Theme: FOCUS ON SOCIAL STRUCTURE

The idea of social structure is at the very core of sociology, and a focus on social structure provides the theme for the 1974 meeting in Montreal.

Many different approaches have been developed to improve our understanding of social structures and their dynamics, as the program illustrates. They center attention on a great variety of subjects and problems, including the class structure and its significance for historical developments; the evolutionary process of increasing differentiation in social structures; the dialectical processes of structural change; the division of labor with its consequences for interdependence and conflict; the forms of associations that structure social relations; the structural-functional analysis of institutional subsystems; the status-sets and role-sets that help clarify the dynamics of social structures; the structural roots of deviance and rebellion; the interrelations between environment, population, and social structure on the ecosystem; the microstructures emerging in face-to-face interaction; the construction of social reality; the structural analysis of kinship and myths.

Everything in social life can be viewed with a focus on social structure as well as from a socio-psychological perspective. Whatever the specific orientation, the structural approach is designed to explain, not the behavior of individuals, but the structure of relations among groups and individuals that finds expression in this behavior. The ultimate objective is to advance by means of such sociological explanations our knowledge about society, how it changes, and how it can be changed.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Headquarters for the Annual Meeting is located in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, but many sessions, committee meetings, and other activities will be held at the Hotel Bonaventure, and a few at the Chateau Champlain. Throughout the Program, both the name of the hotel and the name of the room are indicated for each activity.

The Hotel Bonaventure is located on the upper floors of the Place Bonaventure and can be reached above ground by using the Mansfield Street exit of the Queen Elizabeth and walking two blocks to your left. It may also be reached by underground passages through the railroad station.

The Chateau Champlain is clearly visible from the Mansfield Street exit.

Services

The following services are located in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel:
1. Registration—Mezzanine
2. ASA Information—Mezzanine
3. Luncheon Roundtable Tickets—Mezzanine
4. Didactic Seminar Information—Mezzanine
5. ASA Executive Office—Yamaska, Ballroom Floor
6. Hospitality and Tours—Ballroom Foyer
7. Informal Exchange Contact Center—Yamaska, Ballroom Floor
8. Book Exhibits—Galerie, Ballroom Floor
9. Press Room—Chaudiere, Ballroom Floor
10. Paper Sales—Mezzanine
11. Message Center—Mezzanine
12. Telephone Message Center—Ballroom Foyer
13. Placement Center—Saint Laurent

ASA Information Desk

This desk will be staffed with ASA Executive Office personnel who will be able to give you information relating to membership, subscriptions, program, etc. In addition, some ASA publications will be available for purchase at this desk.

Hospitality and Tours

Murray Hill Tours will staff a booth in the Ballroom Foyer for the purpose of distributing information on sightseeing, shopping, restaurants, and the many attractions of Montreal. Commercial tours are available for those interested.

Press Room

Located in the Chaudiere Room, the Press Room will be under the direction of Larry Rhoades of the ASA Executive Office Staff. All representatives of the news media are invited to come to the Press Room for badges, press kits, and copies of the ASA Proceedings and available papers. Dr. Rhoades will be willing to arrange interviews and press conferences.

Paper Sales

Papers will go on sale at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday. The price per copy will be $1.00. In the event the supply of copies does not meet the demand, prepaid orders will be accepted and copies will be sent after the Meeting. Orders mailed to the Executive Office after the Meeting will be $1.50 per copy to cover the additional cost of mailing.

Working Papers, as described under “Program Notes” will be available without cost at the Paper Sales booth.

Authors who brought multiple copies of their papers rather than mailing them beforehand should take their papers to the Paper Sales booth.

The Executive Office regrets that many papers are not available because the authors either did not submit copies or preferred not to have them distributed. If a paper in which you are interested is not available, you should contact the author directly to secure a copy.

Copies of the Presidential Address and of the Plenary Session papers are for distribution only to the news media, as they will be published subsequent to the Meeting.

Professional Placement Service

The ASA will conduct its own employment service this year for the first time under the direction of Mr. Bill Clement. The service will be open Monday through Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Facilities will be available for reviewing job orders and applications, exchanging messages, and interviewing.

If you have pre-registered for this service, you should check in as soon as possible in order to activate your application or order. Others should register their opening or availability as soon as possible.

Representatives of institutions listing vacancies and conducting interviews will be required to adhere to the affirmative action guidelines which will be supplied to all users of the employment service.

Book Exhibits

You are urged to visit the Book Exhibits in the Gallery on the Ballroom Floor of the Queen Elizabeth. Sixty-seven individual exhibits are on display. The Exhibits will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Wednesday, and from 9:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Informal Exchange Contact Center

Despite the inclusion of a new category of sessions, Working Papers (see Program Notes), there is still an apparent need for unstructured get-togethers. Last year a new opportunity was provided with IECC and participation was encouraging enough to try it for another year.

If you have a research idea, a teaching problem, some theoretical interests, some methodological innovations, or any other item of sociological interest that you wish to discuss with colleagues who have a common concern, try the IECC. Ask for a form at the ASA headquarters office so you can register the nature of the topic and invite others to meet with you at a specified time and place for an informal exchange.

That form will then be posted on a special bulletin board designated as the “Informal Exchange Contact Center.” Others may then sign up and join you for a discussion.

Message Centers

A Center for the distribution of written messages will be available from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. each day. Only written messages will be accepted and must be prepared on index cards available at the center. Names of those for whom messages are left will be posted on a bulletin board and the actual messages kept in a file to insure privacy. You should check the board frequently for your name. Messages and other materials not claimed at the close of the Meeting will be destroyed.

Telephone messages will all be routed to the special center, located in the Ballroom Foyer, which the telephone company is maintaining for the convenience of the registrants. You should check this board frequently. When contacting your home or office after arrival, you should leave this direct-dial number for future contact: (514) 861–8401.

Both of these message centers are designed to aid communication. The most efficient means is still through the mail and message desk of your hotel. ASA tries to help, but the service it is able to provide is not adequate to the demand. Your cooperation is appreciated.
Baby Sitting

Although the ASA arranged a child care center for the Annual Meeting, it was necessary to cancel it because of lack of response. Baby sitters are available through the hotel operator and from accredited persons listed in the yellow pages of the telephone book.

Daily Bulletin

Each morning, copies of the bi-lingual Daily Bulletin will be available at strategic spots throughout the meeting areas in both hotels. Be sure to read your free copy for the latest information on program changes and additional activities.

Announcements may be published in the Daily Bulletin at the discretion of the ASA editor. Copy must be in the Yamaska Room before 2:30 p.m.

PROGRAM NOTES

Plenary Sessions

President Peter M. Blau's address will be on Monday evening at 8:30 p.m. Vice-President Matilda White Riley will preside. The recipients of the Sorokin Award and the Stouffer Award will be announced at this session.

Four additional Plenary Sessions on the “Approaches to the Study of Social Structure” will be presented as follows:

- Sunday, August 25, 8:30 p.m. Papers by Thomas Bottomore, Seymour Martin Lipset, and Lewis A. Coser, with Everett C. Hughes presiding. A reception honoring international guests will follow at 10:30 p.m.
- Tuesday, August 27, 4:30 p.m. Papers by Harold Garfinkel and Gerhard Lenski, with Mirra Komarovsky presiding and Robert Bierstedt as discussant.
- Tuesday, August 27, 8:30 p.m. Papers by George C. Homans and Robert K. Merton, with Rose L. Coer presiding and William J. Goode as discussant.
- Wednesday, August 28, 8:30 p.m. Papers by Talcott Parsons and James S. Coleman with S. N. Eisenstadt presiding and Walter Wallace as discussant.

Thematic Panel Sessions

Ten such sessions on the central theme “Focus on Social Structure” are encompassed in the program, organized by Gerald D. Suttles (session no. 25), Fred Strodtbeck (34), Barbara Heyns (46), Wolf Heydebrand (53), Robin M. Williams (63), Richard A. Peterson (76), Nathan Keyfitz (89), Charles B. Perrow (100), Melvin Seeman (112), and Terry N. Clark (130).

Didactic Seminars

Ten Didactic Seminars are included in this Program. They are designed primarily for the teaching sociologist seeking to keep abreast of recent scholarly trends and developments. The seminars will be led by outstanding scholars who are also first-rate teachers. Instead of formal papers to advance the art, the lecturers have prepared pedagogical materials to explain it.

Attendance at the Didactic Seminars is by paid reservation only. Those already registered for the Seminars should have received their tickets with their badges. Those who did not pre-register but wish to attend any of these Seminars should check at the appropriate desk on the Mezzanine for possible openings.

Didactic Seminars are scheduled for three hour periods and are listed here for you ready reference:

2. Monday, 8:30 a.m. Methods in Historical Sociology, Gilbert Shapiro
3. Monday, 8:30 a.m. Cross-National Comparisons, Robert M. Marsh
23. Monday, 2:30 p.m. Critical Sociology, Norman Birnbaum
24. Monday, 2:30 p.m. Teaching Statistics in Sociology, Herbert L. Costner
44. Tuesday, 8:30 a.m. Uses of Computers in Teaching Sociology, James A. Davis
45. Tuesday, 8:30 a.m. Simulations and Games, Paul R. Wozniak and Richard L. Dukes
90. Wednesday, 2:30 p.m. Policy Research: Theory and Methods, Amitai Etzioni
91. Wednesday, 2:30 p.m. An Easy Way to Analyze Qualitative Variables: ECTA, Leo A. Goodman
121. Thursday, 2:30 p.m. Cohort Analysis, Norman B. Ryder
122. Thursday, 2:30 p.m. Deductive Theorizing, Clarence Schrag

Luncheon Roundtable Discussions

The Luncheon Roundtables are listed under Session 21 on Monday, Session 62 on Tuesday, Session 87 on Wednesday, and Session 118 on Thursday. Some tickets are still available for some of the luncheons. A bulletin board listing such availability is at the Luncheon Ticket Booth on the Mezzanine. Also listed are the luncheon numbers for which the presenters have left materials for distribution to participants.

Persons who have received a confirmation of their luncheon reservation should have received their tickets along with their badges. If, however, your check and reservation were received in the Executive Office after August 12, they were not processed and a refund will be made at a later date. In such cases, please check at the Ticket Booth.

Cancellations will not be accepted later than 48 hours prior to the scheduled luncheon. You may, however, sell your ticket to someone else.

No one will be admitted to the luncheon room without a ticket. No one will be permitted to sit in on a discussion without a ticket. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Working Papers

An innovation for this Annual Meeting, Sessions on Working Papers consist of papers on preliminary research findings and theoretical developments. Papers were not refereed and all those submitted by the deadline have been included.

Posted in various locations on the Mezzanine are the topics, authors, and brief summaries of the papers, as well as the time and location of presentations. Each paper has been assigned a number. Copies of these papers have been supplied by the authors and are available at the Paper Sales Desk at no charge. However, an individual may request a single copy of no more than five of these papers.

Papers should be secured and read prior to the scheduled discussion as authors are not permitted to read their papers at the sessions.

| Business Meetings |

Two ASA Business Meetings, open to all members, are scheduled for Wednesday morning from 10:30 to 12:30 and Thursday morning from 8:30 to 10:30. Members wishing to present resolutions should submit them to a member of the Executive Office staff in the Yamaska Room not later than 3:00 p.m. on Tuesday or Wednesday for presentation the following morning. Such submitted resolutions will be given priority on the agenda. Resolutions not submitted beforehand will be placed at the end of the agenda, time permitting.

Social Events

Four social events are scheduled under the auspices of the ASA. All will begin at 10:30 p.m. immediately following the evening Plenary Sessions.

Sunday—A reception honoring international guests
Monday—A Dutch-Treat party

MACMILLAN PUBLISHING CO., INC.
100A Brown Street, Riverside, New Jersey 08075
THE FREE PRESS announces the 25th Anniversary of the publication of SOCIAL THEORY AND SOCIAL STRUCTURE by Robert K. Merton

Since the first edition of SOCIAL THEORY AND SOCIAL STRUCTURE appeared in 1949, this text has been hailed as a modern classic in the social sciences.

In 1949, SOCIAL THEORY AND SOCIAL STRUCTURE: "... the single most systematic statement of the structural-functional approach..."—Wilbert E. Moore, Public Opinion Quarterly

"... Merton displays a becoming modesty, a quiet competence, and shrewd analytical insights."—Robert Bierstedt, American Sociological Review

In 1957, the Revised Edition:

"... shows the rare ability to render explicit and ordered fundamental ideas all too often implicit and unordered; to relate and extend the meanings of apparently unrelated pieces of sociological research; and to codify both research procedures and theoretical ideas."—William L. Kolb, American Journal of Sociology

In 1968, the Enlarged Edition:

"In each of these essays, ideas which were first presented as introductory comments to previous editions of the book are brilliantly and systematically elaborated in much greater detail."—CHOICE

Frame Analysis deals with the way situations are defined and with the vulnerabilities to which experience is subject. The various alternatives to ordinary activity—dreams, experiments, ritual, games, demonstrations, rehearsals, deceptions, fictional dramas, playfulness—are discriminated and initial effort made to formulate the distinctive conventions of each. This mode of analysis is then applied to the worlds sustained in everyday talk. Throughout a means is illustrated for opening up the subjective to systematic sociological study.

"One of the greatest writers alive today... Goffman's works throw a weird but brilliant light.... In the last decade, Goffman's work has been a source of power and inspiration, and we will need him even more for the work that lies ahead."—Marshall Berman, New York Times Book Review
We don't think 10 titles are good enough for you...

1. ON THE NATURE OF ORGANIZATIONS, by Peter M. Blau, Columbia University. Systematically compares and quantitatively analyzes numerous varied organizations to form a formal theory of organization structure. Derives an exchange theory from research on interaction in work groups. 1974 in Press approx. 400 pages $14.50.

3. EDUCATION, OPPORTUNITY, AND SOCIAL INEQUALITY: Changing Prospects in Western Society, by Raymond Boudon, University of Paris. Discusses why the surge in the development of education in most Western countries since World War II has had so little impact in fostering the cause of social equality and economic opportunity. 1974 220 pages $12.50.

6. POLITICS AND POVERTY: Modernization and Response in Five Poor Neighborhoods, by Stanley B. Greenberg, Yale University. An in-depth study of poor, inner-city neighborhoods—the birth and development of these communities, the dynamics of life in them, and the political attitudes that prevail there. 1974 282 pages $12.95.

8. THE ROOTS OF URBAN DISCONTENT: Public Policy, Municipal Institutions, and the Ghetto, by Peter M. Rossi, The Johns Hopkins University, Richard A. Berk, Northwestern University, and Bettye K. Edson, University of Michigan. Shows how local institutions vary from city to city, and how these differences affect citizens and are related to the politics of the city. 1974 469 pages $14.95.

10. MAYORS IN ACTION: Five Approaches to Urban Governance, by John P. Kretz and Paul R. Lawrence, both of Harvard University. Contains the results of interdisciplinary, comparative research on the behavior of 20 mayors during their administrations in the 1960's. 1974 approx. 300 pages $14.50 (tent.)

11. CHANGING PERSPECTIVES IN THE SCIENTIFIC STUDY OF RELIGION, edited by Allan W. Etzioni, Washington College. Examines the methods and goals of contemporary religious experience to give insight into the ways religion is practiced, and may be practiced in the future. 1974 $14.50.

12. TRANCE, HEALING, AND HALLUCINATION: Three Field Studies in Religious Experience, by Felicitas Goodman, Denison University, Jeannette H. Kenney, Capital University, and Esther Pressel, Colorado State University. These three unusual field studies suggest there is a clear, researchable connection between altered states of consciousness, healing, hallucination, and the religious experience. 1974 in Press.

13. HARE KRISHNA AND THE COUNTERCULTURE, by J. Stillman Judah, Theological Union Common Library. Discusses the Hare Krishna Movement, its devotees' protests against the American forms of institutionalized religion, and how their new religion gives them new meaning and freedom from drugs and alienation. 1974 in Press.

Books from Russell Sage Foundation

THE NEW FEMINIST MOVEMENT
Maren Lockwood Carden.
A detailed study of the new women's movement and those organizations which form a major part of that movement. Ms. Carden divides the movement into two parts: the hundreds of small consciousness-raising and action groups, and the large, formally structured organizations, such as National Organization for Women (NOW), discussing each in terms of strategies and actions, structure, members' reasons for participation, and the relationship between structure and ideology. Objective and comprehensive, the study is based on participant observation and interviews with members and local and national leaders in seven representative cities during 1969-1971. 1974. 226 pages. $8.95

SOCIAL INDICATOR MODELS
Kenneth C. Land and Seymour Spilerman, Editors.
This book, an outgrowth of a Conference on Social Indicator Models sponsored by Russell Sage Foundation in 1972, describes the important interrelationships that exist between social indicators. It brings together a number of contributions as exemplary applications of some of the types of mathematical models which may be useful in the analysis of changes in social indicators and social policy. The chapters deal with a diverse array of both objective and subjective social indicators. 1974. Approx. 500 pages. $20.00

LAWYER AND CLIENT: WHO'S IN CHARGE?
Douglas E. Rosenthal.
To what extent can and should people participate in dealing with the personal problems they bring to consulting professionals? This is the central issue of this book, which presents two alternative models for the conduct of such professional-client relationships. Rosenthal presents concrete evidence that lay participation in complex decision making need not be inefficient; he gives practical advice to clients and to lawyers for dealing with each other more effectively; and he presents the first clear picture of the actual and often dramatic experiences of accident victims, and what it is like to make a personal injury claim. 1974. 230 pages. $9.95

JUSTICE AND REFORM
The Formative Years of the OEO Legal Services Program
Earl Johnson, Jr.
A study of the origins, philosophy, management, and impact of the OEO Legal Services Program. The book begins with a description of the two disparate groups that joined to create the OEO, then follows the development of the program through its policy- and priority-making decisions, to its actual activities in law reform. It contains the first evaluation of the economic, political, and social impact of the Program as of 1972, and speculates on the future of government-sponsored legal aid in the U.S. 1974. 456 pages. $13.50

Books from Russell Sage Foundation

SOCIAL CHANGE IN A METROPOLITAN COMMUNITY
Olin Dudley Duncan, Howard Schuman, and Beverly Duncan.
The major purpose of this book is to demonstrate how measures of social change can be developed, utilizing past efforts in survey research. An omnibus survey, carried out in 1971, was designed chiefly as a selective repetition of questions asked in the 1950s. The results provide measures of change in such areas as marital and sex roles, child rearing, social participation, religious behavior, and racial attitudes. The statistical presentations are presented in easily accessible form—usually as simple percentage comparisons. 1973. 136 pages. Paperbound: $3.95 Hardbound: $7.95

ACADEMIC WOMEN ON THE MOVE
Alice S. Rossi and Ann Calderwood, Editors.
In twenty-one chapters especially written for this book by distinguished women, hundreds of studies on the problems and status of academic women, from their entry as students through their career development, are brought together and compared. In addition, the book gives a detailed account of the emergence of political activism among academic women in the 1968-1972 period, with analytical chapters on possible legal, external, and internal routes to rid academe of sex discrimination. A wide-ranging exploration of recent professional and political efforts to improve the status of women in American academic life, the book will serve as an invaluable research and reference work for years to come. 1973. 576 pages. $12.50

AGING AND SOCIETY
Matilda White Riley, Editor.
Prepared under the direction of Matilda White Riley, the three volumes of Aging and Society constitute an integrated behavioral science approach to a better understanding of aging as a universal process and of the increasingly pervasive problems encountered by people in their middle and later years. The respective volumes set out the relevant social science research on aging, the implications of these findings for professional practice, and a comprehensive sociological theory of age stratification. Throughout, the major aim is to stimulate both the application of existing knowledge and the development of new knowledge through further research.

Volume I: AN INVENTORY OF RESEARCH FINDINGS
Matilda White Riley and Anne Foner. 1968. 636 pages. $25.00

Volume II: AGING AND PROFESSIONS
Edited by Matilda White Riley, John W. Riley, Jr., and Marilyn E. Johnson. 1969. 410 pages. $9.95

Kédang
A Study of the Collective Thought of an Eastern Indonesian People
R. H. BARNES, University of Southern California. This structural analysis of the social order of Kédang provides a demonstration of the theory that a unity of social organization, myth, and ritual exists for some Indonesian cultures with a non-reciprocal marriage system. (Oxford Monographs on Social Anthropology)
1974 304 pp. 24 figs.; 16 plates $22.50

Portrait of a Greek Mountain Village
JULIET DU BOULAY. The traditional beliefs and values of Greek village society center around the house and wife-mother figure. The author asserts that social behavior patterns are derivatives of these values and of the role system which is based on ideal masculine and feminine types. (Oxford Monographs on Social Anthropology)
1974 416 pp. $19.25

Population and Its Problems
The Wolfson College Lectures 1973
Edited by H. B. BARRY. EDUCATION AS CULTURAL IMPERIALISM
MARTIN CARNOY, Stanford University

"...An important book. To the best of my knowledge it is the first book which describes the central place which schooling has had in the development of the world-wide era of industrial society which we now face...putting concrete yet synthetic historical facts behind the hypothesis of the imperialist use of the hidden curriculum of schooling, something I tried to do, failed at and gave up a couple of years ago....This is a book which should become a classic in departments of education within the next half dozen years."—Ivan Illich

MASCUINE/FEMININE OR HUMAN?
An Overview of the Sociology of Sex Roles
By Janet Saltzman Chafetz, University of Houston

This book covers at an introductory level the various topics that may be encompassed under the rubric of the Sociology of Sex Roles. It emphasizes both the masculine and feminine roles, especially as they exist in contemporary America. The book consistently incorporates standard sociological concepts and theories, but does not presuppose substantial knowledge of the discipline. The book could be used as a text in courses in the Sociology of Sex Roles or Women's Studies courses. It is also designed to be used as supplementary reading in Introductory Sociology and Marriage and Family.

THEORIES AND PARADIGMS IN CONTEMPORARY SOCIOLOGY
Edited by R. Serge Denison, Orel Callahan and Mark H. Levine, Bowling Green State University

This reader addresses the major substantive schools in sociological theory: conflict, functionalism, interactionism, systematic and phenomenology. The selections have been chosen on the basis of readability and representativeness of their positions. The main advantage of the book is its mix of traditional material with contemporary. Designed for the undergraduate theory course, the book has focus, structure, and is readable.

ROBERT PRESTHUS

Professor Presthus’ most recent and most important book is a landmark study of interest groups and their impact on the policy process in North America. It is the result of five years’ research in which 2400 legislators, interest-group executives and higher civil servants in the U.S. and Canada were interviewed in detail. The extent of the data collected makes this the most ambitious cross-national comparative investigation of policy-making yet undertaken. The findings are presented within two theoretical frameworks, elite accommodation and interaction theory. The conclusions will alter opinions about and the study of political interest groups.

BASIC SOCIOLOGY: Structure, Interaction, and Change
Jon M. Shepard

This concise, highly readable, and often humorous introduction to the basic perspectives, concepts, and theories of sociology emphasizes both social-structural and social-psychological perspectives as the unifying theme. Topics covered include the components and concepts of social structure; social stratification, community structure, and formal organizational structure; social-psychological aspects of organization, socialization, and group structure; social and demographic change, urbanization, and changing institutional structure. Chapter outlines; end-of-chapter overviews and previews; lists of additional sources and readings; diagrams and illustrations. 355 pages; $8.95 (tentative); August, 1974. Instructor's Manual.

CONFLICT AND CONSENSUS: An Introduction to Sociology, Second Edition
Harold M. Hodges, Jr.
Extensively revised and updated, this thorough and unified introduction to major sociological concepts focuses on the emergent postindustrial society and its strains, conflicts, and disequilibria. The Second Edition continues its emphasis on new contributions to understanding social life and also treats in more detail such topics as radical empiricism, ethnomethodology, and the work of Goffman, Laing, and Marcuse. The emphasis on powerlessness, poverty, conflict, and competing schools of thought and social analysis has been strengthened. 558 pages; $10.95; February, 1974.

Introductory sociology students need to understand the scope and nature of the sociological perspective. They need to see it for themselves. And that’s exactly what Sociology: Understanding Social Behavior, by Bates and Julian, is all about.

Continued reinforcement and application of the sociological perspective through a clear, wide-ranging text, and provoking questions and photographs, provide both majors and non-majors with a solid understanding of the sociologist’s viewpoint.

The Instructor’s Manual includes sections on suggested lecture topics, chapter objectives and summaries, tests, questions, and student projects.

It’s just the book you’ve been looking for.

See for yourself.

YOUTH AND HISTORY
Tradition and Change in European Age Relations, 1770 to the Present
by JOHN R. GILLIS
A Volume in the STUDIES IN SOCIAL DISCONTINUITY Series
Using diverse and little-known sources from the eighteenth century to the present in order to place modern youth cultures in historical perspective, Professor Gillis has written what may become a standard work on youth. A detailed pioneering study of the changing social definition of youth in Western society from the beginnings of industrialization to the present, it sets the social history of the young, together with their relations with parents, employers, teachers, and other authority figures, in the context of epochal changes in the nature of the family, the economy, and the school.

SYSTEM AND FUNCTION
Towards a Theory of Society
by PIOTR SZTOMPA
A Volume in the STUDIES IN ANTHROPOLOGY Series
FROM AN ADVANCE REVIEW: "Sztompa has produced a theoretical tour de force on the subject of functionalist theory. He has rooted it into the fabric of the philosophy of science, and has thrown some new light on the historical development of functionalist theory. But most of all, he has laid out the varieties and dimensions of functionalist thought in a most convincing way, and has given what I consider to be a most intelligent discussion of the major controversies surrounding that body of thought. His work is objective, exhaustive, patient, and painstaking. It effectively lays to rest many of the ongoing controversies about functionalist theory."—NEIL J. SMELSER, University Professor of Sociology, University of California, Berkeley.
1974, 200 pp., $11.95/£5.75

CONFLICT SOCIOLOGY
Towards an Explanatory Science
by RANDALL COLLINS
In a remarkable display of daring—backed by substantive reasoning, argumentation, and discussion—this volume attempts to clear away the obstacles that, for so long, have stood in the way of a genuinely scientific sociology. Randall Collins, a pioneering young sociologist, tries to remedy, in his book, what he terms the excessive fragmentation and topicality of sociological research and the confusion of explanatory goals with ideological, practical, and aesthetic stratification, informal status cultures, sexual and age roles, organizations, politics, mobility, the distribution of wealth, and intellectual communities. The result is a unified view of what sociology is and should be: the author calls it "conflict sociology."

edited by JAMES G. COLEMAN and PETER H. ROSSI
Social Science Research features articles that describe the use of quantitative methods in the empirical solution of substantive problems. Articles of particular interest will illustrate the applications of methods to more than one field, e.g., psychometric techniques that are also relevant to economics, or econometric methods currently used in anthropology. The editors will also give special attention to good examples of methods that are restricted to only one particular social science.

PRINCIPLES and PROCEDURES
For research. Interviewing. Sociology of education today.
Statistics For Social Scientists: A Coordinated Learning System
By Frank J. Kohout, University of Iowa
Teaches students the basic statistical principles and procedures they'll need to conduct meaningful social research. Makes the material easier to understand by illustrating the procedures with examples drawn from actual social science research situations. There are learning objectives at the beginning of each unit and a self-test at the close of each unit. And the exercises are incorporated within the text, so students may assess their progress. Instructor's Manual will be available.
1974 452 pages $9.95
Conversations at Random: Survey Research As Interviewers See It
By Jean M. Converse and Howard Schuman, both of the University of Michigan
Based on actual experiences, this book discusses survey research from the interviewers' points of view, which means students learn the most effective interviewing methods from other interviewers' successes—a more meaningful way for students to learn skills than memorizing rules. Many anecdotes in the book are arranged to trace the stages of real experience. Summarizes specific training suggestions in the appendix.
1974 111 pages paper $3.75
Education in Crisis: A Sociological Analysis of Schools and Universities in Transition
By Ronald G. Corwin, Ohio State University
A basic text on sociology of education, it provides students with a balanced, non-technical treatment of the problems and controversial issues confronting education today. Including the problems of the bureaucracy in education, role conflict in the university, student activism, equality of educational opportunity and more. And because it views all levels of education within a common framework, students can see parallels among them.

Sociological Perspective provides the basics necessary for the study of sociology. This new Third Edition has been expanded to reflect an increased concern with social interaction, resulting in a new chapter, "The Dynamics of Social Behavior," and the integration of this new perspective throughout the text. The book retains the basic perspective of functional analysis within a context of social change.

WHAT DO JOHN O'NEILL, AL SYZMANSKI, RAY RIST, AND JIM JOHNSON HAVE IN COMMON WITH YOU?

A desire to examine and act upon contemporary social problems and issues. Furthermore, they are participating in a new series by SCOTT MCNALL entitled A NEW SOCIOLOGY:

This series addresses itself to the uses of sociology. The NEW SOCIOLOGY recognizes that sociologists have an obligation to ask critical questions about society that allow a student to begin to understand how his society operates. Thus, each volume addresses itself in a critical fashion to a specific area, and suggests alternatives and solutions for contemporary problems. This is the first integrated series to couple understanding with a potential for action.

Beginning in September, 1975, look for this series.

In January, 1975, look for:

THE SOCIETY
OF SCIENCE

Theoretical & Empirical Investigations

Robert K. Merton

Edited and with an Introduction by Norman W. Storer

"The classic essays in this book...should be required reading amongst sociologists, historians and scientists...[The Sociology of Science] has provided us with new understanding of the way that science works by looking on the scientific community as itself a social system." --John Ziman, F.R.S., Minerva

"The essays not only exhibit a diverse and penetrating analysis...but also make genuinely good reading because of the wit, the liveliness and the rich learning with which Merton writes." --Philip Morrison, Scientific American

"This collection of papers is and is likely to remain, for a long time, one of the most important books in sociology." --Joseph Ben-David, The New York Times Book Review

The Structure of Sociological Theory
By Jonathan H. Turner, University of California, Riverside

Highly acclaimed, this brilliant analysis focuses on the major theoretical perspectives which currently dominate modern sociological theory. The historical antecedents to each perspective are traced and their major proponents discussed. This comprehensive discussion of contemporary theory is organized around these four viewpoints: functional theorizing, conflict theorizing, interactionist theorizing, and exchange theorizing.

When You Think of Graduate Departments of Sociology, Do You Find Yourself Asking . . .

How many are there? Where are they located?

Which ones emphasize offerings in Ecology, Law and Society, Religion, Deviance, Medical Sociology, Education, Mathematical Sociology, etc?

Who is on the faculty at _________? What are their specialties?

How many students do they have? Who are the recent PhD’s?

Who chairs the department?

How much is tuition? What financial aid is available?

If you would like the answer to these and other questions about 192 departments in the United States and 21 in Canada, and one department each from Lebanon and Australia then you need the—
