Final Program

109th Annual Meeting
August 16-19, 2014
Hilton San Francisco Union Square and Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco
San Francisco, California

Hard Times: The Impact of Economic Inequality on Families and Individuals

America is a land of inequality. Moreover, the scope of economic inequality has grown sharply in recent decades. Since the beginning of the Great Recession in 2008, in particular, many Americans have lost ground. Its consequences have been particularly harsh for families with children.

With the theme, "Hard Times: The Impact of Economic Inequality on Families and Individuals," President Annette Lareau draws attention to the multiple ways in which inequality reverberates throughout American society and the world.

The program will highlight social science research documenting the breadth and depth of economic inequality and the consequences for virtually every sphere of social life: education, health, family life, work, political participation, neighborhood life, religion, and experiences with the criminal justice system. Of course, the ramifications of economic inequality are not equally shared. The program will examine variations in economic inequality by race and ethnicity, gender, and immigrant status. Particular attention will be paid to social class differences in daily life.

Our focus will not simply be on the impact of income inequality, but also the accumulation of debt and the consolidation of income into wealth. In addition to examining the poor and middle-class, special attention will also be paid to the experiences of the very wealthy. Hence, the program takes a broad view of economic inequality.

The focus on “Hard Times” also seeks to understand the lasting consequences of being raised in times of economic uncertainty. Furthermore, it will critically examine programs of change, whether in the form of social movements or policy interventions. Finally, since the ASA is a professional society, the Annual Meeting will include a series of workshops aimed at strengthening sociologists’ facility at sharing their research with the public.

Annual Meeting Schedule

The official days of the 2014 ASA Annual Meeting are Saturday to Tuesday, August 16-19, 2014. Program sessions are scheduled on all four days of the meeting at the Hilton San Francisco Union Square and Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco. There are also pre-meeting activities scheduled on Friday, August 15, and the meeting will officially begin with the Opening Plenary Session and Welcoming Reception that evening.

Most daytime program sessions are 1 hour and 40 minutes in length, followed by a 20-minute break. Exceptions are clearly noted in the detailed program schedule. The turnover schedule is as follows:

8:30 am-10:10 am
10:30 am-12:10 pm
12:30 pm-2:10 pm
2:30 pm-4:10 pm
4:30 pm-6:10 pm

The 6:30 pm evening slot is normally allocated for Section receptions, member-sponsored activities, and meetings of other groups. All sessions end by 4:10 pm on the fourth day.

Please refer to the Program Schedule for a daily listing of all sessions, meetings, and social events. Session presiders and committee chairs are requested to see that sessions and meetings end on time to avoid conflicts with subsequent activities scheduled into the same room and to allow participants time to transit between facilities.

Ethical Conduct during the Annual Meeting:
It is unethical in any professional setting, including the Annual Meeting of the American Sociological Association, for sociologists to use the inequalities of power which characterize many professional relationships to obtain personal, sexual, economic or professional advantages.

Sexual, sexual identity or racial/ethnic harassment is also unethical behavior under the American Sociological Association Code of Ethics.

Attendees are encouraged to immediately report instances of harassment during the Annual Meeting to the ASA Executive Officer at hillsman@asanet.org or through the ASA Annual Meeting Office.

To read the American Sociological Association Code of Ethics in its entirety, visit www.ASAnet.org and follow the link to “Ethics.”

Greetings from the ASA President

Dear Colleagues:

Our program this year, “Hard Times: The Impact of Economic Inequality on Families and Individuals,” is a lively blend of new sociological research, and we are pleased to have nationally recognized guests join us. Robert B. Reich (U.S. Secretary of Labor under President Clinton) will speak at an evening plenary session on Saturday, August 16; Sheryl Sandberg (Chief Operating Officer of Facebook and author of Lean In) will appear on a Monday afternoon thematic session; and Malcolm Gladwell (staff writer for The New Yorker and author of Outliers, Tipping Point, and David and Goliath) will keynote an evening plenary on Monday, August 18. All three are graciously donating their time to ASA. Emmanuel Saez, the Berkeley economist whose research has been the backbone of many New York Times pieces on income inequality, will speak at the Friday, August 15 Opening Plenary Session. He will be joined by Melvin L. Oliver (University of California-Santa Barbara), Thomas M. Shapiro (Brandeis University), and Leslie McCall (Northwestern University); Thomas A. DiPrete (Columbia University) will be the discussant for this plenary on Income and Wealth Inequality—officially marking the start of the 2014 Annual Meeting.

We are also excited to have Arlie Russell Hochschild (University of California-Berkeley) speak at the Monday, August 18 plenary on Social Class and Family Life. She will be joined by David J. Harding (University of California-Berkeley) who will discuss the impact of prison reentry on families, Mathew Desmond (Harvard University), who analyzes the impact of evictions on children, and Marianne Cooper (Stanford University), who will share the results of her research on class differences in emotion work done by family members around financial instability. Many of the consequences of hard times unfold over time. Jay MacLeod, author of Ain’t No Making It, will make a rare appearance at ASA; he has been following the young men in his classic book for decades. His talk is titled “Outclassed.” This Saturday, August 16 plenary session will also include Linda M. Burton (Duke University) who has a 30-year ethnographic study of African-American low-income families. Natural disasters also illuminate the class divide; Eric Klinenberg (New York University) will report on his emerging research on the differential impact of Hurricane Sandy by social class. The 2014 program also features the work of a number of young ethnographers. We expect there to be numerous spirited discussions on the impact of growing economic inequality on cities, environmental inequality, health outcomes, and other spheres.

As President, increasing the public visibility of sociological research has been one of my highest priorities. At the meeting, we will continue to use advances in technology to improve participants’ meeting experiences, increase the efficiency and effectiveness of information sharing, and facilitate networking in both physical and virtual spaces. ASA will again provide complimentary basic bandwidth wireless internet to meeting attendees in the session rooms during the Annual Meeting and broadcast each of the plenary sessions live over the web. In addition, there will be a “blogging and tweeting” area at the Hub in the exhibit hall. Friday there will also be a pre-conference workshop training series on social media. Thanks to the efforts of Jessie Daniels who has recruited volunteers, there is no charge for taking part in this workshop. An ASA Task Force on Social Media, now called Engaging Sociology, also has been working hard to create resources for ASA members. By early fall, we expect to have exciting new resources for members including guidelines on how to promote a book, create an outstanding blog post, and write effective tweets. We are also working to increase—exponentially—the number of sociological studies that get into the hands of journalists, bloggers, and social media participants. I am grateful to the members of the Task Force for their help with these important endeavors. Promote sociology by posting, sharing, and tweeting about the interesting sociological research you will hear during the Annual Meeting.

The program also features an exciting roster of local arrangements representing the work of members in the Bay area and beyond. The local arrangements subcommittee component, chaired by Sheila M. Katz (University of Houston) have developed a timely and vibrant roster of regional spotlight sessions, tours (including a wine tour) and articles featured in ASA Footnotes for the Annual Meeting. Good wine, good food and spectacular vistas of natural beauty all await you in the Bay Area.

Whether you are attending to see your friends, renew your networks or see the city, welcome.

Registration Services

Continuing our commitment to a more environmentally sustainable meeting, we no longer print and mail confirmations to those who registered online. Please save the e-mailed confirmation as your record. Those who registered via fax and mail should have received a printed confirmation by mail. Attendees who sent materials after the July 9 deadline will find their paperwork held for registration processing at the ASA Situations counter in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

Preregistration Pickup. Attendees who preregistered may pick up badges, program materials, and special tickets at the “Preregistration” counters in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square. See registration service hours below.

On-Site Registration. Those who missed the July 9 preregistration deadline should go to the “On-Site Registration” counter in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square for the meeting.

Name Badges. Your name badge is required for admission to all convention functions including entry to the ASA Exhibits, Employment Service, and Child Care Service areas. Attendance at events which require fee payment (e.g., Courses, Chair Conference, Director of Graduate Studies Conference, TEF/Just Desserts, MFP Benefit, Tours) is restricted to meeting registrants.

A general registrant may sign up for one guest pass ($50 onsite) to provide a courtesy badge for a spouse, partner, family member, or other guest. This guest pass provides only a name badge; the Final Program materials are not supplied. Information printed on a guest badge is restricted to the name of the guest; affiliations will not be printed. Individuals attending the meeting in a professional capacity are expected to register in one of the full registration categories listed above.

Refunds/Cancellations. All registration-related fees are non-refundable as of July 9, 2014. Unfortunately, under no circumstances can ASA issue refunds for no-shows. Program participant registration fees are non-refundable; cancellations will not be accepted nor refunds issued.
Tickets for Events and Services

Registrants already signed up for courses, tours, employment, child care services, and/or special events should have received tickets with their meeting packets. Those who did not make advance reservations may check at the ASA On-Site registration counters in Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square for ticket availability.

Event tickets are non-refundable and cancellations cannot be accepted. You may, however, sell your ticket to someone else if you are unable to attend.

Membership Desk

Information on ASA membership and subscriptions will be provided at the Membership tables in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square. The Membership desk will be staffed by ASA Executive Office personnel and will be open during the same hours as ASA Registration. Attendees may learn about current membership benefits and join the Association, sign up for Section memberships, and subscribe to ASA journals. Display copies of current journals will be available for reference.

Section Information

Looking for information about the ASA Sections and sections-in-formation, or copies of 2014 section newsletters? Check the Section Display Tables near the ASA Membership desk in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

Every Section was invited to designate representatives to staff the display table during each meeting day and provide information on special section activities. Staff from the ASA Executive Office will be nearby at the Membership Desk to answer questions about joining any and all sections.

Staying Connected during the Annual Meeting!

With the 2014 meeting, we are using advances in technology to improve your meeting experience, increase the efficiency and effectiveness of information sharing, and facilitate networking in both physical and virtual spaces.

Annual Meeting Mobile App

The ASA Annual Meeting app includes:

- Full pocket program & Convention Bulletin (with meeting room locations identified)
- Information on getting around San Francisco and the meeting sites
- Information on ASA service hours and locations
- Access to the live webcasts (and real-time transcriptions) of Plenary Sessions
- Interactive exhibit hall floor plan
- Real-time convention alerts via the Convention Bulletin

The QR Code for the App is:

The link for the App is:
(http://eventmobi.com/2014am/)

WiFi Access at the Meeting

Beyond the Annual Meeting app and streaming video with captions from the plenaries, there will be free basic bandwidth Wi-Fi available in all ASA meeting rooms, both at the Hilton San Francisco Union Square and the Parc55 Wyndham San Francisco. (For those of you considering incorporating videos in your presentations, keep in mind that basic bandwidth is sufficient to allow web browsing and email, but won’t support rapid transfer of large amounts of data such as Skype and FaceTime.)

The “Hub” and Social Media

Be sure to visit “The Hub,” ASA’s social media booth during the Annual Meeting. But what’s The Hub? It is where the mini-training modules will be located—an ASA social networking space in the ASA Exhibit Hall. It will include the ASA bookstore, cyber café, and dedicated tech-training stations.

While technological innovations may be nothing new for some members, for those not born with a mobile device in our hands, they may be a bit daunting. Members of the ASA Task Force on Engaging Sociology and ASA staff will conduct informal technology training modules to those who stop by The Hub. These mini-training opportunities will cover an array of popular topics related to social networking.

ASA Council Policy Statement on Social Media during the Annual Meeting:
In ASA sessions, some members of the audience may use twitter or other forms of social media to share the results of papers presented. In rare instances people will record sessions; if you prefer that audio recordings or video recordings not occur, please share your request with the audience. ASA encourages all program participants to be sensitive to the requests of others.

During the Annual Meeting, the ASA Press Office shares results from the meeting with the media. ASA encourages presenters to notify their university press offices to ask them to share sociological research results which they believe are newsworthy.

ASA Bookstore

The ASA Bookstore features works published by the Association. Located in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square, the Bookstore will be staffed by ASA Executive Office personnel and open throughout the four days of the Annual Meeting (see page 45).

All attendees are welcome to browse through this area filled with recent journal issues, teaching resources and syl- labi sets, career publications, sociological practice materials, directories, and reference volumes. The online ASA Bookstore will be available at a kiosk located in the Bookstore to complete online orders for those who'd rather not purchase and carry materials home. Items purchased through the online ASA Bookstore will be shipped after the Annual Meeting.

Exhibits

The ASA Exhibits are located in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square. Exhibits will be open to meeting registrants on all four days of the meeting.

ASA Exhibit Hours:
Saturday, August 16  2:00 -6:00 pm
Sunday, August 17     9:00 am-4:00 pm
Monday, August 18     9:00 am-5:00 pm
Tuesday, August 19    9:00 am-1:00 pm

The location of the Exhibits offers excellent accessibility to meeting attendees, due to its close proximity to poster sessions, the Hub and the ASA Bookstore. Always one of the most popular activities at the Annual Meeting, Exhibits offer variety, convenience, and an opportunity to discover current trends in sociological publishing, information processing, and services.

Meeting attendees are encouraged to schedule several visits to the Exhibit area so that ample time can be given to exploring the many offerings. Browse through the latest sociological publications, explore current computer software, chat with representatives of statistical resources and informational literature, and meet the editor of your next publication!

See the Directory of Exhibitors in this Program for the names and booth numbers of all exhibitors. Don't forget to look through the Program for special ads too.

All persons wishing access to ASA Exhibits must be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting; badges are required for entrance into this area.

Employment Service

The annual ASA Employment Service assists sociologists and prospective employers by providing convenient opportunities for employers and job seekers to meet in a neutral, monitored environment for initial short interviews during the Annual Meeting.

Employers and preregistered job seekers are able to enter their information in an online module and use an interactive scheduling calendar to set up interview appointments during the Annual Meeting.

All service users were urged to preregister by July 9 in order to take full advantage of the pre-convention communication opportunities that the online Employment Service (ES) offers. Interviewers and candidates were also encouraged to bring their own laptops (equipped with wireless capability) and tablets with them so that they can more easily maintain communications during the Annual Meeting. The on-site Employment Service areas will provide a few computer terminals for use by registered ES users.

Location and Hours. The Employment Service will be open in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square during the hours listed below.

Friday, August 15,  1:30 – 6:30 pm
Saturday, August 16, 8:00 am – 5:30 pm
Sunday, August 17,  8:00 am – 5:30 pm
Monday, August 18,  8:00 am – 5:30 pm
Tuesday, August 19,  8:00 am – 1:00 pm

Preregistrants should first pick up their ASA badges in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square before proceeding to the Employment Service areas.

Employers. Employers (organizations) enter the online ES to pay the registration fee and post job listings. All individuals conducting interviews on-site must be registered for the Annual Meeting and subsequently designated as interviewers by their employers in order to use the online service to search candidate information and set up interview appointments.

Candidates. Those who are looking for positions should have preregistered for the Annual Meeting and for the Employment Service before the July 9 preregistration deadline. Those who preregister may log into the online ES module and fill out the Candidate Information Form, upload a full resume, view jobs posted by Employers, mark their ES calendars to show their availability for interviews, and respond to interview invitations.

Interview Scheduling. All initial interview appointments are to be scheduled through the online Employment Service. Interviewers and candidates are encouraged to bring their own laptops (equipped with wireless cards) with them so that they can more easily maintain communications about interview appointments during the Annual Meeting. The Interview Room provides one table per employer where designated interviewers may meet with candidates at the agreed-upon appointment times. On-site staff will assist with reminders of the 20-minute appointment intervals so that appointment schedules stay on-time throughout the day.

On-Site Registration. Individuals who did not preregister and now want to use the Employment Service, whether as Candidate or Interviewer, must first register for the Annual Meeting. Please see “Registration Services” for on-site registration rates. Fees for candidates to use the Employment Service, which may be paid during your meeting registration process at the On-Site Registration desks, are $50 for ASA members, $85 for non-members. There is no additional service fee for Interviewers. Employers may go directly online to pay the registration fee ($295), post their job listings, and designate the on-site interviewers.

When fully registered, your next step is to visit the Employment Service help desks in Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square, where you will be given a brief orientation to the service procedures and issued a pass permitting your entrance to the Interview Room. No one will be admitted without a pass; "browsing" by non-registered attendees is not permitted.

After the Meeting. The online Employment Service site will remain open after the Annual Meeting is over to permit registered candidates and interviewers to reference information posted there. Users may download files of job listings or candidate resumes for future reference, if they wish. The online 2014 Employment Service will close to registered users at the end of September 2014.

Child Care

ASA is continuing the tradition of providing an innovative program of activities for children of Annual Meeting registrants. Arrangements have again been made with KiddieCorp to offer a full childcare program during daytime session hours for preregistered children between the ages of 6 months to 12 years.

KiddieCorp is dedicated to providing quality childcare services across the nation for meeting attendees. Staffing is based on a 1:2 ratio for children 6 months to 1 year, 1:3 ratios for children 1-2 years of age and a 1:5 ratio for children 3-12 years of age. The program includes a customized hourly schedule of creative and educational activities, age-appropriate toys and games, popular arts and crafts projects, and child-pleasing movies and cartoon videos. The Child Care Service is located in the Franciscan C-D on Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square. This service is available to preregistrants only. The non-refundable preregistration deposit of $50 per child will be applied to the daily usage fees on-site. Daily use fees per preregistered child are $50 per full day, $30 per half day. For children using the service for shorter periods, the half-day fee will apply to encourage stable populations. Fees include on-site activities and snacks; lunch is not included but meal arrangements can be made through the hotel.

Service hours are 8:00 am – 6:30 pm on Saturday-Monday, August 16-18, and 8:00 am – 4:30 pm on Tuesday, August 19. Parents/guardians using these services must be registrants for the Annual Meeting.

There is no guarantee that non-preregistered families can be accommodated on-site. Child care providers reserve the right to refuse admittance to non-preregistrants. If there are any openings, fees for children who were not preregistered will be $75 per day per child. No half-day rates are available for non-preregistered children; no exceptions.

Access for All: Accessibility Resources and Services

The ASA offers several services and oversight arrangements to facilitate attendance at the Annual Meeting. ASA staff at the Meeting Information & Housing Desk will coordinate resources during the meeting week for registrants with physical disabilities who are attending the Annual Meeting. Special services, which were arranged in advance, may be verified with ASA staff to ensure that you receive the assistance you need. Should you encounter any problems during the meeting or need any additional information while at the Annual Meeting, please contact Meeting Services staff on-site at the Meeting Information & Housing Desk in Yosemite Hall at the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

Comfort Zone. Attendees coping with illness, meeting fatigue, or stress may use the small room set aside by ASA as a “safe haven” to escape briefly from the noise and bustle of meeting activities. The designated Comfort Zone is located in Union Square 24 on the fourth floor of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.
Lactation/Nursing Facilities. Families with lactation/nursing needs should stop by the ASA Office in the California Room on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square for access to the private facilities.

Unisex/Companion Care Restrooms. The ASA has designated restroom facilities on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square and the Third Floor the Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco as “uni-sex/non-gender specific.” Other restroom facilities designated “women” and “men” are also available on these levels.

Plenary Sessions. All ASA Plenary Sessions will be available as live simulcasts over the web. In addition, the webcast will allow users to access real-time transcription of the plenary session delivered through their mobile device via the Annual Meeting app.

Arrangements for sign language interpreters, in-person real-time captioners (CART) may be provided for meeting registrants who have requested these services in advance of the meeting.

Sessions. ASA has made arrangements for sign language interpreters, sighted guides, and other communication avenues for meeting registrants who provided information in advance of the meeting.

Other Services. Registrants who did not make advance arrangements for services or equipment are requested to contact staff at the Meeting Information & Housing Desk in Yosemite Hall on the Ballroom Level at the Hilton San Francisco Union Square. Every reasonable effort will be made to assist registrants on-site. However, if you have a physical disability and need special services, equipment, or accommodations, and did not notify ASA in advance of your arrival at the meeting site, ASA may not be able to provide appropriate services due to the limited availability of some equipment and services.

For more than twenty years, ASA has provided special services and oversight arrangements to facilitate attendance at the Annual Meeting. For an overview, please read the article on “Committee and Executive Office Collaborate to Make Annual Meeting Accessible,” published in the April 2007 issue of ASA’s newsletter Footnotes.

Press Office

Press and media representatives are invited to check in at the on-site ASA Press Office for program information and interview assistance. The Press Office is located in Union Square 1-2 on the Fourth Floor of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square. Office hours are 5:00-7:00 pm on August 15, 8:00 am-5:00 pm on August 16-18, and 8:00 am-1:00 pm on August 19.

Meeting attendees are also encouraged to drop by the on-site Press Office and provide information on their availability to discuss their work with the media while in San Francisco.

Meeting Information & Housing Desk

If you have questions about A/V equipment or setup for your session; need help with hotel guestroom matter; or any other issue related to meeting arrangements, please stop by the Meeting Information & Housing Desk at the Hilton San Francisco Union Square in the Yosemite Hall on the Ballroom Level. The desk is staffed with ASA Meeting Services staff and representatives from Connections Housing (ASA’s official housing vendor for the Annual Meeting) who are available to assist you.

ASA “Onsite” Executive Office

To support general ASA activities, there will be an ASA Office staffed with Executive Office personnel at the Hilton San Francisco Union Square in the California Room on the Ballroom Level; this on-site office will be open at 1:30-7:00 pm on August 15, and 8:00 am-6:00 pm on August 16-19.

Press Office

Press and media representatives are invited to check in at the on-site ASA Press Office for program information and interview assistance. The Press Office is located in Union Square 1-2 on the Fourth Floor of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square. Office hours are 5:00-7:00 pm on August 15, 8:00 am-5:00 pm on August 16-18, and 8:00 am-1:00 pm on August 19.

Meeting Information & Housing Desk

If you have questions about A/V equipment or setup for your session; need help with hotel guestroom matter; or any other issue related to meeting arrangements, please stop by the Meeting Information & Housing Desk at the Hilton San Francisco Union Square in the Yosemite Hall on the Ballroom Level. Adjusting to the San Francisco Climate

San Francisco’s climate is, if nothing else, dependably changeable. Temperatures and conditions change literally by the hour and can differ markedly from one part of the city to the other. In June, July and August, days usually start in fog, catching many vacationers off guard. Sweatshirts replace tee shirts as the souvenir of choice in popular tourist areas. Yet overall, the City by the Bay enjoys an eternally spring-like climate. Temperatures average 54-65 degrees Fahrenheit (12-18 Celsius) in summer. Visitors are most comfortable with a light jacket or coat handy, or in a suit. An all-weather coat will chill off cool evenings. Lightweight summer clothes are seldom practical in San Francisco. Comfortable walking shoes are also a wise fashion choice.

Airport & Transportation

San Francisco International Airport (SFO)
San Francisco International Airport (SFO), a department of the City and County of San Francisco, is a transparent organization dedicated to serving our local community as well as the millions of travelers who pass through our doors each year. We welcome public interest in the way we do business.

Shuttle Vans, Buses and Public Transportation Services

BART operates rapid rail service to northern San Mateo County, San Francisco and the East Bay directly from San Francisco International Airport. The SFO BART Station is located on the Departures/Ticketing Level of the International Terminal (Boarding Area G side). BART is easily accessed from any terminal by riding SFO’s AirTrain to the Garage G/BART Station stop.

Taxis depart from the designated taxi zones located at the roadway center islands, on the Arrivals/Baggage Claim Level of all terminals. Uniformed taxi coordinators are stationed at the taxi zones from 7:00 a.m. to 1:00 a.m. to assist passengers with questions or concerns. Ramp accessible taxis are available. Please contact the taxi coordinator to request a ramp accessible taxi, or phone *1191 from any airport courtesy phone. Approximate fares to San Francisco:

- Cow Palace - $35
- Downtown - $45
- Fisherman’s Wharf - $53

Metered rates apply to all destinations. Destinations either 15 miles beyond the limits of the City and County of San Francisco or 15 miles beyond the boundaries of San Francisco International Airport are charged at 150% of the metered rate. A $2.00 exit surcharge is included in all San Francisco taxicab meter fares for rides originating from San Francisco International Airport. By sharing a ride, up to 5 persons can ride for the price of 1 person. Please contact local taxicab companies in this region for information on fares to SFO.

Shared-ride vans provide service between SFO and passenger-specified locations. Depending on the number of passengers, shared-ride vans may make multiple stops. Van service is available on a walk-up basis. However, passengers are advised to make reservations for service after 11:00 p.m. Shared-ride vans pick up passengers on the Departures/Ticketing Level from the roadway center island at all terminals.

Companion Care Restrooms
Companion Care Restrooms for travelers needing companion assistance are located in all terminals, pre-security and post-security.

Wheelchairs
Travelers requiring wheelchair assistance are encouraged to advise their airline of their needs when making flight arrangements. Upon arriving at the airport, travelers with wheelchair or other special requests should approach an airline representative for assistance.

Pet-Relief Area
Certified service animals are allowed in the airport, terminals, and AirTrain. Disabled passengers traveling with pets can access outdoor Animal Relief Areas located:
- Between Terminal 1 and International Terminal A, Courtyard 1, Arrivals/Baggage Claim Level
- At Terminal 2, Courtyard 3, Arrivals/Baggage Claim Level
- Between Terminal 3 and International Terminal G, Courtyard 4, Arrivals/Baggage Claim Level

ASA Business Meeting
The ASA Business Meeting is an opportunity for members of the Association to discuss important issues facing the discipline and profession. Members are encouraged to attend this meeting convened by the ASA President Annette Lareau.

Summary reports on the Association and its key activities this year will be given by President Annette Lareau, Secretary Mary Romero, and Executive Officer Sally T. Hillsman. The meeting concludes with the traditional transfer of the gavel, marking the transition of duties from President Annette Lareau to incoming President Paula England.

This open forum is an opportunity for members to share their insights, reactions, and suggestions. Please consult the flyer in your convention tote bag for details on the Business Meeting agenda.

As noted in the May/June issue of Footnotes and the posting of meeting information on the ASA website, members seeking to present formal resolutions should be prepared to provide background materials on the issue to be discussed. Members who missed the July 11 submission deadline may bring their resolutions and supporting background documentation to the ASA Office in the California Room on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square by 3:00 pm on Monday, August 18.

All meeting attendees are invited to join ASA officers, Council members, and staff for continental breakfast and discussion at the ASA Business Meeting on Tuesday, August 19, 7:00-8:15am, in Imperial A on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

Major Plenary Sessions

The Annual Meeting theme of “Hard Times: The Impact of Economic Inequality on Families and Individuals” is being addressed from the Opening Plenary Session on August 15 to the final Plenary on August 18. Access live webcasts (and real-time transcriptions) of the Plenary Sessions using the app.

In recent decades we have seen a sharp rise in economic inequality. Nowhere has the increase in income inequality been documented as dramatically and as thoroughly as in the widely discussed work of Emmanuel Saez. The phenomenon of wealth inequality was brought to the forefront of sociologists’ attention by the work of Thomas Shapiro and Melvin Oliver, who established the profound implications of this phenomenon for the intergenerational perpetuation of racial stratification. Finally, Leslie McCall has established that, contrary to commonly held assumptions, Americans care deeply about economic inequality and the impact it has. These scholars will discuss the contours and implications of inequality in this plenary session.

Social Class in Daily Life

Session 92, Saturday August 16, 12:30-2:10pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Continental Parlor 4-6, Ballroom Level

Session Organizer and Presider: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Outclassed. Jay MacLeod, Parish of All Saints and Author
Cities, Class, and Climate Change: An Autopsy of Superstorm Sandy. Eric Klinenberg, New York University
Racializing Low-Income Rural Mothers: A Thirty-Year Ethnography of Race, Class, and Socioeconomic Inequality. Linda Marie Burton, Duke University
Discussant: William Julius Wilson, Harvard University

Social class divisions are powerful forces in American society: they influence the rituals of daily life, they cast a long shadow over the life course, and they are thrown into sharper relief in times of crisis. This panel shows a range of ways in which class divisions matter. Jay MacLeod, author of the classic work, Ain’t No Makin’ It, will make a rare appearance at an ASA meeting to discuss the impact of class on life chances over the life course. Linda Burton will share the results of a thirty-year ethnographic study of low-income mothers. Her study highlights the interweaving of race and class in their lives. Eric Klinenberg, drawing on recent data on the aftermath of Hurricane Sandy, will show how the experiences of this natural disaster varied by class.
The Impact of Inequality
Session 168, Saturday August 16, 8:00-9:30pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Continental Parlor 4-6,
Ballroom Level

Families and individuals in the middle and bottom ranges of the income ladder suffer widening inequality in a number of ways. As the ladder elongates, they're likely to feel relatively more deprived. They're more likely to marry or partner with others in the lower ranges of income, thereby compounding their relative disadvantages. Upward mobility is harder to achieve, because the same degree of effort gets them a shorter distance up the ladder. They're likely to experience more geographic segregation by income — resulting in lower-quality public services, inadequate access to public transportation and jobs, and fewer models of successful upward mobility around them.

At the other end of the ladder, widening inequality tends to insulate wealthier individuals and families from the poverty and economic insecurity others in society are experiencing. To an ever larger extent, being "rich" means not having to come across anyone who is not. The advantages of wealth are compounded through marriage, and investment in children. Wealthy tend to know that they and their children and grandchildren will do fine. As a result, they are incapable of doing the Rawlsian experiment; they cannot imagine what the rules of society should be under a "veil of ignorance" about where they'd end up in the pecking order. The result is the breakdown of a society — to the extent that by "society" we mean a system in which members feel some duties to one another.

Family Life in Hard Times
Session 408, Monday August 18, 12:30-2:10pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Continental Parlor 4-6,
Ballroom Level

Session Organizer: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Presider: Frank F. Furstenberg, University of Pennsylvania
Do Free Market Policies Go with Family Values: The Research Arlie Russell Hochschild, University of California-Berkeley
Hard Times and Family Life after Prison. David Harding, University of California-Berkeley
How Families Cope with Hard Times: Using Emotions to Understand Inequality. Marianne Cooper, Stanford University
Stability Costs Too Much: Poor Families, Eviction, and the Affordable Housing Crisis. Matthew Desmond, Harvard University

Hard economic times have an impact on families, but the reverberations are not always well understood. In this session, Arlie Russell Hochschild discusses her most recent project on the tensions between free market policies and family life. David Harding illuminates how the release of prisoners influences not only the prisoners themselves but their families. Marianne Cooper explores the emotional work connected to economic insecurity. Her ethnographic study highlights the ways in which anxiety about financial security preoccupies affluent families in Silicon Valley as well as families with economic strain. Matthew Desmond traces the influence of evictions on the lives of children.

An Evening with Malcolm Gladwell
Session 488, Monday August 18, 8:00-9:30pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Continental Parlor 4-6,
Ballroom Level

Keynote Address: Malcolm Gladwell, Author
Malcolm Gladwell is the author of five New York Times bestsellers — The Tipping Point, Blink, Outliers, What the Dog Saw, and now, his latest, David and Goliath: Underdogs, Misfits and the Art of Battling Giants. He has been named one of the 100 most influential people by TIME magazine and one of the Foreign Policy’s Top Global Thinkers.
He has explored how ideas spread in the Tipping Point, decision making in Blink, and the roots of success in Outliers. With his latest book, David and Goliath, he examines our understanding of the advantages of disadvantages, arguing that we have underestimated the value of adversity and over-estimated the value of privilege.
He has been a staff writer for The New Yorker since 1996. He has won a national magazine award and been honored by the American Psychological Society and the American Sociological Association. He was previously a reporter for The Washington Post.

Address by Annette Lareau and ASA Awards Ceremony
The Presidential Plenary featuring the formal address of ASA President Annette Lareau will be held on Sunday, August 17, at 4:30 pm. The ASA Awards Ceremony, conferring the 2014 major ASA awards, will open this session. All registrants are invited to attend this plenary session and the Honorary Reception afterwards to honor President Annette Lareau and the award recipients.

Presidential Panels

Elites and the Power They Wield
Session 93, Saturday August 16, 2:30-4:10pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza A, Lobby Level
Session Organizer: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Presider: Shamus Rahman Khan, Columbia University
The American Business Elite: From Classwide to Coherence
Company-focused Management – and Global Engagement. Michael Useem, University of Pennsylvania
Individual Power, Collective Weakness: The Fragmentation of the American Corporate Elite. Mark S. Mizruchi, University of Michigan
The Haves and the Have-A-Lots: Who Count as Upper Class in America? Lauren Rivera, Northwestern University
Leading Lives: An Inside Look at the People in Power. D. Michael Lindsay, Gordon College
Discussant: Rachel Sherman, New School for Social Research
Although elites wield disproportionate power, they have not garnered extensive attention by sociologists. The scholars in this session will share the results of their new studies of elites. The sessions will cast a fresh light on members of the upper class in America. The papers highlight the power of the elite in daily life.

Finding Our Way: Making Theoretical Sense Out of Ethnographic Data
Session 369, Monday August 18, 10:30am-12:10pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza A, Lobby Level
Session Organizer: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Presider: Andrew Deener, University of Connecticut
Withdrawal Pains: Exiting from the Field. John Van Maanen, Massachusetts Institute of Technology Insights in Place. Diane Vaughan, Columbia University
Finding the Hook: Reflections on Distilling Theory from Naturalistic Ethnographic Data. Leslie S. Paik, City University of New York-City College
Blurring the Boundaries of Ethnography: Intimacy, Theory, and Politics. Timothy S. Black, Case Western Reserve University
Discussant: Ruben A. Gaztambide-Fernandez, University of Toronto
Carrying out research is often much more chaotic than the textbooks suggest. In this Presidential session, five distinguished ethnographers will discuss how scholars manage to create a theoretical focus out of the massive amounts of data they collect. In addition they will reflect on the challenges of carrying out ethnography later in a career (given the constraints of daily life).
Hard Times for Individuals’ Privacy: Surveillance since Snowden
Session 135, Saturday August 16, 4:30-6:10pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza A, Lobby Level
Session Organizer: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Presider: Christena Nippert-Eng, Illinois Institute of Technology
Windows Into the Soul: Surveillance and Society in an Age of High Technology. Gary T. Marx, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Privacy in the Time of Clouds and Big Data. Lee Tien, Electronic Frontier Foundation Infrastructure and Surveillance. Ben Gross, University of California-Berkeley

Methodological Disagreements: Comparing the Value of Qualitative Interviews and Participant-Observation
Session 55, Saturday August 16, 10:30am-12:10pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza A, Lobby Level
Session Organizer: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Presider: Julia Wrigley, City University of New York-Graduate Center
Should We Believe What People Tell Us? Or Should We Go Look for Ourselves? Howard S. Becker, Independent Scholar
Talk is Cheap. Shamus Rahman Khan, Columbia University
Taking Talk More Seriously: The Value of Ethnographic Interviewing. Alford A. Young, University of Michigan
The Paradox of Voice: What We Can Do with What People Tell Us. Allison Pugh, University of Virginia
Qualitative researchers disagree, sometimes vigorously, about the ideal method for data collection. In this presidential session, proponents for ethnographic research and in-depth interviewing will present their views. It is guaranteed to be lively.

Public Sociology: Using Sociology to Improve Social Life
Session 252, Sunday August 17, 12:30-2:10pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza A, Lobby Level
Session Organizer: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Presider: Chuck Collins, Institute for Policy Studies and Wealth for the Common Good Using Sociology to Rethink Our Use of Energy. Nicole Woolsey Biggart, University of California-Davis
How to Build Social Resilience in the Neo-Liberal Age. Michele Lamont, Harvard University Sociology and the Crisis of Black Youth. Orlando Patterson, Harvard University Pursuing the Sociological Imagination through a Public Sociology. Hugh Mehan, University of California-San Diego
Discussant: Michael Burawoy, University of California-Berkeley
Sociologists often hope that their work will influence public policy. Yet, the policy arena can be a fast-paced and chaotic environment. All of the panelists have extensive experience in seeking to use their work to influence policy. Speakers will share the successes and challenges involved in translating sociological insights for public policy makers.

Young Ethnographers: Portraits of Individuals Negotiating with Institutions
Session 210, Sunday August 17, 10:30am-12:10pm
Session Organizer: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Managing Children’s Food Allergies: Negotiations about Adherence among Families and Medical Providers. Vanessa Lopes Munoz, Brandeis University
The Big Rig: Class Power in Deregulated Labor Markets. Stephen R. Viscelli, Swarthmore College
On the Beat: Creating Criminal Aliens through Traffic-based Policing. Amada Armenta, University of Pennsylvania
Discussant: Howard S. Becker, Independent Scholar
Traditionally, many of the best ethnographies are done by young scholars. This presidential panel highlights the work of junior scholars who have used participant-observation in their research. All of the studies highlight the ways in which individuals (of varying class and racial backgrounds) interact with people in positions of power in institutions: medical offices, schools, labor market, and the police. These fascinating studies reveal the power, and limits, of institutions in shaping life chances.

Young Ethnographers: The Police, Surveillance, and Violence: The Next Generation of Ethnographic Work
Session 291, Sunday August 17, 2:30-4:10pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza A, Lobby Level
Session Organizer: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Presider: Victor M. Rios, University of California-Santa Barbara
Getting Shot in the Ghetto. Jooyoung Kim Lee, University of Toronto
A Fugitive Adolescence: Growing Up Under the U.S. Crime War. Alice Goffman, University of Wisconsin-Madison
There Ain’t No Sunshine: Navigating Police Surveillance as a Gang Member in Los Angeles. Randol Contreras, University of Toronto
Discussant: Elijah Anderson, Yale University
The era of mass incarceration has reverberated through daily life in countless ways. This panel of young ethnographers provides valuable insight into some of the ways that these changing government policies have limited and transformed the lives of the poor. The studies provide vivid detail of the role that police surveillance, and violence, shapes the lives of young adults. This is a cutting edge field where the insights of young ethnographers, including those on this panel, have been particularly important.

Thematic Sessions

The 2014 Program Committee developed a set of invited sessions to explore aspects of this year’s meeting theme. These 49 sessions delve into important social and political issues, explore international and comparative viewpoints, and discuss the importance of sociological contributions.

Regional Spotlight: San Francisco

The City and County of San Francisco is the fourth most populous city in California and the 13th most populous city in the United States. It is the most densely populated city in the state, the second most densely populated major U.S. city, and is the financial, cultural, and transportation center of the larger San Francisco Bay Area, a region of more than seven million people.

After being devastated by the 1906 earthquake and fire, San Francisco was quickly rebuilt, hosting the Panama-Pacific International Exposition nine years later. During World War II, San Francisco was the send-off point for many soldiers to the Pacific Theater.

Today, San Francisco is a popular international tourist destination renowned for its chilly summer fog, steep rolling hills, eclectic mix of Victorian and modern architecture, and its famous landmarks, including the Golden Gate Bridge, the cable cars, and Chinatown.

This year’s program features an exciting roster of local arrangements representing the work of members from San Francisco and Bay area. The local arrangements subcommittee, chaired by Sheila M. Katz (University of Houston), has developed a timely, stimulating, and vibrant roster of regional spotlight sessions, tours, and articles for Footnotes.

Spotlight Tours

One of the best ways to see the San Francisco and Bay area through sociological lenses is to take advantage of one or more of this year’s local tours. The schedule of tours is provided below, with descriptions and capacity limits. Reservations were mandatory. Those who are already enrolled in tours should have received their tickets in their badge envelopes.

The type of transportation involved is noted with each tour description. Attendees who opt to use an alternate mode of transportation, e.g., taking a cab instead of using the subway, will be completely responsible for the cost of transportation.

Attendees are advised to arrive promptly in the departure areas; there are no refunds for missing the group departures coordinated by the tour leaders.

Keep in mind that the arrival times back are estimates only and may vary somewhat due to traffic conditions.

Regional Spotlight Tour 01. Sustainability in the Sonoma Valley Vineyard
Friday, August 15, 8:00am-5:00pm
Departure Area: Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Lobby
Fee: $80
Tour Organizer: Sheila M. Katz, University of Houston

Just north of San Francisco, Sonoma Valley wineries are leading national efforts in wine sustainability practices with the goal of being the nation’s first 100% sustainable wine region in the next five years. Tour the wineries of Sonoma Valley with an expert in winery sustainability business practices and a local sociologist with expertise in inequality and also in alcohol. The group will tour three wineries, each with a different sustainability focus. We will discuss sustainability practices in winemaking and labor conditions as we tour the vineyards, wine caves, and production rooms at the wineries. Each stop will include wine tastings. Lunch will be free time in beautiful downtown Sonoma around a historic square within walking distance of numerous restaurants and shops. Wear comfortable walking/standing shoes appropriate wine caves and vineyards. Sonoma is typically 10-15 degrees warmer than San Francisco, but the wine caves are a cool 50 degrees, so wear layers.

Regional Spotlight Tour 02. Evolving Oakland Walking Tour
Saturday, August 16, 9:00am-12:00pm
Departure Area: Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Grand Ballroom
Fee: $20
Tour Organizers: Sheila M. Katz, University of Houston and Cynthia Ganote, St. Mary’s College-California

In the last five years, multiple events have shaped an evolving Oakland. Crime rates are down, gentrification is up and contested, and artists are flourishing. Starting in Frank Ogawa Plaza (also known as Oscar Grant Plaza), near the 12th Street BART and in front of Oakland’s City Hall, we will discuss recent protests in the plaza, including those in response to Oscar Grant’s murder and Occupy Oakland’s forced removal. Walking up Telegraph Ave. through the Latham Square reclaimed park into the Uptown Arts District to the sculpture park and Champions of Humanity monuments, we will discuss city-funded initiatives and corporate art. Walking further up Telegraph Ave. into the KONO (Koreatown Northgate) neighborhood, we will discuss gentrification, crime, and the Art Murmur and First Friday coalitions. Further, we will focus on how artists and community benefit districts work together to hold a monthly street fair attended by over 15,000 people. The outdoor walking tour is approximately 2 miles (flat, no hills) with multiple standing stops. We will finish the tour amongst the art galleries, ending as the Saturday Stroll art gallery walk. begins. At the end of the tour, participants have the option to stay for the self-guided art gallery walk, have lunch in the neighborhood, or have a wine or beer tasting. Tour organizers live in the neighborhood and have been active in the events we discuss.

Regional Spotlight Tour 03. San Francisco Super-Gentrification
Sunday, August 17, 9:00am-12:00pm
Departure Area: Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Grand Ballroom
Fee: $20
Tour Organizers: John A. Stover, University of San Francisco and College of San Mateo; Rachel Brahinsky, University of San Francisco; and Jason Henderson, San Francisco State University
San Francisco has a long history of gentrification waves sweeping the city and county, but the current moment has been particularly intense, with evictions, luxury high-rise developments, and erasures of the working and middle class inundating San Francisco and the Bay Area. In this walking tour of neighborhoods such as the Mission, Hayes Valley, and Mid-Market Street, tour organizers will highlight the various ways in which local protests, housing developments, urban renewal, and historic preservation efforts are dramatically shifting San Francisco’s urban landscape. Tour organizers have lived, worked, and extensively studied San Francisco’s development histories, and have also personally experienced the various changes associated with the present gentrification and eviction trends.

Regional Spotlight Tour 04. Environmental History of the San Francisco Bay by Sailboat
Monday, August 18, 2:00-5:00pm
Departure Area: Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Lobby
Tour Organizer: Sheila M. Katz, University of Houston
Sail the beautiful San Francisco bay on a private charter of a double-hulled catamaran sailboat (www.adventurecat.com) with an environmental history of the bay talk on-board as we cast off the sail. Then enjoy the sail, mingle with fellow sociologists, and talk more with our environmental historian (an academic and a sailor). The sail will include 2 hours on the water sailing past Fisherman’s Wharf, Alcatraz Island, Angel Island and under the Golden Gate Bridge. We’ll also sail near Sausalito and the Marin shoreline. Snacks and beverages (juice, soft drinks, beer, wine) are on board available for purchase. Need to wear soft-soled comfortable walking shoes that are appropriate on a boat. The bay is typically 15-20 degrees cooler and windier than the city, so wear several layers with a jacket (extra jackets will be available on the boat), hats and sunscreen also suggested.

This poster/exhibit session provides a unique occasion to meet representatives of major research funding institutions and principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale datasets that are publicly available for use. Each display by a funding institution provides a visual overview of research funding and the application process, materials for distribution, and time for direct individual discussion. Data resource representatives are available to talk about the featured datasets, their analytic potential, and issues relating to access and use, including state-of-the-art Internet services to access datasets. This is an opportunity for meeting attendees to learn about these datasets and their potential for research and teaching. All meeting participants, including students, are encouraged to attend.
Participating institutions and their poster numbers are shown in the full session listing in the body of the Program Schedule. For additional information, please refer to the poster abstracts at the end of the daily schedule.

Special Sessions
The category of “Special Sessions” encompasses many of the suggestions submitted by ASA members for invited panels. These sessions may be on topics that further investigate the meeting theme, contribute to the review of the discipline, or focus attention on other timely and important issues. More than 10 sessions were constituted, including a set of sessions co-sponsored with sister sociological associations/organizations.
A summary of Special Session topics, organizers, and locations is compiled below (alphabetically by session title/topic); please refer to the body of the Program Schedule for complete details.

Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 25, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer: Jessie Daniels, City University of New York-Hunter College

Regular Sessions
Regular Sessions are comprised of research papers submitted in response to the 2014 Call for Papers. The 2014 Program Committee appointed organizers for 127 general Regular Session topics and announced that topics were open to submissions from ASA members. Paper submissions were due in mid-January 2014.

Regular Session organizers received anywhere from 0 to 300 submissions for review. A total of 199 formal paper sessions were organized from over 3100 papers submitted to Regular Session topics. Please refer to the Program Schedule for details on each Regular Session.

Be sure to check the ASA website this fall for information on making your paper submission for next year’s Annual Meeting. The paper submission deadline will be January 7, 2015.

Open Refereed Roundtables
The 2014 Program Committee invited, Denise Segura (University of California-Santa Barbara) to review submissions and organize roundtables using a “mini-session” format: a general topic identified for each table, two to five paper presentations, and a table presider to coordinate presentations and discussion.

Two large roundtable sessions comprised of 15-20 tables each were created for this year’s program. Please note that all roundtables presentations listed on a session are held simultaneously at tables located inside one large meeting room; neither audio-visual equipment nor recording devices may be used.

Open Refereed Roundtable Session I
Session 106, Saturday, August 16, 2:30-4:10pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Imperial A, Ballroom Level

Open Refereed Roundtable Session II
Session 378, Monday, August 18, 10:30am-12:10pm
Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco, Embarcadero, Level Three

Informal Discussion Roundtables
This popular program component is designed to bring together small groups of people interested in discussing specific topics. Informal roundtables offer opportunities for those who share conceptual, methodological, professional, or policy concerns to meet one another and to initiate and expand networks. These discussion tables also are particularly valuable for those who are developing new ideas or formulating issues in new ways and who would like to explore these ideas or issues with colleagues who have similar interests.

An Informal Discussion Roundtable Session is comprised of 15-20 tables, with a different discussion topic assigned to each table. Discussion proceeds simultaneously at all tables listed on each session. At each table the discussion leader will introduce the topic and facilitate discussion among all the participants at the table. No formal papers are to be presented, and neither audio-visual equipment nor recording devices may be used.

Brian Starks (Kennesaw State University) was invited to review the discussion topics and organize sessions. One informal roundtable session was created from the 24 proposals submitted in January by ASA members. Time and location of the discussion roundtables are noted below; please see the full session listing in the body of the Program Schedule for complete details.

Informal Roundtable Discussion Session
Session 220, Sunday, August 17, 10:30am-12:10pm

Poster Sessions
This program component features a series of display presentations that allow face-to-face conversation between authors and viewers. By facilitating informal discussions between presenters and “browsers,” Poster Sessions provide a more direct forum for information exchange than do formal paper presentations.

This year attendees are welcome to browse through the Research Poster area throughout the Annual Meeting. This year the poster sessions are conveniently located in the Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Yosemite Ballroom on the Ballroom Level, which permits more exposure for poster displays. Authors will be present to answer questions about the research displayed on their posters only during the formally designated Research Poster session times.
Informational poster presentations provide information on resources, materials, and opportunities. The annual Research Support Forum includes a major poster session also located in the Yosemite Ballroom to highlight research funding opportunities and data resources. As part of the Graduate Education focus, a resource poster area will be open for browsing in the Yosemite Ballroom and there is one designated time when attendees can expect to meet representatives from participating graduate departments of sociology. Both informational poster areas will be accessible throughout the Annual Meeting.

The varied roster of display presentations includes something of interest for every meeting attendee. Be sure to include some time in your schedule to visit this year’s poster displays.

Communicating Sociology

Research Poster Session 420
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Yosemite Ballroom, Ballroom Level
Organizer: Timothy Nelson, Johns Hopkins University

Graduate Programs in Sociology

Informational Poster Session 105
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Yosemite Ballroom, Ballroom Level
Organizers: Margaret Weigers Vitullo and Jaime Hecht, American Sociological Association

Research Funding Opportunities and Data Resources

Informational Poster Session 290
Hilton San Francisco, Yosemite Ballroom, Ballroom Level
Session Organizer: Nicole M. Van Vooren, American Sociological Association

Courses

This educational component provides opportunities for attendees to get in-depth training in special subject areas. Intensive four- to six-hour courses are held pre-convention and led by expert faculty who have prepared a comprehensive curriculum to engage participants on all levels. Registrants will receive certificates documenting their participation and completion of these courses.

Attendance at the course is limited to 50 registrants. Prepaid registration is required; fees are $70. Reservations for the course were accepted in order of receipt in the ASA Executive Office.

Attendees who preregistered should have received their tickets with their name badges when they picked up their program packets as ASA Preregistration. Course fees were non-refundable after July 9.

Using Sensors in Sociological Research—CANCELLED
Course 1, Friday, August 15, 10:00am-5:30pm

What Do I Do When My Respondent Facebooks? Making Sense of Social Media Use in Ethnographic Research
Course 2, Friday, August 15, 1:30-5:30pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 22, Fourth Floor
Ticket required for admission
Session Organizer and Leader: C.J. Pascoe, University of Oregon

The ethnographic tradition in sociology has not kept pace with an increasingly mediated social environment. The course will address what it means to do participant observation now that digital technologies and social media are staples in the lives of many research respondents. The online world may feel less “virtual” to many of them (and us) and more like a “real” part of their (and our) social environments. The course will address multiple ways to incorporate this emerging digital reality as well as the sociability of these digital practices into ethnographic research. The course is designed for ethnographers who are not interested in researching new media per se (though they may find it useful as well) but are looking for ways to account for the whole of their participants’ lived experiences, which, more likely than not at this moment in history, involves a mediated component.

This course will address the following questions: When are mediated practices important to answering a research question? What might a researcher be missing should s/he ignore the mediated component of their respondent’s? How might one investigate an online component of a primarily offline fieldsite? What are the best ways to integrate respondents’ everyday technological practices such as texting, twittering, blogging or Facebooking into ethnographic field notes? How does one even begin to think about “thick description” in mediated environments? How might a researcher use emerging social media in their research endeavors?

This course will suggest best practices for incorporating mediated practices as a part of ethnographic research as well as interrogate ethical issues that may arise in this sort of research.

An Introduction to Computer Assisted Qualitative Data Analysis in ATLAS.ti
Course 3, Friday August 9, 1:30-5:30pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 17-18, Fourth Floor
Ticket required for admission
Session Organizer and Leader: Corey M. Abramson, University of Arizona

This course will provide an introduction to computer assisted qualitative data analysis (CAQDA) using ATLAS.ti. The workshop begins by charting common elements of CAQDA that exist across various methodological orientations, disciplines, and software platforms. The course then turns to the logic and geography of ATLAS.ti and how it can be deployed as a tool for CAQDA in current and future projects. Specific topic include:

1. How to enter, structure, code, and retrieve data in ATLAS.ti
2. Strategies for managing different types of data including ethnographic field notes, in-depth interviews, texts, audio, video, and documents, and 3. Techniques for investigating substantive relationships in qualitative data.
Workshops

One of the strengths of the educational component of the Annual Meeting is the breadth and variety of workshops offered. These sessions provide opportunities for attendees to update their knowledge and skills in a variety of professional areas. For 2014, workshop topics focus on careers and professional growth, academic department strategies, research skills and major datasets, teaching challenges, funding opportunities and grant writing skills, and enhanced teaching of courses, publishing advice, and more.

All workshops emphasize interaction between leaders and audience, and attendees are encouraged to bring questions or problems for discussion. Every workshop is open to all meeting registrants.

An overview of workshop topics is listed below. Please see the full session listings in the body of the Program Schedule for details.

Hone a skill, push your career to the next level, strengthen your repertoire of teaching strategies, and increase your knowledge: It’s all part of the learning curve at the Annual Meeting!

Section Activities
Looking for a way to find colleagues with similar research interests? Section activities offer one convenient avenue for connecting with like-minded scholars. These specialized sessions range in format from formal paper presentations to panels and discussion roundtables. Section-sponsored sessions are open to all meeting registrants.

Sections promote ongoing communication among their members by publishing newsletters, supporting cooperative research ventures, recognizing outstanding work by professionals and students in their specialties, and sponsoring program activities at each Annual Meeting. ASA members with interests in specialized areas of sociological inquiry may join any Section of the Association. Stop by the ASA Membership table in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square to browse through recent section newsletters and pick up section membership information. Of course, if you join a section before September 30, your membership will help support that section’s program allocation for next year’s Annual Meeting.

The number of sessions allocated to each Section is based on the size of the Section membership. For the 52 sections there are a total of 224 sessions/meetings scheduled. Section activities are summarized on the next page for quick reference.
Meeting days are Saturday, August 16; Sunday, August 17; Monday, August 18; and Tuesday, August 19. Check the daily schedule for reception locations.

Section Council Meetings

The total formal allocation of space for each section is comprised of two parts: (a) one “business” slot for holding a one-hour Council meeting followed by a 40-minute Business meeting; and (b) the earned program session allocation. ASA Council does permit Sections to use their Council meeting time (one hour) for other purposes. However, a Section that chooses to use this option forfeits the services of the ASA Office in the arrangement of an alternate Council meeting time and location. The Council meetings listed below are the extent of the information available at press time. Check at the ASA Meeting Information Desk in Yosemite Hall of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square for any updates provided by section chairs during the course of the convention.

21st Annual ASA Chair Conference
Linking a Liberal Learning Centered Sociology Major to Successful Employment Outcomes: Vision, Mission, and Implementation

How are departments around the country working to prepare majors for the job market? How can capstone courses, employment counseling, alumni networks, or pro-seminars be shaped to serve this purpose? How can success be measured? What is the impact on the broad liberal learning and critical thinking goals of sociology when focus turns to specific employment outcomes?

Jay Howard (Butler University) will keynote a plenary entitled, “Sociology Programs Are Deeply Grounded in Liberal Learning.”

The conference will also include a panel presentation focused on the “mission.” How are departments around the country working to prepare majors for the job market? How can capstone courses, employment counseling, alumni networks, or pro-seminars be shaped to serve this purpose? How can success be measured? What is the impact on the broad liberal learning and critical thinking goals of sociology when focus turns to specific employment outcomes?

In addition to plenary and panel presentations, the conference will also include sessions of concurrent roundtables. Each roundtable will address the general theme of implementation. Implementation topics include:

- Using Alumni Networks to Connect Majors to Employment Opportunities.
- Budgeting Challenges in Large Departments: Allocation of Travel Funds, Grants Management, Incentive-Based Budgeting Systems, and Other Financial Joys of the Position.
- Responding to Pressures to Increase Sociology Department Relevance to the University and Broader Community.
• Supporting At-Risk Students: How to Establish a Peer Mentoring Program in Sociology. Roundtable topics are strategically scheduled to allow Chairs from the full range of academic institutions—from PhD-granting to BA-liberal arts—to find topics in each session that respond to their context.

The entire conference will take place on Friday August 15, 8:00am-5:15pm. The conference will be held in Plaza A on the Lobby Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

Preregistration and fee payments are required. Chair Conference attendees must preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this conference. Fees for the Chair Conference are $140 for Chairs of Department Affiliates and $170 for chairs from non-Affiliate departments. The Chair Conference fee includes all Chair Conference materials, continental breakfast and lunch.

Directors of Graduate Study
Preparing Graduate Students for Multiple Career Outcomes: Vision, Mission and Implementation

This half day conference for directors of graduate studies programs focuses on the organizational challenges of managing MA and PhD programs in sociology.

This year’s conference will feature a panel of successful PhD and MA sociologists employed in diverse sectors, including the federal government, non-governmental organizations and the private sector, who will each describe the path that led them to their current positions and key elements of graduate preparation that would assist current graduate students interested in similar careers.

A second panel will include Directors of Graduate Studies from departments that are actively engaged in preparing students for multiple career outcomes. Presenters will describe their program’s approach, including specific issues such as curriculum, dissertation requirements, job market preparation, and alumni relations.

In addition to the panel presentations, the conference will also include sessions of concurrent roundtables. Each roundtable will address the general theme of implementation. Implementation topics include:

• Recruiting and Admitting Graduate Cohorts
• Supporting International Students
• Teaching Writing in Graduate Programs
• Mentoring Graduate Students

Directors of Graduate Study (DGS) are important leaders in shaping department policies and opportunities for effective graduate programs. To assist sociologists in the DGS role, the ASA Academic and Professional Affairs Program has planned a series of events on Friday afternoon, August 15.

Fees are $50 for chairs from Department Affiliate departments, and $70 for Chairs from non-affiliate departments. DGS attendees had to preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this conference. The DGS registration fee includes an afternoon beverage break and DGS meeting materials. Only departments that are renewed for the 2013-2014 Academic year are eligible for the Affiliate price. The DGS events begin at 1:00pm in Plaza B on the Lobby Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

Undergraduate Advisers & Students
Visit the Graduate Programs Poster Area

This dedicated display area features exhibits on graduate training from 36 graduate programs. Participating institutions will display information and provide handouts describing their programs, special emphases, financial aid and admissions criteria, and opportunities to work with faculty researchers and instructors. Information and displays will be available in the Yosemite Hall located on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square throughout the Annual Meeting.

Department representatives will be available to answer questions 2:30-4:10 pm on Saturday, August 16. This is an excellent opportunity for undergraduate advisors, undergraduate students, and MA-level students to see displays on graduate programs and meet directly with representatives.

Graduate departments that responded to the invitations issued by the ASA Academic and Affairs Program are listed in the program schedule under Informational Poster Session # 105.

Student Forum

The ASA welcomes undergraduate and graduate students at the Annual Meeting. All students who join ASA as student members automatically become members of the Student Forum. Special arrangements for students include discounted registration fees, workshops oriented to issues of interest to students, student paper and roundtable sessions, a reception for students, and admission to the book give-away at the end of the meeting.

Student Forum. The Student Forum is pleased to offer a Professional Development Certificate for its members, based on attendance at a number of particular sessions, events, or workshops. Please visit the ASA Meeting Information desk in Yosemite Hall of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square for more details, including the necessary forms and instructions. In addition, the business meeting of the Student Forum will be held on Sunday.
August 17, at 12:30–2:10 pm in Union Square 5-6 on the Fourth Floor of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

Orient Yourself to the Meeting. Plan to attend the Welcoming Reception on Friday night and the Orientation for First Time Attendees on Saturday morning to kick off your Annual Meeting experience. Browse thoroughly through the exhibits, posters, and the ASA Bookstore. Don’t be shy about asking staff at the ASA Meeting Information Desk for assistance in finding various activities.

Student Reception. All students registered to attend the Annual Meeting are invited to an open student reception on Saturday, August 16, at 6:30-7:30 pm in Imperial A on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

Graduate Programs in Sociology Displays. At 2:30-4:10 pm on Saturday, August 16, representatives from graduate departments will be available in the Graduate Programs in Sociology Resource area of the Yosemite Ballroom on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square to talk with students and undergraduate advisers. See the listing for Session 105 to find out which schools are participating. The resource area will be available for browsing throughout the meeting.

Data Resources and Funding Sessions. Be sure to attend poster session 290 and familiarize yourself with the various funding opportunities and data resources which can advance your work in sociology.

Student Book Give-Away. All students registered to attend the Annual Meeting will receive a ticket to the special book give-away sponsored by ASA exhibitors on Tuesday, August 19, after the exhibit hall has closed.

Student Sessions. The Program Committee allocates up to five session slots each year for student sessions. This year, two paper sessions, two workshops and one roundtable session were organized under Student Forum auspices. For details on these student sessions, locate the listings for sessions 109, 145, 222, 302, and 379, in the Program Schedule.

Whether you are planning to attend graduate school, or are further along and look to employment in sociological practice or the academy, please take a look at the career, professional, and teaching workshops.

Don’t let the huge program overwhelm you. Start by looking at the Student Forum sessions noted above and then check the Session Topic Index to identify other sessions in your particular areas of interest.

Film/Video Screenings

Sixteen films have been selected for inclusion in the 2014 film screenings, organized by Jaime Hecht of ASA’s Academic and Professional Affairs Program. The films and videos were selected based on their relevance to sociology as well their potential a teaching resource for sociology classes. All selected films are closed captioned and no longer than 80 minutes. The Film/Video Room is located in Union Square 8 of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square on the Fourth Floor.

Films and Videos to be shown in the daily screening schedule include:

Feeding Frenzy
Instead of the status quo of blaming an individual’s lack of exercise and proper diet to the obesity crisis in the U.S., Feeding Frenzy trains its focus on the responsibility of the processed food industry and the outdated government policies from which it benefits. Sociology concepts: Sociology of Culture, Social Movements, Consumption and Consumerism, Sociology of Food
63 minutes

Flirting with Danger
Explores the line between consent and coercion in this thought-provoking look at popular culture and the ways real girls and women navigate their heterosexual relationships and hookups. Featuring dramatizations of interviews with hundreds of young women, the film examines how the wider culture’s frequently contradictory messages about pleasure, danger, agency, and victimization enter into women’s most intimate relationships with men.
52 minutes

A Girl Like Her
A Girl Like Her reveals the hidden history of over a million young women who became pregnant in the 1950s and 60s and were banished to maternity homes to give birth, surrender their children, and return home alone. They were told to keep their secret, move on and forget. The film combines footage from educational films and newsreels of the time period about dating, sex, “illegitimate” pregnancy, and adoption—that both reflected and shaped the public’s understanding of single pregnancy during that time. Sociology concepts: Gender, Social Problems, Sociology of the Family
48 minutes

The Graduates/Los Graduados
The Graduates/Los Graduados explores pressing issues in education today through the eyes of six Latino and Latina students from across the United States. More than a survey of contemporary policy debates; the bilingual, two-part film offers first-hand perspectives on key challenges facing Latino high school students and their families, educators, and community leaders. It is the story of the graduates who will make up America’s future. Sociology Concepts: Latin/o Studies, Immigration, Education
60 minutes
The Grey Area
The Grey Area is an intimate look at women’s issues in the criminal justice system and their unique experience of studying feminism behind bars. Through a series of captivating class discussions, headed by students from Grinnell College, a small group of female inmates at a maximum security women’s prison in Mitchellville, Iowa, share their diverse experiences with motherhood, drug addiction, sexual abuse, murder, and life in prison. The women, along with their teachers, explore the ambiguous ‘grey area’ that is often invisible within the prison walls, and delve into issues of gender, sexuality, class and race. Sociology Concepts: Criminology, Criminal Justice, Gender, Feminist theory
65 minutes

How to Lose Your Virginity
The mysterious concept of a woman’s virginity has launched both purity balls and porn franchises, and has the ability to define a young woman’s morality—but it still has no medical definition. Filmmaker Therese Shechter uses her own path out of virginity to explore why our sex-crazed society cherishes this so-called precious gift. Sociology concepts: Sexualities, Gender
66 minutes

Jasad and the Queen of Contradictions
Lebanese poet and writer Joumana Haddad has stirred controversy in the Middle East for having founded Jasad (the Body), an erotic quarterly Arabic-language magazine. Dedicated to the body’s art, science and literature, Jasad is one of the first of its kind in the Arab world and has caused a big debate in the Arabic region not only for its explicit images, erotic articles and essays on sex in Arabic but also for the fact that an Arab woman is behind it all. Sociology concepts: Arabic culture, Sociology of the Body, Gender, Social Problems
40 minutes

La Camioneta
Follows one of the decommissioned school buses that leave the US on a southward migration that carries them to Guatemala, where they are repaired, repainted, and resurrected as the brightly colored “camionetas” that bring the vast majority of Guatemalans to work every day. Sociology concepts: Economic sociology, Labor and Labor Movements, Sociology of Culture
52 minutes

Maestra
Maestra explores a story through the personal testimonies of the young women who went out to teach literacy in rural communities across the island of Cuba – and found themselves deeply transformed in the process. Sociology concepts: Education, Teaching and Learning, Social Problems
33 minutes

The New Black
Looks at how the African-American community is grappling with gay rights issues in light of the recent same-sex marriage movement and the fight over civil rights. Also examines homophobia in the black church. Sociology concepts: African-American culture, Social Movements, Inequality, Sexuality
74 minutes

Nothing Like Chocolate
Tells the powerful story of Mott Green and the Grenada Chocolate Company he founded, which is a farmer’s and chocolate-makers’ cooperative. This tree-to-bar factory, claimed to be the smallest in the world, turns out luscious creations that are organic and ethical. In a world saturated with industrial chocolate—often made with cocoa harvest by exploited child labor—the solar-powered coop provides a viable model for creating sustainable communities in the global South and beyond. Sociology concepts: Introduction to Sociology, Race, Class and Gender, Sociology of Food, Social Problems
55 minutes

School’s Out: Lesson’s from a Forest Kindergarten
No classroom for these kids. In this Swiss suburb, children ages 4-7 go to kindergarten in the woods every day no matter the weather. A combination of pure observational footage of the children at kindergarten in the forest, paired with interviews with parents, teachers and child development experts. Sociology Concepts: Education, Sociology of Culture, Family and Child Development, Sociology of Childhood
36 minutes

The Waiting Room
The Waiting Room is a character-driven documentary film that takes you behind the scenes of an American public hospital struggling to care for a community of largely uninsured patients. Instead of just hearing about the broken medical care system, through this film you are able to experience it firsthand. Sociology concepts: Medical sociology, Social Problems
62 minutes

We the Owners
This inspiring film shares the stories of New Belgium Brewing, Namaste Solar and others of expansion, succession, recruitment and layoffs. We the Owners showcases the impacts of employees understanding business financials and the benefit of a cooperative, all-inclusive business model. Sociology concepts: Introduction to Sociology, Social Theory, Labor, Economic Sociology
52 minutes

White Like Me
From anti-racism scholar, Tim Wise, White Like Me explores how racial identity and whiteness influence the lives of white Americans, by examining how they have impacted his own life. Wise examines what it means to be white in a nation created for the benefit of those who are “white like him,” and how privilege seeps into every institutional arrangement, from education to employment to the justice system. He also discusses the ways that white privilege can ultimately harm its recipients in the long run and make progressive social change less likely. Sociology concepts: Race, Class and Gender, Race and Ethnicity, Introduction to Sociology, Social Problems
60 minutes

XMAS Without China
Exploring the intersection of consumerism and immigration in American culture, XMAS Without China, is an intimate portrait of families wrestling with our drive to consume cheap products, but also with our desire for human connection and a sense of who are in a fast-changing world. Chinese immigrant, Tom Xia, challenges neighbors in a Southern California suburb to celebrate Christmas without any Chinese products. Sociology concepts: Immigration, Consumerism, Introduction to Sociology, Race/Ethnicity
63 minutes

Special Events

Welcoming Reception
All meeting registrants are invited to the Welcoming Reception on Friday, August 15, 9:00–10:30 pm, in the Imperial Ballroom, on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square to celebrate the opening of the 109th Annual Meeting. This social hour kicks off at the conclusion of the Opening Plenary and provides opportunities to renew past acquaintances, chat with old friends, and find a newcomer to befriend. New members and first-time meeting attendees are particularly encouraged to come and have fun!

Orientation for First-Time Attendees
If this is the first time you have attended an ASA Annual Meeting, please plan to attend an orientation session at 10:30 am–12:10 pm on Saturday, August 16, prior to the mid-day Plenary on the first full day of program sessions. This special orientation hour provides the opportunity to meet Association officers and staff and begin networking with professional colleagues. Advice from ASA Officers and experienced attendees will help you chart a course through the myriad activities and substantive attractions.

ASA Secretary Mary Romero and Executive Officer Sally T. Hillsman host this orientation in Imperial A on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square. Pointers on navigating the Annual Meeting will be shared in informal roundtable discussion. First-time attendees who pre-registered should look for a reminder ticket in their badge envelopes as soon as they pick up their program packets and come prepared to ask “What makes it work?”

Student Reception
ASA welcomes the attendance of undergraduate and graduate students at the Annual Meeting. All students registered to attend the Annual Meeting are invited to the Student Reception on Saturday, August 16, at 6:30–7:30 pm, in Imperial A on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

Reception for International Scholars
All meeting participants interested in international scholarly collaborations, or in meeting colleagues from other countries and learning about sociology globally, are invited to attend a reception in honor of our international colleagues on Monday, August 18 at 7:00–8:00 pm in Continental Parlor 2, on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.
Departmental Alumni Night (DAN)

The Departmental Alumni Night (DAN), now in its 41st year, is a social event held after the first full day of sessions, where attendees can connect with friends and colleagues to reminisce about graduate school days, create new coalitions, and catch up on the latest news.

This traditional gathering will begin at 9:30 pm on Saturday, August 16, in the Cyril Magnin Foyer on Level Four of the Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco. All meeting attendees are invited to attend this event.

Each graduate department of sociology in the United States and Canada was given the opportunity to sponsor a table to attract alumni and friends. Participating schools are listed below. Tables will also be provided for sociologists in business and industry as well as for international scholars and guests.

Participating departments are:

- Boston College
- Brown University
- Cornell University
- Indiana University
- State University of New Jersey-Rutgers
- Stanford University
- University of California-Santa Cruz
- University of Hawaii-Manoa
- University of Minnesota
- Yale University

Community College Faculty Breakfast

Colleagues teaching in community colleges are invited to a special bagel breakfast at 7:00 am on Sunday, August 17, in Sutro on Level Two of the Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco. Join colleagues in a series of ice breaker activities and a conversation. Mark your calendar for this early bird event where you can meet other colleagues teaching at community colleges.

In Remembrance

At the beginning of the Presidential Plenary (Sunday, August 17, 4:30-6:30 pm), there will be a Moment of Remembrance to honor those members of the profession, and those close to them, who died during the past year. Names submitted to Footnotes since last year’s Annual Meeting are listed below. If you know of others who should be on this list but whose names do not appear below, please contact ASA staff at the Meeting Information & Housing Desk in Yosemite Hall at the Hilton San Francisco Union Square by 5:00 pm on Friday, August 15.

Honorary Reception

After the conclusion of the 2014 Presidential Address, all meeting attendees are invited to attend the Honorary Reception at 6:30 pm, Sunday, August 17, in the Imperial Ballroom on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square to express appreciation and congratulations to President Annette Lareau and the major ASA award recipients.

Since 1984, social science departments, publishers and regional societies have joined the American Sociological Association in co-sponsoring the annual Honorary Reception. The Association is pleased to acknowledge the following co-hosts of the Honorary Reception.

- Boston College
- Harvard University, Department of African and African American Studies
- Harvard University, Department of Sociology
- Northwestern University
- University of Chicago Press
- University of Michigan
- University of Pennsylvania

MFP Benefit Reception

Set aside time on Sunday evening, August 17, to join good friends and supporters of the ASA’s Minority Fellowship Program (MFP). Plan to relax after dinner, meet current Fellows and MFP alumni, and reaffirm your commitment to the MFP Program.
Sunday, August 17
9:30-11:30pm
Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco
Market Street
(Level Three)

$25 donor, $50 sponsor, $100 benefactor
Admission is by ticket only. Proceeds from each ticket will go to the Minority Fellowship Program, which supports predoctoral training for students of color.
Those who enrolled in advance should have received their tickets with their name badges. Others may buy tickets at ASA On-Site Registration in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square until 5:00 pm on Saturday, August 16.

Just Desserts!

A Carla B. Howery Teaching Enhancement Grant Program Fundraiser
Looking to escape the pressures of presenting papers, searching book displays, and participating in committee meetings? Come and relax with friends at this benefit event, “Just Desserts.” As the name implies, you should bring your sweet tooth along to enjoy special desserts, good coffee, stimulating conversation, and smile that all of this pleasure goes to a good cause.

Sunday, August 17
8:00-9:30 pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, ASA Suite
$25 donor, $50 sponsor, $100 benefactor

Admission is by ticket only. Proceeds from each ticket will go toward supporting the Teaching Enhancement Fund, a small grants program designed to support teaching-related projects that have long lasting and transferable impact.

Those who enrolled in advance should have received their tickets with their name badges. Others may purchase tickets at the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square until 5:00 pm on Saturday, August 16.

Activities of Other Groups

The wide-ranging interests of ASA members generate meetings of special interest groups during each year’s Annual Meeting. Space is assigned as available to these groups to hold their meetings and/or sessions in evening time slots when no formal program sessions or other ASA activities are scheduled.

Some groups will also have membership information and publications on display in the Yosemite Ballroom of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square.

1. Just Publics@ASA MediaCamp Pre-conference Workshop 01. Blogging: Social Media Practicum

Leader: Nathan Scott Palmer, Georgia Southern University

This workshop takes academic attendees through the basic steps of establishing a blog — an online space to highlight their research and accomplishments. We’ll consider the merits of various free plug-and-play blogging platforms like WordPress.com and Tumblr. While each has its merits, we’ll delve into WordPress.com during this session, including the following skills: • Creating a WordPress.com account • Writing a post, title and excerpt for each entry • Uploading and/or embedding media (photographs and PDFs) • Hyperlinking to your work • Changing design themes • Updating or editing posts (Fee: None/Free of Charge; Participants must preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this event.)

2. Just Publics@ASA MediaCamp Pre-conference Workshop 02. Op-Ed Pieces and Pitches

Leader: Tressie Cottom, Emory University

This workshop will focus on reaching the public via op-eds, essays, and interviews with reporters. We’ll cover the idea of news pegs, the art of pitching a piece to editors, the difference between journalistic and academic writing, the editing process, and techniques for talking to journalists who contact you about your work. Participants will learn how to: • Recognize a news peg on which to hang an Op-Ed or article • Pitch an Op-Ed or article to a publication • Work within the give-and-take of a publication’s editing process • Demystify complex concepts for a general audience • Work with reporters seeking information about their research • Pre-session work: Before the workshop meets, participants will be asked to submit a brief description of their research and to read a few published Op-Eds or essays written by academics about their research. (Fee: None/Free of Charge; Participants must preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this event.)
3. Just Publics@ASA MediaCamp Pre-conference Workshop 03. Being Interviewed On Camera Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 23, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer: Jessie Daniels, City University of New York-Hunter College
Leader: C.J. Pascoe, University of Oregon
Do you want to share your research and knowledge with the widest possible audience? This hands-on workshop will prepare you to share your academic research with the public through the media. You will learn what kinds of stories appeal to journalists, how to get your stories to the attention of editors, how to best formulate your ideas in print and how to be interviewed on camera. Participants will meet for a hands-on run through of being interviewed. Participants will also learn the basics of the television interview, including: • How to pitch your story ideas to broadcast news editors • How to contextualize your ideas within the parameters of broadcast news • How to field a wide variety of questions • How to act and react in front of the camera; and how to “own” your interview. Participants will learn about the interview experience, strong and weak answers, ideal body stance, and other key elements for an outstanding interview on camera. While not required, as an additional option, three-to-four participants will also have the opportunity to be interviewed on camera and get critical feedback from the instructor(s). Space is limited to 15 participants. (Fee: None/Free of Charge; Participants must preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this event.)

6. Just Publics@ASA MediaCamp Pre-conference Workshop 05. Podcasting 101 Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 24, Fourth Floor
Leader: Heidi Knoblauch, Yale University
This workshop will show participants how to make a podcast and publish it to iTunes. In this workshop, participants will learn how to use their smart phones to record high quality audio in the field and then edit that audio into a polished podcast using GarageBand. (Fee: None/Free of Charge; Participants must preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this event.)

7. Just Publics@ASA MediaCamp Pre-conference Workshop 06. Being Interviewed on Camera Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 23, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer: Jessie Daniels, City University of New York-Hunter College
Leader: Pepper J. Schwartz, University of Washington
Participants will meet for a hands-on run through of being interviewed. Participants will also learn about the interview experience, strong and weak answers, ideal body stance, and other key elements for an outstanding interview on camera. While not required, as an additional option, three-to-four participants will also have the opportunity to be interviewed on camera and get critical feedback from the instructor(s). Space is limited to 15 participants. (Fee: None/Free of Charge; Participants must preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this event.)

5. Just Publics@ASA MediaCamp Pre-conference Workshop 04. Twitter for Academics Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 25, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Jessie Daniels, City University of New York-Hunter College
In this hands-on workshop, we’ll work with Twitter, taking the steps necessary to establish your academic brand presence on this social media platform. We’ll explore the following skills: • Selecting an appropriate user ID or “handle” • Creating a useful Twitter profile • Writing style when limited to 140 characters • Following other Twitter personalities • Retweeting tweets and direct messaging • Integrating your Twitter presence into your WordPress.com blog “BYOD = Bring Your Own Device (Fee: None/Free of Charge; Participants must preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this event.)

8. Course. What Do I Do When My Respondent Facebooks? Making Sense of Social Media Use in Ethnographic Research (1:30-5:30pm) Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 22, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: C.J. Pascoe, University of Oregon
The ethnographic tradition in sociology has not kept pace with an increasingly mediated social environment. The course will address what it means to do participant observation now that digital technologies and social media are staples in the lives of many research respondents. The online world may feel less “virtual” to many of them (and us) and more like a “real” part of their (and our) social environments. The course will address multiple ways to incorporate this emerging digital reality as well as the sociability of these digital practices into ethnographic research. The course is designed for ethnographers who are not interested in researching new media per se (though they may find it useful as well) but are looking for ways to account for the whole of their participants’ lived experiences, which, more likely than not at this moment in history, involves a mediated component. This workshop will address the following questions: When are mediated practices important to answering a research question? What might a researcher be missing should s/he ignore the mediated component of their respondent’s? How might one investigate an online component of a primarily offline fieldsite? What are the best ways to integrate respondents’ everyday technological practices such as texting, twittering, blogging or Facebooking into ethnographic field notes? How does one even begin to think about “thick description” in mediated environments? How might a researcher use emerging social media in their research endeavors? This course will suggest best practices for incorporating mediated practices as a part of ethnographic research as well as interrogate ethical issues that may arise in this sort of research. (Fee: $70.00; Participants must preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this event.)

9. Course. An Introduction to Computer Assisted Qualitative Data Analysis in ATLAS.ti (1:30-5:30pm)
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 17-18, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Corey M. Abramson, University of Arizona
The course will provide an introduction to computer assisted qualitative data analysis (CAQDA) using ATLAS.ti. The course begins by charting common elements of CAQDA that exist across various methodological orientations, disciplines, and software platforms. The course then turns to the logic and geography of ATLAS.ti, and how it can be deployed as a tool for CAQDA in current and future projects. Specific topic include: 1. How to enter, structure, code, and retrieve data in ATLAS.ti, 2. Strategies for managing different types of data including ethnographic field notes, in-depth interviews, texts, audio, video, and documents, and 3. Techniques for investigating substantive relationships in qualitative data. (Fee: $70.00; Participants must preregister for the Annual Meeting in order to register for this event.)

13. Thematic Session. Religion and Socioeconomic Inequalities (co-sponsored with the Association for the Sociology of Religion)
JW Marriott Union Square, Metropolitan Ballroom B, Second Floor
Session Organizer: Jeremy E. Uecker, Baylor University
Presider: Gabriel A Acevedo, University of Texas-San Antonio
Panel: Jennifer L. Glass, University of Texas-Austin
Philip Schwadel, University of Nebraska-Lincoln
Darren E. Sherkat, Southern Illinois University-Carbondale
Jeremy E. Uecker, Baylor University
Lisa D. Pearce, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill
Discussant: Gabriel A Acevedo, University of Texas-San Antonio
In recent years, a new and important body of research has linked religion with important indicators of socioeconomic inequality, including (but not restricted to) educational attainment and type, occupational and career paths, earnings, and wealth. Theory and research to date indicate that these relationships are reciprocal, i.e., that multiple aspects of religion influence SES, and also that SES shapes religious affiliations, involvement, beliefs, and experiences. The papers in this session will explore various facets of these bidirectional patterns.

Inequality and Opportunity in the United States. _Emmanuel Saez, University of California-Berkeley_

Black Wealth/White Wealth Revisited. _Thomas M. Shapiro, Brandeis University; Melvin L. Oliver, University of California-Santa Barbara_

How Americans Think about Economic Inequality. _Leslie McCall, Northwestern University_

Discussant: _Thomas A. DiPrete, Columbia University_

In recent decades we have seen a sharp rise in economic inequality. Nowhere has the increase in income inequality been documented as dramatically and as thoroughly as in the widely discussed work of Emmanuel Saez. The phenomenon of wealth inequality was brought to the forefront of sociologists’ attention by the work of Thomas Shapiro and Melvin Oliver, who established the profound implications of this phenomenon for the intergenerational perpetuation of racial stratification. Finally, Leslie McCall has established that, contrary to commonly held assumptions, Americans care deeply about economic inequality and the impact it has. These scholars will discuss the contours and implications of inequality in this plenary session, for which Thomas DiPrete serves as discussant.

Discussant: Maria Cristina Morales, University of Texas-El Paso
This panel explores the legacy of the U.S.-Mexican border as the changing access between countries is limited by the growing militarization and homeland security enforcement to cease human and drug smuggling. At the same time, the border area continues to show signs of cultural and commercial exchanges and the maintenance of transnational families.

16. Thematic Session. Hard Times in College: Conflicting Visions of Affordable Postsecondary Education
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza B, Lobby Level
Session Organizer: Sara Goldrick-Rab, University of Wisconsin-Madison
Presider: Regina Deil-Amen, University of Arizona
Panel: Rachel E. Dwyer, The Ohio State University
Sara Goldrick-Rab, University of Wisconsin-Madison
Laura Theresa Hamilton, University of California-Merced
Discussants: Viviana A. Zelizer, Princeton University and Regina Deil-Amen, University of Arizona
To induce students from low-income families to choose college, government, philanthropy, and educational institutions work together to frame college enrollment as an “affordable” decision for all qualified students. How do families and students respond and how do they define affordability? Addressing this key question is essential to unpacking the reasons why higher education today perpetuates at least as much inequality as it ameliorates. This panel will address this full set of issues, confronting the classic tensions between equity, excellence, and efficiency while also attending to conflicts arising from racial/ethnic, social class, and other cultural conceptions of both affordability and postsecondary education.

17. Thematic Session. Politics of Wall Street

Discussant: Wendy Leo Moore, Texas A&M University

The passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was represented a critical juncture in the United States, not only because it outlawed many forms of discrimination in various institutional settings, but also because it became a point of departure for scholarship about law, race, civil and human rights. Its passage represents what legal scholars, social scientists, policy makers and activists signal as a momentous historical moment for social and legal change. Scholars have viewed this legislation as the landmark legal action which transitioned the United States from a legal racial dictatorship, into an era of formal legal equality. To be sure, many scholars of law and inequality have articulated how and why this legislation was not enough to end the persistent racial inequality which still marks the U.S. social structure. Yet there is general (though often tacit) agreement that the political and legal actions leading to and codified in the Civil Rights Act represented a historically significant social shift. 50 years later, this panel sets out to interrogate the contours of that shift through a retrospective look at the Civil Rights Act, the way the Act has been legally construed and interpreted by U.S. Courts in the past half-century, and the effects of this legislation on the lives of U.S. citizens and racial hierarchy. We propose a session that facilitates a nuanced discussion about the enormous potential, successes, and failures of the 1964 Civil Rights Act; a discussion informed by the Act’s stated goal, the end of discrimination in institutions on the basis of race, ethnicity, national origin, religion and sex, as well as its broader ideological promise – social change, in particular the dismantling of structural racial oppression.

This session draws together reflections on the social, political, legal and cultural status of same-sex marriage one year after the U.S. Supreme Court decisions on the Defense of Marriage Act (United States v.Windsor) and California Proposition 8 (Hollingsworth v. Perry). Panelists will address the significance and impact of the decisions from several vantage points: transformations in legal and social definitions of marriage and family, the role of social science in law and social change, and the evolution of social movements for and against LGBT rights. The panel combines insights from academic sociology and LGBT legal activism.

Session Organizers: Yonette F. Thomas, Howard University and Felice J. Levine, American Educational Research Association
The Federal Policy for the Protection of Human Subjects, known as the Common Rule, outlines basic regulations that aim to protect individuals who participate in biomedical and behavioral research. Since the Common Rule was promulgated in 1981 and updated in 1991, rapid advances in technology and the increasing volume of data available on individuals have changed the landscape for researchers and Institutional Review Boards (IRBs). In July 2011, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) issued an Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (ANPRM) that proposes a general overhaul of the Common Rule to more effectively protect research participants and promote important research. A report from the National Research Council, Proposed Revisions to the Common Rule for the Protection of Human Subjects in the Behavioral and Social Sciences, examines those proposed changes as they apply to the behavioral and social sciences and offers recommendations for how to clarify, adapt, and implement them. This presentation summarizes those findings and recommendations. (This session is part of this year's 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

60. Special Session. How Does Inequality Influence the Body?
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 15-16, Fourth Floor
Session Organizers: Michelle Frisco, Pennsylvania State University and Bruce G. Link, Columbia University
Presider: Michelle Frisco, Pennsylvania State University
Biological Embedding of Early Life Social Class: SES Shapes Young Children’s Stress Physiology. Nicki Bush, University of California-San Francisco
Inflammation at Mid-life: Patterning by Socioeconomic Status and Psychosocial Resources. Elliott Friedman, Purdue University
Racial Identity and Allostatic Load: Deepening Our Understanding of the Deleterious Impact of Racism for Blacks. R. Jay Turner and Tony N. Brown, Vanderbilt University
Discussant: Howard Waitzkin, University of New Mexico
Morbidity and mortality are heavily impacted by socioeconomic and racial inequality. As a result, when sociologists study the origins and reproduction of inequality, they simultaneously provide critical evidence about the social patterning of disease and death. This fact has not been lost on scholars inside and outside of sociology whose scholarship is aimed at understanding the psychological and biological processes that link social inequalities to morbidity and mortality. This session will bring sociologists and scientists from other disciplines together to discuss the ways that sociology and other disciplines importantly inform research that is beginning to show how inequality gets under the skin to influence individual and population health.

Session Organizer and Presider: Timothy S. Black, Case Western Reserve University
Critics: Randall Collins, University of Pennsylvania
Mary E. Pattillo, Northwestern University
Amy L. Best, George Mason University
Author: Randol Contreras, University of Toronto

62. Regional Spotlight Session. Academic Hustle: PhD’s and Part-Time Work in the San Francisco Bay Area
Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco, Balboa, Level Four Session Organizer: Carlos E. Garcia, San Jose State University
Presider: Preston Rudy, San Jose State University Panel: Steve Nava, San Jose University
Anthony J. Villareal, Monterey Peninsula College
Tracy DeHaan, University of Oregon
Within a few hours drive from San Francisco there are no fewer than five major universities granting doctorate degrees in sociology; this fact coupled with the geographic draw of the area and the diminishing full time faculty positions at area institutions have created an overabundance of unemployed professionals. In this panel we explore how sociologists navigate underemployment in an area that on the surface looks full of opportunity. While the discussion is centered on the Bay Area it is a situation that is not unique to those that live here, as it is a phenomenon being played out across the country.

63. Regional Spotlight Session. Four Decades of Disability and Independent Living Activism in the San Francisco Bay Area
Session Organizer: Richard K. Scotch, University of Texas-Dallas
Presiders: Richard K. Scotch, University of Texas-Dallas and Devva Kasnitz, Association of Higher Education and Disability
Panel: Mary Lou Breslin, Disability Rights Education and Defense Fund
Jessie Lorenz, Independent Living Resource Center-San Francisco
Corbett Joan O’Toole, Disability Historian
Alice Wong
The session would focus on the origins, development, and impact of the independent living and disability rights movements in the San Francisco Bay Area since the early 1970s. Since the late 1960s, the independent living movement and related disability rights movements have sought to change the lives of tens of millions of Americans with disabilities and of society at large. These movements grew from grass roots efforts around the United States, but actions taken by people with disabilities in Berkeley, Oakland, and San Francisco were especially critical. Since the 1970s, the Bay Area disability community has been a well spring of activism, innovation, and transformational change. The proposed session would offer an overview of how these movements developed in the San Francisco Bay Area, the impact they have had on Americans with disabilities, and the current objectives and challenges faced by the movements.

64. Departmental Management and Leadership Workshop. How to Build Sociology Majors’ Social Capital for Post-Baccalaureate Success
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 5-6, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Roberta M. Spalter-Roth, American Sociological Association
Co-Leaders: Mary Scheuer Senter, Central Michigan University
Nico M. Van Vooren, American Sociological Association
Half of senior sociology majors have parents with less than a college degree, and these majors may be the first member of their family to obtain a bachelor’s degree. These students need help in learning about the job market and graduate school and, they need resources and contacts to succeed in their job and graduate school searches. This workshop draws on three waves of data from the 2012-2014 ASA’s Bachelor’s and Beyond Survey. These data allow us to examine the resources and relationships, or lack of them, that students rely on to make the transition from undergraduates to the next stage of their lives, and to examine which methods are the most successful in ensuring that this transition results in a future job that reflects what they have learned as a sociology major. Our current research shows that students rely on a narrow range of ties, such as favorite faculty members and parents, for help in their searches. The workshop will provide suggestions for faculty members on how and where to find the resources and other types of ties that can build students’ social capital, especially for those whose parents have limited education, and help them in making successful post-college transitions.

65. Social Media Workshop. How to Create a Platform for Your Research (co-sponsored with Just Publics@365)
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 14, Fourth Floor
Leader: Nathan Scott Palmer, Georgia Southern University
The audience for your work is waiting to hear from you. In this workshop you’ll learn how to use social media (e.g. Twitter, Facebook, blogging platforms, etc.) to build a platform for your research, your teaching, and your service. Social media can be the conduit through which you share your work with the general public, other scholars, policy makers, and the media. You will learn about strategies for building an audience, honing your skills as a communicator, and injecting your work into the public discourse around your area of research.” (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

66. Policy and Research Workshop. National Science Foundation: Dispelling Myths about Proposal Submissions and Funding Opportunities for Sociological Research
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 17-18, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation
Co-Leaders: Jennifer Earl, University of Arizona
Murray Webster, University of North Carolina-Charlotte
Regina E. Wurum, University of Nebraska-Lincoln
This workshop targets faculty, graduate students, and researchers who are new at proposal writing and submission. Representatives from the National Science Foundation (NSF), its research review panels, and grantees will discuss the proposal development process, elements of a competitive proposal, proposal submission and review, and funding opportunities for sociological research. The format will be interactive, allowing for audience questions and participation. The session is interactive; audience participation is encouraged. Attend the Research Opportunities and Data Resources poster session for one-on-one discussions with NSF Program Officers. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

67. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Race, Class and Gender
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 21, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Susan J. Ferguson, Grinnell College
Over four decades have passed since the publication of Paulo Freire’s Pedagogy of the Oppressed ([1970] 1992). Freire’s revolutionary pedagogy was based on the belief that every human being, no matter how “ignorant” or submerged in the “culture of silence” they may be, is capable of looking at their world in a dialogical encounter with others (1992:13). Friere wanted to break down the paternalistic student-teacher relationship in order to empower students to learn from each other. In Teaching to Transgress: Education as the Practice of Freedom (1994), bell hooks builds on Freire’s ideas of the need to challenge teaching authorities in order to build teaching communities. hooks argues that the goal of teaching is to teach students to transgress against sexual, racial, and social class boundaries in order to achieve the gift of freedom. Thus, teachers are not just teaching about race, gender, and social class differences, but instead, are teaching their students to critically act on their learning to challenge barriers and social inequalities in their own lives. This workshop will build on these ideas and others to examine how to construct a course on Race, Class, and Gender that not only covers the requisite content areas but also helps students to better understand social inequality in our society. Numerous curricular resources will be discussed with time allowed for participant questions.

Cities, Class, and Climate Change: An Autopsy of Superstorm Sandy. Eric Klienenberg, New York University
Discussant: William Julius Wilson, Harvard University
Social class divisions are powerful forces in American society: they influence the rituals of daily life, they cast a long shadow over the life course, and they are thrown into sharper relief in times of crisis. This panel shows a range of ways in which class divisions matter. Jay MacLeod, author of the classic work, Ain’t No Makin’ It, will make a rare appearance at an ASA meeting to discuss the impact of class on life chances over the life course. Linda Burton will share the results of a thirty-year ethnographic study of low-income mothers. Her study highlights the interweaving of race and class in their lives. Eric Klienenberg, drawing on recent data on the aftermath of Hurricane Sandy, will show how the experiences of this natural disaster varied by class. William Julius Wilson will be the discussant on this Saturday plenary session.

93. Presidential Panel. Elites and the Power They Wield
Session Organizer: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania
Presider: Shamus Rahman Khan, Columbia University
Individual Power, Collective Weakness: The Fragmentation of the American Corporate Elite. Mark S. Mizruchi, University of Michigan
The Haves and the Have-A-Lots: Who Counts as Upper Class in America? Lauren Rivera, Northwestern University
Leading Lives: An Inside Look at the People in Power. D. Michael Lindsay, Gordon College
Discussant: Rachel Sherman, New School for Social Research
Although elites wield disproportionate power, they have not garnered extensive attention by sociologists. The scholars in this session will share the results of their new studies of elites. The sessions will cast a fresh light on members of the upper class in America. The papers highlight the power of the elite in daily life.

95. Thematic Session. Inequality and New Media: Young People, Technology, and Social Divides
Session Organizers: Marianne Cooper, Stanford University and C.J. Pascoe, University of Oregon
Presiders: Jessie Daniels, City University of New York-Hunter College and C.J. Pascoe, University of Oregon
Panel: C.J. Pascoe, University of Oregon Laura Robinson, Santa Clara University Christo Sims, University of California-San Diego
Discussant: Jessie Daniels, City University of New York-Hunter College

Technology is often heralded as the great equalizer, bearing the ability to solve social ills through making information and communication available to people regardless of class, age or racial/ethnic background. However, digital technologies can also reflect and indeed replicate inequality along a variety of lines. Paradoxically, in some cases, attempts to address digital inequality can contribute to the remaking of historical inequalities. This panel addresses how and when digital media perpetuate inequalities as well as how and when it disrupts these processes. These papers explore how young people interact with new media in ways that reflect, challenge, and reproduce classed, raced, sexualized, gendered and geographic inequality.

96. Thematic Session. Networks of Need in the Age of Economic and Social Precarity
Session Organizer and Presider: Sandra S. Smith, University of California-Berkeley
Panel: James R. Elliott, University of Oregon Cecilia Menjivar, Arizona State University Edward Bishop Smith, Northwestern University Sandra S. Smith, University of California-Berkeley

Since the 1970s, economic inequality has grown dramatically in the U.S., and during the same period, the age of precarity was born reborn. Increasingly, as nonstandard employment relationships have proliferated and welfare state supports have gradually eroded, low- and middle-income workers have struggled to secure jobs offering stability, security, and a living wage. In this session, we will explore the extent to which growing precarity, rooted in the changing nature of workers’ relationships with employers and the state, has fundamentally altered the structure of workers’ personal networks of relations as well as the function that these personal networks serve. In the process, we will consider both emerging theoretical frameworks, including those highlighting the role that cognition plays, and cutting edge empirical studies that shed light on these issues.

97. Special Session. Celebrating Bill Chambliss: A Saint and a Roughneck (co-sponsored with Society for the Study of Social Problems and George Washington University Department of Sociology)
San Francisco Marriott Marquis, Foothill F, Second Floor
Session Organizers and Presiders: Gregory D. Squires, George Washington University and Raymond Michelowski, Northern Arizona University
Panel: Richard P. Appelbaum, University of California-Santa Barbara Claire M. Renzetti, University of Kentucky A. Kathryn Stout, Manhattan College

Celebrating Bill Chambliss: A Saint and a Roughneck. This session will honor and celebrate the scholarship and life of Bill Chambliss. Jointly sponsored by the ASA, SSSP and the Department of Sociology at George Washington University, several of Bill’s colleagues and friends will reminisce about just some of the highlights of Bill’s distinguished career and close personal friendships. This co-sponsored session is held at the San Francisco Marriott Marquis hotel, meeting site of the 2014 Annual Meeting of the Society for the Study of Social Problems. Please search their program schedule for the listing “101.”

98. Special Session. Sociology in and Sociology of Prevention
Session Organizers: Mark Wolfson, Wake Forest University and Katherine Clegg Smith, Johns Hopkins University
Presider: Mark Wolfson, Wake Forest University
Using Sociology to Inform Public Health Prevention Research and Policy. Paula M. Lantz, University of Michigan
Sociologists Collaborating with Environmental Health Scientists to Prevent Exposure and Disease. Edward T. Walker, University of California-Los Angeles
Can a Sociology of Community Risk and Protective Factors Improve the Lives of Children and Adolescents? Richard F. Catalano, Jr., University of Washington

Discussant: Katherine Clegg Smith, Johns Hopkins University “Prevention” has become an ascendant concept in the U.S., and throughout the West. While there have long been notions of prevention being better than cure, institutional support for prevention, as well as its resonance among both elites and publics, has grown dramatically in recent years. The emphasis on prevention in public policy may be best illustrated by the inclusion of major provisions related to prevention in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act of 2010. Sociologists have a great deal to contribute to policy, practice, and research related to prevention. Despite this, we argue that an intentional focus on prevention, as a whole, has been largely absent from sociological thought and research. This panel will showcase the varied work of sociologists in the area of prevention of health and illness, and promotion of health, broadly construed. Building on Robert Strauss’s conception of sociology in, and sociology of, medicine (1957), this session will explore sociology in, and sociology of, prevention. Papers on sociology in prevention will focus on such areas as sociological approaches to understanding the emergence and distribution of health and illness (e.g., sociology’s focus on structural, versus individual, determinants), and to addressing structural factors in order to promote health and prevent disease (e.g., community organizing,

Policy change, social movements. Papers on sociology of prevention will focus on critical sociological accounts of the field (e.g., public health as a field of practice; social movements around health and illness). The goal for this session is not only to provide broad exposure for the wide variety of sociological work being conducted related to prevention, but to also serve as a catalyst for efforts to theorize and systematize sociological approaches to prevention, and to create capacity for scholarship that bridges the academic/applied divide.

In this workshop we examine sociology curricula: to 1) determine the extent to which an agreed upon core of sociological concepts, theories, and/or skills can be identified and 2) assess how well that core (or lack thereof) supports program and disciplinary goals. We will identity how departmental consensus on a core strengthens or weakens a program and explore those consequences for assessment issues, developmental course sequencing and student learning. Participants will engage in activities to better understand the ways departmental leaders can help to develop consensus about aspects of the core and will leave with ideas to take back to their own departments and programs.

102. Professional Development Workshop. Behind the Academic Curtain: How to Find Success and Happiness with a PhD

Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 14, Fourth Floor

Session Organizer and Leader: Frank F. Furstenberg, University of Pennsylvania

103. Policy and Research Workshop. Panel Study of Income Dynamics

Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 17-18, Fourth Floor

Session Organizer: Fabian T. Pfeffer, University of Michigan
Leader: Noura E. Insolera, Panel Study of Income Dynamics

This workshop is geared toward current and prospective users of the Panel Study of Income Dynamics (PSID, psid.org), the world’s longest running longitudinal household survey. PSID has collected data on a wide range of sociologically relevant topics from a nationally representative sample of US families and their descendants since 1968. Content domains include employment, occupations, income, wealth, education, expenditures, health, aging, marriage, childbirth, child development, youth transitions, philanthropy, intergenerational relations, and numerous other topics. This workshop provides an overview of the general structure and content of the PSID and its supplemental surveys (including the Childhood Development Supplement, the Transition into Adulthood Study, and the Disability and Time Use study) as well as an update on current and future data collection efforts (2013 roster/transfer module, Child Development Supplement 2014). A hands-on walk-through of the PSID website and data center will enable users to quickly locate relevant documentation, tutorials, and data. There will also be an interactive portion to address specific research questions from PSID data users. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

104. Teaching Workshop. Pedagogical Responses to Race, Class and Gender Conflict: Practical Insights Based on a Recent Empirical Study of Faculty in Higher Ed

Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 21, Fourth Floor

Session Organizer and Leader: Alford A. Young, University of Michigan

Given the changing demographics of the university system, and the entry of greater numbers of students and faculty from underrepresented minority backgrounds (at least in comparison to many years ago), it is important for faculty understand and be responsive to a range of circumstances that may emerge in classrooms that reflect such student diversity. Accordingly, by drawing upon the findings presented in Faculty Identities and the Challenge of Diversity (Paradigm Publishers 2013) and other supporting material, this workshop will involve instructional and interactive techniques to explore the following issues: What choices might faculty have in regard to handling race and ethnic-based conflicts in the classroom? What may be done prior to class, during class, and after class to address or resolve such issues? What skills are most appropriate and effective for addressing these concerns? What are the personal and professional risks involved in addressing these concerns and how do they pertain to choice-making by faculty? And what might be the costs and benefits for students for your actions — or decisions not to act?

Discussant: George Ritzer, University of Maryland
The economic turbulence of the last decade has placed large numbers of individuals and families under severe economic strain. This has had ramifications across all areas of consumption, ranging from daily activities (such as food purchases) to infrequent ones (such as home purchases). This panel addresses analyzes a wide variety of consumption practices as they play out in “hard times,” focusing, in particular, on the meanings that imbue these practices. It also thematizes the changing ways that consumption mediates relations of inequality.

The Middle Class and Risk: How Normal People Cope with Interest, Pension, and Insurance Calculations. Caitlin Zaloom, New York University
Discussant: Teresa A. Sullivan, University of Virginia
The Fragile Middle Class by Sullivan, Warren, and Westerbrook anticipated many of the key features of the financial crisis that precipitated the Great Recession. Their work also asks important questions about America’s future when the once robust middle class not only declines in size but those who achieve middle class status only have a tenuous claim to it. Three scholars update Sullivan et al. with data collected during the Great Recession and the weak recovery. The add a focus on racial and generational differences in middle-class struggles including identity, school loans, and the recession. All discuss the implications of a fragile middle class for sociological theory and public policy.

138. Thematic Session. Limiting the Damage: Reaching and Teaching Underserved Populations in Hard Times
Session Organizer and Presider: Daniel F. Chambliss, Hamilton College
Panel: Dalton Conley, New York University; Diane Pike, Augsburg College; James Rosenbaum, Northwestern University; Steven G. Brint, University of California-Riverside
As economic stagnation and retrenchment in state expenditures have tightened access to higher education, sociologists and other educators have begun experimenting with new ways to reach and teach underserved populations. Through creative research and teaching alike, sociologists are finding critical interventions, technological solutions, and pedagogical methods that offer at least the possibility for providing advanced education in hard times to those not fortunate enough to afford the rising tuitions of elite private and public institutions alike. This session brings together teaching scholars from a range of settings to share sociological insights on how to leverage technology, media and teaching methods to mitigate the educational damage that recession has brought to higher education.

139. Special Session. Alpha Kappa Delta (AKD) Distinguished Lecture
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 22, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer: Bethany Titus, LeMoyne College
How Does Gender Inequality Persist in the Modern World. Cecilia L. Ridgeway, Stanford University
In an advanced society like the US, where an array of processes work against gender inequality, how does this inequality persist? Come join us as Dr. Ridgeway will draw on research from sociology, social cognition and psychology, and organizational behavior to locate general processes through which gender as a principle of inequality rewrites itself into new forms of social and economic organization. Specifically, she will argue that people confront uncertain circumstances with gender beliefs that are more traditional than those circumstances. Dr. Ridgeway will discuss how they implicitly draw on the too-convenient cultural frame of gender to help reinscribe trailing gender stereotypes into the new activities, procedures, and forms of organization.
140. Author Meets Critics Session. The Land of Too Much: American Abundance and the Paradox of Poverty (Harvard University Press, 2012) by Monica Prasad

141. Regional Spotlight Session. Latin American Immigration to Northern California: The Dilemmas of Incorporation
Session Organizer and Presider: Daniel Melero Malpica, Sonoma State University Panel: Manuel Barajas, California State University-Sacramento
Luis Bravo, Sonoma State University
Daniel Melero Malpica, Sonoma State University
Benigno Antonio Merlin, Sonoma State University
Discussant: Davin Cardenas, North Bay Organizing Project
In the last two decades, there has been a growing number of Latin American migrants in Northern California. The region now has a diverse immigrant population and supports pro-immigrant policies and services. Despite this important demographic growth, sociologists have under-researched this geographic region. This panel will focus on understanding the incorporation process of Latin American immigrants in Northern California. The panelists will analyze how immigrant have fared in certain sectors of employment, education, civic engagement, and assimilation in general.

142. Professional Development Workshop. Applying for a Faculty Position in a Teaching-Oriented Institution
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 17-18, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer, Presider and Leader: Kathleen Diane Piker-King, University of Mount Union
Panel: Keith A. Roberts, Hanover College
Gary Weiss, Roanoke College
Mary Scheuer Senter, Central Michigan University
Katherine R. Rowell, Sinclair Community College
The workshop would cover the following topics: preparing an effective vita, constructing an effective job application and cover letter, surviving the campus visit, making an impressive teaching presentation, and interviewing with the President and the Academic Chief Officer. The major goal of the workshop is to prepare graduate students to effectively market themselves throughout their job search process from starting to look for a job to getting a job. The workshop materials emphasize that a job search is a long-term developmental process. The presenters for the workshop have extensive professional experience in diverse teaching-oriented institutions, and they have acted as search chairs numerous times during their professional careers. The workshop will be interactive and allow participants time to ask questions.

143. Policy and Research Workshop. Research Opportunities Using the Medical Expenditure Panel Survey (MEPS)
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 5-6, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Jeffrey Rhoades, Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality
The purpose of this Workshop is to facilitate the use of the Medical Expenditure Panel Survey Household Component (MEPS HC) public use data files by the sociological research community. To meet this objective participants are provided with a general overview of the MEPS, a description of available data files, information about on-line data tools, and some examples of the type of research projects the MEPS data can support. The Nation’s health care system has undergone major changes over the last decade; most notable is the recent passage of the Affordable Care Act. The MEPS is a vital national data resource designed to continually provide social science researchers, health service researchers, policymakers, and others with timely, comprehensive information about access to care, health care disparities, health care use and costs in the United States. Newly released MEPS public use files provide social science analysts with opportunities to create unique analytic files for social and policy relevant analyses in such areas of interest as access to care and health disparities. In order to capture the unparalleled scope and detail of the MEPS, analysts need to understand the complexities of MEPS data files and data file linkages. This workshop will provide the knowledge necessary to formulate research plans utilizing the various MEPS files and linkage capabilities. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

144. Teaching Workshop. Community-Based Research: A Promising New Approach to Teaching Undergraduate Research Methods and Social Statistics to the Net Generation
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 14, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Michele Lee Kozimor-King, Elizabethtown College
Co-Leaders: Barbara F. Prince, West Virginia University
Michael John Shields, Elizabethtown College
This workshop will provide participants with print materials and assessment results from the successful integration of a community-based research project into a methods and statistics course sequence for the past 4 years at 3 different community locations. The following topics will be covered in the workshop: discussion of what community-based research is, the advantages of using community-based research, designing a project from start to assessment, testimonials, learning outcomes, and an examination of the common problems/constraints (including financial and time considerations). Resources from this workshop should enable interested faculty at community colleges, private 4-year schools, and large research institutions to implement a similar strategy. Likewise, the workshop will be useful for early career, tenured, and adjunct faculty. Finally, community partners interested in seeking assistance with research based needs will find the workshop beneficial. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

8:00 pm  Sessions

168. Plenary Session. The Impact of Inequality

Session Organizer and President: Annette Lareau, University of Pennsylvania

Keynote Address: Robert B. Reich, University of California-Berkeley

Families and individuals in the middle and bottom ranges of the income ladder suffer widening inequality in a number of ways. As the ladder elongates, they’re likely to feel relatively more deprived. They’re more likely to marry or partner with others in the lower ranges of income, thereby compounding their relative disadvantages. Upward mobility is harder to achieve, because the same degree of effort gets them a shorter distance up the ladder. They’re likely to experience more geographic segregation by income — resulting in lower-quality public services, inadequate access to public transportation and jobs, and fewer models of successful upward mobility around them. At the other end of the ladder, widening inequality tends to insulate wealthier individuals and families from the poverty and economic insecurity others in society are experiencing. To an ever larger extent, being “rich” means not having to come across anyone who is not. The advantages of wealth are compounded through marriage, and investment in children. Wealthy tend to know that they and their children and grandchildren will do fine. As a result, they are incapable of doing the Rawlsian experiment; they cannot imagine what the rules of society should be under a “veil of ignorance” about where they’d end up in the pecking order. The result is the breakdown of a society — to the extent that by “society” we mean a system in which members feel some duties to one another.

169. Thematic Session. Accounting for Intergenerational Relations around the World: The National Transfer Accounts Project
Session Organizer: Ronald Lee, University of California-Berkeley
Overview of NTA. Ronald Lee, University of California-Berkeley
Is Low Fertility Really a Problem? Andrew Mason, East-West Center-Honolulu
Gender/Time Use in NTA, An International Comparison. Gretchen Donehower, University of California-Berkeley
Socioeconomic Status and Intergenerational Relations in Latin America. Luis Rosero-Bixby, University of Costa Rica
The global financial crisis resulted in fiscal crisis for governments throughout the world. Public support for education and pensions are the two biggest budget items in most national budgets. Each is a form of intergenerational transfer from working people to the young and the old. The National Transfers Accounts (NTA) Project a comparative project involving 28 nations. It is amazingly comprehensive, featuring detailed data on private as well as public intergenerational transfers from all these countries. These papers provide an overview of the NTA project and insight into the implications of intergenerational relations for public spending in recent years and in the future.

Discussant: Daniel Thomas Cook, State University of New Jersey-Rutgers

This panel is composed of sociologists and other social scientists who are engaged in research focused broadly on the nexus between the changing economy and parent-child relationships. The expert panelists conduct their research using a variety of methodologies and in various contexts: from the perspective of families as consumers, to those of the children of immigrants who often perform significant work in their families, to parent and children’s investments in competitive play, to disability insurance and to lives of youth transitioning into adulthood. This panel contributes to the fields of economic sociology, family and childhood studies by placing children’s activities at the center stage of the discussion of how families negotiate Hard Times.

Vulnerable Fathers: A Fringe Issue No Longer. Ronald Mincy, Columbia University

Discussant: Barbara Jane Risman, University of Illinois-Chicago

The 2008 recession and its aftermath focused national attention on the increasing wealth gap in the United States. One implication of this gap has been long known to sociologists and demographers: economic inequality is linked to a marriage and divorce gap along racial and class lines, which, in turn, is associated with differential outcomes for children’s well-being and variations in levels of family stability. Educated, middle-class Americans are more likely to get married, stay married, and be happily married, and their children fare better on a range of educational, health, and economic measures. Since the 1996 overhaul of welfare policy, the federal and many state governments have used public funds to support a variety of marriage promotion, relationship strengthening, and parent education programs in an effort to increase family stability for children and promote the positive outcomes typically associated with living in two-parent married families. Policies that link anti-poverty measures to marriage and family formation have long been contentious, especially in light of federal and state efforts to ban same-sex marriage. Thus marriage education policies have been criticized for promoting a heteronormative marriage agenda on the one hand, and praised as a solution to a range of social problems on the other. This panel brings together scholars on both sides of the debate to consider the impact of policies to strengthen families and promote marriage on economic inequality and family stability. What are the policy implications of such programs in a political and social climate in which only heterosexual couples are legally allowed to marry in most states?

174. Regional Spotlight Session. Social Justice Youth-Style: Bay Area Youth Activists’ Perspectives on Race, Education, and Coalition Politics

Session Organizer: Hava Rachel Gordon, University of Denver
Presider: Jessica Karen Taft, University of California-Santa Cruz
Panel: Saauin Bell, Youth Together
Akua Jackson, Californians for Justice

Discussant: Andreana L. Clay, San Francisco State University

The Bay Area is a national epicenter for youth organizing, and youth are playing a key role in educational, racial, gender, and labor justice movements, among many other struggles. This proposed session will explore Bay Area youth organizing as it operates in distinct youth-led organizations and as partners in broader coalitions. Centered on the perspectives of youth activists and organizers themselves, this session will explore how youth activists understand issues of racial, education, and gender injustice (among many other issues) in their communities, and how they organize to tackle these issues. Youth will speak about how their organizing strategies converge with and diverge from adult-led strategies, the constraints and possibilities of operating in specific non-profit contexts, and the role that youth play in larger social movement coalitions.

175. Professional Development Workshop. How to Be a Sociologist Outside of Academia: Employment Options for the Non-Academic Track

Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 5-6, Fourth Floor

Session Organizer and Leader: Melissa C. Scardaville, ICF International 176. Policy and Research Workshop. Visual Approaches for Conveying Ethnographic Data
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 3-4, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Tamara Kay, Harvard University
Co-Leader: Kyle Puetz, University of Arizona
This workshop considers the use of documentary photography and film as an analogue to traditional ethnographic methods. Documentary methods can preserve the texture and immediacy of ethnographers’ original analysis and therefore contribute to reducing the social distance between subject and audience. We will discuss how documentaries can provide ways to nondiscursively impart important and difficult concepts within sociology. Selecting pairs of documentary films and ethnographic studies based upon similarities in site, we compare how documentary filmmakers and sociologists frame issues that emerge from similar contexts. We will analyze the relative strengths and weaknesses of each approach. Finally, we explore methodological issues that emerge in both documentary and ethnographic analyses — reflexivity, generalizability, observer effects, etc. — and examine how mitigating them can improve both documentary and ethnographic methods. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

Session Organizer and Leader: Shannon N. Davis, George Mason University
Conceptualization and operationalization are among the hardest skills for neophyte scholars to practice. Using the example of the concept of love, this workshop will first discuss an example of an innovative out-of-class assignment used to provide students an opportunity to practice the skills of constructing a nominal definition and turning it into items that can be used on a questionnaire. This workshop highlights the value of peer review and evaluation as part of the development of challenging methodological skills. Opportunities will also be provided for participants to draft their own similar assignments.

Discussant: Howard S. Becker, Independent Scholar
Traditionally, many of the best ethnographies are done by young scholars. This presidential panel highlights the work of junior scholars who have used participant-observation in their research. All of the studies highlight the ways in which individuals (of varying class and racial backgrounds) interact with people in positions of power in institutions: medical offices, schools, labor market, and the police. These fascinating studies reveal the power, and limits, of institutions in shaping life chances.

211. Thematic Session. 25th Anniversary of The Second Shift (co-sponsored with the Section on the Sociology of the Family)

Session Organizer and Presider: Marianne Cooper, Stanford University Panel: Arlie Russell Hochschild, University of California-Berkeley
Margaret K. Nelson, Middlebury College
Discussant: Allison Pugh, University of Virginia
In 1989, Arlie Russell Hochschild published her groundbreaking book, The Second Shift which chronicled how two-job couples with young children make it work. Her study, documenting how the flood of women in the workforce generated social and economic shock waves, analyzed how couples dealt with the ripple effect of these forces within their own marriages. Her research brought to light not only the uneven gendered division of labor in the home, but that this disparity was a prime battleground in the intimate lives of these couples. Through an analysis of gender ideologies, gender strategies, and strategies of emotional management, Hochschild revealed how couples came to strike emotional bargains both with themselves and with their partners to reconcile a deep conflict in their marriage – that between faster changing women and slower changing men. Twenty five years after the publication of the Second Shift, this panel addresses central themes that emerged from the book – how the market shapes intimate life, how cultural transformations influence the kinds of work (practical and emotional) that individuals and families do, and how changing social dynamics impact the type of marital and familial negotiations that now take place within families. The papers presented at this panel will explore these intersections among family, culture, social structure, and feeling.

212. Thematic Session. Hard Times in a Regional Perspective: The Cris(es) of 2008 and their Aftermath

Session Organizer and Presider: Richard D. Lloyd, Vanderbilt University Panel: Karyn Lacy, University of Michigan
David Halle, University of California-Los Angeles
Michael Ian Borer, University of Nevada-Las Vegas
Jan C. Lin, Occidental College
Andrew A. Beveridge, City University of New York-Queens College and Graduate Center
The economic crises of 2008 -- rising waves of home foreclosure, massive bank bailouts on Wall Street, and the ongoing distress of the domestic automobile industry -- display global causes and consequences while also being profoundly embedded in distinct regions within the United States. This panel examines 2008 and its aftermath from a geographic perspective, highlighting distinctions between cities and suburbs, the sunbelt and the rustbelt, and the coastal global cities of New York and Los Angeles. Each panelist will be allocated 10-12 minutes of time, with the remaining time devoted to audience questions and participation.

213. Special Session. NSF Directorate for Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences (SBE): Future Challenges and Opportunities

Sheila M. Katz, University of Houston

In the last five years, multiple events have shaped an evolving Oakland. Crime rates are down, inequality is increasing, gentrification is being contested, and artists are flourishing. This session will explore how Oakland is evolving and dealing with issues of crime, gentrification, increasing inequality, and decreasing city services. Panelists will explore how grassroots and community groups are working to protest poverty, fight inequality, challenge gentrification, and hold city bureaucracy accountable. Panelist will discuss diverse models of community engagement and grassroots activism from various Oakland groups and how their work contributes to social justice in Oakland and the Bay Area.

216. Departmental Management and Leadership Workshop. Organizing Undergraduate Internship Programs
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 3-4, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer: Verna M. Keith, Texas A&M University
Leader: Katheryn A. Dietrich, Texas A&M University
Co-Leaders: Kelly Mosel-Talavera, Lois Hickman, and Susan Bland Day, Texas State University-San Marcos

This workshop discusses how to organize, implement, and evaluate a sociology internship program that offers a successful professional learning experience for undergraduate students while providing a valuable service to the community. The emphasis is on structured internship programs permanently incorporated into sociology undergraduate curriculums. The panel will address internships from two perspectives: internships as part of an applied sociology curriculum and internships in sociology curriculums that emphasize undergraduate research.

217. Professional Development Workshop. Navigating Queer Identities in the Department and Classroom
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 14, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Shawn Alan Trivette, Louisiana Tech University Panel: Carla A. Pfeffer, Purdue University-North Central Cary Gabriel Costello, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee
Elroi J. Windsor, Salem College
Eric Anthony Grollman, University of Richmond
Leah K. VanWey, Brown University

LGBTQ faculty and graduate students face particular stressors on a routine basis that their straight and cisgender colleagues typically do not. These stressors include: navigating how our colleagues and students read us (in both gendered and sexual ways, whether we present normatively or not); questions of if, when, and how to come out to colleagues and students; and dealing with microaggressions at work. Such a decision potentially impacts (subtly or overtly) a variety of departmental actions, including things like hiring, tenure, promotion, and appointment to various committees, particularly if faculty members’ teaching or research trajectory are read as advancing some personal agenda. The purpose of this workshop is to explore various mechanisms and strategies of navigating being gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, or queer identified in one’s department and/or classroom. Panelists will reflect on a variety of experiences and backgrounds, including how sexual and gender identities intersect with other identities (such as race, ethnicity, ability, religion, etc.); research- and service-related issues; and being at various career stages and institutions.

Redistributing the Poor and the Revolving Door: Jails, Public Hospitals, and Mass Incarceration. Armando Lara-Millan, Northwestern University

Discussant: Joe Soss, University of Minnesota

The growth of the criminal justice system has not only altered the lives of the urban poor, but also the provision of social services. Partnerships between public-private, or public-nonprofit agencies have arisen in cities like Los Angeles, Chicago, and Boston, blurring the lines between the left and right hand of the state. Elements of punishment have been incorporated into the social safety net, while social services have been incorporated within the criminal justice system. What are the causes and consequences of this manifestation of state power for the urban poor? How might this contribute to racial inequality? The presentations in this session address these questions from historical, ethnographic, and quantitative perspectives.

254. Thematic Session. Hard Times in the Kitchens

Session Organizer and Presider: Barbara Katz Rothman, City University of New York-Graduate Center

Panel: Janet E. Poppendieck, City University of New York-Hunter College
Marjorie L. DeVault, Syracuse University
Alice P. Julier, Chatham University
William Alex McIntosh, Texas A&M University

Food is as good an approach to the issues of ‘hard times’ as one is likely to find: food insecurity is all but definitional of poverty. But the connections between hard times and food are more complex, as obesity, diabetes and other food-related ‘epidemics’ show us in the world of public health. “Hard times” often mean too little time – the scramble for scattered part time work, the urban “food deserts,” difficult or marginal consumer transportation systems and selective food distribution systems all combine to mean increasing reliance on processed, semi-prepared and ‘junk’ food. The health consequences are clear, growing and class-connected. Food provides a lens into many areas of social life, and itself provides a research tool. This panel will bring together sociologists working in this area of food studies with selected food activists in the San Francisco area, (names to be added at a later date) to explore the ways that hard times show up in the kitchen, in school lunches, at the dinner table and in childhood and adulthood obesity, morbidity and mortality rates.

255. Thematic Session. Labor Market Restructuring and Hard Times for Families and Individuals

Job Fragmentation, Informalization, and Degradation: Evidence on Why It’s Happening and Why It Doesn’t Have To. Chris Tilly, University of California-Los Angeles

The restructuring of the labor market and labor force over the past several decades has created hard times for large numbers of individuals and their families. The three presentations in this thematic session will discuss a number of issues related to the impacts of labor market restructuring, including: the Earned Income Tax Credit’s tremendous role in boosting the incomes of the poor and the rise of poor households living on less than $2 a day in the U.S.; the consequences of precarious work for family formation and individual well-being in the U.S. and other industrial countries such as Japan; and the nature and consequences of the growth of informalization of work in retail jobs. The presentations will also discuss the kinds of social policies that are needed to address these negative consequences of labor market restructuring.

256. Thematic Session. The Impact of Economic Inequality on Health and Developing Strategies to Reduce It

Session Organizer: Jo C. Phelan, Columbia University

Understanding the Long Reach of Child Health on Adult Health and Socioeconomic Status. Bruce G. Link and Ezra Susser, Columbia University; Ryan K. Masters, University of Colorado-Boulder

Private Safety Nets and Social Leverage: The Role of Personal Networks in Shaping Low-income Families’ Health Care Experiences. Elizabeth Gage-Bouchard, State University of New York-Buffalo

Fundamental Interventions: Addressing the Fundamental Causes of Disease. Adam Dalton Reich, Columbia University; Ryan K. Masters, University of Colorado-Boulder

Social Determinants and Disparities in Health and America’s Paradoxical Crisis of Health Care and Health. James S. House, University of Michigan

Discussant: Jeremy Freese, Northwestern University

Understanding the impact of socioeconomic factors on health is one of the strongest currents within medical sociology. This session brings together four papers that take very different approaches to this critical issue. The strong quantitative tradition in studying social determinants of health is represented by Bruce Link and colleagues, who use recently gathered data to examine the relative importance of early childhood circumstances vs.
circumstances across the life course in determining adult SES and health. Elizabeth Gage Bouchard takes a qualitative approach to understanding economic factors and health, an approach that has been less well represented in the “social determinants” area. Her observations and interviews with low-income families detail the role of personal networks in shaping families’ health care experiences. Two papers – one by Adam Reich and Ryan Masters and one by James House – take innovative and highly sociological approaches to the problem of how to reduce inequalities in health.

257. Special Session. Biogenetics, New Reproductive Technologies and the Creation of New Kinship

Session Organizers: Rosanna Hertz, Wellesley College and Margaret K. Nelson, Middlebury College
New Kinship Studies: An Anthropologist’s Perspective. Susan McKinnon, University of Virginia
The Uncertain Legal Basis for the New Kinship. Naomi Cahn, George Washington University
Queer Intimacies and Structural Inequalities: New Directions in Stratified Reproduction. Laura Manno, San Francisco State University
Creation, Disruption, Denial, and Disclosure of Kinship in the Era of the New Repro-genetics. Charis Thompson, University of California-Berkeley
This session features scholars from various fields who are rethinking the meaning of kinship formed as a by-product of new reproductive technologies. Although the medical profession treats the exchange of gametes as impersonal, the recipients describe interconnections. These interconnections have no name; some have uncertain legal status; and each could be transnational. These relationships occur outside traditional boundaries of family; they exist among heterosexual and same-sex parents, both partnered and single. They also bring to the forefront several different types of inequalities: those among families within a single country and across borders, as well as those among individuals in a single family constellation.

259. Departmental Management and Leadership Workshop. Strategic Planning in Departments of Sociology
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 3-4, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Rebecca G. Adams, University of North Carolina-Greensboro
Departmental strategic planning is becoming more common and important. External pressures for accountability, increased efficiency, and improvements in graduation and retention rates; decreases in financial resources; and new pressures on accrediting organizations to demonstrate outcomes are in line with investments have made it important for institutions of higher education to focus resources intentionally and strategically. This workshop will be useful to members of departments that are developing or revising a strategic plan. Upon completing this workshop, participants will understand the current context of higher education planning, be familiar with trends in higher education planning, recognize the purpose and benefits of strategic planning, understand how to conduct an environmental scan for opportunities and threats, be ready to conduct an internal self-study to determine strengths and weaknesses, and know the elements of a strategic plan. Topics covered include: the planning context, the planning process, the elements of a plan, and assessing impact and improvement. Participants will gain more from the workshop if they are familiar with the strategic plan for their institution. The workshop leader has been involved in strategic planning starting in 1984 when she served on the Sociology Department Goals Committee at her university. Since that time she served on three university mission statement revision committees and, as associate provost, oversaw the development, implementation, and assessment of her university’s strategic plan, including leading the effort to facilitate the initial development of departmental strategic plans to support it. She has also served as a faculty member for the Society for College and University Planning Institute and is currently serving as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges.

260. Professional Development Workshop. TRAILS GIFTS (Good Ideas for Teaching Sociology)
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 14, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Diane Pike, Augsburg College
Co-Leaders: Margaret Weigers Vitullo and Jaime Hecht, American Sociological Association
Participants in this workshop will engage in a hands-on learning activity from TRAILS (Teaching Resources and Innovation Library for Sociology) in order to experience an example of effective pedagogy and to learn about the value of TRAILS as a subscriber and author. We will also answer your questions about publishing in TRAILS in order to demonstrate your scholarly teaching in professional review processes. Finally, we hope to inspire submissions from your own teaching practice.

Principal Investigators and representatives of five major large-scale ongoing longitudinal studies from Germany and the spokesman of the new Collaborative Research Unit 882 “From Heterogeneities to Inequalities” at Bielefeld University will present a new basis for innovative, cross-national, and interdisciplinary research. Presentations of exemplary analytical work on research on economic inequality on families and individuals will offer stimulating new research perspectives and foster international cooperation and networking among workshop participants. The unique data infrastructure of these important studies provides the international user community with longitudinal panel data on important current societal issues such as aging, education, family formation, and perhaps most prominently, inequality. The Collaborative Research Unit 882 focuses on empirical research on inequality from a primarily micro perspective; a particular aim of the group’s work is to identify general mechanisms in the emergence of inequality and to organize these into a typology. The moderated panel discussion will explore synergies with similar studies and research projects in the United States, thereby fostering international collaboration among workshop participants and generating added value for the broader research community. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

Discussant: Elijah Anderson, Yale University
The era of mass incarceration has reverberated through daily life in countless ways. This panel of young ethnographers provides valuable insight into some of the ways that these changing government policies have limited and transformed the lives of the poor. The studies provide vivid detail of the role that police surveillance, and violence, shapes the lives of young adults. This is a cutting edge field where the insights of young ethnographers, including those on this panel, have been particularly important.

Making Sense of Things: Reflections on How to Develop a Sociological Argument with Interview Data. Kathleen Gerson, New York University
Beyond Loving: Positioning Interracial Narratives in a Social Structure Context. Amy C. Steinbugler, Dickinson College
Kin Trees and Community Maps: Framing Families and Networks. Karen V. Hansen, Brandeis University
Discussant: Ralph LaRossa, Georgia State University
The panel is designed to help sociologists reflect on the ways in which scholars create a coherent analytic narrative, with a theoretical contribution, from qualitative data. It is particularly challenging to situate the family in a social context; there is tremendous pressure to study the family in isolation. All of these distinguished scholars have sought to embed their studies of the family in a broader social context including racial inequality, community context, and gender relations. The panel will be a blend of substantive finding and methodological reflections.

293. Thematic Session. Credit and Inequality: Interdisciplinary Perspectives

Session Organizer and Presider: Sarah Quinn, University of Washington
Panelist: Karen Ho, University of Minnesota
Pricing and Personhood: Risk-based Prices and Gender Discrimination in Consumer Financial Markets. Greta R. Krippner and Daniel Hirschman, University of Michigan
Credit Pool of Money: The Aesthetics of Accumulation and Waste. Matthew Kenyon, University of Michigan
Credit is Money: The Heterodox Challenge to Studies of Public Policy, Wealth, and Inequality. David Freuden, University of Maryland
Opportunities and Challenges Facing Hybrid Organizations: The Case of Microfinance Organizations. Julie Battilana, Harvard University
This panel will gather scholars from multiple fields doing cutting edge research on credit and inequality. This research ranges from the sociological investigation on gender discrimination in credit markets, to the history of thinking about the politics of money, to research on microcredit and the effort to articulate the aesthetics behind the housing bubble. By juxtaposing sociological work with that of other disciplines, this panel will illuminate what sociologists might gain from, and contribute to, a cross-disciplinary effort to address how lending shapes opportunity and inequality.

294. Thematic Session. Is the Permanent Tax Revolt Over?

Discussant: Clarence Y.H. Lo, University of Missouri-Columbia
With the re-election of President Obama, ballot-box setbacks for Tea Party favorites, the expiration of some of the Bush tax cuts, and more progressive taxes in California, it might be time to reassess America's obsession with tax cuts. Political sociologists have staked out strong positions on the sources and permanence of.

295. Special Session. The Social Census of the Digital Age: Honoring the Contributions of Lee Rainie and the Pew Internet & American Life Project to the Public Understanding of Sociology
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Continental Parlor 7, Ballroom Level
Session Organizers: Ryan D. Kelty, Washington College and Gina Neff, University of Washington
Presider: Ryan D. Kelty, Washington College
Panel: Lee Rainie, Pew Research Center’s Internet & American Life Project
Pepper J. Schwartz, University of Washington
Barry Wellman, University of Toronto
Gina Neff, University of Washington
This session highlights the contributions of Lee Rainie and his team at the Pew Internet & American Life Project (PIAL) as this year’s recipient of the ASA award for Excellence in Reporting Sociology. This award recognizes professionals who have been especially effective at using the media – either written, performed live, photographed, recorded, or filmed – to inform the public of social issues, giving them a broad awareness of the sociological approach and sociological findings. The Pew Internet & American Life Project has become the standard bearer for surveys about how technology is shaping our families, our civic life, our health, and our society. This year we are pleased to honor Lee and his team for their broad reaching impact in reporting findings, working with sociologists to report on social trends, and in making their data publicly available – benefitting scores of sociologists and other researchers interested in understanding the intersection of web-based technology and the human experience. This session features a conversation among Lee, sociologists who have used PIAL research or data for their own research and teaching and recognizes the impact that public, empirical sociological investigation for the social good can have on scholarship and news. The panel will focus on the impact of Lee and PIAL’s data and research have had across various areas of sociological inquiry and public policy.

298. Regional Spotlight Session. The Challenges of Public Sociology in Contested Areas: The Case of Abortion
Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco, Cyril Magnin II, Level Four Session Organizer: Carole E. Joffe, University of California-San Francisco
Presider: Jennifer A. Reich, University of Denver
Panel: Carole E. Joffe, University of California-San Francisco
Lori Freedman, University of California-San Francisco
Katrina E. Kimport, University of California-San Francisco
The session will discuss the particular challenges that arise for those committed to public sociology when they research an issue that is deeply contested, when activists on both sides of the issue closely monitor this research, and when the researchers themselves often have strong partisan views about the issue in question. What are the tensions between sustaining one’s sociological identity and yet being responsive to the various “stakeholders” of a specific issue? Using the issue of abortion as a case in point, three sociologists located in a highly progressive medical school (UCSF), itself located in the liberal city of San Francisco—factors that have facilitated a critical mass of abortion researchers in one institution—will discuss their research on various aspects of the abortion conflict in the United States and how they meet these challenges in their own work.

299. Social Media Workshop. Why Should I Use Social Media? (co-sponsored with Just Publics@365)
Leader: Tressie Cottom, Emory University
Scholars are adapting social media tools and platforms to do everything from conduct research to engage the public. The learning curve varies but there is a skill to developing a social media toolkit that suits your purposes. But, the first step is to clearly articulate how and why you should use social media. This workshop will provide an overview of the most popular social media tools, examples of how sociologists are using them and hands-on exercises to put you on the path to writing your own social media plan.
300. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Introduction to Sociology: Fit with Program, Students, and Disciplinary Learning Goals for the Major Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 21, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Nancy A. Greenwood, Indiana University-Kokomo
The goal of this workshop is to help both new and experienced instructors who are teaching introductory sociology explore ways of designing and adapting this course to better fit with student needs, the sociology program goals, as well as the ASA recommended Learning Goals for the Major. We will discuss ideas from the SoTL literature about possible content and pedagogies for this course. We will examine how introductory sociology can function as a course in the general education core, as a diversity course, and as an introduction to the major in sociology. We will also discuss course design and fit with instructor and program course goals as well as assessment of student learning. Participants are encouraged to share and bring issues or questions they would like to discuss.

Panel: Paula C. Baker, The Ohio State University
Deborah Holtzman, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention
Andrew A. Beveridge, City University of New York-Queens College and Graduate Center
A follow-up to last year’s session, panelists describe how they used their advanced sociology degrees to pursue careers outside of tenure-track faculty positions. The workshop includes a focused discussion of strategies for gaining employment in non-academic settings and preparing for non-academic careers while in graduate school.

8:30 am Sessions

330. Thematic Session. Environmental Climate Change and Social Inequality
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza A, Lobby Level
Session Organizer and Presider: Ann M. Hironaka, University of California-Irvine
The American Culture of Consumption and the Environment.
Andrew Szasz, University of California-Santa Cruz
Energy Sacrifice Zones in the Rural United States: Social Inequality in the Era of Extreme Energy. Shannon Elizabeth Bell, University of Kentucky
Climate Change and the Global South: Vulnerability, Responsibility, Identity, Solidarity and Resistance. J. Timmons Roberts and David M. Ciplet, Brown University
Climate change threatens all regions of the globe. Yet existing social inequalities are likely to affect the types of social responses as well as the effects climate change will have on populations. This panel will focus on social inequalities such as the “consumerist” response of the economically prosperous; the exacerbation of poverty and inequality in rural America, the varying responses of state and local governments within the United States, and the effects of climate change on the global South.

331. Thematic Session. Hard Times and Inequality in the Suburbs
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza B, Lobby Level
Session Organizer: Rachel E. Dwyer, The Ohio State University
Presider: Len Albright, Northeastern University Panel: Margaret Weir, University of California-Berkeley
Alexandra K. Murphy, University of Michigan
Jody Agius Vallejo, University of Southern California
Elizabeth Kneebone, Brookings Institution
This panel will consider suburbs as a key site of the causes and consequences of hard times and economic inequality in America. Suburban areas have distinct social, political, and geographic structures that may reinforce inequality and make hard times harder. The growing populations of suburban poor are often located far from social services that continue to define poverty as primarily a central city concern, even as the poor increasingly move out beyond the city limits. Fragmented government and weak regional cohesion cause destructive competition for tax dollars and exclusionary zoning creates zero-sum games which make some suburbs winners and others losers with rebounding consequences for the life chances of their residents. The housing crisis hit middle-class suburban communities particularly hard as families who had long toiled for the prize of home-ownership saw their investments go sour and their wealth dry up. This panel will highlight the reality that like the American population as a whole, hard times and economic inequality are increasingly located in the suburbs.
332. Special Session. Sexuality in Migration: Complicating Economic Migration Theory
Session Organizer: Salvador Vidal-Ortiz, American University
Presider: Nancy A. Naples, University of Connecticut
Panel: Susana Pena, Bowling Green State University
Hector Carrillo, Northwestern University
Gloria Gonzalez-Lopez, University of Texas-Austin
Discussant: Pierrette Hondagneu-Sotelo, University of Southern California

Traditional sociological approaches to the study of migration tend to privilege the economic and material aspects of motivation for migration; more recent research has made gender, and sexuality, important analytic aspects of migration. Subsequent work has looked at them together in complicating migration analysis. Among the aspects shown to be important in migration scholarship that foregrounds sexuality are: the re-composition of the families in the "host" site; the reconfiguration of gender roles and family's relationship to work, and often times, power within the family; the complications of sexual migration (in a global-sex framework) within a post-2008 recession era; and the newer ways “American” functions given migration in a post-9/11 anti-immigrant US. Sociology is ideally positioned to further the field of migration studies, where class and economic analysis are shaping the study of migration at the same time that migration analyses incorporate gender and sexuality. This panel will: (1) offer a general outline of the processes and recent developments of the mixing of migration studies with gender and sexuality, (2) present recent empirical work that attends to the intersections between migration, gender, and sexuality, and (3) propose a general mapping of where such work could tend attention to.

333. Author Meets Critics Session. Cut Adrift: Families in Insecure Times (University of California Press, 2014) by Marianne Cooper

335. Regional Spotlight Session. The Phoenix Rises Again But For Whom? Understanding Super-Gentrification in San Francisco
Parc 55 Wyndham San Francisco, Cyril Magnin II, Level Four
Session Organizer: John A. Stover, University of San Francisco and College of San Mateo Presider: Melinda Milligan, Sonoma State University Panel: Japonica Brown-Saracino, Boston University
Jason Henderson, San Francisco State University
Steve Jones, San Francisco Bay Guardian
Peter Cohen, San Francisco Council of Community Housing Organizations

San Francisco has a long history of renewal, invention, and change as symbolically represented by the phoenix, a mythical bird reborn from the ashes of its own destruction, on the City and County's official flag. Whether it be the mid 19th century fires, the great 1906 earthquake and fire, the 1950s urban renewal changes and displacement, the 1970s emergence of the Castro, or the 1990s dot(com) boom, San Francisco's geographic and cultural landscapes have continually shifted much like the tectonic plates upon which it resides. Twenty-first century San Francisco is undergoing a very different rebirth as fueled by an influx of tech wealth, a luxury-housing boom, dwindling leaseable office space, and highly accelerating eviction notices and rental increases for long-time residents. By 2040 regional planners are hoping for 280,000 more residents in an already densely populated, geographically limited city with apartment rental and houses prices equal to—and in some cases already outpacing—New York City. When the San Francisco phoenix rises again, for whom will it be? In this session, sociologists, housing advocates, journalists, and geographers will discuss the nature of San Francisco's current Super-Gentrification (Lees 2003) trends and its implications both short and long term. What does the current luxury housing boom mean for the future of affordable housing? To what end do rising eviction rates and rental prices mean permanent displacement of long-time San Francisco residents? What challenges does the City face going forward in a city divided among the very wealthy, the creative class, and the working/permanent poor? These and many other questions will be raised, discussed, and debated.

Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 5-6, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Michael J. Rosenfeld, Stanford University Panel: Katherine Weisshaar, Stanford University
Maja Francisca Falcon, Stanford University
Reuben J. Thomas, City University of New York-City College
Ariela Schachter, Stanford University

How Couples Meet and Stay Together (HCMST) is a nationally representative longitudinal study funded by the National Science Foundation. The first wave was in 2009, and there have been follow-up waves in 2010, 2011, and 2013. At least one more follow-up is planned. The HCMST offers unique data on how Americans met their romantic partners. The longitudinal aspect of the HCMST follows romantic relationships over time, including non-marital and non-coresident relationships. Because of the oversample of self-identified gay, lesbian, and bisexual adults, HCMST includes the largest longitudinal panel of same-sex couples in any nationally representative study in the US. HCMST offers both public data and confidential data. The workshop will discuss the design of the study; the structure of the data; the oversample of self-identified gay, lesbian, and bisexual respondents; the availability of specific variables; published findings from the project; and the suitability of the data for different kinds of analyses. Panelists Weisshaar, Falcon, Thomas, and Schachter will each discuss their own ongoing research with the HCMST data. The HCMST data have already been used in major publications, including in the American Sociological Review. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

Session Organizer and Leader: Barbara R. Walters, City University of New York-Kingsborough Community College
Co-Leader: Melodye Gaye Lehnerer, College of Southern Nevada
Electronic portfolios – eportfolios – provide an anchor teaching and learning tool for students, instructors, programs and institutions. Eportfolios facilitate retention through community building based on shared program learning goals and their communication throughout a program. Students can use eportfolios to synthesize connections among learning experiences within and outside of the formal classroom (including life experiences and academic experiences such as internships and travel abroad), thereby deepening their understanding and communication of sociology. In addition to general information and resources about eportfolios, session leaders will share how eportfolios are used in sociology or social science programs based on their experiences in different types of higher educational institutions. Active learning and participation will be an integral part of the workshop.

Carrying out research is often much more chaotic than the textbooks suggest. In this Presidential session, five distinguished ethnographers will discuss how scholars manage to create a theoretical focus out of the massive amounts of data they collect. In addition they will reflect on the challenges of carrying out ethnography later in a career (given the constraints of daily life).

370. Thematic Session. Cities in Hard Times: The End of Persistence of the Segregated Century?
Session Organizer and Presider: Gregory D. Squires, George Washington University Panel: John R. Logan, Brown University
Camille Zubrinsky Charles, University of Pennsylvania
Brian James Stults, Florida State University
George Lipsitz, University of California-Santa Barbara
“The End of the Segregated Century” was proclaimed in 2012 Manhattan Institute report under that title, while “The Persistence of Segregation in the Metropolis” was the title of a Russell Sage Foundation sponsored report in that same year. By most measures levels of black-white segregation have declined since 1970. But Hispanic-white and Asian-white measures have remained about the same or increased slightly. And in 2010 the typical African American lived in a neighborhood that was 35% white, a figure that is basically unchanged since 1940. It has long been an article of faith that segregation is a central feature of the ecology of the nation’s cities and suburbs, and that such uneven development fuels a wide range of social costs for all communities but particularly for those of color. That faith is being challenged. All observers agree that the world has changed since the Kerner Commission warned in 1968 of the creation of largely poor and black inner cities surrounded by prosperous and white suburbs. The melting pot has not been created while the urban and metropolitan mosaic has become more complex. But in recent years debate has heated considerably over just how much has been achieved. How far have we come in desegregating our nation’s metropolitan regions and in nurturing integration? How, if at all, have the costs of segregation been ameliorated? What role has research played in these debates and what role can it play in the future? These are the questions that will be addressed in this session. Longstanding leading scholars of race, housing, and metropolitan development will engage in a discussion of where we have been and where we are going. Each will make a brief presentation (5-10 minutes) followed by short answers to questions posed by the moderator. Panelists will be encouraged to respond to each other and engage in a discussion rather than simply present and then answer questions. At least half the time will then be devoted to questions from, and conversations with, the audience.

This session assesses the implications of the Eurasia Project in Family and Population (EAP) for our understanding of family organization and demographic behavior in past times, and for the conduct of historical and comparative research. For twenty years, EAP participants have engaged in a large-scale, comparative, quantitative investigation of family, community, household responses to hard times in the past via analysis of patterns of demographic responses to economic and other stress in longitudinal, individual-level historical data. Results have provided insight into family responses to hard times in Europe and Asia as revealed by differences in patterns of individual responses according to community, household, and family context. It has produced two volumes on mortality and fertility published by MIT Press. A third volume, on marriage, is forthcoming from MIT Press in 2014. After a brief introduction to the project, four distinguished panelists will assess its implications for historical and comparative sociology, demography, and family sociology.

372. Thematic Session. Researching Obama: Race, Health Care, Democracy, Culture
Session Organizer: Adia M. Harvey Wingfield, Georgia State University
Presider: Nadia Y. Kim, Loyola Marymount University
Panel: Jeffrey C. Alexander, Yale University
Enid Logan, University of Minnesota
Michael Tesler, Brown University
Since his successful run for the Presidency in 2008 and subsequent reelection in 2012, Barack Obama’s meteoric rise to the nation’s highest office has been marked by successes, failures, and near-constant discussion and analysis. Importantly, his campaigns, administration, and presidency have also given rise to a wide breadth of sociological research examining the consequences, implications, and significance of his status as the first black president, the initiatives he has sought to champion, and the policy decisions he has advocated in his role. This exciting panel brings together some of the top names in sociology to discuss the various research and scholarly studies on different aspects of Obama’s presidency. Tackling topics as diverse as health-care reform, democratic processes, racial politics, and the role of gender, this panel will present their important empirical and theoretical studies of this historic administration.

Panel: Andrey V. Rezaev, St. Petersburg State University and International Center for Comparative and Institutional Research
John Witte, University of Wisconsin-Madison
Gregory Sandstron, European Humanities University
D.M. Zhikharevich, St. Petersburg State University-Russia
Discussant: Richard Lachmann, State University of New York-Albany
There has been much recent discussion on the worldwide wave of neoliberalism and how to explain variations across countries in governmental policies and the levels (and degree of change) in inequality. Most of that research has focused on the U.S. and other wealthy countries. The goal of this panel is to extend the discussion to the former socialist countries of Eurasia. Their socialist pasts provide a degree of commonality, while their very different paths away from state socialism account for variation and need explanation and analysis. This panel will focus on one aspect of this broad topic: the role of states and of popular mobilization in affecting the levels of inequality.

375. Professional Development Workshop.
Informational Session: William T. Grant Scholars Program
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 21, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer: Mary E. Pattillo, Northwestern University
Leader: Vivian Tseng, William T. Grant Foundation
Co-Leaders: Mary E. Pattillo, Northwestern University
Adam Gamoran, University of Wisconsin-Madison
Dina G. Okamoto, Indiana University
This Professional Development Session will introduce the focus areas of the William T. Grant Scholars Program and provide information and answer questions about putting together a strong application. The WT Grant Foundation has as its mission to support research to improve the lives of young people. The Scholars Program supports promising early-career researchers from diverse disciplines, who have demonstrated success in conducting high-quality research and are seeking to further develop and broaden their expertise. Candidates are nominated by a supporting institution and must submit five-year research plans that demonstrate creativity, intellectual rigor, and a commitment to continued professional development. Every year, four to six William T. Grant Scholars are selected and each receives $350,000 distributed over a five-year period. 377. Policy and Research Workshop. A Model for Bringing Research into the Policy Process
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 3-4, Fourth Floor
Co-Leaders: Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation and Kelly A. Joyce, Drexel University
The purpose of this workshop is to discuss a new National Science Foundation project for understanding social science research is brought into the policy process does not assume an “idealized,” but simplistic, causal model that takes for granted that policymakers will read research in scholarly journals and adopt their methods and findings to craft new policy. Rather than assuming a linear model that starts with the research and ends with new public policy, this project proposes a relational model, including relations, networks, events, strategies, and processes. It also attempts to broaden the concept of “use” of research in the policy process beyond Congressional legislation. To develop and test this model, we hope to hear examples from workshop participants about their experiences. We will also discuss how to format research so that is easy to use by policy makers. By refining, elaborating, and testing this model academics can learn the approaches that are successful for bringing research into the policy process. A theoretically, experientially, and empirically-based understanding of the relationship between research and the policy process should result in a richer, more strategic understanding of the full array of linkages that can increase the likelihood that social science research will be used in the broadest sense and at a variety of policy-making locations. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

Multigenerational Relationships in Families with Custodial Grandparents. Rachel Dunifon, Cornell University; Kimberly Kopko, Cornell University; P. Lindsay Chase-Lansdale and Laurie Wakschlag, Northwestern University
This thematic session focuses on how grandparents pitch in during hard times. The session focuses on how grandparents assist with childcare, finances, emotional needs, and custodial care. The papers analyze quantitative sources of data, including the HRS, the National Social Life, Health and Aging Project, and the US Census Bureau, and qualitative sources, such as a study of custodial grandparents and a study of non-custodial grandmothers. Together, the authors emphasize how the national picture changes over time with economic up and down turns, and how the personal picture changes when individual grandparents pitch in. What kinds of support do grandparents provide and what are the impacts on grandchildren, adult children, and the grandparents themselves? The papers pay careful attention to how the situation varies by marital status, economic status, education, race and other key stratifying variables. They show how and why grandparents pitch in during hard times and the consequences of their efforts.

415. Regional Spotlight Session. Teaching about Race in a “Diverse” Place
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Golden Gate 4, Lobby Level
Session Organizers: Carlos E. Garcia, San Jose State University and Cynthia Ganote, St. Mary’s College-California
Panel: Christina Nichole Baker, Sonoma State University
Cynthia Ganote, St. Mary’s College-California
Susan B. Murray, San Jose State University
In seemingly liberal or progressive spaces, certain unique challenges emerge when teaching about race and ethnicity. Particularly, racism is perceived to occur elsewhere or is seen as a thing of the past so faculty face the challenge of teaching on issues no longer considered relevant. The Bay Area, despite its long history of immigration and progressive politics, is not immune to incidents of racism or hate crimes. The classroom is one of the arenas where this dissonance is played out. This panel will examine not only how the topic is approached in the classroom, it will also look at how students, faculty, and staff perceive the topic of diversity in campus settings.

417. Professional Development Workshop. Taking Your Writing and Editing Skills to the Next Level: A Hands-On Workshop with Writing Mentors including ASA Editors

Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 3-4, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation
Co-Leaders: Christopher A. Bail, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill
R. Saylor Breckenridge, National Science Foundation
Joseph Galaskiewicz, University of Arizona
Michael W. Macy, Cornell University
The Sociology Program at the National Science Foundation (NSF) supports large-scale data infrastructure projects and basic research projects to construct and analyze “big data,” and develop new methods by which it can be studied. This session focuses on the research context, trade-offs, limitations, and promises of “big data” for basic social science research. Representatives from the NSF Sociology Program, its proposal review panels, and Principle Investigators (PIs) on NSF-funded big data projects will describe the accessibility, availability, sampling and operationalization techniques, potential for theory development, and examples of major research findings. The session is interactive; audience participation is encouraged. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

419. Teaching Workshop. Using Wikipedia as a Teaching Tool in Sociology Classes
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 23, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: LiAnna Davis, Wiki Education Foundation
Co-Leaders: Anne Kingsley, Diablo Valley Community College
Jami Mathewson, Wiki Education Foundation
The Wikipedia Education Program encourages university students to contribute content to Wikipedia in place of a traditional research paper or as the literature review section of a longer analytical paper. Since 2012, ASA’s Wikipedia Initiative has encouraged sociology professors to participate in the Wikipedia Education Program. In this workshop, staff from the Wiki Education Foundation will showcase the results from 30+ sociology courses who have participated in the Wikipedia Education Program, and professors who have taught sociology classes through the program will explain their experiences. Using Wikipedia as a teaching tool is having a huge impact on the scholarship of teaching and learning at the university level. Students gain skills in expository writing, research, collaboration, wiki technology, source evaluation, and critical thinking, as well as developing a community of practice through the Wikipedia assignment. Through our interactive presentation and fun activities, we will walk attendees through how they can use Wikipedia as a teaching tool in higher education classes in sociology.

452. Thematic Session. Hard Times and High Hopes for US Higher Education
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza B, Lobby Level
Session Organizer and Presider: Mitchell L. Stevens, Stanford University Panel: Elizabeth A. Armstrong, University of Michigan
Brian Murphy, De Anza College
Candace Thille, Open Learning Initiative and Stanford University
Adam Weinberg, Denison University
US higher education is undergoing profound change. How Americans fund govern, assess, and experience college all are in flux, creating a sense of crisis for many in the academy but also great experimentation in business models, instructional delivery, and educational research. Some go so far as to promise that the best higher education is yet to come. This panel assembles seasoned scholars, education innovators, and institutional leaders to discuss the fate and future of US higher education today.

453. Thematic Session. Hard Times in the Public Sector: Rethinking Inequality, State and Neoliberal Reforms
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza A, Lobby Level
Session Organizer: Vincent J. Roscigno, The Ohio State University
Presider: George Wilson, University of Miami
Panel: Cheol-Sung Lee, University of Chicago
William Darity, Duke University
Fred Block, University of California-Davis
Sociology has long treated the public sector as a somehow distinct domain relative to the private sector, affording, for instance, workplace protections and benefits that help to mitigate inequalities associated with race/ethnicity, gender and class. Neo-liberal reforms and transformations of the state sector, both in the US and globally, however, have fundamentally reshaped the inequality equation in ways that our field generally, and its sub areas of social stratification, political sociology, collective behavior and social movements, work, and organizations, have yet to adequately grasp. This panel brings together five prominent sociologists who will draw on their own empirical and theoretical insights in providing guidelines relative to questions such as: What structural and cultural processes have been involved with moves toward privatization and how have the public sector, states and institutions been transformed? What have been the inequality consequences, at least thus far, and what seem to be the dominant trends? And, no less important, in what ways do we as sociologists need to reconsider our own theoretical formulations, emphases and empirical foci?

454. Thematic Session. Religion and Hard Times
Session Organizers and Presiders: Nancy J. Davis, DePauw University and Robert V. Robinson, Indiana University
Poor Mothers, Religion, and the American Dream. Susan Crawford Sullivan, College of the Holy Cross

In economic recession, does religion motivate support for greater public and private assistance to the poor and higher taxes on the wealthy or does it bolster the belief that unbridled capitalism will lift people out of poverty? Some Evangelical organizations, such as Sojourners, support greater government aid to the poor, while the Tea Party, often with the support of religious traditionalists, seeks reductions in social spending. Polls during the recession indicate that the religiously orthodox are more likely than modernists to still believe in the American Dream, while other research finds that the orthodox are more supportive than modernists of state aid to the poor. Because women have been hardest hit by the recession, we must take into account the perspective of poor women on religion as this affects their beliefs on receiving government assistance and the American Dream. These paradoxes and their implications for the post-recession period will be discussed.

455. Special Session. Inequality in International Comparison: Powerful Approaches
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Golden Gate 8, Lobby Level
Session Organizer and Presider: Fabian T. Pfeffer, University of Michigan Panel: David Brady, WZB Berlin Social Research Center
          Florencia Torche, New York University
          Yu Xie, University of Michigan
Discussants: Guillermina Jasso, New York University
The fact that the United States are marked by exceptionally high and rising levels of social inequality is well established. To understand the institutional factors behind the sources and consequences of this inequality, sociological research is increasingly turning its attention to other nations that have kept inequality at lower levels, slowed its growth despite similar external pressures, or mitigated its detrimental effects on families and children. The degree to which such cross-national comparisons may be able to shape scientific progress and inform national policy-making crucially depends on the extent to which inequality-generating mechanisms can be reliably established within each nation studied. The panelists will discuss how comparative research can shed light on the mechanisms that produce and flow from unequal resource distributions with a particular eye towards the distinct opportunities provided by nationally representative panel studies (both long-running panel surveys, such as the U.S. Panel Study of Income Dynamics and the German Socio-Economic Panel (SOEP), as well as newer studies from Latin America and China).

457. Professional Development Workshop. Using Social Media as a Professional Development Tool
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 14, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Presider: Neal Careen, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill Panel: Lisa Wade, Occidental College
           Brayden G. King, Northwestern University
           Eric Anthony Grollman, University of Richmond
           Nathan Scott Palmer, Georgia Southern University
           Tina Fetner, McMaster University
Imagine going out to a bar with an eclectic group of bloggers. They gossip, provide tips, share secrets, and answer some of your questions. This session will be like that, but without the drinks.

458. Policy and Research Workshop. Qualitative Research: Review Standards and Funding Opportunities at the National Science Foundation
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 3-4, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Patricia E. White, National Science Foundation
Co-Leaders: Linda Marie Burton, Duke University
           Prudence L. Carter, Stanford University
           Joane Nagel, University of Kansas
           Celeste M. Watkins-Hayes, Northwestern University
The National Science Foundation (NSF) supports sociological research that uses the full range of social science methodological approaches. Yet, an ongoing and persistent myth is that the NSF does not fund research that uses qualitative techniques. Presenters will share their experiences as peer reviewers and successful competitors for NSF funding, highlighting effective grantsmanship for the conduct of qualitative research. They will discuss how to prepare competitive qualitative research proposals; the NSF peer review system and the review process; and the criteria for evaluation of proposals submitted to NSF and interpret what this means for qualitative research. Workshop participants will share their experiences in developing, reviewing and securing funding for projects that are reflective of the various qualitative approaches. The session is interactive; audience participation is encouraged. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

Keynote Address: Malcolm Gladwell, The New Yorker
Malcolm Gladwell is the author of five New York Times bestsellers — The Tipping Point, Blink, Outliers, What the Dog Saw, and now, his latest, David and Goliath: Underdogs, Misfits and the Art of Battling Giants. He has been named one of the 100 most influential people by TIME magazine and one of the Foreign Policy’s Top Global Thinkers. He has explored how ideas spread in the Tipping Point, decision making in Blink, and the roots of success in Outliers. With his latest book, David and Goliath, he examines our understanding of the advantages of disadvantages, arguing that we have underestimated the value of adversity and over-estimated the value of privilege. He has been a staff writer for The New Yorker since 1996. He has won a national magazine award and been honored by the American Psychological Society and the American Sociological Association. He was previously a reporter for The Washington Post.

ASA Business Meeting -- Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Imperial A, Ballroom Level

The ASA Business Meeting is an opportunity for members of the Association to discuss important issues facing the discipline and profession. Members are encouraged to attend this meeting convened by the ASA President Annette Lareau.

Summary reports on the Association and its key activities this year will be given by President Annette Lareau, Secretary Mary Romero, and Executive Officer Sally T. Hillsman. The meeting concludes with the traditional transfer of the gavel, marking the transition of duties from President Annette Lareau to incoming President Paula England.

This open forum is an opportunity for members to share their insights, reactions, and suggestions. Please consult the flyer in your convention tote bag for details on the Business Meeting agenda.

As noted in the May/June issue of Footnotes and the posting of meeting information on the ASA website, members seeking to present formal resolutions should be prepared to provide background materials on the issue to be discussed. Members who missed the July 11 submission deadline may bring their resolutions and supporting background documentation to the ASA Office in the California Room on the Ballroom Level of the Hilton San Francisco Union Square by 3:00 pm on Monday, August 18.

489. Thematic Session. Extended and Intergenerational Relations in Hard Times

Session Organizers and Presiders: J. Jill Suitor, Purdue University and Megan Gilligan, Iowa State University Panel: Merrill Silverstein, Syracuse University
  Monica Kirkpatrick Johnson, Washington State University
  Natalia Sarkisian, Boston College
  Rand D. Conger, University of California-Davis

A central issue in 20th- and early 21st-century sociology has been the ways in which economic hardship affected individuals and families. Much of this scholarship has focused on the experiences of those living in poverty; however, the recent recession in the United States has sparked interest in the effects of this event for families across the socioeconomic spectrum.

This thematic session will focus on the ways in which characteristics of families, including the structure of the extended kin network, family members’ economic resources, marital status, gender, race, and position in the life course, shaped the ways in which they were affected by and responded to the recent economic downturn. Understanding these processes is particularly important because families typically serve as the first line of defense for individuals facing hard times.

490. Thematic Session. Inequality and Philanthropy

Session Organizer: Emily A. Barman, Boston University

The Welfare State vs. the Nonprofit Sector: Implications for Health Inequalities in a Comparative Perspective. Emily A. Barman and Sigrun Olafsdottir, Boston University

What’s a Public-Private Partnership, Anyway? Nicole P. Marwell, City University of New York-Baruch College

Discussant: Joseph Galaskiewicz, University of Arizona

Social scientists have long argued that broader institutional arrangements shape individual lives. While earlier research typically measured societal inequality in terms of economic outcomes, recent scholarship has emphasized health as an increasingly important dimension of inequality. Much of the focus has been on theorizing if and how welfare state regimes matter for understanding health inequalities. Yet, in a neoliberal age, nations have varied and complex configurations of social welfare provision, and scholars and policymakers have paid increased attention to the role of government and the nonprofit sector, either alone or in conjunction, in determining health outcomes. This paper employs individual level survey data and national-level indicators in order to engage in the cross-national assessment of the relative impact of the government and the nonprofit sector on health inequalities.
491. Thematic Session. Social Mobility in Hard Times
Session Organizer: Elliot Weininger, State University of New York-Brockport
Presider: Fabian T. Pfeffer, University of Michigan
Has Mobility Declined? Lane Kenworthy, University of Arizona
Is There Much Social Mobility in the United States? New Answers from a New Administrative Source. Pablo Andres Mitnik, Stanford University; Victoria Bryant, Internal Revenue Service; Yujia Liu, University of South Carolina; Michael Weber, Internal Revenue Service; David B. Grusky, Stanford University
The Great Recession has been deeper in scope and longer in duration than any in recent memory, and led to large spikes in unemployment and underemployment. Moreover, the expansion that preceded the Recession was uncharacteristically weak, especially with regard to wage growth. This panel explores the implications of these economic events for social mobility. It begins by examining recent data on mobility rates in order to gauge their impact. It then asks how the economic dislocations of recent years have affected individuals’ class identification and their future expectations. Finally, it raises the question of what reforms might improve the mobility prospects of those who grow up in poverty.

492. Special Session. Cultures of Getting and Spending Inequality from Market Interactions and Classifications
Session Organizers: Zsuzsanna Vargha, University of Leicester and Daniel Thomas Cook, State University of New Jersey-Rutgers
Relational Accounting and the Financial Self: Preliminary Evidence for the Mission Asset Fund. Frederick F. Wherry, Yale University; Kristin Seefeldt, University of Michigan; Anthony Alvarez, University of California-Los Angeles
The Long Range and the Small Print: Relational Work and Financial Regulation in Wealth Management Encounters. Zsuzsanna Vargha, University of Leicester
Seeing Like a Market. Marion Fourcade, University of California-Berkeley; Kieran Healy, Duke University
This special session looks at “hard times” and economic inequality through a cultural lens. Papers examine various ways in which inequalities are produced, managed and distributed through a range of practices, including consumer classification schemes, debt profiles and financial services. Together, they address finance and financialization as part of a broader terrain of consumption, interrogating how inequalities are coming to be structured in new and consequential ways for the lives of families and individuals.

Session Organizer and Presider: Melissa J. Wilde, University of Pennsylvania
Critics: John D. McCarthy, Pennsylvania State University; Rhys H. Williams, Loyola University-Chicago; John H. Evans, University of California-San Diego
Authors: Nancy J. Davis, DePauw University and Robert V. Robinson, Indiana University

Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 3-4, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer: Shirley A. Jackson, Southern Connecticut State University
Leader: Alexandra Kalev, Tel Aviv University
Panel: Roberta M. Spalter-Roth, American Sociological Association; Mary Ann Mason, University of California-Berkeley; Hannah Brueckner, New York University-Abu Dhabi; Yu Tao, Stevens Institute of Technology
The workshop will showcase data and methods used in studies about inequality in academia, including discussion of quantitative and qualitative data and method suitability in the face of different research questions. The workshop will discuss recent research done by the Committee on the Status of Women in Sociology as well as by other prominent research of in the field. These two overviews will be followed by a brief panel discussion of the research methodologies. In the final part of the workshop, participants will have an opportunity to raise questions and discuss methodological issues related to the study or to their own research. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

495. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Trans*/Genderqueer Issues
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 5-6, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Betsy Lucal, Indiana University-South Bend

518. Thematic Session. Future of Unions

Session Organizer and Presider: Heidi Gottfried, Wayne State University

The Emotional Politics of Unionism: Organizing across Gender and Racial Divides? Jennifer Jihye Chun, University of Toronto

Neo-Liberalism and the Future of Labor. Dan Clawson, University of Massachusetts

Re-gendering Unions: Changing Alliances and Agendas. Sylvia Walby, Lancaster University

Discussant: Peter B. Evans, University of California-Berkeley

The future of unions is unclear. Neo-liberal austerity and the passage of right to work laws challenge the very existence of unions. Already, union membership has reached its nadir: private sector union density lingers in the single digits. Does this low ebb signal the death knell of the organized labor movement? Are unions a moribund form of organization, vestiges of the big-bang phase of capitalism? Are unions the victim of an inexorable organizational logic informing the "iron-cage of oligarchy"? Conversely, does this appearance of decline anticipate the beginning of a new upsurge of labor organizing activity? Or are unions morphing into new forms of worker association? How is the changing class structure affecting class formation? These questions are central to the sociological examination of unions in the new millennium. The transformation to a more service-oriented economy and the increasing globalization of labor and capital are altering the primary terrains of production, are creating new bases of identity and solidarity, and are prompting workers to develop new organizational strategies for representing the interests of an increasingly diverse labor force. Workers and their advocates have fashioned new associational forms and community organizing models in response both to the changing gender and racial composition of the workforce, and to ways of working. Many of these new labor organizations represent associational hybrids, combining features of nongovernmental organizations with workplace organizations and operate in civil society spaces rather than exclusively or primarily at the workplace. Such innovative oppositional politics and practices by workers counter older repertoires of collective action and point to new organizations, acknowledging differences and mobilizing around mobile and multiple communities, collective identities, and new sites of production and reproduction. This session will cast a wide net for the selection of contributors who can discuss the future of unions. Papers might address the effects of changing demographics, institutional policies and cultural practices on labor organizing, the role of unions in new social movements, and the influence of migration and immigration on means and modes of labor organizing. Broadly we will ask contributors to identify the factors and processes that affect the ebb and flow of labor organizing across time and place.

519. Thematic Session. Hard Times, Gender and Families

Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Plaza B, Lobby Level

Session Organizer and Presider: Philip N. Cohen, University of Maryland-College Park

Panel: S. Philip Morgan, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill
Margaret Michele Gough, Harvard University
Kristen S. Harknett, University of Pennsylvania

Discussant: Philip N. Cohen, University of Maryland-College Park

The Great Recession altered the gender dynamics within families in ways we are only beginning to understand. Some trends were accelerated for reasons that are not positive, while others may have been slowed or even reversed. This subject is vexing for researchers because it involves adjudicating between the effects of underlying conditions, long-term trends, and short-term shocks. In the past several years we have seen new research on how labor market conditions affect family violence, the gender division of labor, and fertility decisions. However, we have as yet no overarching theory of how this recession – or economic shocks in general – helped shape gender within families. In this session a panel of researchers who have done empirical work in this area broaden their focus to address this general question.

Race in a Special Place: The Case of HWCU's. Eduardo Bonilla-Silva, Duke University

Discussant: Wendy Leo Moore, Texas A&M University

This panel examines the persistent racial inequality evident in the public and private segregation of everyday lives that serve to block equal opportunity and place racial groups in harm's way. Uncovering the ways racial space is maintained and reproduced is crucial in understanding the ways the processes are normalized.

Discussant: Pertti Alasuutari, University of Tampere

Global isomorphism is normally explained by a diffusion of policies from centers to peripheries. This perspective, realized in the research design that traces the diffusion of particular models, downplays the agency of local actors. Yet case studies of national or local level decision making show that local policymakers are crucial in the synchronization... of national policies by introducing international comparisons or policies adopted elsewhere when justifying their views. This session concentrates on discussing globalization “from below.” The participants present papers that shed light on the local-global dynamics of national or local-level policymaking.

523. Policy and Research Workshop. Using the Wisconsin Longitudinal Survey
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 5-6, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Presider: Pamela Herd, University of Wisconsin-Madison
The Wisconsin Longitudinal Study (WLS) is a free publicly available data set that follows a panel of people from late adolescence through age seventy-two. The study is a sample of one in three Wisconsin high school graduates, and a selected sibling, from the class of 1957. WLS is unique among major social scientific resources for the length with which it has followed a large population-based cohort sample and that it includes siblings. We also have Genetic Data (~90 SNPs) for about 7000 participants and anticipate having more measures and samples from more participants in the near future. We recently released the latest round of data collected between March of 2010 and December of 2012. The new data include anthropometric and functioning measures which add yet a new dimension to the many types of WLS data. The survey data cover nearly every aspect of the participants’ lives from early life socioeconomic background, schooling, family and work to health, social participation, civic engagement, well-being, and cognition. The study also has a wealth of unique data including examples such as administrative IQ scores from high school, information collected from high school yearbooks that include measures of attractiveness, proxy measures for obesity, and complete lists of student activities for all respondents. Examples of administrative data include Medicare records, Social Security records, and resource data on primary and secondary schools attended by participants. This workshop will introduce the study to researchers who are not familiar with the data by providing an overview of the study as well as practical information on the structure of the data. Attendees will be provided with a USB containing documentation and the data. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

Session Organizer and President: Cecilia Menjivar, Arizona State University Panel: Nando Sigona, University of Oxford
Victor Agadjanian, Arizona State University
Sarah Willen, University of Connecticut
Luis Goldring, York University
Discussant: Cecilia Menjivar, Arizona State University
This panel is composed of sociologists and other social scientists who are engaged in research focused broadly on immigrant “illegality,” examining the effects of this status, how the status has come to be, and its implications for the future of immigrant communities. The expert panelists conduct their research in various contexts and among different groups: from examining the experiences of children of undocumented immigrants in the United States from a child development perspective, to the effects of enforcement practices in the United Kingdom and Canada and how these intertwine with racialization processed in Russia, to the effects enforcement practices on the health and wellbeing of immigrants in Israel. The discussants, a sociologist and an anthropologist, follow this general structure in opening the discussion beyond sociological research on immigrant “illegality.” Therefore, this panel contributes to moving the discussion on this topic beyond disciplinary and geographical boundaries, as this issue has taken center stage in immigration research in various contexts and sites.

When countries experience “Hard Times,” immigrants face new challenges to their integration into a host country. Legal policy may seek to push immigrants out and back to their countries of origin, by defining them as undesirable. In the United States, for example, deportations have risen dramatically since 2001; every year over the past four years close to 400,000 individuals have been deported. Social policies may also aim to encourage immigrants to return voluntarily to their countries of origin. Since 9/11, anti-immigrant sentiment has dramatically impacted the lives of the foreign-born throughout the world. This thematic session proposes...

551. Policy and Research Workshop. Survey of Income and Program Participation Informational Workshop
Hilton San Francisco Union Square, Union Square 5-6, Fourth Floor
Session Organizer and Leader: Matthew C. Marlay, U.S. Census Bureau
The U.S. Census Bureau is hosting an informational workshop session about the Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP). The workshop will provide an update on the development of the re-engineered survey design, the implementation schedule, an overview of the content and data structure of the survey, some preliminary results from Wave 1 of the 2014 SIPP panel, and an opportunity to talk with the SIPP team. Additionally, we would like to hear from data users and other interested parties to see how we can better serve your needs. (This session is part of this year’s 22nd Annual ASA Research Support Forum.)

Why is social statistics a required course for sociology undergraduates? There are at least three answers to this question: (1) we want our students to be able to read at least some of the quantitative professional literature in sociology, (2) we want our students to be able to engage in elementary quantitative sociological research, (3) we want to give our students skills that will improve their employability. On all three counts the most important technique for students to learn is multiple linear regression, yet our undergraduate social statistics courses seldom cover it, or at best offer only a cursory treatment of it. Instead, scarce contact time is wasted on a series of techniques and skills (non-parametric methods, contingency table analysis, tails of normal distributions, reading t tables) that are rarely used in practice. We advocate a modernized curriculum that gets students involved in regression analysis as early as possible, with the goals of having students interpreting regression models from sociological journals and running their own regression models before the end of the semester. We illustrate why such a curriculum is necessary and show how it is possible. The bulk of our workshop focuses on techniques for introducing students to regression that can either be worked into the existing curriculum or be used as the basis for a new curriculum. Even teachers who are tied to the existing 20th century curriculum can use the teaching tools we present to increase their students’ comfort with regression. Contrary to widespread belief, regression is a highly intuitive technique, much more intuitive than methods that are currently taught to undergraduates. The existing curriculum centers on techniques that are conceptually advanced but computationally simple, since the curriculum was designed with slide rules and hand calculations in mind. Regression is computationally advanced but conceptually simple. With computers doing the calculations, students need no advanced mathematical knowledge to undertake simple regression or even multiple regression analysis. We show how a regression-based undergraduate social statistics course can focus students’ minds on serious sociological research questions and help support the rest of the sociology curriculum.

Global Inequality, Creative Destruction and the Unexpected Double Movement. Roberto Patricio Korzeniewicz, University of Maryland-College Park
Discussant: Ho-Fung Hung, Johns Hopkins University
Over the last thirty years, the process of global market integration has been shifting the pattern of inequality at the national and international levels. While intra-national inequalities across the developed and developing world have been rising because of industrial relocation and the triumph of neoliberal capitalism over state socialism and regulated capitalism, international inequality has been shrinking unevenly, given the rapid economic ascendancy of a few low-income countries. This panel seeks to review cutting-edge sociological research on these trends, discuss their future, and debate whether an alternative globalization with more even distribution of prosperity is possible.

The Social Safety Net for the Elderly. Kathleen McGarry, University of California-Los Angeles
The War on Poverty's Workforce Development Programs: Going, Going, Gone? Harry Holzer, Georgetown University
Discussant: David B. Grusky, Stanford University
President Lyndon B. Johnson launched the War on Poverty in 1964. Historical and contemporaneous accounts typically portray the War on Poverty as a costly experiment that failed. Drawing from fifty years of empirical evidence, the nation's leading poverty researchers show that this popular view is too simplistic and document many ways that War on Poverty programs improved the educational attainment, incomes and health of the poor and the elderly. Legacies of the War on Poverty, edited by Martha J. Bailey and Sheldon Danziger, analyzes the era's successful human capital programs and documents the evolution of the safety net for families with children and for the elderly. At a time of high unemployment and wage stagnation, new lessons emerge on what more can be done to eliminate poverty in America.

Neighborhood Disadvantage and Children's Weight Trajectories. Rachel Tolbert Kimbro, Rice University Childhood Obesity: Cultural and Biocultural Perspectives. Alexandra Brewis, Arizona State University
Discussant: Abigail C. Saguy, University of California-Los Angeles
In the United States, the prevalence of overweight and obese children has quadrupled during the past 25 years. The increase in the prevalence of obesity has led to its classification as one of the most serious public health problems of this century. Obesity has been linked to a number of serious health conditions and some have predicted that it may even lead to decreased life expectancy for current and future generations of Americans. In the United States, body weight is higher among individuals with lower levels of education, particularly women and children. Thus the obesity epidemic is likely to widen disparities in health and longevity in the future. For children, socioeconomic disadvantage is thought to raise the risk of obesity through various mechanisms in the children's homes, neighborhoods, and schools. But research is just beginning to evaluate these ideas empirically. Much of this work seeks to identify which particular aspects of disadvantage influence obesity and why. Some research explores the role of neighborhood disadvantage (e.g., the effects of food deserts and built-environments). Others have been exploring how low family socioeconomic status translates into poorer nutrition, lower physical activity, and heavier children, whether through low parental education, poverty, food insecurity, or something else. Still others have been exploring exceptions to the expected socioeconomic gradient, whereby children in some contexts appear to gain weight as affluence increases.

Research Funding Opportunities and Data Resources

Organizers: Nicole Van Vooren, American Sociological Association
Sunday, August 17, 2014, 1:00 – 4:00 pm
Hilton San Francisco Union Square / Yosemite Ballroom, Ballroom Level

This poster/exhibit session provides a unique occasion to meet representatives of major research funding institutions and principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale datasets that are publicly available for use. Each display by a funding institution provides a visual overview of research funding and the application process, materials for distribution, and time for direct individual discussion. Data resource representatives are available to talk about the featured datasets, their analytic potential, and issues relating to access and use, including state-of-the-art Internet services to access datasets. This is an opportunity for meeting attendees to learn about these datasets and their potential for research and teaching. All meeting participants, including students, are encouraged to attend.

1. Fellowship Support for Sociologists
American Sociological Association

Presenter(s): Nicole Van Vooren, Michael Kisielewski; 1430 K St. NW Suite 600, Washington, DC 20005; phone: 202-383-9005; fax: 202-638-0882; email: research@asanet.org; webpage: www.asanet.org

The American Sociological Association (ASA) provides funding to its members through several small awards and fellowship programs. These include the Fund for the Advancement of the Discipline small awards program, Teaching Endowment grants, and the Spivack fellowship program for applied and policy research.

The ASA and the National Science Foundation jointly support the Fund for the Advancement for the Discipline (FAD). The goal of FAD is to nurture the development of scientific knowledge by funding ground breaking research initiatives and other scientific research activities. FAD provides support (up to $7,000) for substantive and methodological breakthroughs that can advance knowledge and lead to the acquisition of additional research funds. Awards are limited to individuals with PhD degrees or the equivalent.

ASA provides awards (up to $2,000) through its Howery Teaching Enhancement Grants Program to support projects that extend the quality of teaching in the United States and Canada. Individuals, departments, and a program or committee of a state or regional association are eligible to apply.

Through its Sydney S. Spivack Program in Applied Social Research and Social Policy, ASA supports a Congressional Fellowship and Community Action Research Fellowships. The ASA Congressional Fellowship provides PhD level sociologists with in-depth experience as a staff member of a Congressional Committee or in a Congressional Office or agency. The Community Action Research Fellowships provide support up to $2,500 for sociological work with community organizations, local public interest groups, or community action projects.

2. Minority Affairs Program
American Sociological Association

Presenter(s): Jean Shin, Beth Floyd; 1430 K St. NW Suite 600, Washington, DC 20005; phone: 202-383-9005; fax: 202-638-0882; email: minority.affairs@asanet.org; webpage: www.asanet.org

The ASA Minority Fellowship Program (MFP) has existed since 1974 and has supported nearly 500 sociologists of color during this time span. MFP is supported by significant annual contributions from Sociologists for Women in Society, Alpha Kappa Delta, and the Midwest Sociological Society, along with the Association of Black Sociologists, the Southwestern Sociological Association, the Eastern Sociological Society, the Pacific Sociological Association, and numerous individual ASA members. Applicants can be new or continuing graduate students of sociology, who are enrolled in a program that grants the Ph.D. Applications may be for study in any sub-area or specialty in sociology. Applicants must be members of an underrepresented racial/ethnic minority group in the U.S. (e.g. Blacks/African-Americans, Hispanics/Latinos, Asians or Pacific Islanders, or American Indians/Alaska Natives). Applicants must also be U.S. citizens, non-citizen nationals of the U.S., or have been lawfully admitted to the U.S. for permanent residence. Application deadline is January 31st; notifications are made by April 30th. Fellowship is awarded for 12 months. Tuition and fees are arranged with the home department. Fellows are selected each year by the MFP Advisory Panel, a rotating, appointed group of senior scholars in sociology.

3. Sociology Program
National Science Foundation

Presenter(s): Patricia White, R. Saylor Breckenridge; 4201 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, VA 22230; phone: 703-292-7286; fax: 703-292-9195; email: pwhite@nsf.gov; webpage: http://www.nsf.gov/funding/pgm_summ.jsp?pims_id=5369&org=SES&from=home and demography -- and processes of individual and institutional change. This Program encourages theoretically focused empirical investigations aimed at improving the explanation of fundamental social processes. Included is research on organizations and organizational behavior; population dynamics, social movements, social groups, labor force participation, stratification and mobility, family, social networks, socialization, gender roles, and the sociology of science and technology. The Program supports both original data collections and secondary data analysis that use the full range of quantitative and qualitative methodological tools. Theoretically grounded projects that offer methodological innovations and improvements for data collection and analysis are also welcomed. The Sociology Program also funds research workshops and conferences, international group travel, and doctoral dissertation research. Doctoral Dissertation Improvement grants defray direct costs associated with conducting dissertation research, for example, dataset acquisition, additional statistical or methodological training, meeting with scholars associated with original datasets, and fieldwork away from the student’s home campus. The Program resides in NSF’s Division of Social and Economic Sciences. The Division supports disciplinary (Economics, Political Science, and Sociology) and interdisciplinary research in its Law and Social Science, Decision, Risk and Management Science, Science, Technology and Society, Science of Organizations, and Methodology, Measurement and Statistics programs. The Division’s goal is to develop basic scientific knowledge of social, behavioral and economic systems, organizations and institutions and human interactions and decision-making.

The Sociology Program supports basic research on all forms of human social organization -- societies, institutions, groups

4. National Institutes of Health
Presenter(s): Rosalind King, Rebecca L. Clark, Augie Diana, Michael Spittel, Mercedes Rubio; 6100 Executive Boulevard, Room 8B07H, Bethesda, MD 20892-7510; phone: 301-496-1174; fax: (301) 496-0962; email: rclark@mail.nih.gov; webpage: http://www.nichd.nih.gov/about/org/cpr/cbs/index.cfm

Funding for Social Science Research and Training at the National Institutes of Health The National Institutes of Health are a major supporter of the social and behavioral sciences, providing an estimated $3 billion in fiscal year 2007. In addition to funding both large and small research projects, NIH also funds fellowships for graduate students, post-doctoral researchers, and senior fellows, career development grants for recent Ph.D.s and more established researchers, supplements to existing research projects to promote diversity in science, center grants, and special grants to support scientific research at educational institutions that have not been major recipients of NIH funds. Substantive areas of interest are broad, and include research in the well-being of human beings across the life course; population studies/demography; the role of education, human capital, and socioeconomic status on health and well-being; physical and mental disability; substance abuse etiology, prevention, and treatment; HIV/AIDS; mental health; health disparities; nursing research; and other research on the role that behavioral and social factors play in health, health care, and well-being.

5. Division of Adult Translational Research and Treatment Development National Institute of Mental Health
Presenter(s): Mercedes Rubio; 6001 Executive Blvd, Bethesda, MD 20892; phone: 301-443-3645; fax: 301-443-1425

The 1999 Surgeon General’s Call to Action to Prevent Suicide (U.S. Public Health Service, 1999) called for a national research agenda on suicide prevention to mobilize the scientific community to systematically identify research gaps and address prevention challenges. In 2001, Objective 10.1 of the National Strategy for Suicide Prevention (NSSP; U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, 2001) called for development of a national suicide prevention research agenda, and the Institute of Medicine (IOM) was subsequently commissioned to review existing scientific literature and to suggest a way forward (Goldsmith et al., 2002). In spite of continued public (approximately $40 million per year from the National Institutes of Health) and private (approximately $20 million from American Foundation for Suicide Prevention since 2002) investment in research over the past decade, there is no evidence of an overall decrease in suicide deaths or attempts in the U.S.

In 2010, the National Action Alliance for Suicide Prevention was established as a public-private partnership to explore opportunities for and barriers to progress. The Action Alliance published the 2012 National Strategy for Suicide Prevention (NSSP), including among its goals the need to prioritize research with a new agenda for research to reduce suicide.

In February 2014, the National Action Alliance for Suicide Prevention’s Research Prioritization Task Force (RPTF) released A Prioritized Research Agenda for Suicide Prevention: An Action Plan to Save Lives, which outlines the research areas that show the most promise in helping to reduce the rates of suicide attempts and deaths in the next 5-10 years, if optimally implemented. As a companion piece to the Prioritized Research Agenda, the RPTF also developed a Suicide Research Prioritization Plan of Action, which outlines the research pathways and short- and long-term objectives presented in the full Prioritized Research Agenda. The stated goal of the Research Agenda is to reduce suicides by 20 percent in five years and 40 percent in the next ten (assuming all recommendations are fully implemented). The Research Agenda bases its recommendations on the impact of currently known interventions and the potential number of suicide attempts and deaths prevented. This poster is intended to disseminate the Research Agenda that stems from this report.

6. Division of Viral Hepatitis Centers for Disease Control and Prevention
Presenter(s): Deborah Holtzman, Karin A. Mack; 1600 Clifton Road, NE, Mailstop G-37, Atlanta, GA 30333; phone: 404-718-8555; fax: 404-718-8588; email: dxh4@cdc.gov; webpage: www.cdc.gov

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), based in Atlanta, Georgia, is the nation’s lead public health agency. Its mission is to prevent and control disease, injury, and disability and to prepare for emerging health threats. CDC seeks to accomplish its mission in partnership, both domestically and globally, by monitoring health, detecting and investigating health problems, conducting research to enhance prevention, developing and advocating sound public health policies, implementing prevention strategies, promoting healthy behaviors, fostering safe and healthful environments, and providing leadership and training. The agency maintains a full research and practice agenda that includes the prevention of infectious diseases, chronic diseases, injuries, workplace hazards, birth defects, and disabilities, in addition to protection from environmental hazards such as lead and other toxic substances. CDC employs scientists from a variety of disciplines including those from the social and behavioral sciences. Each of these disciplines brings a unique perspective to the conduct of public health research and practice which significantly contributes to CDC’s mission overall. Information will be available regarding job opportunities, postgraduate training, the Epidemic Intelligence Service (EIS), and funding opportunities.

7. Center for Financing, Access, and Cost Trends

Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality

The mission of the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ) is to produce the evidence that is needed to make healthcare safer, higher quality, more accessible, equitable, and affordable. AHRQ supports research designed to develop the evidence that will facilitate improvements in access to healthcare, help moderate the growth in the cost of healthcare and improve affordability. This poster highlights AHRQ sponsored data and research findings from the Medical Expenditure Panel Survey (MEPS). The MEPS is a vital resource designed to continually provide policymakers, researchers, health care professionals, businesses and others with timely, comprehensive information about the United States population’s health, health care utilization, and costs. The MEPS is uniquely able to measure the effects of coverage expansions on access to care, healthcare safety, healthcare quality, social disparities, financial security, labor market effects, insurance offers and take-up, provider costs and health spending. The MEPS is a continuous on-going nationally representative survey initiated in 1996. MEPS collects data on the specific health care services that Americans use, how frequently they use them, the cost of those services and how they are paid, as well as data on the cost, scope, and breadth of private health insurance held by and available to the U.S. civilian non-institutionalized population. MEPS is unparalleled for the degree of detail in its data, as well as its ability to link health status and health care to the demographic, employment, economic, family and other characteristics of survey respondents. The poster will also highlight areas of special emphasis for which AHRQ encourages grant applications that propose research that focuses on the topics of health insurance coverage, access to care and health care costs. All MEPS public use data files are available for downloading free of charge from the MEPS website: www.meps.ahrq.gov.

The New Immigrant Survey (NIS) is a multi-cohort prospective-retrospective panel survey of new legal immigrants to the United States based on probability samples of administrative records from the U.S. Bureau of Citizenship and Immigration Services. The NIS provides new kinds of data that will help answer many of the important questions about immigration and concomitantly shed light on basic aspects of human development. The main objective is to provide a public-use database on new legal immigrants to the United States and their children that will be useful for addressing scientific and policy questions about migration behavior and the impacts of migration. Two rounds of interviewing have now been completed.

The first full cohort (NIS-2003-1) was sampled during May through November of 2003, yielding data on 8,573 Adult Sample respondents, 810 sponsor-parent of the Sampled Child, 4,915 spouses, and 1,072 children aged 8-12. The baseline survey was conducted from June 2003 to June 2004. The geographic sampling design takes advantage of the natural clustering of immigrants. It includes all top 85 Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs) and all top 38 counties, plus a random sample of MSAs and counties. A follow-up interview with 2003 cohort was conducted from June 2007 to October 2009 (NIS-2003-2). The number of completed interviews with main sampled immigrants in the Adult Sample was 3,902, there were 351 parents of sampled child immigrants, 41 now-adult main child, and 1,771 spouses. Data from the first full cohort and follow-up interviews are publicly available from the project website: http://nis.princeton.edu.

Interviews were conducted in the respondents’ language of choice. Round 2 instruments were designed to track changes from the baseline and also included new questions. As with the Round 1 questionnaire, questions that were used in social-demographic-migration surveys around the world as well as the major U.S. longitudinal surveys were reviewed in order to achieve comparability. The NIS content includes the following information: demographic, health and insurance, migration history, living conditions, transfers, employment history, income, assets, social networks, religion, housing environment, and child assessment tests.

Mexican & Latin American Migration Projects

Presenter(s): Karen A Pren; 237 Wallace Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544; phone: 609-258-8155; email: mmp-lamp@princeton.edu; webpage: mmp@opr.princeton.edu

Founded in 1982, the Mexican Migration Project (MMP) has annually administered ethnosurveys to randomly sampled households in various communities in Mexico since 1987. In 1998, the Latin American Migration Project was born. For both projects, each community yields approximately 200 surveyed households in the home country, as well as 10 to 20 households of community members living in the U.S. Responses are converted to electronic format and compiled to form five unique data sets. PERS file contains socioeconomic information for each household member, including basic measures of domestic and international migration. MIG file contains detailed for each household head regarding detailed border-crossing, measures of migration experience of family of origin, extended family and friends, and the social and economic characteristics of last international trip. HOUSE file contains measures of household composition and amenities, as well as data about businesses, land, property, vehicles, and livestock. LIFE and SPOUSE files are detailed life histories of the household head and spouse; each record represents a person-year detailing information about labor force, family/household formation, and cumulative international experience. In addition, we offer the community file with measures of infrastructure, social resources, public services, labor force participation, and education. Currently, available to the public, the MMP contains 143 communities, while the LAMP include multiple communities surveyed in Puerto Rico, Dominican Republic, Haiti, Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, and Paraguay.

NATIONAL LONGITUDINAL SURVEYS OF YOUTH, 1979 AND 1997 COHORTS. The NLSY79 and NLSY97 are two cohorts of the NLS program, a set of surveys sponsored by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor.
Currently in its 25th round, the NLSY79 started annual interviewing in 1979 with youths age 14 to 22, and switched to biennial interviewing after the 1994 survey. Data are currently available through 2010, when 7,565 NLSY79 respondents were interviewed. The 2012 data release will be available in the fall of 2014.
The NLSY97 Cohort is a longitudinal project that follows the lives of a sample of American youth born between 1980-84; 8,984 respondents were ages 12-17 when first interviewed in 1997. This ongoing cohort has been surveyed 15 times to date and is now interviewed biennially. Data are now available from Round 1 (1997 survey year) to Round 15 (2011 survey year).
The NLSY97 includes oversamples of blacks and Hispanics. Both the 1979 and 1997 NLSY cohorts initially focused on documenting the school-to-work transition, with survey content has evolved over time as respondents passed through the life stages. Topics covered in both cohorts include characteristics of jobs, labor market status, education, training, health and physical condition, marital and family characteristics, fertility, income and assets, attitudes, environmental characteristics, and military experiences. Scores on the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery are available for 94% of NLSY79 respondents and 80% of NLSY97 respondents. The rich history and wide range of data in each survey support research in a number of topical areas, while the overlapping content of the two surveys provides opportunities for cross-cohort analysis. NLSY79 data can be also merged with data from the Child/Young Adult survey, which tracks children of women in the NLSY79.
NLS public-use data are available at no cost at www.nlsinfo.org/webinvestigator; detailed geographic data can be obtained by U.S. researchers through an application process supervised by BLS. A searchable, annotated listing of NLS research can be accessed at www.nlsbibliography.org. More information about the NLSY79 and NLSY97 is available online at www.bls.gov/nls.

11. Center for Human Resource Research/ National Longitudinal Surveys of Youth
The Ohio State University
Presenter(s): Paula Baker; 921 Chatham Lane, Suite 100, Columbus, OH 43210; phone: 614-442-7375; fax: 614-442-7329; email: usersvc@chrr.osu.edu; webpage: https://www.nlsinfo.org/
The NLSY79 CHILD AND YOUNG ADULT data set profiles the development and achievement of the children of the mothers in the National Longitudinal Surveys of Youth/1979 Cohort. The surveys are sponsored by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) with support from the Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD).
The biennial NLSY97 Child surveys, initiated in 1986, use mother interviews, direct assessment, and self-report to gauge the children’s health, physical and social development, activities, attitudes, behaviors, relationships, school progress, and home environment from birth through adolescence.
Starting at age 15, NLSY97 young adult children are interviewed about schooling, employment, training, family experiences, health, behaviors, and attitudes. The Child/Young Adult sample, which ranges in age from birth to early forties, contains significant numbers of minority and economically disadvantaged respondents. The current data release represents 13 survey rounds (1986-2010) of Child data, 9 Young Adult survey rounds (1994-2010) and the complete histories of the NLSY79 mothers (1979-2010). The preliminary 2012 Young Adult file is available online and the fully merged 1986-2012 NLSY79 Child/YA file will be released by the end of 2014.
THE NATIONAL LONGITUDINAL SURVEY OF YOUTH (NLSY79) is a multipurpose survey of more than 12,600 individuals who were age 14-21 when sampled and have been interviewed since 1979. The design and content of the NLSY79 enable users to study the social, economic, health, and demographic experiences of the respondents and their families over more than a 30-year period. CHRR at The Ohio State University and NORC at the University of Chicago are responsible for the design, collection, and distribution of the NLSY data and documentation.
NLSY data and documentation are available, at no cost, for online search and extraction at http://www.nlsinfo.org/. The NLSY97 Child & Young Adult data have been used in nearly 2000 publications. A searchable, annotated listing of NLS research can be accessed at: http://www.nlsbibliography.org/.
12. Wisconsin Longitudinal Study
Department of Sociology
Presenter(s): Pamela Herd, Huey-Chi Vicky Chang, Carol Roan; 1180 Observatory Drive, Madison, WI 53706; phone: 608 265-6196; email: wls@ssc.wisc.edu; webpage: http://www.ssc.wisc.edu/wlsresearch/

The WLS is a long-term study of a random sample of 10,317 men and women who graduated from Wisconsin high schools in 1957 and of their randomly selected brothers or sisters. The WLS sample is broadly representative of white, non-Hispanic American men and women who have completed at least a high school education. Almost 85 percent of surviving graduates continue to participate in the WLS. Public data, documentation, and publications are available online. Survey data were collected from the original respondents or their parents in 1957, 1964, 1975, 1992, 2003, and 2011, and from a selected sibling in 1977, 1993, 2004, and 2011. Survey data were collected from the spouses of the graduates in 2004 and the spouses of the siblings in 2005. The data cover nearly every aspect of the participants’ lives from early life socioeconomic background, schooling, family and work to health, social participation, civic engagement, well-being, and cognition. The study also has a wealth of unique data including examples such as administrative IQ scores from high school, information collected from high school yearbooks that include measures of attractiveness, proxy measures for obesity, and complete lists of student activities for all respondents. Examples of administrative data include Medicare records, Social Security records, and resource data on primary and secondary schools attended by participants. The WLS also collected saliva samples from which we have created a DNA file with 90 SNPs. The newest data include anthropometric and functioning measures which add yet a new dimension to the many types of WLS data.

Visitors to the poster session can talk to project leaders about the study, the WLS pilot grant program, and the availability of genetic data.

13. The Association of Religion Data Archives
Department of Sociology, Pennsylvania State University
Presenter(s): Christopher D. Bader, Andrea L. Ruiz; 211 Oswald Tower, University Park, PA 16802; phone: 814-865-6258; fax: 814-863-7216; email: support@thearda.com; webpage: http://www.thearda.com

The Association of Religion Data Archives (ARDA) provides free access to the highest quality data on religion. The ARDA allows you to interactively explore American and international data using online features for generating national profiles, maps, church membership overviews, GIS mapping, QuickStats, QuickLists, denominational heritage trees, tables, charts, and other summary reports. Nearly 800 data files are available for online preview (including multiple years of the General Social Survey) and virtually all can be downloaded free of charge. The Learning Center was recently expanded and now includes detailed lesson plans for instructors, new Learning Modules for students, YouTube videos of different religious groups, an expanded dictionary of religious and statistical terms, guidelines for observing religious groups, and other interactive online tools. Housed in the Social Science Research Institute at the Pennsylvania State University, the ARDA is funded by the Lilly Endowment, the John Templeton Foundation, the Pennsylvania State University, and Chapman University.

14. Roper Center for Public Opinion Research
University of Connecticut
Presenter(s): Lois Timms-Ferrara; 369 Fairfield Way, Unit 1164, University of Connecticut, Storrs, CT 06269-1164; phone: 860-486-4440; fax: 860-486-6308; email: lois.timmsferrara@uconn.edu; webpage: www.ropercenter.uconn.edu

The Roper Center is the world’s largest archives of public opinion survey information, with polls dating from the 1930s to present and representing some 80 countries. With nearly 20,000 survey datasets archived, its mission is both preserving and providing access to the survey data entrusted to its care. As such, this poster will demonstrate the various tools to search at the question-level and study-level to identify studies about the opinion of the aggregate public on a variety of social issues.

The iPoll database maintains over 600,000 questions and responses from surveys conducted in the US since 1935 and as current as last week. Every major polling organization in the country is represented and the questions are indexed by keyword, topic, field dates and survey firm. About one-sixth of the questions in iPoll are presented with demographic banner tables, so without programming, see how key groups responded to the items. Furthermore, links are provided to download complete datasets and to an online analysis tool that permits running crosstabs without programming.

Content of the surveys include every major social, political policy issue and most behaviors. Women’s issues are extensively covered including equality in the workplace, politics, gender roles, and family, as are issues pertaining to elderly, social problems, economic and social inequality, crime, race relations, and so many other topics. This is a hands-on poster that challenges researchers and students to identify a subject that hasn’t been asked about on a US national survey!

15. General Social Survey
NORC at the University of Chicago
Presenter(s): Tom W. Smith; 1155 East 60th St., Chicago, IL 60637; phone: 773-256-6288; email: smitht@norc.uchicago.edu; webpage: http://www3.norc.org/GSS+Website/

The General Social Survey (GSS) has been monitoring American society since 1972. It has conducted 28 national, full-probability samples of adults living in households and interviewed nearly 60,000 respondents. Since 1982 the GSS has engaged in cross-national research and in 1984 co-founded the International Social Survey Program (ISSP). The ISSP has conducted annual surveys since 1985 involving 57 countries. Over 1,000,000 respondents have been surveyed by the ISSP.
16. Social Explorer, Inc
Presenter(s): Andrew A. Beveridge; 50 Merriam Ave, Bronxville, NY 10708; phone: 914-337-6237; fax: 914-337-8210; email: andy@socialexplorer.com; webpage: www.socialexplorer.com

Social Explorer is a powerful online research and visualization tool. It allows users to explore local and national census data from 1790 to the present, as well as election data, crime data, economic data, the Irish Census, the General Social Survey and the American National Election Survey, as well as other new data sources. Based on decades of demographic and programming expertise, Social Explorer enables users to conduct research related to the social sciences, history, business and more with ease. Last year Social Explorer was completely redesigned as general visualization and content delivery tool for the social sciences, and includes map visualizations, reports, graphing and charting tools, and tools to design and set-up info graphics. It is based on new cutting edge technology. It now supports mobile devices.

Working with the Census Bureau a simple visualization tool was developed http://census.gov/censusexplorer that has been visited by over 125,000 users who have made over 4.5 million maps.

Last year over 850,000 Social Explorer users created more than 16 million maps and 300,000 reports. Social Explorer is used at most of the top 20 universities, as ranked by US News, and is in use on the campuses of most of the 34 university-based population centers.

Social Explorer was named an “Outstanding Reference Source” by the Reference and User Services Association (RUSA) in 2010 a division of the American Library Association. Social Explorer was named an Outstanding Website by the Webmarketing Association in 2012 and by the Interactive Media Association in 2013. Social Explorer and the University of Illinois at Chicago have been awarded several collaborative NSF grants. Social Explorer comes as a Free Edition, which has a limited set of variables, maps and features; A Student Edition, which has a wider array of data and is licensed to Pearson Publishing for use in over two dozen Sociology texts, including the best sellers by Henslin and Macionis, and the new Sociology Project, and a Professional Edition and all the data and more features, which is licensed to colleges, universities and other institutions. The Professional Edition is distributed by Oxford University Press On-line.

17. Minnesota Population Center/IHIS
University of Minnesota–Twin Cities
Presenter(s): Julia A. Rivera Drew; 50 Willey Hall, 225 19th Avenue S., Minneapolis, MN 55455; phone: 401-454-4208; fax: 612-626-8375; email: mpc@umn.edu; webpage: https://www.pop.umn.edu/index.php

The Integrated Health Interview Series (IHIS) project offers nearly 50 years of data from the National Health Interview Series, the longest-running, nationaly representative survey of health in the world. The IHIS data cover such topics as health care access and utilization, obesity, disability, and demographic and socioeconomic correlates of health (including such measures as global region of birth, family structure, occupation, and – beginning in 2013 – measures of sexual orientation and identity). Users of the IHIS data can create customized extracts of data from our web-based system, browse extensive, variable-specific documentation, and write to us with questions.

18. Minnesota Population Center/IDHS
University of Minnesota
Presenter(s): Elizabeth Boyle; 50 Willey Hall, 225 19th Ave S, Minneapolis, MN 55455; phone: 612-626-5274; email: mpc@umn.edu; webpage: www.ipums.org

The Integrated Demographic and Health Series (IDHS) is designed to facilitate analysis of Demographic and Health Survey Data across time and space. With features similar to those of the IPUMS projects, IDHS currently includes data from 39 samples from Egypt, Ethiopia, Ghana, India, Kenya, Malawi, Mali, Nigeria, Zimbabwe and over 1200 variables related to the health and fertility of women of childbearing age. All IDHS material is available for free over the Internet.

19. Minnesota Population Center
University of Minnesota
Presenter(s): Catherine Fitch; 225 19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, MN 55414; phone: 612-626-3923; webpage: www.pop.umn.edu and www.ipums.org

The Minnesota Population Center (MPC) is an interdisciplinary research and training center at the University of Minnesota. MPC is the world’s leading developer of harmonized historical and international census and survey data. More than 60,000 researchers worldwide have registered to use MPC-produced datasets. Our datasets include: IPUMS-USA, IPUMS-CPS, IPUMS-International, IHIS, IDHS, ATUS-X, TerraPop and NHGIS.

MPC data are available for free online at http://ipums.org/. We offer harmonized data that are coded consistently across time and place, without loss of information. Our data extract system allows researchers to specify years, variables, and places relevant to their own research. In addition to allowing researchers to access only the data they want in an easy to use format, we provide comprehensive online documentation that describes each variable, notes comparability issues, provides question wording, and displays codes and frequencies. We also have user support staff dedicated to helping users as needed with the extract system, data, and documentation.

20. Minnesota Population Center/ IPUMS-CPS
University of Minnesota
Presenter(s): Sarah Flood, Rob Warren, Cathy Fitch; 225 19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, MN 55455; phone: 612-624-5818; fax: 612-626-8375; email: ipums@umn.edu; webpage: http://cps.ipums.org/

The Integrated Public Use Microdata Series of the Current Population Survey (IPUMS-CPS) is a harmonized set of individual-level data and documentation from 1962 to the present. The CPS is a monthly U.S. household survey conducted jointly by the U.S. Census Bureau and the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The CPS is the primary source of information on the labor force characteristics of the civilian non-institutionalized U.S. population. The U.S. government uses CPS data to calculate poverty and unemployment rates. IPUMS-CPS covers topics such as race and ethnicity, education, income, occupation and industry, migration, disability, and veteran status.

In collaboration with Unicon Research Corporation, a leading disseminator of CPS data, IPUMS-CPS will expand dramatically in coming years. The IPUMS-CPS database currently contains Annual Social and Economic Supplement (ASEC) data collected in March for each year and non-March Basic Monthly Survey data from 1989-2010. We will continue to add additional Basic Monthly Survey data and Supplement data through 2016. In addition to allowing convenient access to all CPS data, IPUMS-CPS will also make the analysis of longitudinal CPS data radically easier by delivering linked files, constructing appropriate weights, and providing comprehensive documentation.

21. Minnesota Population Center/ATUS-X

University of Minnesota

Presenter(s): Sarah Flood, Sandra Hofferth; 225 19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, MN 55455; phone: 612-624-5818; email: atus-data@umn.edu; webpage: www.atusdata.org

The American Time Use Survey (ATUS) is an ongoing time diary survey funded by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics and fielded by the United States Census Bureau. Data collection began with some 20,000 interviews in 2003 and 14,000 responses have been collected each subsequent year. ATUS respondents are a nationally representative sample of persons aged 15 and older drawn from households who have concluded their participation in the Current Population Survey (CPS), the monthly labor force survey in the United States. For each activity during the day covered by the ATUS interview, respondents are asked what they were doing, where they were, and who was with them.

The ATUS Data Extract Builder (ATUS-X) is a web-based data dissemination system developed collaboratively by the University of Maryland Population Research Center and the University of Minnesota Population Center. The ATUS public use data are contained in multiple data files, some referring to the person, some to the household, and others to the individual activity. The ATUS-X eliminates the need to write programs to manipulate these separate files to produce a file that is suitable for analysis. It also simplifies the creation of time use variables broken out along multiple dimensions (e.g., time spent watching television at home in the company of one's spouse).

22. American Time Use Survey

Bureau of Labor Statistics

Presenter(s): Rose Woods; 2 Massachusetts Avenue NE, Suite 4675, Washington, DC 20212; phone: 202-691-5160; email: woods.rose.a@bls.gov; webpage: www.bls.gov/tus

The American Time Use Survey (ATUS) provides nationally representative estimates of how, where, and with whom Americans spend their time, and is the only federal survey providing data on the full range of nonmarket activities, from childcare to volunteering. Data collected in 2013—including newly-added data on eldercare—were published in June 2014. All ATUS data files are available to the public for free from the Bureau of Labor Statistics website. Research using ATUS data has been conducted in a variety of fields, on a variety of topics. Some examples are: human capital investments in children, household divisions of labor, time use by socioeconomic status, and physical and emotional well-being.

ASA Minority Fellowship Program Fellows

The following current and former MFP Fellows are participating in this year’s Annual Meeting Program. ASA and the 2014 Program Committee are pleased to highlight professional activities of these fellows. The ASA Minority Fellowship Program (MFP), in operation since 1974, has been a significant factor in recruiting minorities into Sociology. Fellows continue to make important and lasting contributions to the growth of the discipline. The Association takes great satisfaction in acknowledging this form of professional activity.

ASA Honors Program Students

The following undergraduate sociology students were accepted into the ASA Honors Program for 2014. This program requires nearly a week of participation in professional events held concurrently with the Annual Meeting. Students receive full credit for participation only after completion of the program on August 19th.

ASA and the 2014 Program Committee are pleased to highlight these students’ introduction to the profession of sociology. The Honors Program has a 40-year history of involving sociology students in the ASA Annual Meeting. This year’s students are wearing gold ribbons showing their Honors Program affiliation. Please welcome them to their first national meeting!

Rank: Professor/Associate Professor

The University of Texas at Austin Department of Mexican American and Latina/o Studies invites applications for a tenured position at the rank of Associate or Full Professor to begin Fall 2015. We seek a Social Scientist with a heavy focus on the U.S. Latino/a populations and whose research agenda offers critical and comparative approaches to Central American, Caribbean, and South American Diasporas in the U.S. The successful candidate will provide intellectual leadership and vision within the proposed department, bridging the core concentrations in Language and Cognition, Policy, Cultural, and Borderlands Studies.

The successful candidate will have a strong research agenda with specialization in one, or more of the following areas: mental health, immigration, youth cultures, demography, public health, language in contact, language ideologies, urban planning for interdisciplinary approaches to social justice issues in Latina/o Studies. The successful candidate will be expected to teach at all levels of our curriculum, to direct dissertations, MA reports, and honors theses, publish actively, and offer service to the Department, College and University.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology, Geography, Linguistics, Social Psychology, Sociology, Urban Planning, or a related field and must have demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching.

To apply, send letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and a list of three professional references to Dr. Nicole M. Guidotti-Hernández at http://apply.interfolio.com/25175. Electronic submissions only, please. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2014. Applications will continue to be accepted until the position is filled, however applications received after this date may not receive full consideration.

The University of Texas is an AA/EEO employer. A background check will be conducted on the successful candidate. Position funding is pending budgetary approval.

PSID  A national study of socioeconomics and health over lifetimes and across generations

- 38 waves of data collected on a nationally representative sample of over 9,000 U.S. families, allowing the study of the full life-course evolution and change within families over multiple generations
- Demographic, economic, sociological, and psychological data including fertility, marriage, birth histories, adult and childhood health conditions, poverty indicators, income, wealth, expenditures, food security, housing, mortgage distress and foreclosures
- Health and aging data, including retirement transitions, onset and duration of chronic health conditions, activities of daily living, instrumental activities of daily living, mortality, health care expenditures, pensions and wealth accumulation
- Freely accessible, web-based Data Center provides customized datasets in a variety of formats including SAS, Stata, SPSS, Excel, and Text
- Create Intergenerational datasets by linking multiple waves of PSID Data (e.g., multiple generations of family members including elderly parents and adult children)

Child Development Supplement and Transition into Adulthood Study

- Three waves of data on 3,500 children aged 0-12 from PSID families who were first interviewed in 1997, re-interviewed in 2002 at ages 5-18, and again in 2007 at ages 10-18
- Measures of child/adolescent cognitive, social and behavioral development, as well as details on extra-curricular activities, sports and community groups
- Rich information about family process and home environment
- Unique comprehensive national time-use information on children and youth of all ages
- Data from all waves of CDS and Transition into Adulthood 2005 - 2009, are now available at the PSID website

TWO ESSENTIAL SOCIOLOGY TEXTS UPDATED FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

For the first time in more than thirty years, these widely adopted editions of Emile Durkheim’s classic works have been revised and updated. New introductions by Durkheim scholar Steven Lukes, as well as improved, more fluid translations put these important texts into context for today’s students.

The Horowitz Foundation provides grants to researchers doing policy research in all areas of the social sciences. Grants are limited only to aspiring PhD students at the dissertation level whose project has received approval from their appropriate department head/university. Approximately fifteen grants are approved each year, in the amount of $7,500 per grant, with additional amounts awarded for certain research areas.

Targeted grants for policy research are awarded in fields including from anthropology, areas studies, economics, political science, psychology, sociology, and urban studies, as well as newer areas such as evaluation research. At the discretion of the trustees, special awards are made in criminal justice, communication, health and welfare, international relations, social theory and policy, scientific and technical research, and ethical issues.

Awards are determined solely on the basis of merit. Applicants are not required to be U.S. citizens or U.S. residents. For complete information about the application process, criteria for selection, previous recipients, and submission requirements, visit the Horowitz Foundation’s website (www.horowitz-foundation.org). Additional information is available at the Transaction Publishers exhibit at this meeting.

Applications for 2014 grants must be submitted in accordance with Foundation requirements no later than January 31, 2015. Early submission is strongly recommended. Awards are announced in June 2015.

Theory in Action is an international peer reviewed journal in its 7th year published quarterly by the independent Transformative Studies Institute (TSI), a non-profit educational think tank committed to academic freedom, social justice, and scholar-activism.

BREADTH OF SCOPE IN PROGRESSIVE THINKING – Theory in Action is a forum for research on the interconnections between theory and action that promotes social justice, broadly defined. While valuing radical and unconventional ideas, the journal does not privilege any particular theoretical tradition or approach. We are interested in how theory can inform activism to promote equality and democracy.

AUDACIOUS – It seeks research that ‘conventional’ journals would reject because they are too radical or break with prior molds. We welcome ALL scholarship and seek to transform reactionary elitist academia into a space of true independent thought without retaliations, reprisals, or the compartmentalization of knowledge.

EXTENSIVE EXPOSURE – Theory in Action is available in hundreds of libraries all over the world. Your work will reach a wide community of academics, professionals, and activists, across a range of relevant disciplines.

HIGH VISIBILITY via our online platform and partners such as EBSCO/H.W. Wilson, ProQuest, and more – The FULL TEXT (not just an abstract) of your article will be accessible globally and will benefit from the very latest in online search and discoverability technology. You can be assured of the highest attention to production values.

REVOLT!
The Next Great Transformation from Kleptocracy Capitalism to Libertarian Socialism through Counter Ideology, Societal Education, & Direct Action

By John Asimakopoulos
Foreword Peter McLaren

“A welcome return to the center stage of political discourse—and action—for the working class, and class consciousness. A must read for everyone that actually takes working-class self-determination seriously.” —Ramsey Kanaan, PM Press

“A must-read book for all those interested in real change and social justice stripped bare of rhetoric and fantasy.” —Sarat Colling, Political Media Review

“Machine-breakers were once threatened with the death penalty if they took direct action against the systems of production that reduced them to poverty. Kleptocracy capitalism describes a similar juxtaposition: the facilitation of systematic corporate exploitation running alongside policies which criminalise individuals who steal in order to live. John Asimakopoulos’ critique draws inspiration from the history of working-class activism and, in presenting a clear and accessible analysis of the system’s operation, he also calls for direct action to combat it, passionately giving voice to a popular and deeply held view—that the status quo must be challenged.” —Dr. Ruth Kinna, Editor, Anarchist Studies, UK

“In our increasingly crisis-ridden world, where the global working class is rediscovering its spine, we need visions of vastly different worlds to aspire to. And these visions must be linked to critiques of the existing society. Asimakopoulos combines these tasks in his latest book, Revolt! This book is recommended reading for anyone sickened by an increasingly violent, volatile, and boring status quo.” —Dr. Deric Shannon, Transformative Radio

ABOUT THE BOOK: Asimakopoulos develops a theory to action model for working class movement building toward societies based on direct democracy. Revolt! analyzes the Great Recession showing neoliberal globalization is intensifying capitalism’s contradictions resulting in perpetual crises and collapse. Reviewing the labor and civil rights movements Asimakopoulos argues social justice can only be achieved through a new movement which, short of the immediate overthrow of capitalism, can obtain with direct action specific working class victories that will set in motion transformative change.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR: John Asimakopoulos, is Full Professor of Sociology at the City University of New York and executive director of the Transformative Studies Institute (TSI), an educational think tank. He has advanced degrees in and has taught sociology, political science, and economics resulting in a unique interdisciplinary perspective. His students include undergraduates and graduates from diverse ethnic, economic, and educational backgrounds who honor him for over 20 years with the highest teaching evaluations. His research is focused on social movements, critical theory, and international political economy. Asimakopoulos is author of The Accumulation of Freedom (2012), Social Structures of Direct Democracy (forthcoming Brill), many journal articles, and is editor in chief of Theory in Action, an interdisciplinary peer-reviewed journal. The Wilding of America
Money, Mayhem, and the New American Dream
Sixth Edition
Charles Derber, Boston College

From the heights of society down to the saddest corners of America, we are currently experiencing an epidemic of “wilding”—acts of self-interested violence or greed that weaken the social fabric. Derber’s fully updated Sixth Edition of The Wilding of America takes the reader on a terrifying tour of this out-of-control individualism spreading across the United States.

Research Methods in the Social Sciences
Eighth Edition
Chava Frankfort Nachmias, University of Wisconsin, Madison
David Nachmias, Interdisplinary Center, Israel
Jack DeWaard, University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

With its clear presentation and integration of detailed real world examples, the acclaimed Research Methods in the Social Sciences accessibly illustrates the relevance of social science research without sacrificing key content. The 8th edition includes engaging new research studies, new study questions, a new feature assisting students with reading and writing research reports, and new coverage of conducting qualitative research and collecting data in our digital age.

Race, Class, and Gender in the United States
An Integrated Study
Ninth Edition
Paula S. Rothenberg, Senior Fellow, The Murphy Institute, City University of New York
Kelly S. Mayhew, San Diego City College

Like no other text, this best-selling anthology effectively introduces students to the complexity of race, class, gender, and sexuality in the United States and illustrates how these categories operate and interact in society. The combination of thoughtfully selected readings, deftly written introductions, and careful organization make Race, Class, and Gender in the United States, Ninth Edition, the most engaging and balanced presentation of these issues available today.
Index of Session Participants

Numbers refer to Session Numbers (not pages) in the Program Schedule.

For roundtable sessions, table numbers are given after the session number. (For example, a presenter at the tenth table on session 378 will have “378-10” in this index.) Please note that this index also includes session organizers.
