics' Electronic Social Science Data Library represents a unique source of high quality health and social science data for researchers.

10. Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research

University of Michigan, Institute for Social Research

Presenter: Piper Simmons, Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR), The University of Michigan, PO Box 1248, Ann Arbor, MI 48106; phone (734) 936-1807; fax (734) 764-8041; email: piper@umich.edu, homepage: http://www.icpsr.umich.edu.

The Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR), located within the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan, is a membership-based, nonprofit organization serving member colleges and universities in the United States and abroad. ICPSR provides:

- Access to the world's largest archive of computerized social science data;
- Training facilities for the study of quantitative social analysis techniques; and
- Resources for social scientists are using advanced computer technologies.

In addition to information provided at the poster session, further information may be found on ICPSR's home page, listed above.

11. Census Data in the Classroom: The Social Science Data Analysis Network (SSDAN)

Population Studies Center, University of Michigan

Presenter: William Frey, Population Studies Center, University of Michigan, 1225 S. University Ave., Ann Arbor, MI 48104; phone (313) 994-3847; fax (313) 998-7145; email William.Frey@umich.edu; homepage: http://www.psc.lsa.umich.edu/SSDAN.

This exhibit provides an overview of workbooks, computer diskettes, Internet, and on-line access to undergraduate teaching materials available through the Social Science Data Analysis Network (SSDAN). Funded by the National Science Foundation (NSF) and the Department of Education, Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education (FIPSE), the Network enables college teachers to introduce "user-friendly" analysis of census data in their classes. Tailor made data sets, from the 1950 through 1990 U.S. Censuses, and the Current Population Survey, can be used in a variety of social science classes dealing with topics such as: race/ethnicity, immigration, gender studies, marriage, households and poverty, income inequality, children, the elderly and others. SSDAN staff will help instructors tailor exercises for classes.

12. Sociometrics Electronic Data Library

Sociometrics Corporation

Presenters: Shobana Raghupathy, Sociometrics Corporation, 170 State Street, Suite 260, Los Altos, CA 94022; phone (650) 949-3282 x 206; fax (650) 949-3299; email: shobana@socio.com; homepage: http://www.socio.com.

demographic and socioeconomic data, household data, education and labor statistics, family planning and health data, information on ethnic and religious characteristics, and policy variables (e.g., percent receiving various forms of public assistance, and expenditures on social services). The Archive is only contextual; no individual-level data are included.

The Archive contains a literature base with abstracts of documents and publication pertaining to contextual research as well as methodological papers addressing the methods and limitations of contextual data analysis. The data archive includes a search and retrieval software allowing users to identify variables in the data archive using specific keywords, view the original data collection instrument page, examine the descriptive statistics for any variable, and generate SPSS or SAS program set up files for variables selected and saved via the search and retrieval.

Data can be distributed in a variety of formats: CD-ROM, FTP download, mainframe tape, and diskette (for smaller files). A printed User's Guide and a software manual accompany the CD-ROM.

The project is funded by National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD) and operates under the guidance of a national advisory panel of leading social scientists who have substantive and methodological expertise in contextual-level research.

14. The ESRC Qualitative Data Archival Resource Centre (Qualidata)

Department of Sociology, University of Essex

Presenters: Lori Corti, Qualidata, University of Essex, Wivenhoe Park Colchester, Essex CO4 3SQ; phone (+44) 01206 873058; fax (+44) -12-6 873058; e-mail Corporation, 170 State Street, Suite 260, Los Altos, CA 94022-2812; phone (650) 949-3282 x 206; fax (650) 949-3299; email: corti@essex.ac.uk; homepage: http://www.essex.ac.uk/Qualidata.

The Qualidata Resource Centre's aims are to: locate, assess, and document qualitative data and arrange for their deposit in suitable public archives; to disseminate information about such data; and to encourage the re-use of these data. The Centre maintains an information database on the availability of qualitative research material from a wide range of social science disciplines, including those deposited in public repositories as well as those remaining with the researcher. It has surveyed a wide range of ESRC funded qualitative social research projects dating back to 1970, is tracing the data arising from classic postwar sociological studies, and monitors current ESRC and other funded projects.

The Centre has data sets covering many different topics, including: studies of the family and institutional life of the elderly; life and work experience before 1918; agency decision making in child protection; cohabitation and remarriage; adultery; geographical, economic, political and social horizons of young people; young people and AIDS; and Mods and Rockers. The Qualidata catalogue (Qualicat) is available via the Internet. Researchers can use the catalogue to search and obtain descriptions of qualitative research material, its location, and accessibility.

The Centre's homepage contains detailed guidelines for depositing qualitative data, data deposited, issues relating to confidentiality and copyright, information about the Centre, and links and references to other qualitative resources and repositories. Workshops are organized twice yearly to provide social science researchers with a forum for advice and exchange of experience on issues relating to archiving and re-analysis of qualitative research data. The Centre also welcomes visitors to discuss issues related to archiving.

15. JSTOR (Journal Storage)

Presenter: Kristen Garlock, JSTOR; 301 Liberty Street, Suite 310, Ann Arbor, MI 48104; phone (734) 998-9108; fax (734) 998-9113; e-mail lynae@umich.edu; homepage: http://www.jstor.org/.

JSTOR is a not-for-profit organization established in 1995 by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, with a mission to help the scholarly community take advantage of advances in electronic technologies. JSTOR's primary emphasis is on the creation of a trusted archive of the back files of core scholarly journals, and improving access to those back files. The journal storage project began as a test involving the digitization of ten journals in the fields of history and economics. These journals were combined in a database, housed on a central server, and the database was delivered via the Internet to users at an initial group of five university test sites in the U.S. JSTOR has now grown to include the complete back files of over 47 journals in eleven fields, with over 300 library sites in the U.S., Canada and the U.K. The initial plans are to include a minimum of 100 journals in a variety of fields, and to make the back files of those titles available by the year 2000. The ASA is a JSTOR partner with five of its journals. The American Sociological Review, Contemporary Sociology, Journal of Health and Social Behavior, Social Psychology Quarterly, and Sociology of Education are part of JSTOR.

JSTOR is committed to a system-wide approach, taking into account the needs of publishers, libraries, and scholars. It is believed that working with JSTOR can offer benefits to all those involved in the field of electronic scholarly communication. More information about JSTOR, including a demonstration of the research capabilities of the database is available on the World Wide Web site listed above.
16. Center for Electronic Records
National Archives and Records Administration
Presenter: Theodore J. Hull, Center for Electronic Records, National Archives and Records Administration, 8601 Adelphi Road, College Park, MD 20740-6001; phone (301) 713-6645; fax (301) 713-6911; email: theodore.hull@arch2.nara.gov or cer@nara.gov; homepage: http://www.nara.gov/.

The National Archives is the federal agency responsible for preservation of and access to the permanently valuable electronic records of the federal government. The Center for Electronic Records has custody of the permanently valuable computerized records of federal agencies transferred to the National Archives for long-term preservation. The Center has approximately 100,000 computerized data files from over 100 federal agencies in all three branches of government. Topics reflected in the Center’s holdings include agricultural data, attitudinal data, demographic data, economic and financial statistics, education data, environmental data, health and social services data, international data, military data, and scientific and technological data. The exhibit will highlight the availability of data files in the Center’s custody of particular interest to sociologists.

U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census

The Population Division of the U.S. Census Bureau presents information on five of its data resources: the Survey of Income and Program Participation, the Survey of Program Dynamics, the Current Population Survey, the American Community Survey, and Population Projections and Estimates. Specifics about each data source such as the topics covered, the survey design, the advantages of using that particular data source, the types of data files that are available, and the reports that are written using data from these sources will be provided.

18. National Center for Education Statistics
U.S. Department of Education

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) disseminates large national data sets on CD-ROM with electronic codebooks and via the Internet at its World Wide Web page listed above. Current data releases include school and institutional censuses for basic data on enrollments and finances at the elementary, secondary, and post secondary levels of public and private education. More detailed data are available through repeated cross-sectional surveys of teachers and faculty. A Random Digit Dialing (RDD) household survey is used to collect population based education data on topics such as early childhood education, school safety, and adult education. In addition, the NCES collection of longitudinal data on elementary, secondary, and postsecondary cohorts continues. Longitudinal data are available from seniors in 1972, 1982, and 1992 as well as for students who have just started their post secondary education and students who just completed their baccalaureate. This exhibit will demonstrate the NCES web site and data resources available on-line.

19. In-depth Technical Assistance Program for NCES Data Users, Education Statistics Services Institute
National Center for Education Statistics, U.S. Department of Education
Presenter: Linda L. Shafer, National Center for Education Statistics, 50 F Street, NW, Suite 950, Washington, D.C., 20001; phone (202) 661-6150; fax (202) 737-4918; email: lshafer@air-dc.org, homepage: http://www.ed.gov/NCES/.

The focus of this exhibit will be on a new service that the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), U.S. Department of Education is offering for users of NCES data. In-depth, technical assistance will be provided to qualified researchers to enhance their knowledge and ability to use NCES data sets for research and policy analysis.

In-depth Technical Assistance Program for NCES Data Users is specifically designed according to the needs of participants. The major goal of this program is to work intensively on a selected research project using NCES data. When possible, persons who have had major roles in designing or conducting the particular NCES survey will be invited to make informal presentations and may be available for in-depth discussions and consultation on particular research issues. Staff trained in using the data will be available for individualized instruction and problem-solving.

This technical assistance is open to researchers who want to broaden their understanding of and capacity to use NCES data. It is anticipated that participants will include advanced graduate students, faculty, and researchers/analysts from education agencies and organizations. Applicants should be
The National Longitudinal Surveys (NLS) gather detailed information about labor market experiences and other aspects of the lives of six groups of American men and women. Many NLS survey members have been followed for many years, some for decades, allowing researchers to study large panels of men, women and children over significant segments of their lives. The surveys include data about a wide range of events such as schooling and career transitions, marriage and fertility, training investments, welfare recipiency, child-care usage, and drug and alcohol use.

The Original Cohorts, initiated in 1966, consist of four cohorts; "older men", "mature women", "young men" and "young women." These four groups were selected because each faced important labor market decisions including initial family and career decisions, labor force attachment as children leave home, and retirement decisions. In 1979, a cohort of about 12,000 young men and women aged 14 to 22 was begun (NLSY79). Data collected yearly, biennially since 1994, chronicle their transitions from school to work, and from their parent's homes to becoming parents and homeowners. In 1986, the NLSY79 was expanded to include surveys of the children born to women in that cohort. Repeated biennially since 1994, the NLSY79 Child data includes measures of cognitive ability, temperament, and home environment. Older children complete an NLSY79 styled interview. In 1997 a new cohort of approximately 8,700 young people aged 12 to 16 was begun (NLSY97). One unique aspect of the NLSY97 is that it also contains a parent questionnaire that generates information about the youth's family background and history.

21. National Longitudinal Surveys
U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics

The schedule for the In-depth Technical Assistance Program for NCES Data Users will be determined jointly by NCES and accepted participants. The training will take place at either NCES, on New Jersey Avenue in Washington, DC, or at the offices of the Education Statistics Services Institute (ESSI) adjacent to NCES. Both facilities are near public transportation and are accessible to persons with disabilities. There are no charges for instruction, computers, or training materials. NCES will provide some financial assistance to help cover costs of transportation and hotel accommodations. Brochures with more information on how to apply to the program will be available.

20. The Data Resources Program at the National Institute of Justice and The National Archive of Criminal Justice Data

National Institute of Justice and National Archive of Criminal Justice Data

Presenters: Jordan Leiter, National Institute of Justice, U.S. Department of Justice, and Kaye Marz, National Archive of Criminal Justice Data, University of Michigan. Contact Leiter at the National Institute of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice, 810 7th Street, Washington, DC 20001; phone (202) 616-9487; fax (202) 616-0275; email: leiterj@ojp.usdoj.gov; homepage: http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/nij. Contact Marz at the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data, ICPSR, University of Michigan; phone: (734) 936-1822; e-mail: kaye@icpsr.umich.edu; homepage: www.icpsr.umich.edu/NACJD.

NIJ's Data Resources Program and the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data will be demonstrated and discussed. The program was established to ensure the preservation and availability of research and evaluation data collected through NIJ-funded research. Data sets collected through NIJ-funded research are archived and made available to others in order to support new research to replicate original findings or test new hypotheses. Together with the Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS), NIJ's Data Resources Program supports the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data which houses all data from NIJ sponsored research, and makes available online for downloading machine-readable copies (in SPSS, SAS or ASCII), together with data dictionaries and study abstracts. The Archive is maintained by the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR) at the University of Michigan.

22. Science Resources Studies

National Science Foundation, Division of Science Resources Studies

The mission of the Division of Science Resources Studies (SRS) is to produce and disseminate data and analyses related to science, Engineering, and technology. SRS focuses on the amounts of human and financial resources input into the Nation's science, engineering, and technology enterprise, the way these resources are utilized, and the results of these... activities. To do this, SRS produces information by designing, sponsoring, co-sponsoring, and conducting surveys and soliciting comparable international data. SRS also analyzes these data in order to help policy-makers, administrators, and others understand the implications of the data and its limitations, and works to make data available to many constituents.

At the present time, SRS maintains data on a wide range of science and engineering (S&E) issues and promotes use of databases by researchers to examine topical issues. Examples of topics reflected in the SRS sponsored work are S&E education at all levels with details on gender, race, field, institutional type, financial support; S&E research infrastructure at universities and colleges, quality, quantity, and needs; S&E personnel and career paths for both researchers and academics including education history, citizenship, disability status, employment status, field of study, job assignment and salaries, and degree level; funding and expenditures for S&E research for colleges and universities; data on industrial research and development; and public attitudes to name a few. The exhibit will highlight the availability of data files through SRS that are of particular interest to sociologists.

23. National Center for Health Statistics Data Systems
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Data Dissemination Branch

Presenters: Linda R. Washington and Tammy Stewart-Prather, National Center for Health Statistics, Data Dissemination Branch, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 10-64, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-6154 ext. 176; fax (301) 436-4273; email: lrw1@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

This exhibit will showcase the latest health data available from the National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS). Data are available from NCHS in published form and electronically, including, public-use data files, CD-ROMs, and diskettes, and through the Internet. Demonstrations of various NCHS surveys on CD-ROMs will be featured. The CD-ROMs utilize the Statistical Export and Tabulation System (SETS), a software program, developed in house, that allows manipulation of large data sets on personal computers.

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Reproductive Statistics Branch

Presenters: Linda Piccinino, Anjani Chandra, and Joyce Abma, Reproductive Statistics Branch, National Center for Health Statistics, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 840, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-8731, ext. 122; fax (301) 436-5830; email: ljp2@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

The National Survey of Family Growth, Cycle 5, is a comprehensive data set of women’s fertility in the United States, now publicly available. New features in Cycle 5 include event histories and an array of contextual data at three points in time. Computer-assisted personal interviews with 10,847 women ages 15-44 contain supplemental information collected using Audio-CASI technology.

25. Multiple Causes of Death;
National Mortality Followback Survey
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Vital Statistics

Presenter: Donna L. Hoyert, Mortality Statistics Branch, Division of Vital Statistics, National Center for Health Statistics, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 820, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-8884 ext. 168; fax (301) 436-7066; email: dlh7@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

Selected mortality data from the National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS) will be profiled. National, state and local mortality data from the NCHS are available from vital records filed in each of the states for deaths of all ages, infant, fetal, and linked birth/infant deaths. Supplemental data at the national level on characteristics of deceased persons (e.g., lifestyle, extent of burden of illness, and socio-economic characteristics) are available from periodic surveys of samples of recent deaths. Data are released in publications, tapes, CD-ROMs, CDC WONDER, and the Internet. CDC WONDER is a general-purpose health and communications system that can be accessed via the World Wide Web. It provides query access to numeric databases that include information on subjects such as number and rates of deaths, sexually transmitted diseases, and cancer cases.

26. Natality Statistics
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Vital Statistics

Presenter: Stephanie J. Ventura, Reproductive Statistics Branch, Division of Vital Statistics, National Center for Health Statistics, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 820, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-8954, ext. 131; fax (301) 436-7066; email: sjv1@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww.

The National Center for Health Statistics collects and publishes information on a variety of demographic and health characteristics reported on the birth certificate for all births occurring in the United States. Demographic characteristics include age, race, Hispanic origin, education, birthplace, marital status, residence, live-birth order, sex, and month and day of birth. Health information includes month prenatal care began, number of prenatal visits, medical risk factors, tobacco use, alcohol use, obstetric procedures, attendant at birth, place of delivery, method of delivery, complications of labor and/or delivery, period of gestation, birthweight, Apgar score, abnormal conditions of the newborn, congenital anomalies, and plurality.

27. National Hospital Discharge Survey and National Survey of Ambulatory Surgery
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Care Statistics

Presenter: Lola Jean Kozak, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Care Statistics, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 9-52, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-7125 x184; fax (301) 436-5452; email: ljk@cdc.gov, homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

The National Hospital Discharge Survey (NHDS), conducted each year since 1965, collects data from a sample of inpatient records obtained from a national sample of short-stay hospitals. In 1995, data was collected for 263,000 discharges from 466 hospitals. The survey produces national estimates of inpatient hospital use by demographic characteristics, diagnoses, and surgical and non-surgical procedures. The National Survey of Ambulatory Surgery (NSAS). Conducted for the first time from 1994 through 1996, collects similar data from a national sample of ambulatory surgery patients in short-stay hospitals and freestanding ambulatory surgery centers. The 1994 NSAS data were abstracted from 118,000 medical records in 494 facilities. Data from the NHDS and NSAS can be combined to obtain a complete picture of procedures performed in both ambulatory and inpatient settings.

28. National Ambulatory Medical Care Survey and National Hospital Ambulatory Medical Care Survey
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Care Statistics

Presenter: Cheryl Nelson, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Care Statistics, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 952, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-7132 ext. 176; fax (301) 436-7955; email: crnl@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

The National Ambulatory Medical Care Survey (NAMCS), conducted periodically from 1973-85 and annually since 1989, collects data on a sample of visits from a national sample of non-federal, office-based physicians. In 1996, data were collected on 30,000 visits from 3,000 physicians. The survey provides information on the characteristics of the patient, the physician practice, and the visit. The National Hospital Ambulatory Medical Care Survey (NHAMCS), conducted annually since 1992, collects similar data from a national sample of emergency (ED) and outpatient departments (OPD) in general and short-stay hospitals. In 1996, data were collected on 22,000 ED visits and 30,000 OPD visits. Data from the NAMCS and NHAMCS can be combined to obtain a comprehensive picture of ambulatory medical care utilization.

29. National Nursing Home Survey and National Home and Hospice Care Survey

Presenter: Barbara J. Haupt, Long-term Care Statistics Branch, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Care Statistics, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 952 Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-8830, ext. 164; fax (301) 436-7955; email: bjh6@cdc.gov.

The National Nursing Home Survey (NHHS) is a sample survey conducted in 1973-74, 1977, 1985, 1995, and 1997. It provides data on 8,036 residents of 1,049 responding nursing homes. Facility data include ownership, certification, bed size, location, affiliation, staffing, charges for care, and services available to residents. Resident data include basic demographics, functional status, diagnoses, length of stay, sources of payment, and services received. Data are weighted to provide national estimates.

The National Home and Hospice Care Survey (NHHCS) is a sample survey conducted in 1992, 1993, 1994, 1996 and 1998. It provides data on home health agencies and hospices and their current patients and discharges. The 1996 NHHCS included data on 5,438 current patients and 4,758 recently discharged patients from 1,053 home and hospice care agencies. Facility data include ownership, certification, location, affiliation, and services available to patients. Patient data include basic demographics, functional status, diagnoses, length of stay, source of payment, services received, service providers, and reason for discharge on all discharges. Data are weighted to provide national estimates.

30. The National Health Interview Survey
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Interview Statistics

Presenter: J. Neil Russell, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Interview Statistics, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 850 Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-
The National Health Interview Survey (NHIS) is the principal source of information on the health of the civilian, noninstitutionalized population of the United States. The NHIS was initiated in 1957, and is a nationally representative annual survey of U.S. households.

NHIS data are used to monitor trends in illness and disability and to track progress toward achieving national health objectives. The data are also used for epidemiologic and policy analysis on various health problems, for determining barriers to access, and access to health care.

In addition to basic health and demographic items collected each year, special supplements are also fielded. Recent supplements are: immunization, family resources, health insurance, access to care, AIDS knowledge and attitudes, Year 2000 Objectives, and disability. Data is available on mainframe tape and CD-ROM.

31. Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion

Presenter: Deborah Holtzman, Division of Adult and Community Health, National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 4770 Buford Highway, Mail Stop K-30, Atlanta, GA 30341; phone (770) 488-5295; fax (770) 488-5974; email: dxh4@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nccdphp/ncdhome.htm.

This exhibit features two independent survey systems coordinated and supported by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The first is the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS). Established in 1984, this unique, state-based surveillance system gathers information on those health behaviors primarily related to the leading causes of death from chronic diseases. In each participating state, data are collected monthly through telephone interviews with a random sample of the adult population aged 18 years and older. The BRFSS provides data for many purposes including assessing risks for chronic diseases, identifying sociodemographic patterns and trends in health-related behaviors, designing and monitoring health interventions and services, addressing emerging health issues, and measuring progress toward achieving state and national health objectives.

The second system, the Youth Risk Behavior Surveillance System (YRBSS), was developed in 1990 to monitor priority health-risk behaviors that contribute to the leading causes of morbidity, mortality, and social problems among adolescents and young adults. The YRBSS consists of national, state, and local school-based surveys of representative samples of 9th through 12th grade students, a national household-based survey of 12- through 21-year olds, and a national mail survey of college students. Data from the YRBSS are being used to focus school health education teacher training and instructional programs, support comprehensive school health programs nationwide, and to monitor progress toward achieving community, state, and national health objectives.

32. National Medical Expenditure Survey

Agency for Health Care Policy & Research

Presenters: Barbara Altman and Margaret Weigers, Agency for Health Care Policy & Research, CCFF, Suite 500, 2101 E. Jefferson Street, Rockville, MD 20852; phone (301) 594-1406; fax (301) 594-2166; email: baltman@cghsir.ahcpr.gov.

The Agency for Health Care Policy and Research (AHCPR), a component of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, is the Federal Government's focal point for research to enhance the quality, appropriateness, and effectiveness of health care services and access to those services. AHCPR accomplishes these goals through the establishment of a broad base of scientific research on the organization, financing and delivery of health care services, the collection of extensive, detailed data on the cost, scope, and breadth of private health insurance held by and available to how they are paid, as well as data on the specific health services that Americans use, how frequently they use them, the cost of those services and the U.S. population's health, health care utilization, and costs. Through the integration of four components, MEPS collects data on health status and service use, and through the promotion of improvements in clinical practice.

Sponsored by AHCPR, in conjunction with the National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS), the Medical Expenditure Panel Survey (MEPS) is a vital new resource designed to continually provide policymakers, researchers, health care professionals, businesses and others with timely, comprehensive information about the United States population's health, health care utilization, and costs. MEPS is unparalleled for the degree of detail in its data, as well as its ability to link health status and health care to the demographic, employment, economic, family and other characteristics of survey respondents. In addition, MEPS is the only national survey that provides a foundation for estimating the impact of changes in sources of payment, insurance coverage, family status on different economic groups or special populations such as the poor, elderly, veterans, the uninsured, and racial and ethnic minorities. The data collected in Round 1 is available on the Internet and on CD-Rom and full year data will be available in the fall of 1998.

Presenter: Angela Sharpe, Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics, 1429 Duke Street, Suite 402, Alexandria, VA 22314; phone (703) 836-0404; fax (703) 684-2037; email: spare@guvax.acc.georgetown.edu; homepage: http://members.aol.com/copafs/index.htm.

The Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics (COPAFS) is an independent organization established to act as an advocate for the development and dissemination of high-quality federal statistics. Through COPAFS, members have an opportunity to review and have an impact on issues including timeliness, quality, confidentiality, and relevance. One of the major goals is to make members of the federal statistical agencies aware of the needs of data users.

COPAFS identifies areas where improvements are needed in federal statistical programs and suggests strategies to bring about these improvements. (The American Sociological Association is an active member of COPAFS.)

ASA Minority Fellowship Program Fellows

The following MFP Fellows are participating in this year's Annual Meeting Program. ASA and the 1998 Program Committee are pleased to highlight these professional activities of current and former Fellows. The Minority Fellowship Program (MFP), in operation since 1974, has been a significant factor in recruiting minorities into Sociology. Fellows continue to make important contributions to the growth of the discipline. The Association takes great satisfaction in acknowledging this form of professional activity.

ASA Honors Program Students

The following undergraduate sociology students are participating in this year's Honors Program. ASA and the 1998 Program Committee are pleased to highlight these students' introduction to the profession of sociology. The Honors Program, which became a formal part of Association activities last year, has a 17-year history of involving sociology students in the ASA Annual Meeting. This year's students are wearing gold ribbons showing their Honors Program affiliation. Let's welcome them to their national meeting!

Managing to Care
Case Management and Service System Reform
1998 · approx. 176 pages · References, index
0-202-30611-9 Cloth $37.95 · 0-202-30612-7 Paper $18.95
Dill presents a critical assessment of case management, the program that coordinates health care and social welfare services and controls the costs of care in the U.S.

Mark Fishman (Brooklyn College) and Gray Cavender (Arizona State University) editors Entertaining Crime
Television Reality Programs
1998 · viii + 218 pages · References, index
0-202-30615-1 Cloth $43.95 · 0-202-30616-X Paper $21.95
"Reality crime" television programs, such as America's Most Wanted, are examined by social scientists who explore the effects such programs have, their larger cultural meaning, and what they tell us about crime and justice in today's society.

Joseph Galaskiewicz (Univ. of Minnesota - Twin Cities) and Wolfgang Bielefeld (Univ. of Texas at Dallas)
Nonprofit Organizations in an Age of Uncertainty
A Study of Organizational Change
1998 · approx. 176 pages · References, index
0-202-30565-1 Cloth $39.95 · 0-202-30566-X Paper $19.95
Examining the organizational strategies employed by a panel of non-profit organizations, the authors attempt to explain the factors which contribute to the survival or collapse of NPOs in today's economic environment.

Lyn H. Lofland (University of California, Davis)
The Public Realm
Exploring the City's Quintessential Social Territory
1998 · xix + 305 pages · References, index
0-202-30607-0 Cloth $52.95 · 0-202-30608-9 Paper $25.95
Lofland defines the "public realm" as a social territory found in large settlements, where physical space is dominated by relationships among persons who are strangers to each other. This book is about the social life that occurs in such a space, and the forces that threaten it.

Bernard Paillard (National Center for Scientific Research, Paris, France)
Notes on the Plague Years
AIDS in Marseille
1998 · approx. 384 pages · References, index
0-202-30554-6 Cloth $49.95 · 0-202-30555-4 Paper $23.95
In narrative form, this book examines the response to the AIDS epidemic that struck Marseille in the late 1980s. The result is an analysis of problem formation and "moral panic," an area in which Paillard is recognized as a pioneer.

Dana Vannoy and Paula J. Dubcek (both of the University of Cincinnati) editors Challenges for Work and Family in the Twenty-first Century
1998 · approx. 208 pages · References, index
0-202-30567-8 Cloth $43.95 · 0-202-30568-6 Paper $21.95
Fourteen original articles examine the need to recast our thinking about existing institutional arrangements between family and economy, and the challenges they create.

James D. Wright, Beth A. Rubin, and Joel A. Devine (all of Tulane University)
Beside the Golden Door
Policy, Politics, and the Homeless
1998 · xix + 238 pages · References, index

THE BOILER ROOM AND OTHER TELEPHONE SALES SCAMS
ROBERT J. STEVENSON

Sure to make you think twice before responding to the next telephone sales call you receive, this volume explores why telephone boiler rooms and other scams thrive and how fraudulent techniques and deception migrate to and from conventional businesses. The book is grounded in the nine years Robert Stevenson spent working covertly as a "participant-observer" in telephone rooms.

Required Reading

Sociology's Most Influential Books
Edited by Dan Clawson

When the editors of Contemporary Sociology selected the ten most influential books of the past twenty-five years and published new essays on their importance, the feature sparked enthusiasm, debate, and controversy. This volume responds to and extends that discussion by expanding the list to seventeen books, incorporating a piece on the best-sellers of sociology, and adding four essays on the "most influential" controversy itself.

"Required Reading" is an invaluable resource and fascinating reading. Potentially every graduate student and faculty member in sociology (and many in other fields) will want to have a copy on their shelf, as a reference source that will stimulate their thinking for those books they have read and/or provide intellectual background for the books they haven't read. The books are important, the contributors are highly visible, and the essays are very readable."—Michael Schwartz

The Environmental Crusaders
Confronting Disaster, Mobilizing Community
MYRON PERETZ GLAZER AND PENINA MIGDAL GLAZER
“The Environmental Crusaders makes a significant contribution to a growing and important body of writing that explores implications of contemporary citizen and popular activism for broad questions of democracy in our time.”—Harry C. Boyse, author of The Backyard Revolution
256 pages $18.95 paper

New in paperback

New Pioneers
The Back-to-the-Land Movement and the Search for a Sustainable Future
JEFFREY JACOB
“This is a fascinating study of the individuals and groups who are drawn to the roots of urban civilization, complete with romantic misconceptions, hard-edged political values, escapes from the rat race, and the appeal of nature.”—Bloomberg Review
278 pages $18.95 paper

Don’t Burn It Here
Grassroots Challenges to Trash Incinerators
EDWARD J. WALSH, REX WARLAND, AND D. CLAYTON SMITH
“This important book contributes greatly to our understanding of the causes, dynamics, and consequences of environmental protest.”—James M. Jasper, New York University
312 pages $19.95 paper

Opposite Poles
MARY PATRICE ERMANS
“This is a welcome contribution to the literature on ethnic groups in the U.S. and the ways in which immigration continues to renew and reconstruct American ethnicity.”—Joane Nagel, University of Kansas
280 pages $19.95 paper

Building Little Italy
Philadelphia’s Italians Before Mass Migration
RICHARD N. JULIANI
“The definitive case study of Italian community formation in the United States. No other scholar has so exhaustively researched, so skillfully written about, or so imaginatively conceived the question of early Italian settlement before the age of mass migration. It will remain the essential guide for future work in the field.”—Philip V. Cannistraro, Queens College/CUNY
422 pages 27 illustrations $19.95 paper

Time for Life
The Surprising Ways Americans Use Their Time
JOHN P. ROBINSON AND GEOFFREY GODBEY
“With a Foreword by Robert D. Putnam
“Robinson and Godbeey use sophisticated survey data to correct some widespread misconceptions about how we live our lives. The story they tell is important, and it is told with style.”—Michael Calvani, author of How the Psychology of Optimal Experience
390 pages $24.95 paper

Managing Like a Man
Women and Men in Corporate Management
JUDY WACMAN
“This book provides a useful overview of the issues of gendering in organizations. It brings together and summarizes many of the issues regarding women in management.”—Nancy DiTomaso, Rutgers University

The Seed Was Planted
The São Paulo Roots of Brazil’s Rural Labor Movement, 1924–1964
CLIFF WELCH
“...makes an outstanding contribution to a new political history of modern Brazil by challenging the notion that rural workers were less than full participants in the politics of the Vargas era.”—John D. French, Duke University
448 pages $25.00 paper

What Kind of Democracy? What Kind of Market?
Latin America in the Age of Neoliberalism
EDITED BY PHILIP OXHORN AND GRACIELA DUCATENZEILER
“This timely contribution to the study of Latin American political economy offers provocative and controversial analyses of democratization in the context of deepening poverty, egregious inequalities, and rising political violence associated with neoliberal, market-oriented economic restructuring.”—William C. Smith, University of Miami
232 pages $17.95 paper

Schools of Asceticism
Ideology and Organization in Medieval Religious Communities
LUTZ F. KAELBER
“Kaelber’s work is original, thorough, and lucid. He is masterfully in control of his material, and I find his argument about the ‘inner-worldly’ ascetic nature of thirteenth-century Waldensians convincing.”—Robert E. Lerner, Northwestern University
286 pages $19.95 paper

Post-Communist Cultural Studies
THOMAS CUSHMAN, GENERAL EDITOR

Antipolitical Essays
DUBRAVKA UGREŠIĆ
TRANSLATED BY CELIA HAWKESWORTH
“Ugresic’s recent work [in] very Central European in form, a collage of essays, sketches, feuilletons, numbered epigrams, reminiscent of the best non-fiction of Danilo Kis or Gyorgy Konrad. She is brave in denouncing the perversions of political and cultural life in Croatia, but also wonderfully ironic about the quasi-heroic roles in which she finds herself now unwillingly cast. The book is subtle, funny and clear-eyed.”—Timothy Garton Ash, International Books of the Year, Times Literary Supplement
256 pages $18.95 paper

Burden of Dreams
History and Identity in Post-Soviet Ukraine
CATHERINE WANNER
“Wanner offers a fascinating look at the realities of life in Soviet and post-Soviet society. Her ambitious synthesis of theory and case study sets the book apart from most of the work being done in this field.”—Jane Dawson, University of Oregon
288 pages 25 illustrations $18.95 paper

SOCIOLOGY FOR THE TWENTY-FIRST CENTURY, Second Edition
Timothy J. Curry, Robert M. Jiobu, and Kent Schwirian

This text introduces students to sociology utilizing the framework of the Great Social Transformation. This method highlights two aspects of change in our society: the change or contrast between social life organized around personal, communal relations, and impersonal, associational relations; and the ongoing social processes entailing the implications carried with them for life in the twenty-first century. Also, this book encourages students to think critically about the world around them.

INTRODUCTORY TEXTS

Sociology In Our Times
Second Edition
Diana Kendall
Noted for its especially strong coverage of current social issues including race, class, and gender this text integrates diverse theoretical viewpoints and research into its coverage of the basics of sociology. Kendall's compelling, everyday examples demonstrate sociology's relevance in today's society. And with her vivid, personal writing style, Kendall motivates your students to make a difference. 0-534-55562-4

Essentials of Sociology
Fourth Edition
David B. Brinkerhoff, Lynn K. White, and Suzanne T. Ortega
Concise, affordable, and balanced. And now, with a special focus on technology!

Sociology
Seventh Edition
Jon M. Shepard
This mainstream text offers a balanced presentation of the fundamental theories, concepts, and methodologies of sociology. Its accessible and careful progression challenges students to pose their own questions about society and to think critically about the world in which they live. And now, a built-in study guide helps students learn and solidify their understanding of basic concepts. 0-534-55578-0

Introducing A New Quarterly Journal

Souls
A CRITICAL JOURNAL OF BLACK POLITICS,
CULTURE, AND SOCIETY

A new quarterly interdisciplinary journal sponsored by the Institute for Research in African American Studies at Columbia University and published by Westview Press, Souls maps the intellectual contours of the contemporary black experience: the various ideological debates, politics, culture, and recent history of African American people. In the spirit of W.E.B. DuBois, Souls (whose title was inspired by DuBois's classic 1903 analysis of black American culture and politics, The Souls of Black Folk) presents creative and challenging interpretations of the major themes and issues currently being discussed by scholars of black America. Under the editorial direction of Manning Marable, Souls brings together intellectuals from both traditional academe and the black community to engage in a critical dialogue about contemporary problems and challenges facing black America today.

Each quarterly issue will include feature articles, interviews, book reviews, and an extended "symposium" section (papers drafted by prominent scholars, writers, and leaders on the central theme of each issue). Topics for upcoming issues include Harlem, race and revolution in Cuba, African Americans and the prison-industrial complex, black women in American society, a critique of the President's Commission on Race, African Americans, and organized labor, and South Africa after apartheid.

Parsons, Jack
HUMAN POPULATION COMPETITION AS BIOLOGICAL WARFARE
The Pursuit of Power Through Numbers (In Two Volumes)
Jack Parsons has written a compelling book on Human Population Competition. It is an outstanding contribution. . . . With an existing or even an imminent problem of overpopulation, any factor tending to increase growth rates will exacerbate the situation. He shows that in an uncomfortable number of areas there is such a factor, discussion of which is subject to powerful taboos. Parson then sets these aside and thoroughly analyzes the values and behavior of many groups which are actively pursuing the belief - frequently by means of competitive breeding - that there is power in numbers. . . . This superb book carefully documents a wide array of issues while helping the reader to understand the vital population and environment problem." - Professor David Pimentel, Cornell University

Burris-Kitchen, Deborah
FEMALE GANG PARTICIPATION: The Role of African-American Women in the Informal Drug Economy and Gang Activities
"The study is unique in its theoretical and methodological approaches. . . . Burris-Kitchen . . . had the courage to confront the cultural, racial, class chasm and establish relationships with her informants or co-researchers. In so doing, she is able to present and interpret her data in a more authentic manner. She makes every effort to allow the respondents to have a voice and to interpret responses consistent with the issues identified by her co-researchers. The study is an excellent example of interracial and multicultural research." - Douglas V. Davidson

McArthur, Douglas
INFORMATION, ITS FORMS AND FUNCTIONS: The Elements of Semiology
This book is a synthesis which takes account of the many forms and purposes of human expression and communication. It includes topics like the recording of information, the use of signs for the elaboration of ideas, for the design and execution of projects, signs and the representation of experience, esthetics, and rituals. The author argues that language and signs are best understood as a sort of technology rather than as the manifestation of a faculty.

Anastaplo, George
CAMPUS HATE-SPEECH CODES AND TWENTIETH CENTURY ATROCITIES
The collection of talks in this volume addresses the current problems posed by campus hate-speech codes. Expressed are concerns in which there is a vital need to restore the standard of civility by which productive discourse is sustained. As we are now confronted by the problem of what may be done, consistent with our constitutional principles and political habits, to discourage if not even suppress irresponsible speech on campuses, this volume presents commentary on the way back from rampant individualism to a proper sense of community.

1997-98 Biographical Directory of Members

Contains basic information (name, address, phone, e-mail) on over 13,000 ASA members. In addition, the Biographical Directory of Members lists detailed biographical information on each member, including employer/title, degrees held (with institution), section membership(s), and areas of interest. Members are indexed by areas of interest, including a state/country notation. The most comprehensive directory of sociologists available anywhere. 576 pages.

1997 Guide to Graduate Departments of Sociology

The Guide provides comprehensive information for academic administrators, advisors, faculty, students, and a host of others seeking included are listings for nearly 250 graduate departments of sociology. In addition to name and rank, faculty are identified by highest degree held, institution and date of degree, and areas of specialty interest. Special programs, tuition costs, types of financial aid, and student enrollment statistics are given for each department, along with a listing of recent PhDs with dissertation titles. This year's edition includes home page addresses of departments (where available) and statistical information compiled via our annual graduate department survey. Indices of faculty, special programs, and PhDs awarded are provided.

SPECIAL REDUCED RATES FOR EDUCATORS & STUDENTS

Using services of The New York Times Newspaper in Education Program, educators are introducing students to new worlds. The New York Times can energize and enhance classrooms with greater variety and longer-lasting impact than almost any other educational resource.

To participate in the program, or for more information, please call (800) 631-1222 or visit the College Program web site (http://www.nytcollege.com).
