EXPLORING THE FRONTIERS OF THE POSSIBLE: SOCIAL INVENTIONS FOR SOLVING HUMAN PROBLEMS

The theme for the 1981 meeting in Toronto, "Exploring the Frontiers of the Possible: Social Inventions for Solving Human Problems," is designed to suggest a fruitful reorientation of the direction of sociological research. Our aim is to focus on a direction of research and theory that will advance science and also strengthen the capacity of sociologists to discover solutions to human problems.

In sociology, there is a long tradition for study of social problems. Upon completing analysis of a social problem, even the purists among us tend to feel some obligation to suggest what might be done to cope with the problem under study. Such prescriptions rarely appear helpful to practitioners. The solutions proposed seem too general and vague. Even if he has the patience and perseverance to read the sociological article, the practitioner has difficulty in translating general statements into specific actions.

How to bridge this gap between theory and practice? One possibility is for the sociologist to live and work within an organization as a participant observer involved in the problem-diagnosing and solution-seeking process. While this is possible, there will be few among us who can gain such an intense and intimate involvement and still find time to reflect upon their experience and observations, to describe, to analyze problems, and to publish our findings.

For most of us, the more practical strategy is based upon the recognition that people out there, beyond our academic institutions, are coming to recognize the ineffectiveness or traditional solutions to common problems. As best they can, they seek to arrive at new diagnoses of their problems and to create social inventions designed to solve those problems.

Defining Social Invention

I define a social invention as a new and apparently promising strategy designed to solve some persistent and serious human problems. It may take the form of a new organizational structure or a new set of interorganizational relations. It may involve a new set of procedures for shaping human interactions and activities and the relations of humans to the natural and human environment. It may be a new policy, providing that policy has gone beyond rhetoric and can be observed in action.

Two words in this definitional statement need further definition. Let us leave to historians the task of determining whether what people think they have invented is absolutely new in the sense that no human beings anywhere have ever worked out their problems this way before. To sociologists, the important point is that the people facing the problems have worked out their own intended solutions and, even when they consciously copied something done elsewhere, at least they have had to make adaptations to fit the invention to their local scene. Promising means simply a very preliminary judgment that the invention might turn out to be useful enough to warrant study. It remains for research to arrive at a more systematic evaluation.

Method of Research

In this line of research, the first requirement is to get out into the field to find social inventions worth studying. That means observing and interviewing the actors in the case and seeking the documentation on past events, programs, and procedures. When the data gathered seem to fall into a meaningful pattern, the sociologist works out a systematic description of the problem situation and of the social invention the actors have devised.

Then the sociologist needs to evaluate the effectiveness of the invention. This may involve gathering concrete and material indices of change that can be attributed to the invention as well as an assessment of the attitudes and perceptions of members or the organization affected by the invention.

But that is not all. The sociologist can make his most distinctive contribution in discovering the theoretical principles underlying the success or failure of an invention. The inventors themselves will be invaluable sources of information and ideas, but generally they will be so immersed in their own situations that they find it impossible to separate the distinctive characteristics of the invention from the conditions under which it is applied. The potential transferability of a social invention depends upon discovering the theoretical principles underlying its operation and the characteristics of the social and material environment into which it must be fitted in order to solve human problems.

This search for basic theoretical principles should lead us far beyond the evaluation of success or failure. The first model of a mechanical invention almost never measures up to the hopes of its inventor, and technological progress would be impossible if inventors stopped their work upon the failure of the first model. Unfortunately, in social life many potentially important inventions are considered discredited when the first model fails to achieve its promised results. In such cases, the sociologist can perform an invaluable service in discovering the flaws in the initial model which, when corrected, might make the invention viable, or in discovering the particular conditions of the socioeconomic and material environment into which the social invention must be fitted if it is to achieve its promise. It is at this point that sociological theory can make its most valuable contribution to solving human problems.

Roster of Pre-Registrants—Concourse

ASA Executive Office—VIP Room

The Headquarters Office will be staffed from Sunday through Friday by Executive Office personnel who are in attendance for the purpose of keeping the convention operating and solving any problems that may arise. The demands on staff time and equipment are limited to official ASA functions. Individuals or groups requiring office equipment must arrange for the rental of this equipment directly with suppliers. Several commercial reproduction centers are located throughout the underground shopping area and at the Eaton Centre.

ASA Information Desk—Concourse

This desk is staffed with ASA Executive Office personnel who will be able to provide information on membership, subscriptions, etc. Copies of the 1981 Directory of Members, Directory of Departments, and Guide to Graduate Departments of Sociology are available for purchase, as are other ASA publications. Sample copies of ASA journals are also available for inspection.

Book Exhibits—Sheraton Hall

All Annual Meeting attendees are encouraged to browse through the Book Exhibits located in Sheraton Hall. Exhibits will open on Monday, August 24 and will close on Thursday, August 27. Exhibit hours: Monday—Wednesday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.; Thursday, 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Sheraton Hall is located one level below the ASA Registration Area on the Lower Concourse. Fifty-eight exhibitors are in attendance this year. (See the "Directory of Exhibitors" listed elsewhere in this Program for specific booth locations.)

Child Care—Oxford/Carleton

Child care is being provided by personnel from Christopher Robin Service in Toronto. Care will be available during daytime program sessions (Monday thru Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.) for children 3 months and older. Evening care can be arranged on an individual basis; check with child care personnel for details.

Parents may either arrange to pick up their children for lunch or bring a bag lunch with them in the morning. Child care personnel will take older children outside the hotel for walks, and snacks will be provided. A limited number of toys and games will be available.

Payment again this year will be by the day and half-day, rather than by the hour: Canadian $5 for a half-day (8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.) and Canadian $10 for an entire day. (All cash payments must be in Canadian funds.) Children may come for shorter periods, but the half-day fee will still apply in order to encourage more stable use, discourage frequent dropping in and out (which is difficult for both children and staff), and to simplify payment. Upon arrival at the child care room, the staff will ask your cooperation in completing a questionnaire requesting information on special instructions for snacks, naps, medication, etc.

Currency Exchange

All cash transactions (such as ASA Annual Meeting registration fees, paper sales, luncheon and didactic seminar fees, child care fees, etc.) will require Canadian currency. If you did not have an opportunity to obtain Canadian currency from your own bank before departing for Toronto, there is an exchange service located in the Sheraton Centre for your convenience. Deak-Perera Canada, Inc., has an office located in the Main Lobby of the Sheraton which will be open during the following hours:

- Sunday, Noon until 6 p.m.
- Monday thru Thursday, 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.
- Friday, 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Employment Service—Civic Ballroom

The Employment Service, again under the very capable management of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clement, will be open Sunday, 12:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.; Monday through Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.; and Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Facilities will be available for reviewing employment listings, exchanging messages, and interviewing. If you have pre-registered for the Employment Service, report to the Civic Ballroom as soon as possible to activate your file. If you have not registered, you should do so as early as possible. All persons using the Service must register for the Annual Meeting as well as for the use of the Employment Service. Once registered, you will be issued a pass permitting your entrance to the Service any time it is open. No one will be admitted without a pass. Fees for the use of the Employment Service are: ASA member applicants—Canadian $6; non-ASA member applicants—Canadian $23.50; Employers—Canadian $29.50.

Interpreters for the Deaf

The Department of Sociology and Social Work at Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., is sponsoring interpreters at several ASA sessions. Interpreters will be present during the Plenaries (Sessions 49, 100 and 193) as well as Sessions 60, 71 and 163. In order to allow maximum accessibility to interpreters, the front section to the left of the speaker’s stand is reserved for deaf and hearing impaired attendees during these sessions.

Paper Sales—Simcoe/Dufferin

Papers will go on sale at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday at the price of Canadian $1.15. All session papers which were submitted to the Executive Office for duplication and/or distribution at the Annual Meeting appear on the list of "Available Papers" (available in the Paper Sales Room); papers may be purchased as long as supplies last. Orders for future delivery cannot be accepted. Requests for papers which have sold out or were not supplied must be sent directly to the author(s); in order to facilitate this procedure, a list of authors' addresses may be purchased for Canadian $1.15. The Executive Office is not able to return unsold copies of papers to individual authors after the Meeting; however, authors may pick up remaining copies of their own papers (including those that the ASA duplicated) on Friday between 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Press—VIP Room
Professor Fred Koenig, Tulane University, will again this year act as press coordinator; media representatives are invited to stop by the VIP Room for badges, programs; and abstracts.

Roster of Pre-Registrants—Concourse
A roster containing the convention addresses of pre-registrants is posted on a bulletin board in the registration area. A Locator File will be maintained at the ASA Information Desk as the meeting progresses.

PROGRAM NOTES

Plenary Sessions
Plenary Sessions for the 76th Annual Meeting will focus on research and experience in applying sociology in industry, government, and agriculture. These sessions will also be characterized by a strong representation of international interests and participants.

At the first Plenary Session (Session 49) scheduled for Monday evening and chaired by Vice President Renee C. Fox, sociologists will consider their roles as participant observers in public policy-making in high government positions. Speakers for the session, "Sociologists Shaping Government Policy", will be Harold Shepard, who served as counselor on aging to President Carter, and Gay Rocher, formerly Deputy Minister for Cultural Development, Quebec Government, and Professor of Sociology in the Institut de Recherches en Droit Publique, Universite de Montreal.

In his Tuesday evening Presidential Address (Session 100), entitled "Social Inventions for Solving Human Problems", William Foote Whyte will seek to demonstrate how a focus on social inventions may contribute to advances in scientific knowledge as well as in sociological practice, using case examples and drawing from industry and agriculture as illustrations. During this session, presentation of the ASA Career of Distinguished Scholarship Award, the ASA Distinguished Contribution to Scholarship Award, the ASA Distinguished Contributions to Teaching Award and the Jessie Bernard Award will be made.

"New Perspectives on the World of Work: Organizational Innovations Enhancing the Quality of Working Life" is the Thursday evening Plenary Session (Session 195) organized by Eric Trist, one of the most influential pioneers in developing the theory and practice of introducing change into socio-technical systems. Also appearing on the session will be Einar Thorsrud, Director of the Work Research Institute in Oslo, Norway; Fred Emery, who has been leading an applied research program in Australia; and Richard Walton, Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Thematic Sessions
It is customary for the President to select a theme for the Annual Meeting; for 1981, President William Foote Whyte has chosen "Exploring the Frontiers of the Possible: Social Inventions for Solving Human Problems". The sixteen Thematic Sessions organized by the Program Committee are devoted to investigating the many aspects of the theme and reflect the inventive thought, exploratory character, and wide scope of the Committee's deliberations. Organizers chosen for the Thematic Sessions were given considerable latitude regarding how they wished to present these topics, and this is evident in the variety of exciting sessions outlined. For details on the topics and participants, refer to the following sessions:

Monday, Sessions 1, 10, 28, 40
Tuesday, Sessions 50, 62, 83, 94
Wednesday, Sessions 101, 133, 146
Thursday, Sessions 155, 164, 184
Friday, Sessions 196, 206
Didactic Seminars

Designed for the teaching sociologist seeking to keep abreast of recent scholarly trends and developments, Didactic Seminars are conducted by experts who are invited by the Program Committee and who are considered to be at the pioneering edges of a given field.

Didactic Seminar speakers will present pedagogical materials to explain specialized developments within their topic areas. All seminars are scheduled for two hours, but provisions have been made for longer periods where desirable.

Attendance at the Didactic Seminars is by paid reservation only and is limited to 35 at each seminar. Those already enrolled should have received their tickets with their badges, but should check at the Luncheons/Seminars Desk in the Registration Area for any materials the presenters might have provided for distribution. Those who did not reserve in advance but who wish to attend should check at the Luncheons/Seminars Desk for possible openings.

No one will be admitted without a paid reservation; tickets will be collected at the door.

Didactic Seminars are scheduled throughout the meeting, as follows:

- Session 30, Monday, 2:30 p.m.—From Field Research to Social Action (Chea Ary, Harvard University)
- Session 51, Tuesday, 8:30 a.m.—The Role of Sociologists in the Field Among Other Professions (Judith P. Swicey, Medicine in the Public Interest, Boston; Peter Hildebrandt, University of Florida; James B. Jacobs, Cornell University)
- Session 102, Wednesday, 8:30 a.m.—Research Funding and Grants Preparation (James J. Zarcher, National Science Foundation; Paul Burstein, Vanderbilt University)
- Session 135, Wednesday, 2:30 p.m.—Establishing Cross-National Comparability of Concepts and Indices (Joanne Miller and Ronald Schonberg, National Institute of Mental Health)
- Session 156, Thursday, 8:30 a.m.—Applications of Multidimensional Scaling in Sociology (Charles L. Jones, McMaster University)
- Session 197, Friday, 8:30 a.m.—Methods of Historical Sociology (Randall Collins, University of Virginia)

Area Study Seminars

The Area Study Seminars will explore major social trends in four critical geographic regions of the world. All four regions highlighted in this year’s program have been, and are still, the subject of intense interest by the American public and news media and are a source of continuing discussion and debate. Eminent teachers and specialists have been invited to present these seminars in whatever format they felt most appropriate. This latitude has enabled each presenter to create and use the format most likely to fully exploit each topic and foster an interesting dialogue between participants and audience.

Admission to the Area Study Seminars is open to all; pre-registration is not required, and attendance is not limited. Details may be found under the following sessions:

- Monday, Session 31—China
- Tuesday, Session 84—The Islamic World
- Wednesday, Session 136—Central America
- Friday, Session 219—Japan

Social Policy Seminars

Social Policy Seminars are aimed at defining major social policy issues in various areas and discussing how sociology and other social sciences can contribute both to the understanding of these issues and to their solution. In this year’s set of five seminars, knowledgeable sociologists have been invited to present their views on topics ranging from immigration to energy policy. Admission is open to all. Details may be found under the following sessions:

- Monday, Sessions 12, 32
- Tuesday, Session 85
- Wednesday, Sessions 113, 137

Professional Workshops

To explore issues of importance to the professional rather than substantive concerns of Sociology as a discipline, the 1981 Program Committee has designed eleven Professional Workshops to be held during this year’s Annual Meeting.

Topics to be covered by these workshops include:

- Ethical Issues in Sociological Research (Session 13, Monday, 10:30 a.m.)
- Adrift at Sea: Survival of the Minority Scholar in America (Session 41, Monday, 4:30 p.m.)
- Why Can’t Sociologists Write? (Session 52, Tuesday, 8:30 a.m.)
- Marketing Sociological Practice to Clients and Competitors (Session 64, Tuesday, 10:30 a.m.)
- Major Official Statistics as They Variously Influence and Are Influenced by Social Science, Policies and Realities (Session 86, Tuesday, 2:30 p.m.)
- Writing a Sociology Text, the Moral Dimension (Session 14, Wednesday, 10:30 a.m.)
- Textbook Publishing in Sociology (Session 138, Wednesday, 2:30 p.m.)
- Community Action Research and Public Interest Consulting: New Sociological Careers? (Session 147, Wednesday, 4:30 p.m.)
- Developing/Adapting Curricula for Teaching Applied Sociology (Session 166, Thursday, 10:30 a.m.)
- ASA Governance (Session 186, Thursday, 2:30 p.m.)
- Applied Sociology: Research Opportunities Outside the Academy (Session 198, Friday, 8:30 a.m.)

Special Seminars

Initiated by the 1981 Program Committee to provide emphasis for a topic of special interest and timeliness, Special Seminars are varied in format from panel discussions to paper presentations. Attendance at the Seminars is open to all; pre-registration is not required.

Details may be found under the following sessions:

- Monday, Sessions 11, 29
- Tuesday, Sessions 63, 95
- Wednesday, Sessions 134, 154
- Thursday, Session 185

Luncheon Roundtable Discussions

A complete listing of luncheon topics and presenters is printed in the body of this Program under Session 21 on Monday, Session 73 on Tuesday, Session 122 on Wednesday, and Session 175 on Thursday.

Some tickets are still available for some of the luncheons; the numbers are listed at the Luncheons/Seminars Desk in the Registration Area. Also listed are the luncheon numbers for which the presenters have left materials for distribution to the participants prior to the roundtable discussion.

Persons who have confirmed reservations should have received their tickets along with their badges. If, however, your check and reservation request were received in the Executive Office too late for processing, a refund will be made at a later date. Please check at the Luncheons/Seminars Desk. Ticket sales will be closed one hour before luncheons begin each day.

Cancellations will not be accepted later than 48 hours prior to the scheduled luncheon. You may, however, sell your ticket to someone else if you are unable to attend.

Historically, there have been problems concerning admittance to the luncheon room. In fairness to members who have paid for their reservations, your cooperation with the personnel in charge is essential. No one will be admitted to the room without a valid ticket. Observers are not permitted.
Informal Roundtable Discussions

A complete listing of topics and presenters for the Informal Roundtable Discussion Sessions, organized by Joyce Rothschild-Whit, may be found in the body of this Program under Sessions 48, 61, 145 and 174. These roundtables provide an opportunity for people with similar interests to come together, to share ideas on a given topic and to begin a network. For participants, these roundtables provide a chance for lively group discussion; for presenters, they provide an opportunity to get professional feedback, which is especially helpful when presenting new ideas or work in progress. Attendance is open to all; pre-registration is not required.

ASA Business Meeting

The annual Business Meeting of the Association is scheduled for Thursday, August 27, at 4:30 p.m. (Grand Ballroom East) and all members of the ASA are encouraged to attend. During this meeting, Association officers will present their reports to the membership. Following this, resolutions from ASA members may be presented for discussion and action.

All resolutions for the Business Meeting should be delivered to the ASA Headquarters Office (VIP Room) before 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday. They will then be posted in a prominent location in order that members may become familiar with resolutions to be presented at the Business Meeting. Resolutions submitted to the Executive Office before the Wednesday deadline will be given preference on the Business Meeting agenda; unposted resolutions will be permitted, up to the limit of time available, before the 6:30 p.m. adjournment.

REMINDER... Only current voting members of the ASA may present, discuss, or vote on resolutions at the Business Meeting.

Report of the Task Group on Homosexuality

In response to resolutions presented and passed at the 1978 ASA Business Meeting, the 1979 ASA Council established a task group with the mandate to "review existing knowledge in the sociology of homosexuality and identify topics in this field which demand research." The Task Group on Homosexuality was appointed in the spring of 1979 and consists of three members of the Sociologists Gay Caucus and three ASA members. During the past two years, the Task Group conducted a survey of four-year and graduate sociology departments and engaged in various fact-finding efforts. An open meeting has been scheduled on Wednesday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. (Hotel Toronto, Toronto Ballroom 2) for the Task Group to present its report and preliminary conclusions to interested members.

Career Planning, Development and Change

Date: Tuesday, August 25, 8:30 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Hotel Toronto, Varley Room

Workshop Leader: Grace G. Henderson

The 1980s and 1990s represent a real challenge to sociologists in light of an ever increasing tight job market. According to Krammsch and Basis (1981), "we have entered into an educational era of hard times, limited opportunities, and lowered expectations...and the outlook for individual faculty members over the next twenty years is not good." Job hunting is a highly competitive activity and very serious business. According to Gerberg (1980) the success of one's job hunt "depends 70% on personal marketing skills and 30% on background and ability." It is not always the most qualified person who gets the job—it is the person who is most skilled in job hunting.
International Reception

Following the Presidential Address on Tuesday evening, an International Reception has been organized to provide an opportunity for those sociologists from North America and from other countries to get better acquainted. All Annual Meeting attendees are cordially invited to attend (10:30 p.m., Grand Ballroom East).

Student Reception

In an effort to provide opportunities for students to meet and chat informally with sociologists from academic and non-academic settings, from 4-year colleges, junior colleges, and graduate faculties, and from diverse specialties within sociology, three ASA Committees (Committee on the Status of Women, Committee on the Status of Racial and Ethnic Minorities, and the Committee on Teaching) are pleased to announce a Student Reception to be held Monday, August 24, from 7:00-8:30 p.m. in the Wentworth Room of the Sheraton Centre. The Reception is open to all; students and practicing sociologists are cordially invited to attend.

Activities of Other Groups

Meetings, times and locations of activities of various groups meeting in conjunction with the ASA are listed elsewhere in this Program. Except for a few cases, these meetings are open to the membership. All groups are encouraged to have announcements available in the ASA Registration Area for members' information.

Smokers are requested to sit to the speaker's right during all sessions.

FILM SESSION: SOCIAL INNOVATION AS A RESPONSE TO ECONOMIC CRISIS

(A film series presented by California Newsreel's Media at Work Project in cooperation with the Development Education Center)

Mozambique Communal Village: Year Three (1981), produced by Madeleine Taylor

When the Portuguese left Mozambique, they left a country with a 97% illiteracy rate, non-existent social infrastructure, an economy geared to exporting the country's wealth and vast disparities between the port cities and rural areas. Madeleine Taylor's film looks at how new social structures have developed in Mozambique in response to the need for rural reconstruction. FRELIMO, the ruling party, has launched a program to attract people to self-managed communal villages. Through interviews with villagers and party cadre, we see how daily life is organized to develop technical skills and social structures integral to the tasks of nation building. (27 minutes)

Discussion: Madeleine Taylor, filmmaker

(Film Session: Social Innovation as a Response to Economic Crisis
(A film series presented by California Newsreel’s Media at Work Project in cooperation with the Development Education Center)

A Wives Tale (1980), produced by Sophie Bissonnette, Joyce Rock and Martin Duckworth

The ten-month strike by Local 6500 of the United Steelworkers of America against the International Nickel Company of Sudbury, Ontario, has become recognized as a watershed in Canadian labor history. The “Wives Supporting the Strike Committee” deserves similar status. A Wives Tale is the story of these women, how they organized themselves, and the unanticipated effect of their involvement on their own lives, on their husbands, children, the union and their community. “Our film is an attempt to rewrite history from the women’s point of view.” (74 minutes)

DISCUSSION: Yvonne Obansawin, participant in the strike committee

The Detroit Model (1980), produced by California Newsreel
We've Always Done It This Way (1978), produced by ATV Television

These films ask: what effect will 'reindustrialization' have on workers' job opportunities and the quality of working life. Will the microprocessor revolution in manufacturing technology and design, and the international 'rationalization' of production benefit the workers and communities who are asked to pay for it through corporate tax and wage concessions? Using Lucas Aerospace, a British multinational, and Detroit's crisis-ridden auto industry as examples, these two films show the new structures unions are developing to allow them to intervene in the industrial planning process in order to press for more democratic decision-making. (34 and 36 minutes)

Sociology

By BETH B. HESS, County College of Morris,
ELIZABETH W. MARKSON, Wellesley College, and
PETER J. STEIN, William Paterson College.
625 pp. (approx.)
Praised for its writing style and organization, this comprehensive new text provides a well-balanced introduction to the research and theories of sociologists, both contemporary and classical.

Here are some of the reviewers' comments we've received...

"I have reviewed quite a few introductory manuscripts in the past couple of years, and I can honestly say that Hess, et al. is among the best I have read."

"I particularly like the practice of giving examples immediately after introducing a major point. I also like the practice of asking the student Why."

"The book has a writing style that is highly organized and structured. The listing of comments on the side of the text make the facts easy to recognize and remember."

And to accompany Sociology...
• A 288-page STUDENT STUDY GUIDE • An INSTRUCTOR'S MANUAL • A COMPUTERIZED TEST BANK TAPE.

SOCIOMETRY

A Text with Adapted Readings, Seventh Edition

You know this classic work for its tradition of excellence and for its presentation of sound sociology. Now the all-time best-selling sociology text has been extensively restructured for today's students. Broom, Selznick, and new co-author Darroch have added chapters on the ages and the life cycle...the sexes...deviance and diversity...and sociological methods. The 34 adapted readings—11 of which are new and the remainder thoroughly revised—illustrate how sociologists work and make sociological research accessible to students. Students' understanding of charts and graphics is aided by practical use of full color throughout, and the superb pedagogical aids include chapter summaries, lists of key terms, boxes to highlight critical points, and an extensive glossary. Instructor's Resource Manual.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Fourth Edition

Clarity of presentation, in-depth analyses, and comprehensive coverage of social, psychological, and legal issues in the field continue to make this the definitive text on juvenile delinquency. Substantially revised in structure and content, the new, updated edition includes a brand-new chapter on comparative delinquency...an entirely rewritten, expanded, and updated chapter on female delinquency...and new material on the concept of parens patrue. In addition, Cavan and Ferdinand offer a closer-than-usual look at the evaluation of juvenile justice programs and a more thorough examination—expanded from previous editions—of the historical development of the juvenile court and training schools. A fuller discussion of diversion includes the latest findings on the subject. 1981. 448 pages.

New from HUMANITIES

Mass Media, Ideologies and the Revolutionary Movement
Armand Mattelart
A commanding new study by the author of MULTINATIONAL CORPORATIONS AND THE CONTROL OF CULTURE that analyzes the role of the mass media in periods of revolutionary struggle and in the transition to socialism. $32.50

The Socialist Register 1980
The essays in this seventeenth volume of THE SOCIALIST REGISTER deal with many different topics, but they share a concern to probe from independent socialist positions some of the main issues and problems which concern the Left in the world today. $19.50

The Psychodynamics of Race
Vicious and Benign Spirals
Rae Sherwood
Racial conflict is one of the most explosive issues facing the Western World. Based on her own in-depth study in a multi-racial London suburb, Sherwood has written a work which illuminates the enduring psychological roots from which the potential for man's inhumanity to man arises. $55.00

National Children's Bureau Series
Editor: Mia Kellmer Pringle
This new series examines contemporary issues relating to the development of children and their needs in the family, school, and society. Based on recent research and taking account of current practice, it also discusses policy implications for the education, health and social services. The series is relevant not only for professional workers, administrators, researchers and students but also for parents and those involved in self-help movements and consumer groups.

Women and Low Pay
Edited by Peter J. Sloane
However low pay is defined, a striking feature is the preponderence of women among this disadvantaged group within the labor market. As the book points out, this has implications not only for policies which attempt to assist the low paid worker or alleviate poverty, but also for legislation designed to achieve equal pay and equality of opportunity for women. $30.00

Masterful new texts — scholarly, timely, and a pleasure to read

Social Problems
MICHAEL S. BASIS, University of Wisconsin, Parkside
RICHARD J. GELLES, University of Rhode Island
ANN LEVINE
Under the General Editorship of ROBERT K. MERTON, Columbia University
Superbly written and clearly organized, this important new textbook provides a balance between description and sociological analysis of social problems. Emphasis is placed on the global interconnectedness of social problems as featured in two chapters — "Global Ecology" and "International Conflict." Core sociological principles are used in such a way that those who have taken the introductory course will have an opportunity to review and apply them, and those taking their first course in sociology can become familiar with them.

Human Sexuality
CAROLE OFFIR, San Diego Mesa College
A major new work, Human Sexuality gives students a sound, informed understanding of the subject and practical information concerning the latest developments in the field. The text features a thorough discussion of basic topics and a balanced, straightforward examination of more controversial areas such as homosexuality, pornography, and sexual abuse. Coauthor of The Longest War: Sex Differences in Perspective, Professor Offir writes in a lively, clear, graceful style that will be widely appreciated by instructors and students alike.

New/Available Now:

Juvenile Delinquency and Juvenile Justice
JACK KLEMPNER, Avila College, Kansas City, and RODGER D. PARKER, Univ. of Missouri, Kansas City. "...far superior to other texts currently available...one of the most readable texts I have seen in a long while..." —Louis Lieberman, John Jay College of Criminal Justice, The City University of New York. The authors, former probation officers, analyze the causes of increasing juvenile delinquency and the failure of the present juvenile justice system. They offer practical proposals for reforming the system and coping with the underlying social problems. $14.95 Hardcover 531-05419-5

Aging In a Changing Society, Second Ed.
ZENA SMITH BLAIR, Univ. of Houston. Enriched by a new study of the needs of 60,000 Texans over 55, this widely acclaimed book shows that society has "as yet found no ways to use the qualities, talents, and skills of its aging citizens," and presents many new ways this can be accomplished. The first edition was "highly recommended" by Choice "for both undergraduate and graduate levels. A must for those involved in gerontological studies and teaching." $14.95 Hardcover 531-05417-9

Statistics For Social Data Analysis
By George W. Bohrnstedt and David Knoke, Indiana University.
This textbook introduces students to statistics as tools for thinking about and analyzing social research data. The emphasis throughout is on relationships between variables. The chapters are built around analyzing important theoretical questions using real data sets accessible to most students. Many examples and problems use the General Social Surveys or a smaller 63 Cities data set included in an appendix. The instructor has an option for students to try their own SPSS computer analyses, hence gaining “hands on” experience in how theory and data work together to illuminate social behavior.

The book departs from typical formats by emphasizing contemporary views on continuous variable measurement and parametric statistical techniques. However, important traditional statistics are also covered. Statistical formulas are presented in clear, step-by-step fashion for students with limited mathematical preparation.

Urban Sociology: A Systematic Introduction
By John W. Bardo and John J. Hartman, University of Wichita.
This text is a study of urban sociology from early development of cities to a consideration of the urban future. An examination is made of the development of urban sociology through the Chicago School, modern ecological perspectives, and regionalism.

The student is presented with views of the American community, life styles, and the city's social psychology. Major sections are devoted to urban redevelopment and town planning. Expanding to a world view, a section is on the urbanizing world, urbanization and modernization, and problems of Third World urbanization.

FINEST SOCIOLOGY LIST

The New Ones—Choose From the Two Best Texts in the Field

SOCIOLOGY
Third Edition
Donald Light, City College of the City University of New York
Suzanne Keller, Princeton University

The thoroughly updated and revised version of this leading introductory text completely reflects the changes American society has undergone over the past few years. Continuing its comprehensible and comprehensive in-depth exploration of the major areas of social life, the new Light/Keller emphasizes such recent national and international developments as stagflation and the depressed auto industries; the shift to Sunbelt cities; the prevalence of two-paycheck families; continuing struggles of racial and ethnic minorities, as well as new immigrant waves; multinational corporations, capitalist and Marxist views of power, and revolution; and changing sex roles and gender inequality as manifested in unequal earnings and prestige for women and men.

SOCIETY TODAY
Fourth Edition
Gary Marx, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Norman Goodman, State University of New York at Stony Brook

This solid introductory text provides sound theoretical grounding with balanced focus on the three major perspectives: structural-functionalist, symbolic-interactionist, and conflict. In its new edition, SOCIETY-TODAY deals more fully and explicitly than any other introductory text with today's grave issues of political economy, including third-world development, poverty, racism, sexism, cross-cultural problems, work, social stratification, religion, mobility, and crime. It also specifically treats materials on the crisis of the capitalist state by such scholars as O'Connor and Wallerstein.

Random House/August 1981/608 pages hardbound/Study Guide

AN INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY
Cathy Stein Greenblat, Rutgers University

Based on David Dressler's SOCIOLGY: The Study of Human Interaction, this beginning text covers the full range of basic topics and theoretical approaches, while emphasizing the application of sociological concepts to real-life, everyday events. Accessible as before, the text is now reorganized, expanded in coverage, and updated to fit today's introductory course. There are entirely new chapters on gender, methods, population, and ecology, as well as new and fuller presentations—throughout the text and in boxed inserts—on topics including race and ethnicity, mass media, sports, and crime. In the Study Guide there is a reading to accompany each chapter in the main text.

THE POLITICS OF MIGRATION POLICIES

by Daniel Kubel

This volume offers a time series of data on the movements and characteristics of migrants, as well as a comparison of migration policies by which countries respond to their diverse demographic realities. Individually prepared by sixteen international scholars, the works presented in this text offer standardized information on the migration policies of 22 industrialized countries of the West; it suggests analyses of the policies individual countries evolved to meet their migration needs, and it provides the data on which the analyses are based.

Handbook of Organizational Design
Volume I: Adapting Organizations to their Environment
Volume II: Remodeling Organizations and their Environments
Edited by PAUL C. NYSTROM and WILLIAM H. STARKIE, both of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. In this new reference work, the editors provide a comprehensive survey that summarizes and interprets current research and indicates new directions in organizational theory. With research drawn from a range of industries and a broad range of social sciences, the Handbook will prove invaluable as a basis for research, planning and continuing development.

Change in British Society
Second Edition
A. R. Halsey, University of Oxford. From a review of the first edition: "Halsey's commentary on the present condition of and prospects for British society is ... of definite interest to the professional sociologist. - Contemporary Sociology: Halsey explains how sociological changes have been affected by patterns of economic growth, liberal and Marxist political theories, and the power of the state.

The Politics of Self-sufficiency
MICHAEL ALLABY and PETER BUNYARD. Charges of elitism and opposition to industrialization and technology have been made against the self-sufficiency and environmentalist ideologies in this book, the ideologies are explored to determine whether the charges are just. The authors provide a historical context for the movements and, by studying the political implications of self-sufficiency, conclude that while rejection of technology may lead to some dangers, the environmentalist movements are based on ideas that can be interpreted to lead to more genuinely democratic social structures.

Gentlemen of Science
Early Years of the British Association for the Advancement of Science
JACK MORRISON, University of Bradford, and ARNOLD TROPNER, University of Pennsylvania. The British Association for the Advancement of Science was founded in 1831 and quickly assumed a central role in early Victorian culture. To study the Association and the gentlemen who belonged to the Association is to enquire into early Victorian intellectual and social life and in so doing to display not only how the content but the very idea of science was established as an element in history.

Gramsci's Political Thought
Hegemony, Consciousness, and the Revolutionary Process
JOSEPH V. FEMIA, University of Liverpool. The unifying idea of Antonio Gramsci's famous Prison Notebooks is the concept of hegemony. Dr. Femia elucidates the precise character of this concept, destroys a number of prevalent and often contradictory myths, and critically examines Gramsci's novel solutions to three longstanding problems of Marxist theory.

Just Published!
Intimate Relationships: An Introduction to Marriage and the Family Dennis K. Orthner, University of North Carolina (05519)
494 pp. $17.95 1981
This book applies the most up-to-date sociological theory in a functionally-oriented treatment of courtship, marriage, and the family. It deals with relationships in the middle years and beyond, leisure, and communication. The author concentrates on the interactive aspects of intimate relationships, how they are formed, maintained, and strained. The text is accompanied by an Instructor's Manual with Tests and a Study Guide.

Updated and revised in response to the suggestions of students and instructors, the second edition retains all the strengths that made the previous edition so popular — the strong focus on principal concepts, the integrated readings, and the extensive study aids. The authors have added new material on population and the environment and on institutions. The text is accompanied by an Instructor's Manual with Tests.

The Family: A Sociological Interpretation, Third Edition
Barry N. Adams
University of Wisconsin-Madison
450 pages • cloth • Instructor's Manual • 1980
Adams's classic theoretical text deals with the past, present, and future of the American family within a cross-cultural framework.

Retaining the concise, readable coverage of previous editions, the up-to-date revision features new material on fertility, marital communication and satisfaction, reconstituted families, the Soviet family, and exchange and system theory.

Marriage, Family, and Intimate Relationships
Gary S. Belkin
Long Island University
Norman Goodman, State University of New York, Stony Brook
468 pages • cloth • Instructor's Manual • 1980
Using the latest research, Belkin and Goodman examine the variety of marriage and family life styles in American culture and the various forces that shape the behavior of individuals in relationships.

Functional in orientation, the text emphasizes communication and counseling concepts as means of resolving conflict.

The Sociological Orientation: An Introduction to Sociology, Second Edition
Stephen Cole, State University of New York, Stony Brook
366 pages • paper • Instructor's Manual • 1979
Cole's in-depth presentation of the core of sociology introduces students to the distinctive ways in which sociologists analyze human behavior and societies.

Using a unique case study approach, Cole discusses current intellectual problems and theoretical concerns that clearly illustrate how behavior is influenced by location in groups. The book emphasizes causal analysis and pays considerable attention to empirical research methods.

Also by Cole
148 pages • paper • 1980
Cole has completely revised, updated, and shortened his clear introduction to sociological methodology. An ideal supplement for the introductory course, the Third Edition includes two entirely new chapters on the philosophy of science and pursuing a research project.

Quasi-Experimentation: Design and Analysis Issues for Field Settings
Thomas D. Cook
Northwestern University
Donald T. Campbell
Syracuse University
405 pages • paper • 1979
Emphasizing up-to-date, utilitarian experiments, Cook and Campbell's lucid discourse on methodology examines concepts of validity, quasi-experimental designs, the formation of treatment groups, and ways to overcome practical problems encountered in field experiments.

WORKING THE STREET
Police Discretion and the Dilemmas of Reform
Michael Brown
The street-level decisions of police affect the character of criminal justice in America. Circumstances surrounding these decisions frequently require the exercise of individual discretion, but in a modern police bureaucracy the officer is also expected to conform to organizational rules and concepts of professionalism. Michael Brown's unique empirical study of police in the Los Angeles area focuses on this fundamental contradiction: its effect on police behavior, and its implications for police reform.

STREET-LEVEL BUREAUCRACY
Dilemmas of the Individual in Public Services
Michael Lipsky
"Highly illuminating."
—Frank Reissman, editor. Social Policy
"Provocative, well written, and full of marvelous insights into the service patterns and practices of human services organizations. A major contribution."

THE PROCESS IS THE PUNISHMENT
Handling Cases in a Lower Criminal Court
Malcolm M. Feeney
"Should be read by anyone interested in how the criminal sanction is administered in modern, complex societies."
—Barry Mahoney, Institute for Court Management, Denver
"Recreates a believable world of real men and women."

Of related interest

NOT WELL ADVISED
Peter Zanter
"Where once domestic disputes turned universities into government advisors, it seemed that the Enlightenment had come to civil trials at last. Zanter's evaluation of this noble experiment is uncommonly insightful, always readable and engaging. His conclusions are positively brilliant."
—Melvin M. Webber, Director, Institute of Urban and Regional Development, University of California, Berkeley
Published jointly with the Ford Foundation March 1981, 186 pages ISBN 0-87154-874-7 $11.95

New and important in Sociology

Social Psychology: Sociological Perspectives
Morris Rosenberg and Ralph H. Turner, Editors
Prepared by the Section on Social Psychology of the American Sociological Association
The first comprehensive, authoritative look at social psychology from a sociological perspective, this book brings together twenty-six of the nation’s leading researchers and theorists to review and synthesize the major theoretical and empirical advances in sociological social psychology. $30.00

The Inner American: A Self-Portrait from 1957 to 1976
Joseph Veroff, Elizabeth Douvan, and Richard A. Kuika
Presenting findings from two major national studies of the American people — one taken in 1957 and the other in 1976 — this book focuses on questions of well-being and satisfaction, life experience, performance in major roles, psychological stress, and the methods people use to manage the stress that life presents. $30.00

Longitudinal Data Analysis
James S. Coleman
In this seminal work, one of sociology’s foremost researchers introduces an important new approach to the casual analysis of qualitative data. Devising a process for estimating comparable parameters for diverse types of observation, Coleman presents the first method to treat cross-sectional, panel, and continuous data with a consistent mathematical model. Due October, $22.50

Daniel Bell
A collection of some of Daniel Bell’s most important work from the last two decades, including essays on technology and culture, religion and personal identity, and class and the role of intellectuals. “…sociological analysis at its best.” — Seymour Martin Lipset paperback, $7.95

Ethnic America: A History
Thomas Sowell
Due November, $16.95

Books: The Culture and Commerce of Publishing
Lewis A. Coser, Charles Kadushin, and Walter W. Powell

Elizabeth Rauh Bethel
"Bethel has shown us how much can be learned from a century-long view of four square miles of the American earth, its inhabitants, and their descendants."
318 pp ISBN 211-8 $16.95
—Sydney Nathans, Duke University

Children of Strangers
The Stories of a Black Family
Kathryn L. Morgan
An alternative to traditional perspectives, these stories represent fresh insights into the way black children are raised in a white-dominated world.

Urban Danger
Life in a Neighborhood of Strangers
Sally Engle Merry
A study of crime in the lives of residents of a multi-ethnic housing project.
Approx. 132 pp ISBN 219-3 $18.95

Organization and the Human Services
Cross-Disciplinary Reflections

Approx. 265 pp ISBN 209-6 $17.50

Beyond Alcoholism
Alcohol and Public Health Policy
Dan E. Beauchamp
A critique of "alcoholism" as a "blaming-the-victim" approach and a questioning of our understanding of social problems in general.
222 pp ISBN 189-8 $17.50

CITY COLLEGE AND THE JEWISH POOR
Education in New York, 1880 - 1924
Sherry Gorelick
It is commonly believed that Jews have owed their upward mobility to their passion for education. In examining the factors that developed the City College of New York, Gorelick calls this belief a myth and exposes the much more complex truth. "The book is valuable for its data, its focus, and its challenge to conventional unwisdom. Gorelick's approach may well open up new areas of research and lead to the revision of accepted stereotypes and interpretations." —Morris U. Schappes $14.95

WOMEN ON HEROIN
Marsha Rosenbaum
Most research into female heroin addiction has focused on prostitution and on medical issues — particularly the tragic effects of drug addiction on unborn children. Rosenbaum's study focuses on the "career" of the female addict, for without understanding how women become locked into the junkie life, successful treatment is not possible. $15.00 cloth, $9.95 paper

HOUSEHOLD COMPOSITION AND RACIAL INEQUALITY
Suzanne M. Bianchi
The growing economic gap between blacks and whites in the last twenty years has been studied mainly in terms of individual differences in occupation, earnings, and education. Bianchi points out that, in that period, the least economic progress has been made — among either blacks or whites — by households headed by women. By 1976 forty percent of black children were living in such households and Bianchi urges social scientists and policy makers to consider this fact in program planning. "An enormous step forward in a field in which relatively little has been done ... of acute importance in human and policy terms." — Frances Kobrin $16.00

ORGANIZED FOR ACTION: Commitment in Voluntary Associations
David H. Knoke and James R. Wood
The authors study the organization and activities of social influence associations such as the Urban League, League of Women Voters, ACLU, and NOW. "It is an excellent work ... written well and going far beyond anything else done on the topic." — Paul Hirsch $19.95

LEADERSHIP IN VOLUNTARY ORGANIZATIONS
The Controversy over Social Action in Protestant Churches
James R. Wood
In the recent past Protestant ministers often advocated social action on issues of racial equality even when the majority of their congregants opposed it. Wood studies 58 Indiana mainline Protestant churches to explain how ministers managed to counter and transcend majority will. The theory of leadership he has evolved applies to all voluntary organizations. "No one interested in the governance of voluntary organizations can afford to miss this important work." —Jeffrey Hadden $14.00

SOCIOLGY
REINTERPRETED
Peter Berger and Hansfried Kellner. In this elegant, witty sequel to Invitation to Sociology, two leading scholars examine the discipline as it is today—and as it should be. Hardcover. $12.95.
Paperbound. $8.95.

THE OTHER SIDE OF GOD
A Polarity in World Religions
Peter Berger, editor. Leading scholars discuss the massive encounter between the monotheistic tradition of the West and the great religions of Asia. Hardcover. $15.95.
Paperbound. $7.95.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS
Violence in the American Family

COMMON DIFFERENCES
Conflicts in Black and White Feminist Perspectives
Gloria I. Joseph and Jill Lewis. This landmark examination deals candidly with the origins and impact of the cultural and philosophical differences that separate black and white feminists. Paperbound. $8.95.

BLUE-COLLAR WOMEN
Mary Littenstein Walshok. Challenging myths and stereotypes, this book explores the problems and rewards encountered by women pioneering in "non-traditional" fields, such as welding and carpentry and auto mechanics. Hardcover. $15.95.
Paperbound. $7.95.
