Program

90th Annual Meeting
August 19-23, 1995
Washington Hilton and Towers
Washington, DC

Theme: "Community of Communities: Shaping Our Future"

From Los Angeles to Bosnia, from India to Canada, various communities have identified themselves along ethnic, racial, gender, national, religious, and other lines. Must they be blended away to ensure civility? Or, can we have a society of vying tribes without shared bonds and values? Or, can there be a shared framework in which many colorful elements find a new place? And what shall such a community of communities be--urban? national? cross-national?

Subsidiary to these over-arching questions are the basic questions: What makes a community? Is the family an essential unit? Is character education required? How are neighborhoods best composed and how do they best govern themselves? What is the role of shared values, symbols, practices and institutions?

How to ensure a balance between individual rights and social responsibilities? Between social prescribed roles and personal autonomy and self expression?

We shall seek to bring to bear the methodological, practical, and theoretical tools, the findings and insights of sociologists, to examine substantive issues that face our social world, and to suggest future directions.

ASA Open Forum Business Meeting

The ASA Business Meeting format was recently revamped to provide a forum for members to discuss important issues facing the discipline and profession that are currently under consideration by the ASA Council. Members are encouraged to engage in a "town meeting" format about those issues.

In addition, members and groups may present resolutions for vote and transmission to ASA Council. Those resolutions need to have background materials on the issue and must be submitted in advance to the Executive Office. Resolutions and accompanying background materials may be delivered to the ASA Office in the State room at the Washington Hilton no later than 3:00 p.m. on Monday, August 21.

A Business Meeting Agenda is in every registrant's Program packet. For the 1995 Business Meeting, special discussion topics include:

⇒ What criteria should ASA use in making site selections for the Annual Meeting? The ASA has an antidiscrimination policy in place that affects site selection and location. In the fast changing political world, where laws are voted in and out rather quickly and contracts are made far into the future, what is a reasonable policy?

⇒ What is a reasonable dues structure of the ASA? For some time ASA has had a progressive dues structure pegged to income levels and allowing for special needs categories. While ASA is committed to a progressive system, what categories make sense for the next decade?

⇒ An increasing proportion of U.S. citizens consider themselves multi-racial. ASA has been working to conceptualize racial/ethnic and multiracial categories in the Association's own internal statistical data collection. What categories should be used? Further, how can sociologists take the lead in the Census, in government statistics, in research, and other arenas in contributing to conceptual and measurement clarity on this issue?

All meeting attendees are invited to join ASA officers and Council members for continental breakfast and discussion of these issues at the ASA Business Meeting on Tuesday, August 22, 7:00-8:15 a.m., in the International East room at the Washington Hilton and Towers.

Distinguished Lectures

Created in 1986, these lectureships provide the opportunity for the Program Committee to invite eminent speakers and international scholars to address American sociologists.

Reviving the Environmental Perspective in the Public Policy Debate

Voices

The 1995 Program Committee is introducing a new program component at the 1995 Annual Meeting. Called "Voices," these sessions seek out perspectives on pressing social issues from a variety of sources outside of sociology. The first of these will be Creating Communities: Consulting the Heirs of the Future. A panel of children and young adults from the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area will present their views of the future and share their life experiences with social issues and problems. The second Voices session, entitled Community Participation in Research Development, will focus on the interaction between sociologists and people in local community groups working to solve difficult social problems, including AIDS prevention, teenage pregnancy, and cancer research.

Consulting the Heirs of the Future
Session 175, Sunday, August 20, 2:30-4:15 p.m.
Washington Hilton, Hemisphere

Organizer: M. Patricia Fernandez-Kelly, Johns Hopkins University Panel: Matthew Boulay, Teach Baltimore
Frank Situka, John Hopkins University
M. Patricia Fernandez-Kelly, John Hopkins University

Three panelists will talk with youngsters about their experiences in programs to expand opportunities for inner-city youth in an attempt to incorporate children's voices into the design of inner-city youth programs. The youngsters have participated in the Summer Youth Employment Program in Coordination with Baltimore Futures, Teach Baltimore, and Parent Plus.

Spotlight on DC

The location of the Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., affords meeting attendees a special opportunity to take advantage of the many resources available in the Nation's Capital. The "Spotlight on DC" series reflects on sociological trends in Washington and the relationship of sociology and government. Seven special panels, a poster session, nine local tours, and a Congressional Fellowship briefing focus attention on this year's meeting site. The substantive program sessions are highlighted below; the "DC Tours" section of the Program Notes contains complete details on tours and sightseeing attractions.

Sociological Practice Highlights

An extensive roster of sessions oriented toward the varieties of sociological practice enterprises provides evidence of the strong interest of President Amitai Etzioni in these aspects of the profession. A member of the 1995 Program Committee, Rodolfo Alvarez (University of California, Los Angeles), was designated to oversee the development of practice-oriented sessions and ensure that such sessions were represented in several types of program components organized in a variety of formats, including some sessions that were open to member submissions. Highlights of these sessions appear below; please refer to the body of the program schedule for details.

Professional Skill-Building Workshop. Program and Policy Evaluation Research: Design and Applications

Session 1, Thursday, August 17, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon; 1:00-5:30 p.m.;
Friday, August 18, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon; 1:00-5:00 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Map

Ray C. Rist, George Washington University

Virginia Mulkern, Human Services Research Institute, Cambridge, Massachusetts

Professional Workshop. Sociologists in Schools of Business

Session 28, Saturday, August 19, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Military

Organizer and Presider: Nancy DiTomaso, Rutgers University

Regular Session. Evaluation Research

Session 50, Saturday, August 19, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Farragut

Organizer: Gary Sandefur, University of Wisconsin, Madison

Professional Workshop. Sociologists Working in the Public Interest

Session 66, Saturday, August 19, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Farragut

Organizer: Roberta Spalter-Roth, Institute for Women's Policy Research

Regular Session. Applied Social Research: Sociology with Policy Implications

Session 110, Sunday, August 20, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Hemisphere

Organizer and Presider: Paul D. Reynolds, Marquette University

Regular Session. Sociological Practice

Session 137, Sunday, August 20, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Organizer and Presider: Ray Kirshak, Media General Cable

Special Session. Developing a Stake in the Local Community through Participation in Needs Assessment Programs

Session 146, Sunday, August 20, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Hemisphere

Organizer and Presider: Irene Giniat, Lee County Department of Human Services

Professional Workshop. How to Identify and Deal with Sexual Abuse of the Elderly

Session 150, Sunday, August 20, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Monroe East

Organizer and Presider: Holly Ramsey-Klawnsnik, Klawnsnik & Klawnsnik Associates

Spotlight on DC. Sociologists' Role in the Federal Government

Session 173, Sunday, August 20, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Section on Sociological Practice Roundtables. Sociology: A Spectrum of Practice and Application

Session 233, Monday, August 21, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, International East

Organizer: Stephen F. Steele, Anne Arundel Community College and Applied Data Associates, Inc.

Special Sponsored Session. Sociological Practice for the 21st Century: Issues in Clinical and Applied Sociology (co-sponsored by the ASA Section on Sociological Practice, the Society for Applied Sociology, and the Sociological Practice Association)

Session 263, Monday, August 21, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Monroe East

Organizers: Irwin Deutscher, University of Akron and Society for Applied Sociology; David J. Kallen, Michigan State University and Sociological Practice Association

Section on Sociological Practice. Creating a Future for Sociological Practice: A Participatory Session in Creating Our Future

Session 295, Monday, August 21, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Caucus

Organizer: Stephen F. Steele, Anne Arundel Community College and Applied Data Associates, Inc.

Sociological Practice Unity Reception (co-sponsored by the Section on Sociological Practice, the Society for Applied Sociology, and the Sociological Practice Association)

Monday, August 21, 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Caucus

Spotlight on DC. Building and Strengthening Communities for Children:

The Work of the Children's Defense Fund

Session 305, Tuesday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Dupont

Organizer: Lisa Sullivan, Children's Defense Fund

Professional Workshop. Managing Anger in the Workplace: Expanding the Boundaries of Sociological Practice

Session 308, Tuesday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Melvyn L. Fein, Kennesaw State College

Professional Workshop. Doing Clinical Sociology

Session 329, Tuesday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Organizer: Phillip D. Robinette, Life Enrichment Center

Spotlight on DC. Community Activists, Sociologists, and Policy Makers: A Dialogue on Women's Grassroots Politics on the Ground, in the Academy, and in the State

Session 347, Tuesday, August 22, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Lincoln West

Organizer and Presider: Kimberly Nettles, University of California, Los Angeles

Professional Workshop. Certification of Practitioners

Session 348, Tuesday, August 22, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Lincoln East

Organizer: Beverley Cuthbertson Johnson, Southern Desert Medical Center and Arizona State University

Professional Workshop. The Uses of Sociology: Working with Environmental Interest Groups

Session 371, Tuesday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Dupont

Organizer and Presider: Stuart A. Wright, Lamar University

Professional Workshop. Sociologists Working in Practice Settings

Session 396, Wednesday, August 23, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Organizer: Rodolfo Alvarez, University of California, Los Angeles

Spotlight on DC. The Quest for Environmental Justice

Session 433, Wednesday, August 23, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Thoroughbred

Organizer: Robert D. Bullard, Clark Atlanta University

Fourth Annual Research Support Forum

ASA is delighted to present two days featuring research funding opportunities and federal science policy issues. The series starts on Sunday, August 20, with two sessions about obtaining funding for social science research. At the workshop, "Opportunities for Federal Funding: The Development of Competitive Research Proposals," representatives from leading federal science agencies will discuss research opportunities for social and behavioral scientists. Later that day, twenty public and private funding officials will participate in a three-hour poster session to talk individually with conference participants about funding priorities, application procedures, and creating a competitive research proposal at a special poster session (see page 168 for details).

A new feature of this year's research support series is a special poster session dedicated to data resources. Meet principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale data sets which are publicly available for use. Each exhibit showcases at least one major data set of tremendous value for primary and secondary analysis. Representatives will be available to talk about the nature of these data sets, their analytic potential, and issues relating to access and use, including the development of state-of-the-art internet services to access data sets. See page 172 for complete details.

Two events are devoted to building a federal science policy agenda inclusive of the social and behavioral sciences. At a special session "The Voice of Social Science in the Federal Science Policy Agenda: 1995 and Beyond," three high ranking officials from key federal science agencies and two leading advocates address how the new political climate in Washington, DC, is changing the Federal role in social and behavioral science research. Also, at a special workshop, "How to Communicate Research Findings to Policy Makers," experts will suggest effective techniques for sociologists to influence the policy making process. Grassroots advocacy techniques, media strategies, and coalition building are among the issues examined.

Professional Workshop. Opportunities for Federal Funding: The Development of Competitive Research Proposals

Session 105, Sunday, August 20, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Take a Peek at 1996!

The 1996 Program Committee prepared a special session for the 1995 Annual Meeting to preview the 1996 program theme, "Social Change: Opportunities and Constraints." This preview session will highlight the theme, stimulate reflection and conversation about its many dimensions, and encourage and facilitate an emphasis on the theme in the program sessions to be organized during the coming year. The preview session will follow a McNeil-Lehrer format, with four members of the 1996 Program Committee serving as panelists and Maureen Hallinan as moderator.

An important component of the preview session is audience participation. The 1996 Program Committee has reserved part of the session for audience reflections on social change and for audience responses to the questions posed to the panelists. Meeting attendees are urged to attend this session to help the Program Committee inaugurate the meeting theme. Finally, organizers of sessions for the 1996 meetings, section chairs, and department chairs are encouraged to attend the preview session, given their pivotal role in implementing the theme at the meetings and in encouraging the membership to reflect on the theme during the coming year.

Special 1996 Meeting Theme Preview. Social Change: Opportunities and Constraints

Session 284, Monday, August 21, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Lincoln West

Moderator: Maureen T. Hallinan, University of Notre Dame and ASA President-Elect

Panel: Peter Cookson, Adelphi University

William A. Edwards, University of San Francisco

Mary L. Fennell, Pennsylvania State University

Gary Sandefur, University of Wisconsin, Madison

Didactic Seminars

Didactic seminars are designed to keep sociologists abreast of recent scholarly trends and developments. Experts considered to be at the forefront of a given field are invited by the Program Committee to conduct these sessions.

Seminar speakers will present materials to explain specialized developments within their topic areas. Seminars are scheduled for one hour and 45 minutes, except for the pre-meeting course co-sponsored by the Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research and the ASA Section on Methodology. Please see the listing below for session details and brief descriptions provided by the leaders.

Attendance at each Didactic Seminar is limited to 50, and prepaid registration is required. Fees are noted with each seminar listing below. All persons registering for seminars must also be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting. Those who did not make advance reservations may check at the Tickets counter in the Exhibit Hall for possible openings.

Introduction to Models for Limited Dependent Variables (co-sponsored by the Section on Methodology and the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research)

Session 2, Friday, August 18, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon

Washington Hilton, Military

Fees: $60 Methodology Section member, $40 students, $75 other

Ticket required for admission

J. Scott Long, Indiana University

The morning seminar will present models for limited dependent variables as extensions of the multiple regression model. After a brief review of the standard regression model, censoring of the dependent variable will be introduced, resulting in the tobit model and models for sample selection bias. Additional restrictions on the dependent variable will then be introduced resulting in the binary logit and probit models, and then the ordinal logit and probit model. The theoretical development of these models will be accompanied by substantive examples. These applications will be used to illustrate the interpretation of output from standard statistical packages.

Advanced Techniques for Limited Dependent Variables (co-sponsored by the Section on Methodology and the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research)

Session 3, Friday, August 18, 1:00-4:00 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Military

Fees: $60 Methodology Section member, $40 students, $75 other

Ticket required for admission

Christopher Winship, Harvard University

The afternoon session will examine techniques for modeling the effects of discrete variables in structural equation models. Emphasis is on the dual roles of discrete variables in structural models: (1) as indicators of latent continuous variables; (2) as shifters. A wide variety of models will be considered, including bivariate probit models, selection models, endogenous treatment effects, and simultaneous equation. Issues of estimation and interpretation will be examined. Focus will be on models that can be estimated in LIMDEP.

Methodological Issues in Feminist Social History

Session 65, Saturday, August 19, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Fee: $20; Ticket required for admission

Susan E. Marshall, University of Texas, Austin

The purpose of this seminar is to acquaint participants with proposed revisions to the conduct of feminist history from scholars in other disciplines and their potential relevance for sociological research. Topics covered include reconsideration of the concepts of separate spheres, feminism, and gender as well as increased attention to women's participation in public life. We will address the significance of these revisions for both the study of women's history in particular and of politics and social organization more broadly. The seminar material will focus primarily on 19th century U.S. women's history.

Postmodernism and Sociology

Session 128, Sunday, August 20, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Fee: $20; Ticket required for admission

Patricia Ticineto Clough, Queens College and Graduate Center, City University of New York

While still not easily defined, postmodernism has been hotly debated in sociology. The didactic seminar will focus on the various debates postmodernism has provoked over the meaning of textuality, the relationship of theory and narrativity, the transformation of writing in the context of communication technologies, the difference of gender and sexuality, the articulation of political economy in terms of the breakdown of the distinction of public and private spheres, and the relationship of power and knowledge in the criticism of ethnography. The relationship of postmodernism and feminist thought, queer theory, postcolonial theory, critical race theory, and post Marxist cultural criticism also will be considered.

Narrative/Textual Analysis

Session 177, Sunday, August 20, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Fee: $20; Ticket required for admission

Roberto Franzosi, University of Wisconsin, Madison

The seminar provides an introduction to a linguistic approach to content analysis, based on semantic grammars. A semantic grammar is a set of functionally defined categories built around the "canonical form" of the language, noun phrase/verb phrase, or Subject, Verb, Object and modifiers (e.g., type of subject, time and space of action). A computer application of a semantic grammar allows researchers to collect rich text data that can be analyzed statistically. For all their power, semantic grammars have their limitations: They work well only for narrative text (the five W's of news reporting: Who, What, When, Where, Why).

Observing Families

Session 265, Monday, August 20, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Fee: $20; Ticket required for admission

Rand Conger, Iowa State University

Irving Tallman, Washington State University

This seminar considers various approaches to observing and quantifying the quality of behavioral interactions between family members. Presumably, social structural influences on family life have their impact on family members and family relations through the changing cognitions, emotions, and behaviors of individuals in the family. This seminar takes the position that family member reports of interactions provide only one view of behavioral exchange in family life, and that systematic observations give an additional perspective on such phenomena that is essential for theory building and testing. We consider observational techniques that range from the minute description of moment by moment behavioral sequences to global ratings of large interactional segments. The seminar describes the specific empirical and theoretical issues appropriate to these various approaches to observation. Videotapes of families used to code interactions will be used to illustrate these techniques. We will also review questions related to data analysis, reliability and validity.

New Developments in Standardization and Decomposition of Rates

Session 287, Monday, August 21, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Fee: $20; Ticket required for admission

Prithwis Das Gupta, U.S. Bureau of the Census

The technique of standardization is widely used to control for the compositional factors affecting the overall rates in two or more populations. The technique of decomposition attempts to decompose the difference between two rates into the effects of underlying factors. There have been some methodological developments in recent years which allow the computation of standardized rates and factor effects by linking them by some internally consistent conditions. The seminar is intended for social scientists interested in these developments and it will provide computer programs for routine applications of these techniques to problems involving various types of data.

Interactionist Theory and Methodology in the Study of Public Policy

Session 307, Tuesday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Fee: $20; Ticket required for admission

Peter M. Hall, University of Missouri, Columbia

The seminar is intended for sociologists interested in studying the development, implementation, and consequences of public policy. A theoretical perspective and methodology for analyzing the complete policy process from emergence to institutionalization will be presented. The perspective includes a definition of policy as process; a conceptualization of how policy phases, sites, and levels fit together across space and time; and specification of relationships between collective activity and social organization, conditions and consequences, and conventions and power. The methodology emphasizes qualitative, longitudinal, multilevel, and comparative analysis. A five year case study of educational policy will be used as an exemplar. Problems in the field and strengths and weaknesses of the method will be explored. Extensions of the approach to other policy arenas using participants' interests will be discussed.

Dynamic Modeling of Data: A Primer

Session 328, Tuesday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Fee: $20; Ticket required for admission

Nancy Brandon Tuma, Stanford University Eric Bloch, Stanford University

In this seminar, we review the statistical techniques most commonly used by sociologists to analyze quantitative data when time is a key element. First, we talk about the advantages and difficulties of considering time in both the conception of sociological research problems and the analysis of data. Next, we discuss the types of temporal data sociologists are most likely to encounter. For each type of data discussed, we review one main style of analysis. Specifically, we discuss time series analysis (including simple time series and pooled cross-section time series), event history analysis, event count analysis, and sequence analysis. For each one, we provide a brief introduction to the underlying mathematics/statistics and review a concrete example in detail. In particular, we will stress understanding and interpreting the results of these analyses. Along with seminar notes, we provide an explicit example of how to conduct each of the analyses (using commonly available software) and a bibliography of works that provide more thorough introductions to the topics discussed. (This seminar assumes a basic knowledge of linear and logistic regression, statistical inference, and probability theory.)

Log-Linear, Log-Multiplicative, and Related Models for the Analysis of Tabular Arrays

Session 370, Tuesday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Fee: $20; Ticket required for admission

David B. Grusky, Stanford University

This seminar provides an introduction to recent developments in the analysis of tabular arrays using log-linear, log-multiplicative, and related models. The latter models have of course been widely deployed for the analysis of social mobility, but their promise has not yet been fully realized in other substantive areas. We shall discuss new and exciting applications of these models to the analysis and understanding of segregation processes (occupational, residential, etc.), assortative mating and social affiliation, response consistency and reliability, demographic behavior and outcomes, non-conventional forms of mobility (e.g., geographic), and attitudes, voting behavior, and public opinion. Although emphasis will be placed on the purely practical matters of estimating and interpreting a wide range of models that might be applied to such substantive domains, the statistical theory underlying log-linear and log-multiplicative modeling will also be reviewed.

Professional Workshops

Professional Workshops are a standard component of the Annual Meeting program. The 21 workshops on this year's program roster provide opportunities for attendees to update their knowledge and skills in a variety of professional areas. Workshops are generally open to all meeting registrants; however, please note that the pre-meeting skill-building workshop required advance registration and fee payment.

Skill-Building Workshop. Program and Policy Evaluation Research: Design and Applications

Session 1, Thursday, August 17, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon; 1:00-5:30 p.m.;

Friday, August 18, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon; 1:00-5:00 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Map

Organizer: *Janet Mancini Billson, American Sociological Association*Leaders: Ray C. Rist, George Washington UniversityVirginia Mulkern, Human Services Research Institute, Cambridge, Massachusetts

Sociologists have long contributed to evaluation research, an applied field that draws from many other disciplines as well as from sociology. While some sociologists have made their marks in conceptualizing and practicing evaluation research, others have felt a gap in their graduate training that might have prepared them to be practitioners in this diverse and exciting field. This Skill-Building Workshop offers training in evaluation research concepts, theories, strategies, and methodologies. Two seasoned evaluation researchers, sociologists Ray Rist (Director, Center for Policy Studies, George Washington University, Washington, DC) and Virginia Mulkern (Associate Director, Evaluation Center, Human Services Research Institute, Cambridge, Massachusetts) will serve as co-trainers for the two-day workshop. In this workshop, participants will learn about the vocabularies and logic of evaluation research; how to design evaluations; the variety of research methodologies applicable to evaluation research; applications of evaluations to the policy cycle; and links between evaluation research and other research methodologies.

Sociologists in Schools of Business

Session 28, Saturday, August 19, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Military

Organizer and Presider: *Nancy DiTomaso, Rutgers University*Panel: Terry Amburgey, University of KentuckyTerry C. Blum, Georgia Institute of TechnologyPaul M. Hirsch, Northwestern University

A panel of sociologists who currently hold appointments in schools of business will discuss their career experiences as sociologists in management departments. The panel will address such questions as: what qualifies one to get a job in a school of business, what is the environment in a professional school; how does one feel comfortable in a multi-disciplinary environment; what kind of courses does one have to teach and how do they differ from sociology courses; how is one evaluated for tenure and promotion and by whom; and are there essential things I should know to get a job and keep it in a business school.

Research and Employment Opportunities in the Federal Government during an Era of Restructuring (co-sponsored by the Committee on Sociologists in Government and International Agencies)

Session 47, Saturday, August 19, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Organizer: *Donald S. BradleySociologists Working in the Public Interest

Session 66, Saturday, August 19, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Farragut

Organizer: *Roberta Spalter-Roth, Institute for Women's Policy Research*Panel: Judith D. Auerbach, National Institutes of HealthSara E. Rix, American Association of Retired PersonsJill Quadagno, Florida State University and 1994 ASA Congressional Fellow

The notion of the sociologist as a neutral expert who uses social scientific research to inform policy makers so that they can formulate policies "in the public interest" has been under attack for several decades. The claims of Marxists, feminists, post-modernists, and the radical right have undermined the preeminence of the concepts of expert, social science, and public interest. What do sociologists working in the public interest do? How have sociologists working in think tanks, for governments, in Congress, on public councils and commissions, and in national membership organizations, responded to the onslaught? Are some of the claims useful even though they might result in loss of scientific privilege? Have there been changes in the relation between the sociologists and public policy? This panel will present the thoughts and experiences of a group of "public interest" workers. Members of the audience will be invited to participate in the discussion.

Underemployment and Unemployment among Sociologists

Session 86, Saturday, August 19, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Organizer and Presider: Margot Kempers, Fitchburg State College

Panel: Don E. Bradley, Division of Financial Research, Freddie Mac

David J. Kallen, Michigan State University and Sociological Practice Association

Stephen F. Steele, Applied Data Associates, Inc. and Society for Applied Sociology

Kenneth Root, Luther College

Opportunities for Federal Funding: The Development of Competitive Research Proposals

Session 105, Sunday, August 20, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Organizer: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association

Presider: Paula Trubisky, American Sociological Association

Panel: William Sims Bainbridge, National Science Foundation

Joseph Conaty, U.S. Department of Education

Susan Newcomer, National Institute of Child Health and Human Development

Lois Mock, National Institute of Justice

Representatives from leading federal science agencies will discuss research opportunities for social and behavioral scientists. Panelists will describe new and continuing initiatives, including the creation, application procedures, review process, and other elements of competitive research proposals.

Ethics in Sociological Research, Teaching, and Practice: The Revised ASA Code of Ethics

Session 129, Sunday, August 20, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Organizer: John M. Kennedy, Indiana University, Bloomington

During 1995, the ASA Committee on Professional Ethics is substantially revising The ASA Code of Ethics. The revisions will address new issues not covered in previous codes and alter the enforcement mechanisms. This workshop will provide an opportunity for ASA members to comment on the themes of the proposed Code. Members of the Committee will present the background, perspectives, and strategies the Committee used to develop the Code revision. The Committee will consider additional issues raised in the workshop in its proposal to Council for the Code revision. Current members of the ASA Committee on Professional Ethics are: Anthony Cortese (Southern Methodist University); Karen Hembry (Oakland, CA); Sue Hoppe, Co-Chair (University of Texas Health Science Center, San Antonio); Joyce Miller Iutovich (Keystone University Research Corporation); John M. Kennedy, Co-Chair (Indiana University, Bloomington); Barbara Melber (Battelle, Seattle); Eleanor M. Miller (University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee); Helen A. Moore (University of Nebraska, Lincoln); Ida Harper Simpson (Duke University); and Betty Woody.

How to Increase Your Success at Publishing in Journals

Session 130, Sunday, August 20, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Conservatory

Organizer: Karen S. Cook, University of Washington

Panel: Karen S. Cook, former Editor, Social Psychology Quarterly, University of Washington

Ron Angel, Editor, Journal of Health and Social Behavior, University of Texas, Austin

Craig Calhoun, Editor, Sociological Theory, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Paula England, Editor, American Sociological Review, University of Arizona

Edward J. Lawler, Editor, Social Psychology Quarterly, Cornell University

Marta Tienda, Editor, American Journal of Sociology, University of Chicago

Pamela B. Walters, Editor, Sociology of Education, Indiana University

Adrian Raftery, Editor, Sociological Methodology, University of Washington

The editors will discuss publishing generally and how to increase your chances of success. The format will be informal and questions will be taken from the participants. Topics will include: editorial policy, submissions processes, reviewing, how to revise, when to resubmit, and communications with the editor.

How to Identify and Deal with Sexual Abuse of the Elderly

Session 150, Sunday, August 20, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Monroe East

Organizer and Presider: Holly Ramsey-Klawnsnik, Klawnsnik and Klawnsnik Associates

Panel: Novella Perrin, Central Missouri State University

Mary C. Sengstock, Wayne State University

Panelists will present research findings regarding causes of elder sexual abuse identified by state authorities responsible for investigating allegations of elder maltreatment. The relationship of elder sexual abuse to other forms of elder maltreatment and family violence will be discussed. Signs and symptoms of possible elder sexual abuse will be presented, along with policy and intervention recommendations.

Identity Empowerment Theory: A Base for Some Sociological Practices

Session 178, Sunday, August 20, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Hotel Sofitel, Grand Salon

C. Margaret Hall, Georgetown University

This workshop will have an interactive format. The leader will present sociological sources and basic concepts of identity empowerment theory. Applications of identity empowerment theory at different levels of clinical intervention—individual, interpersonal, family, community, and organizational—will be discussed. Workshop participants will critique and apply identity empowerment theory to their own areas of interest and expertise.

Mentoring Junior Faculty

Session 198, Monday, August 21, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Caucus

Robert Alford, Graduate Center, City University of New York

Designed for junior faculty seeking mentors and senior faculty who wish to improve their mentoring, this workshop will include a review of the recent literature on mentoring. Discussion areas include the advantages and disadvantages of mentoring (a single relationship with both instrumental and emotional bonds) vs. networking (multiple weaker ties), and the impact of institutional and gender differences on strategies for career management. Personal experiences will be shared.

Applying for a Fulbright Scholarship (co-sponsored by the Committee on International Sociology)

Session 220, Monday, August 21, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Organizer: Cornelia Butler Flora, Iowa State University

Presider: Helena Z. Lopata, Loyola University, Chicago

Panel: Ralph Blessing, Fulbright Scholars Program, CIES

Cornelia Butler Flora, Iowa State University

David Knoke, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis

Dudley L. Poston, Jr., Texas A&M University

Panelists will discuss how to identify appropriate Fulbright opportunities for U.S. faculty to do teaching and/or research overseas, how to link the opportunity with one's own strengths, and the ingredients for a strong application. The review process will be outlined, with suggestions on getting good letters of invitation, recommendations, and on writing a convincing application.

How to Communicate Research Findings to Policy Makers

Session 221, Monday, August 21, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Carla Howery, Director of the Spivack Program in Applied Social Research and Social Policy, American Sociological Association

Ed Hatcher, Director of Public Affairs and Communications, American Sociological Association

Peter Dreier, Occidental College, former Senior Policy Advisor to Boston Mayor Ray Flynn

Paul Luebke, State Representative of North Carolina and University of North Carolina, Greensboro

This session will suggest effective techniques for sociologists interested in presenting their research to policy makers in state legislatures and Congress. Grassroots advocacy techniques, media strategies, and coalition building are among the issues examined. The session is designed for sociologists interested in shaping public policy and learning some important "dos and don'ts."

Research Topics in the Sociology of Mental Health (co-sponsored by the Committee on the Minority Fellowship Program)

Session 266, Monday, August 21, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Caucus

Organizers: Ramon S. Torrecilla, Social Science Research Council and American Sociological Association; Bernice Pescosolido, Indiana University

The aim of this session is to map out a general plan for graduate training in the sociology of mental health. Participants will be introduced to specific theories and research methods in this subfield. Cutting edge research will be discussed. In addition, the workshop will inform participants about how to develop a system of intellectual enrichment and student support that can respond to the needs and concerns of minority graduate students. Specifically, how minority graduate students can deal effectively with isolation, develop networks, and structure mentoring relationships with faculty in their home departments and elsewhere.

The Evolution of a Dissertation Group into a Professional Support Group: A Twenty Year Retrospective (co-sponsored by Sociologists for Women in Society)

Session 288, Monday, August 21, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Parlor 2101

Organizer: Carol Poll, Fashion Institute of Technology, State University of New York

Panel: Natalie Hannon, Bronx-Lebanon Hospital Center

Dorothy Jones Jessop, Medical and Health Research Association

Corinne Kirchner, American Foundation for the Blind

Carol Poll, Fashion Institute of Technology, State University of New York

Myriam Sudit, Columbia University

Panelists will discuss the evolution of a dissertation group into a professional support group. The workshop will provide specific strategies as to how to begin a group and maintain it, and panelists will share their experiences over the twenty years they have met.

Managing Anger in the Workplace: Expanding the Boundaries of Sociological Practice

Session 308, Tuesday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Melvyn L. Fein, Kennesaw State College

The role of sociology in making real world changes has been grossly underestimated. This workshop seeks to correct this impression by applying a specifically sociological theory of anger, namely Integrated Anger Management (IAM), to the problem of controlling primitive anger in complex organizations. It will demonstrate how only an interpersonal, and indeed a social, perspective can make sense of the part the emotion plays in the workplace. Building upon the notion that anger typically grows out of frustration, and that when properly employed it can influence others to assist in, or at least not impede, the furtherance of important ends, IAM is shown to be essential in establishing and maintaining effective authority, in negotiating interpersonal differences, and in structuring and implementing group norms. Participants in the workshop will learn techniques for controlling problem anger (their own and others), for strategizing methods of expressing anger that are effective, not merely assertive, and for utilizing the emotion to set priorities and to cement alliances. In contrast to more psychologically oriented techniques, IAM insists that the proper question is not whether to get angry, but how, when, and where to be angry.

Doing Clinical Sociology

Session 329, Tuesday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Organizer: Phillip D. Robinette, Life Enrichment Center

Doing Clinical Sociology in a Private Practice. Phillip D. Robinette and Donna K. Wallace, Life Enrichment Center

Doing Clinical Sociology in a University Graduate Program. Hal Charnofsky and Michele Linden-Charnofsky, California State University, Dominguez Hills

Doing Clinical Sociology in a Private Corporation. Ray Kirshak, Media General Cable

Panelists will discuss how they do Clinical Sociology in a variety of occupational settings. They will demonstrate how the application of sociology varies within and between differing practice settings and client populations.

Sociologists and the Media (co-sponsored by the Committee on Public Information)

Session 330, Tuesday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Hemisphere

Organizer: Peter Adler, University of Denver

Panel: Jerry Lewis, Kent State University

Jack Levin, Northeastern University

Pepper Schwartz, University of Washington

David L. Altheide, Arizona State University

Drawing on their personal experiences, panelists will discuss how sociologists can better interact with members of the media, focusing on when and how to talk with broadcast and print journalists. The aims of the session are to help assure that sociology gets better representation in the media, to increase its visibility to the public, and to address some of the potential problems and solutions concerning the relationship between sociology and the media. In addition, the logic and structure of media formats will be discussed to shed light on the dynamics of media presentations. Guidelines for presenting research and ideas to the press will be highlighted.

Certification of Practitioners

Session 348, Tuesday, August 22, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Lincoln East

Organizer: Beverly Cuthbertson Johnson, Southern Desert Medical Center and Arizona State University

Panel: Beverly Cuthbertson Johnson, Southern Desert Medical Center and Arizona State University

Linda Weber, State University of New York, Utica/Rome

Richard Knudten, Marquette University

David Vershaw, Homes for Developmentally Disabled

Melodye Lehnerer, Southwest Missouri State University

Robert Rhodes, University of Texas, Odessa

The workshop will focus upon how sociological practitioners are certified by the Sociological Practice Association for their intervention work. Requirements for Master's and PhD Certification will be discussed as well as the certification process which includes a demonstration and debriefing session. Certification maintenance, internships, and state licensing and practice contexts will also be examined.

The Uses of Sociology: Working with Environmental Interest Groups

Session 371, Tuesday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Dupont

Organizer and Presider: Stuart A. Wright, Lamar University

Panel: Phil Brown, Brown University

Robert D. Bullard, Clark Atlanta University

Sherry Cable, University of Tennessee

Stephen Couch, Pennsylvania State University, Schuylkill Haven

Steve Kroll-Smith, University of New Orleans

Panelists have been carefully selected among scholars who have worked with environmental interest groups, either in the course of their research or as activists promoting the interests and goals of a movement. Since sociological research often informs public policy effecting social change, working with environmental organizations may be seen as a valuable public service, helping to stem the tide of pollution and environmental degradation. Such involvement, however, raises some interesting questions and issues about the role of the sociologist. For example, how do scholars negotiate the treacherous ground between dispassionate researcher and committed activist? What are the appropriate boundaries to such a role? What kinds of role conflict can one expect, and what kinds of problems may arise? Alternately, what are some concrete ways in which sociologists might help further concerns for environmental protection? The workshop will explore a wide range of issues centering around linkages to environmental groups.

The Practice of Mathematical Sociology

Session 372, Tuesday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Organizer and Presider: Eugene C. Johnsen, University of California, Santa Barbara

Panel: John Angle, Economic Research Service

Philip Bonacich, University of California, Los Angeles

Kathleen Carley, Carnegie Mellon University

Guillermina Jasso, New York University

John Skvoretz, University of South Carolina

Panelists will discuss several research issues, showing some of the advantages of using a mathematical approach to study social phenomena. Discussion will touch on such matters as theory development, modeling, simulations, empirical work, and problem solving. The intent of the workshop is to encourage other sociologists to explore and possibly enter this arena.

Sociologists Working in Practice Settings

Session 396, Wednesday, August 23, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Organizer: Rodolfo Alvarez, University of California, Los Angeles

Panel: Rodolfo Alvarez, University of California, Los Angeles

Manuel de la Puente, U.S. Bureau of the Census

Nancy Durbin, Battelle

Jan Fritz, University of Cincinnati

This workshop is intended both for sociologists seeking initial employment in "practice settings" as well as for those already professionally engaged in sociological practice and seeking re-exposure to ideas, techniques, theories, procedures, styles of work, etc., being used by successful sociological practitioners. Some attention will be given to techniques on "How to get in the door?", but the primary focus will be on technical knowledge and skills needed to "survive, remain, thrive, and advance after getting in the door." (1) Writing Skills: The sine qua non element essential for practice employment. Letter to the President (client) offering one's skills and services becomes the initial screening device for judging ability and task effectiveness. (2) Communications Skills: Total package presentation of company, project, and self to gain client "acceptance." (3) Capacity to Identify and Serve Client Needs: "On the spot" versus formal assessment. (4) Project Cost Analysis: Providing easily verifiable, detailed, realistic figures; setting the professional fee. (5) Skills for Acquisition and Analysis of Empirical Data: Quantitative and qualitative. (6) Focus Group Skills.

Role of the Chair Conference

For the second year in a row, ASA's Role of the Chair Conference will bring together department chairs, sociologist-administrators, and Executive Office sociologists for an intensive opportunity to reflect on these challenges and to share strategies for strengthening departments. Timely data on the profession, cutting edge keynote speeches, and insider perspectives will help department chairs make the most of their leadership capabilities. The Conference, which is designed for chairs from all types of institutions, will span two days--Part One, Friday, August 18, and Part Two, Saturday, August 19.

As an integral part of the Role of the Chair Conference, three breakout groups for chairs from different types of institutions will meet on Saturday from 8:30-10:15 a.m. In addition to the long-standing meeting of chairs of PhD programs, separate meetings are scheduled for chairs of Master's degree programs and for chairs of Baccalaureate and Associate degree programs. These meetings help create a forum in which chairs who share mutual concerns, aspirations, and challenges can brainstorm critical topics and share useful information with each other. Through networking and communicating about common issues at the Annual Meeting, linkages among chairs will be strengthened between meetings.

Research trends from ASA's innovative Research Program on the Discipline and Profession and insights from our on-going meetings with sociologist-administrators will infuse the agenda. A modest fee will be charged for Part One of the workshop on Friday and includes refreshments, dinner, coffee, and dessert. There is no charge for Saturday's events (Part Two), which include a continental breakfast at the first workshop which begins at 7:00 a.m. on Saturday, August 19.

Teaching Workshops

Teaching Workshops are a popular part of each Annual Meeting program. These sessions provide opportunities for attendees to update their teaching skills and discover ways to integrate new material into their courses. Teaching workshops emphasize interaction between leaders and audience, and attendees are encouraged to bring questions or problems for discussion and new ideas to enliven classroom activities. Workshops are open to all meeting registrants.

Strengthening a Department's Advising SystemSession 67, Saturday, August 19, 2:30-4:15 p.m.Washington Hilton, MilitaryJoann F. Elder, University of Wisconsin, Madison
Andrea Walsh, Harvard University

A good advising program is essential to any quality sociology department. Accurate information about department requirements, college breadth requirements, and steps needed for each individual to graduate is step one. Assistance in exploring career goals and the "how-to-get-there" and "where-to-go-for-information" will be featured in this workshop. A sample Handbook for Sociology Majors will be available. A design for computer based information for advising, easily adaptable to your program will be demonstrated. We will discuss ways to encourage your students to take advantage of good advising and be active in their own career development. How to streamline the process of advising and be able to give each student a sense of her/his own importance will be one of the aims of this workshop.

Training Graduate Students to TeachSession 106, Sunday, August 20, 8:30-10:15 a.m.Washington Hilton, Monroe EastRonald Aminzade, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis
Edward L. Kain, Southwestern University

This workshop has four goals: 1) to introduce participants to materials from the ASA which can be helpful in training graduate students to teach and in improving classroom instruction; 2) to introduce participants to a range of approaches for training graduate students to teach; 3) to provide participants with a number of specific teaching tools and techniques which can be integrated into the classroom; and 4) to allow participants to exchange ideas on instruction. We will provide handouts on a set of teaching techniques, including methods for increasing student interest and participation, a case study on writing and multiculturalism, and a technique for grading student presentations.

Innovations in Teaching with Computers: Multimedia withHyperRESEARCH, Census Tables on the Internet, Student CHIP for Social Problems Courses*Session 107, Sunday, August 20, 8:30-10:15 a.m.Washington Hilton, MilitaryGregg Carter, Bryant College
William H. Frey, University of Michigan
Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College

This workshop builds on previous ASA teaching workshops on computing. Gregg Carter will demonstrate the latest version of Student CHIP with new aggregate-level data on AIDS. William Frey will discuss progress on networking inter-campus social science labs and using the Internet to download census data that has been tailored for ready use in a variety of undergraduate courses. Sharlene Hesse-Biber will show how qualitative researchers can extensively code verbal as well as nonverbal interactions in their data using a multimedia approach and HyperRESEARCH software; she will also demonstrate how to use these materials in the teaching of undergraduate sociology.

Exploring American Society with SPSS for WindowsSession 131, Sunday, August 20, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.Washington Hilton, MilitaryFred Halley, State University of New York, Brockport
Earl Babbie, Chapman University

Personal computers, "point and click" software, and national data bases make it possible for students to analyze data in entry level sociology courses. This workshop demonstrates how students can explore their conceptions and mis-conceptions of American society. It gets students to ask interesting questions and find their own empirical answers. We will demonstrate how variables from large national surveys can be selected and prepared for student use. While we will be using the student version of SPSS for Windows and data from the General Social Survey, our approach may be used with other data sets and statistical packages.

Teaching the Sociology of Culture with ComputersSession 151, Sunday, August 20, 12:30-2:15 p.m.Washington Hilton, MilitaryThomas Cushman, Wellesley College

This workshop will introduce new computer technologies which are useful in introducing a strong visual component to teaching and student research in various subfields of the sociology of culture and sociological theory. We will focus on the use of moving images in student term papers, developing data bases for visual information for use in lectures and examinations, the pedagogical value of uniting image and text in teaching and student research, and the types of hardware and software necessary to develop a basic computer laboratory for the sociological analysis of culture. Successful projects from the workshop leader's courses in the sociology of mass media, popular culture, and sociological theory will be distributed and discussed. Participants were invited to send the workshop organizer syllabi from courses in the sociology of culture prior to the workshop. The workshop leader will offer suggestions on how computers can be incorporated into participants' classes and this will be followed by discussion among all participants of the workshop.

Teaching Workshop. Undergraduate Student Clubs and Professional SocializationSession 152, Sunday, August 20, 12:30-2:15 p.m.Washington Hilton, CabinetSherry L. Marshall, University of Colorado, Colorado Springs
Al Short, Southwest Texas State UniversityDavid Bills, University of IowaJosephine Chesson, Anne Arundel Community CollegeChris Schultz, Anne Arundel Community College

This workshop will center on the multiple roles of student clubs in helping students to become better scholars. Presenters will focus on topics such as the development of student mentor programs through the sociology club. In addition, the role of professional meetings and the role of internet in developing student networks will be detailed. The steps necessary for the formation of an Alpha Kappa Delta chapter will be explained along with a discussion of the role of AKD in the recognition of student achievement.

Teaching Sociology through FictionSession 179, Sunday, August 20, 2:30-4:15 p.m.Washington Hilton, MilitarySu Epstein, Gallaudet University

The goal of this workshop is to help instructors develop skills for choosing appropriate works of fiction for use in their classrooms and develop skills in how to illustrate sociological concepts by using fiction.

The Role of Medical Sociology in Medical EducationSession 199, Monday, August 21, 8:30-10:15 a.m.*Washington Hilton, CabinetOrganizer and Presider: Susan Bell, Bowdoin CollegePanel: Samuel W. Bloom, Mt. Sinai HospitalDan Meyer, Maine-Dartmouth Family Practice Residency ProgramJames McCorkel, Jersey Shore Medical CenterJohn Stoeckle, Massachusetts General HospitalFocus Group. Teaching at Community Colleges (co-sponsored by the*Community College Task Force of the ASA Committee on Teaching)*Session 200, Monday, August 21, 8:30-10:15 a.m.Hotel Sofitel, SalonElizabeth Bryant, Johnson County Community College and Chair of theCommunity College Task Force of the ASA Committee on TeachingJanet Mancini Billson, American Sociological Association and GeorgeWashington University

Community college faculty are invited to join in a focus group session in order for ASA and its Committee on Teaching to gain deeper insight into the context of their teaching experience and concerns. Proposed discussion topics include: similarities and differences between two- and four-year colleges; the needs and concerns of community college teachers of sociology; techniques for promoting a positive image of two-year colleges; and ASA's support and enhancement of community college sociologists. The material from the focus group will be assessed by the Committee College Task Force of the ASA Committee on Teaching and by the ASA Academic and Professional

Queering the Classroom: Teaching on HomosexualitySession 222, Monday, August 21, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.Washington Hilton, MilitaryOrganizers and Presiders: Peter Nardi, Pitzer College; Jodi O'Brien, University of IowaPanel: Jennifer L. Eichstedt, Mary Washington UniversityMelissa Herbert, Hamline UniversitySusan Johnston, University of OregonDan Jones, University of Arizona

Tom Linneman, University of Washington
Arlene Stein, University of Oregon

This workshop is intended for those who teach general courses in sociology. Panelists will describe teaching experiences with gay/lesbian material in courses such as deviance, family, research methods, social movements, and social psychology. We will also discuss participation of gay/lesbian students in classes, issues of being "out" for gay/lesbian faculty, and how non-gay faculty can introduce gay/lesbian topics in their courses. Our main goal is to assist instructors who are interested in using materials on homosexuality in a wide range of sociology courses. Panelists will work with the workshop participants to develop this material and discuss possible issues for courses they now teach or plan to teach.

Teaching Sociology in the Community College
Session 242, Monday, August 21, 12:30-2:15 p.m.
Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Barbara J. Johnston, North Hennepin Community College
Maria Isabel Bryant, Charles County Community College

This workshop is designed to promote a better understanding of the community college by discussing the misconceptions about this little known and understood institution. Exploring the similarities and differences between community colleges and four-year institutions, the workshop will focus on such areas as: an historical overview of the community college movement, philosophy and mission, curriculum and instruction, student profile, faculty development issues, teaching introductory courses, the cooling-out function, and other current issues in the community college. Participants are urged to bring their own issues, difficulties, and dilemmas to discuss. Relevant ASA materials will be available.

Showcase on National Initiatives in Higher Education
Session 243, Monday, August 21, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Monroe West

Organizer and Presider: Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association
"Preparing Future Faculty" Project. Jerry Gaff, American Association of Colleges and University
"Faculty Roles and Rewards Forum" and "Tenure Project." Eugene Rice, American Association for Higher Education
"Professional Service." Zelda Gamson, New England Resource Center for Higher Education

Each panelist is heading one or more national projects on an important topic in higher education. The national higher education associations, primarily based in Washington, DC, have initiated national conversations on these topics. Through their meetings, publications, and special events, administrators and faculty work on critical issues facing higher education and the professorate. This session will help sociologists join in those conversations, learn about resources, workshops, materials, technical assistance, and the debates in higher education. Take advantage of this opportunity to have a "briefing" on exciting issues in the academy.

Teaching Introductory Sociology from a Global Perspective
Session 267, Monday, August 21, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Thoroughbred

Paul Hsu, Austin Peay State University
Joan Ferrante, Northern Kentucky University
William Cockerham, University of Alabama, Birmingham
Pat Gadban, San Jose State University
Anne Hendershott, University of San Diego
William NesSmith, Florida Community College
Michael Soroka, University of San Diego

The goal of this workshop is to help instructors develop a broader and global outlook in teaching introductory sociology. We will discuss theoretical as well as practical aspects of teaching sociology from a global perspective, and provide some test-proven techniques such as slide shows, charts, computerized graphics, transparencies, and a teaching resource manual. Some writers will be invited to share their experience in this field.

Teaching Sociologists to Write
Session 289, Monday, August 21, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Military

Paul Burstein, University of Washington
Claude S. Fischer, University of California, Berkeley
Rosanna Hertz, Wellesley College
Michael Schwalbe, North Carolina State University

Intended for sociologists who teach (or would like to teach) graduate students how to write for publication. The focus will be on getting and giving helpful feedback on written work, line-by-line editing, and reworking papers in response to editor's comments.

Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time
Session 309, Tuesday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Hemisphere

Kathleen McKinney, Editor, Teaching Sociology, Illinois State University
Stephen F. Steele, Applied Data Associates, Inc. and Society for Applied Sociology

The goals of this workshop are to help instructors who are teaching Introductory Sociology for the first time to consider relevant pedagogical issues and to begin to prepare syllabus and course material. Topics to be considered include course goals, course content, the syllabus, choosing readings, evaluation of students, preparing lectures, alternatives to lecturing, critical thinking and application, motivating students, and issues of "control." The format of the workshop will be diverse, with brief presentations by the leaders, participant group work, questions/discussion, and the distribution and use of a workbook.

Integrating Feminist Sociology into the Core Graduate Curriculum
Session 310, Tuesday, August 22, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Military

Organizer: Barbara J. Risman, North Carolina State University
Presider: Kristen Myers, North Carolina State University

Panel: Craig Calhoun, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Jon Miller, University of Southern California

Shulamit Reinharz, Brandeis University

Joey Sprague, University of Kansas

The goal of this workshop is to help graduate departments design their curriculum so that feminist sociology is integrated throughout the curriculum. We will focus on successful strategies for mainstreaming feminist scholarship into required core areas such as theory and methods. Discussion will address why such curriculum transformation is important at the graduate level. Panelists will discuss their experiences trying to implement such integrative strategies in their own departments, and their own courses. The session will be interactive, with audience members both asking questions and responding to the panel members.

Dilemmas of Multicultural Teaching

Session 331, Tuesday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Edison

Organizers: Tom Gerschick, Illinois State University; Ramon S. Torrecilha, Social Science Research Council

Presider: Tom Gerschick, Illinois State University

Panel: Hector Delgado, University of Arizona

Cheryl Hyde, Boston University

Sangeeta Tyagi, Roanoke College

Panelists will describe how they understand multiculturalism, discuss issues and dilemmas they face in the classroom as a multicultural teacher, and how they address them. The workshop is designed as a "working session" to maximize audience participation. Possible topics for discussion include: How we approach multiculturalism based on our own identities; how we teach material that is written by people who are not members of our group, especially when there are members of that group in the audience; and how we deal with identities that are not readily discernible but which may affect how we perceive ourselves and how we are perceived by students.

Teaching Introductory Statistics with Computer-Assisted Instructions Programs

Session 349, Tuesday, August 22, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Military

Charles E. Denk and Douglas E. Lloyd, University of Virginia

Windows-based authoring and object-programming systems can dramatically enhance lectures, lab activities, self-paced tutorials and assignments in social statistics. We demonstrate use of ToolBook and specialty statistics modules in an integrated approach to computer-assisted laboratory instruction. Move beyond static "output" into the world of interactive learning!

Assessment of Sociology Programs and the Sociology of Assessment

Session 373, Tuesday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Washington Hilton, Military

Theodore C. Wagenaar, Miami University

John Myers, Rowan College of New Jersey

Poster Sessions

This program component features a series of display presentations that allow face-to-face conversation between authors and viewers. By facilitating informal discussions between presenters and "browsers," Poster Sessions provide a more direct forum for information exchange than do formal paper presentations.

The 1995 Program Committee invited Maria R. Lowe (Southwestern University) to review papers and select poster presentations. Three sessions have been arranged from the open submissions. These display presentations will be located in the Exhibit Hall at the Washington Hilton, adjacent to the exhibits. Be sure to include some time in your schedule to visit this area and browse through these presentations!

Criminology/Delinquency, Social Psychology
Session 268, Monday, August 21, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Medical Sociology, Community/Rural Sociology
Session 332, Tuesday, August 22, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Work/Labor Markets, Sex and Gender
Session 374, Tuesday, August 22, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Section Activities

ASA members with interests in specialized areas of sociological inquiry may join any of the 35 Sections of the Association. These Sections promote ongoing communication among their members by publishing newsletters, supporting cooperative research ventures, recognizing outstanding work by professionals and students in their specialties, and sponsoring program activities at each Annual meeting.

Annual Meeting Activities. Section activities are interspersed throughout the five-day schedule of the Annual Meeting and are open to all meeting attendees. The number of sessions allocated to each Section is based on the size of the Section. For the 35 active sessions, there are a total of 143 sessions/meetings scheduled. There is also one organizational meeting scheduled for a group interested in forming a new section on Race, Class, and Gender.

Section Council and Business meetings, program sessions, and receptions are summarized below for quick reference; for more complete information, refer to the detailed Program schedule.

*in-formation

This workshop considers the definition and rationale of assessment and examines strategies for assessment in sociology programs. We discuss how to use assessment results and consider the sociological realities of assessment. Lessons from assessment in general education will be shared. Open discussion will occur to address issues of concern to participants.

Teaching Criminology

Session 397, Wednesday, August 23, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Diane E. Taub, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale

Richard A. Wright, University of Scranton

This workshop examines a variety of syllabi, exercises, and teaching alternatives used in courses on criminology. Experiential learning and multiculturalism in the classroom will be addressed. Also discussed are strengths and weaknesses of current criminology textbooks, as well as recommendations for course adoption of books. Handouts, including materials from the ASA Teaching Resources Center, will be provided.

Open Refereed Roundtables

The 1995 Program Committee has continued this new roundtable component which was added to the general program last year. Marilyn Ihinger-Tallman (University of Washington) was invited to review submissions and organize sessions of 6-8 roundtables following a "mini-session" format: a general topic identified for each table, two to four paper presentations, and a table presider to coordinate presentations and discussion.

These sessions are not intended to compete with Section sessions; rather, since many topics are not covered by Sections, these sessions allow individuals heretofore excluded from the active interaction of refereed roundtable presentation to claim a place on the program.

Eight Open Refereed Roundtable Sessions are included on this year's program; details are in the Program Schedule.

Regular Sessions

Regular Sessions (RS) are comprised of papers submitted in response to the 1995 Call for Papers. Eighty-nine general topics were announced for open submission, and each RS organizer received anywhere from 3 to 60 submissions for review. A total of 147 formal paper sessions were organized from the submitted papers. (Last year 150 sessions were formed from 67 announced topics.) Please refer to the Program Schedule for details on each Regular Session.

Informal Discussion Roundtables

This popular program component is designed to bring together small groups of people interested in discussing specific topics. The 1995 Program Committee invited Rosario Torres Raines (Texas A&M University, Kingsville) to review proposals and coordinate topics and discussion leaders.

The eight informal discussion sessions have been organized around general topics. Please refer to the Program Schedule for complete details on these sessions. Since several discussions are held simultaneously in one large meeting room, no audio-visual equipment or recording devices may be used and no papers will be prepared for distribution.

Gender Issues and Identity

Session 12, Saturday, August 19, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Washington Hilton, International East

Organizer: Trudy B. Anderson, Texas A&M University, Kingsville

Student Activities

The ASA Membership Committee and the Honors Program Student Association have made special efforts to make undergraduate and graduate students feel welcome at the Annual Meeting.

Student Center. Students attending the Annual Meeting may make use of the Student Center in Parlor 3101 at the Washington Hilton. The center will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Saturday through Tuesday, August 19-22, and 8:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. on Wednesday, August 23, to provide a place for students to meet, make dinner arrangements, caucus, etc. All students attending the Annual Meeting are welcome to use this hospitality room. Coffee will be provided each morning.

Student Discounts. Registration fees are substantially discounted for students. Students were encouraged to preregister before June 20 to take advantage of the lowest fees. Special blocks of hotel rooms were also arranged. Valid student IDs may be required at check-in to verify eligibility for the student rates.

Student Reception. An informal reception, co-hosted by the Membership Committee and the Honors Program Student Association, will be held on Sunday, August 20, at 7:00 p.m. on the International Terrace at the Washington Hilton. All students registered to attend the Annual Meeting are invited to this lively social gathering.

Student Sessions. Several student sessions have been organized by the ASA Honors Program, and some workshops are oriented toward issues of interest to students. See sessions 109, 152, 223, 245, 271, and 311 in the Program schedule for complete details.

Tours

Enrich your visit to Washington by participating in at least one, or perhaps several, of the special tours developed for the 1995 Annual Meeting. Tours are a vital segment of the Annual Meeting Program, enjoyed by meeting attendees and their guests. The opportunity to view local attractions through a sociological lens is one not widely available, so it is with much pride and enthusiasm that we present our 11th year of tour programming.

This year's tours cover a wide variety of subjects and illustrate the diversity and rich history which make Washington, D.C. the vibrant metropolis that it is. Delve into the "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous" as you examine two grand Washington mansions. Take a leisurely cruise down the Potomac River, viewing the city's monuments and attractions from a different angle. Explore the world's only university for deaf students and participate in a discussion of community as related to deafness. Meet with armed forces officials to tour the Pentagon. Investigate the research opportunities and vast array of resources available at the Library of Congress.

You may also tour the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, trace the development of immigrant communities in the city and the surrounding suburbs, or discover historic Georgetown through the eyes of former African American residents.

The schedule of tours is provided below. Reservations are mandatory. Please check at the ASA Tickets counter in the Exhibit Hall for availability and any late cancellations. Those already enrolled in tours should have received their tickets with their name badges.

Fees noted with descriptions below include all entrance fees. Tour fees are non-refundable. Limits on tour attendance are noted with the descriptions below.

Most tour sites are accessible to persons with disabilities; however, tours are generally not accessible to attendees in wheelchairs unless alternative transportation is arranged in advance. Attendees may make such arrangements on their own or contact the ASA Office in the State room at the Washington Hilton for assistance.

Valid photo identification is required at several tour sites. The following are acceptable forms of identification: driver's license, government or military identification, current passport or International Student Identification Card. Student IDs are not acceptable.

All tours will depart from the Terrace entrance of the Washington Hilton. Attendees are asked to meet in the designated tour group area in the Terrace foyer. Please arrive promptly so that departure times may be observed. Keep in mind that arrival times back to the Washington Hilton are estimates only and may vary somewhat due to traffic congestion.

Tour 1: The Evolving Suburban Landscapes of Northern Virginia
Sunday, August 20, 8:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon

Fee: $15

Tour Leader: Joseph S. Wood, George Mason University

Northern Virginia is a region in the making, and the forces that shape its geography are mirrored in its landscapes—literally wave after wave of suburbia layered upon one another. Northern Virginia encompasses some of the wealthiest counties in the country, and it has emerged in the last decade and a half as a major high-technology employment region. It abounds with what Joel Garreau calls "edge cities" housing significant concentrations of aerospace, defense, and communications firms and reflecting a gendered division of labor. It is also home to recent immigrants from Central American and Southeast Asia, who are remaking portions of established suburbs while neotraditional town planners shape a postmodern, middle-class landscape on its far frontier.

The tour cuts across Northern Virginia from Arlington westward passing through the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor, Falls Church, Tysons Corner, Reston, Dulles Corridor, and mixed-use neotraditional suburban developments in Loudon County. We will observe landscapes or landscape relicts of three waves of suburbanization: residential communities formed in the first wave; commercial retail activity characterizing the second wave; and places of symbolic-analytic and routine-professional service employment in the third wave. The three waves have merged on the postmodern suburban frontier.

We will stop, as time allows, at Ballston, Eden Center (a Vietnamese Shopping Plaza), and Reston Town Center.

A field guide detailing the processes, patterns, and places we visit is included. (Bus excursion with limited, optional walking – limited to 40 participants)

Tour 2: Washington By Water Monuments Cruise

Sunday, August 20, 12:30 - 4:00 p.m.

Fee: $25

See the majestic Washington skyline featuring the Capitol dome and the National Cathedral. Sail past the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, the Washington Monument and the Kennedy Center. Enjoy a leisurely cruise down the Potomac. The boat will depart from and return to historic Old Town Alexandria. Bus transportation will be provided. (Bus/boat tour -- limited to 40 participants)

Tour 3: Immigrant Washington: From City to Suburbs

Sunday, August 20, 1:00 - 4:00 p.m.

Tour Leader: Robert D. Manning, American University

We will explore the ongoing cultural shift of Washington, D.C. from a bi-racial city to a multicultural metropolis, through its old and new immigrant communities. The tour will begin in the historic district of Mt. Pleasant, where riots in 1991 attracted national attention as largely new Latino immigrants protested police abuse, political neglect, and economic inequality. We will then leave this unique multicultural community and visit the bohemian ambiance of Adams Morgan before arriving at Dupont Circle, where gentrification and the emergence of Embassy Row has displaced earlier European and African American neighborhoods. The tour will pass by the Smithsonian, while observing the impact of urban renewal on nearby working class communities, and then visit the remnants of Little Italy and Chinatown. We will continue on to explore the dynamic, diverse "inner" suburban communities of Takoma Park and Langley Park. Participants will have the opportunity to venture out and experience a new immigrant community first hand while enjoying a late lunch at a Mexican, Vietnamese or Jamaican restaurant (lunch is not included in tour price). (Bus excursion with some walking -- limited to 45 participants)

Tour 4: United States Holocaust Memorial Museum

Monday, August 21, 8:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

Tour Leader: Wesley Fisher, USHMM

The United States Holocaust Memorial Museum is dedicated to presenting the history of the persecution and murder of six million Jews and millions of other victims of Nazi tyranny from 1933 to 1945. The Museum's primary mission is to inform Americans about this unprecedented tragedy, to remember those who suffered, and to inspire visitors to contemplate the moral implications of their choices and responsibilities as citizens in an interdependent world.--USHMM Brochure

Special access has been arranged to permit entry into the USHMM prior to public hours. Wesley Fisher, Deputy Director of the USHMM Research Institute, will provide an orientation to the Museum at 9:15 a.m. Following the orientation, tour participants will have access to the permanent exhibition. (USHMM is accessible to persons with disabilities and wheelchairs are available. Fees collected for this tour are for administrative and transportation costs. Bus drop-off/pick up -- limited to 200 participants)

Tour 5: Pentagon

Monday, August 21, 12:30 - 4:30 p.m.

Tour Leader: David Segal, University of Maryland

Since 1942, the Department of Defense has been headquartered in the Pentagon, which was until recently the world's largest office building (3.7 million square feet). Contained within its five sides are a workforce of more than twenty-three thousand, distributed among the offices for each of the armed services. The tour passes through a variety of commemorative exhibits and memorials, and includes a video presentation about the activities and functioning of the Pentagon. Following the tour, participants will meet with Lieutenant General Theodore Stroup, Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel, United States Army, for a discussion of personnel, manpower and organizational issues. (Photo ID required. The Pentagon is accessible to persons with disabilities. Bus drop-off/pick up, one hour walking -- limited to 24 participants)

Tour 6: Black Georgetown Remembered at Georgetown University (Tour and Video Screening)

Monday, August 21, 1:30 - 4:30 p.m.

Tour Leader: Bill McDonald, Georgetown University

While on the campus of Georgetown University, we will view a 48 minute video, consisting of oral histories by members of what was once a thriving black community in Georgetown but was significantly diminished by gentrification. The interviews are fascinating, touching, and amazingly gripping, given the simple "talking heads" format of the film. The video itself is a useful demonstration of a method for studying communities and capturing their histories. It was produced on a small budget by an African American Professor of English, as one of the faculty projects funded by the University as part of its bicentennial celebration in 1989. Both the video and a book based on the project can be purchased.

Tour members will then be given time to roam the University campus or to accompany the tour leader to the "Exorcist steps" and to other campus points of interest. On the return bus trip, some of the landmarks mentioned in the video will be pointed out. (Bus excursion with some walking -- limited to 40 participants)

Tour 7: Library of Congress: Main Reading Room Tour and Orientation

Tuesday, August 22, 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon

Fee: $12

Tour Leader: Reference Specialist, Humanities and Social Science Division

The Library of Congress, America's oldest national cultural institution, is the largest repository of recorded knowledge in the world. Its collections are comprehensive in scope, encompassing research materials in more than 450 languages and in many media. The classified book collection alone includes more than 16 million items; the number of items in all media in all collections exceeds 105 million. The sheer size of the Library's collections means great strengths in all areas of sociology.

The beautiful renovated Main Reading Room, which reopened in June, 1991, is the central access point for all the Library's collections. The Main Reading Room tour will introduce you to the Library's resources and cover the basics of undertaking research at the Library. As part of the tour, time is scheduled for your own searching in the Computer Catalog Center of the Main Reading Room. The computer session may be of interest because the Library's databases are now available worldwide on-line via the Internet. (Photo ID required. The Library of Congress is accessible to persons with disabilities. Bus drop-off/pick up -- limited to 20 participants)

Tour 8: Class, Status, and the Gilded Age in D.C.

Tuesday, August 22, 1:00 - 4:00 p.m.

Fee: $15

Tour Leader: Bill McDonald, Georgetown University

This tour of two magnificent homes, the Christian Heurich House and the Anderson House, provides an opportunity to appreciate many aspects of social stratification from the efficacy of "luck and pluck" to the feudal principle of primogeniture. Christian Heurich, a German immigrant of modest origins rose from rags to riches through marriages, real estate, and a brewery. His Victorian House was built in 1892-94 for $65,000, including a central vacuuming system. He worked until the day he died. His third wife, a former federal clerk, managed the household of servants and accounted for every penny spent. On the other side of Dupont Circle "society" families built grand houses--where they stayed only during the social season and to which Heurich was never invited.

Larz Anderson was the scion of a prominent American family whose important role in all the major events of American history is portrayed in a mural in his D.C. house, which was built in 1902-05 for $800,000 and did not include a central vacuuming system. Today the Anderson House belongs to the Society of the Cincinnati, whose membership is limited to the first male descendants of officers who fought in the American Revolution.

Tour members are asked to read Paul Fussler's Class and come prepared to recognize the principles of status enhancement in architectural and lifestyle display. Members who distinguish themselves at recognizing applications of these principles will be rewarded with a bottle of Old Heurich beer and a copy of the self-proclaimed model syllabus on social stratification written by Bill McDonald for the course for which this tour was originally developed. (Bus excursion with some walking -- limited to 20 participants. Tour subject to cancellation due to possible renovations)

Tour 9: Gallaudet University and the Socio-Cultural Situation of Deaf People

Tuesday, August 22, 1:00 - 4:00 p.m.

☞ sign language interpreted (ASL)

Fee: $12

Tour Leaders: Sharon Barnartt and Hannah Gershon, Gallaudet University

Gallaudet University is the world's only liberal arts college for deaf students, and it was also the site of the 1988 Deaf President Now protest. While in many ways the campus looks like any other college campus (except for some buildings which are of historical interest), the deaf population in the US presents a situation of more than passing sociological interest. This tour will examine that situation in the context of the campus.

We will begin with a tour of some campus buildings, combined with a discussion of deaf culture. It will then proceed to a panel discussion, by deaf faculty from sociology and other deaf faculty and staff members, of social, cultural, and political issues in the deaf community. Finally, there will be a short time for people to explore the bookstore, which has a large collection of deafness-related books for sale, and/or the Deafness Collection in the library, which provides a unique resource for research; or to visit an exhibit of pictures and other information about the physiology of deafness, the history of deaf people, and communication issues for people with hearing impairments.

The tour of the campus will be led by a deaf tour guide from the Gallaudet Visitor's Center. The panel discussion will be moderated by deaf and hearing members of the Sociology Department. All events will be accessible to all people--although people needing accommodations other than sign language interpreters should request them in advance. (Bus drop-off/pick up with some walking -- limit 20 participants)

Sightseeing Services

Discount packages for local transportation and city guides were offered to preregistrants. Those who signed up for passes should have tickets in their badge envelopes which can be exchanged for the actual passes at the ASA Information Desk in the Concourse Lobby. One-Day Metro passes and TripBuilder® Travel Guides are also available for on-site purchase at the ASA Information Desk.

City Information

The Washington, DC Convention and Visitors Association is providing brochures on attractions in the DC area as well as information on local restaurants and assistance in making reservations. The Washington, DC Information booth, located just inside the Exhibit Hall, will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Sunday-Tuesday, August 20-22.

Special Events

Welcoming and Orientation Party

All meeting registrants are invited to the Welcoming and Orientation Party on Saturday, August 19, from 6:30-8:00 p.m., in the International East room at the Washington Hilton to celebrate the opening day of the 1995 Annual Meeting.

Newcomers can make new friends and be briefed on ASA activities and avenues for formal and informal involvement in the Association. Repeat players can see old friends and get updated on current activities of the Associations and its sections and committees. New members and first-time meeting attendees are particularly encouraged to attend.

Remember to bring the Welcoming Party flyer from your Program packet with you to exchange for a complimentary beverage!

Honorary Reception

Since 1984, the American Sociological Association has been joined by social science departments and regional societies in co-sponsoring the annual Honorary Reception that follows the President's address. This year the Association is pleased to acknowledge the following co-hosts of the Honorary Reception:

Sponsors:

The Brookings Institute
California State University, Sacramento
College of William and Mary Columbia University
George Washington University
Howard University
The Johns Hopkins University
Michigan State University
Northwestern University
State University of New York, Albany
University of Maryland, College Park
University of Pennsylvania University of Virginia

Donors:

Catholic University of America
DC Sociological Society
The Hebrew University of Jerusalem
State University of New York, Buffalo

All meeting attendees are invited to join with the sponsors and donors at the Honorary Reception at 6:00 p.m., Sunday, August 20, to express appreciation, congratulations, and best wishes to the President and major ASA award recipients on this festive occasion!

DAN

Be sure your meeting schedule for Saturday, August 19, includes the 22nd annual Departmental Alumni Night (DAN), where sociologists from around the world meet to reminisce about graduate school days, create new coalitions, and catch up on the latest news!

The gathering will begin when the opening plenary session concludes, around 10:00 p.m., and plenty of time is provided for chatting with colleagues and alumni.

Each graduate department of sociology in the United States and Canada was given the opportunity to sponsor a table to attract alumni and friends. Tables will also be provided for sociologists in business and industry as well as for international scholars and guests.

Make plans to meet your friends out on the Park Terrace at the Washington Hilton for the alumni interaction beginning at 10:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 19th!

Teaching Endowment Excursion

This year's "cruise" will be on the Sequoia, a beautiful restaurant located at Washington Harbor on the Potomac River. The atmosphere, reminiscent of the Presidential yacht, is elegant, with spacious proportions emphasizing unsurpassed views of the monuments, the Kennedy Center, Watergate, and historic Virginia. The interior space is gracefully refined with walls of mahogany, framing a panoramic two-story wall of windows overlooking a terrace that descends to the water's edge.

The bus will depart the Washington Hilton at 7:15 p.m. on Sunday evening, August 20, to take you to the dinner site. After dinner, you can enjoy a stroll along the Potomac or investigate the nightlife of Georgetown's M Street, just two blocks away.

This dinner is a fund-raiser for the ASA Teaching Endowment Fund (TEF), a small grants program which supports teaching-related projects. A portion of each ticket price will go toward supporting the fund.

Tickets for this year's dinner are $35. Those who enrolled in advance should have received their tickets with their name badges. Other may purchase tickets at the ASA Tickets counter in the Exhibit Hall at the Washington Hilton. TEF dinner ticket sales will close at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 19, however, so don't delay!

International Scholars Reception

Meeting registrants from outside the United States are cordially invited to a reception on Monday, August 21, 6:30-7:30 p.m., in Parlor 7101 at the Washington Hilton to meet members of the ASA Committee on International Sociology and Association officers. American scholars with international interests are also welcome.

In Remembrance

At the beginning of the Presidential Address (Sunday, August 20, 4:30-6:00 p.m.), there will be a "Moment of Silence" to remember those members of the ASA who died during the past year. Names submitted to Footnotes since last year's Annual Meeting are listed below. If you know of other sociologists who should be on this list but whose names do not appear below, please contact ASA staff in the on-site ASA Office in the State room at the Washington Hilton by 3:00 p.m. on Sunday, August 20.

Other Group Activities

The wide-ranging interests of ASA members generate meetings of special interest groups during each year's Annual Meeting. Space is assigned as available to these groups to hold their meetings in evening time slots when no program sessions or other ASA activities are scheduled. "Other Group" activities range from ad hoc sessions sponsored by individual ASA members to meetings of sister/affiliated organizations.

In addition to the scheduled meeting time, some groups will have membership information and publications on display in the Table Space Area in the Concourse Corridor at the Washington Hilton.

General Information

The 1995 ASA Annual Meeting is being held at the Washington Hilton and Towers and The Capital Hilton in downtown Washington, DC. Program sessions are being held at both hotels and at the Hotel Sofitel. Exhibits, Registration, Child Care, Paper Sales, and the Employment Service are located in the Washington Hilton. Shuttle buses run on a continuous schedule between the two Hilton hotels during session hours on August 19-23.

Registration

Preregistrants. Attendees who registered before August 1 may pick up badges, program kits, and special tickets at the Preregistration booth in the Concourse Lobby at the Washington Hilton. Service hours are as follows:

Friday, August 18	1:00-8:00 p.m.
Saturday, August 19	8:00 a.m.-8:00 p.m.
Sunday, August 20	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Monday, August 21	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Tuesday, August 22	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Preregistrants who arrive on August 23 may pick up their meeting materials at the ASA Information Booth in the Concourse Lobby.

On-Site Registration. Those who missed the preregistration deadline will find the On-Site Registration area inside the Exhibit Hall. Please enter from the Concourse Corridor. Registration hours are as follows:

Friday, August 18	1:00-5:00 p.m.
Saturday, August 19	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Sunday, August 20	7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Monday, August 21	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Tuesday, August 22	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Wednesday, August 23	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.

Reminder: Access to all ASA services is restricted to meeting registrants. Badges are required for entry to the Exhibits, Employment Service, Child Care Service, and Paper Sales areas. Attendance at events which require fee payment (e.g., Didactic Seminars, Tours, TEF Dinner) is restricted to persons who have registered for the meeting.

Spouse/Guest Registration. A Spouse/Guest registration provides a name badge only. Spouse/guest registrations are limited to one per registrant. Any spouse/guest who wants a program packet and access to ASA services and special sessions must register individually and pay the full registration fee.

Cancellations. Program participant registration fees are non-refundable. 90% of fees for general registration, seminars, workshops, and tours will be refunded to non-program participants if written cancellation was received before July 1. All 1995 Annual Meeting fees and deposits were non-refundable after July 1, 1995. Unfortunately, under no circumstances can ASA issue refunds for no-shows.

Accessibility Resources and Services

The ASA offers several services and oversight arrangements to facilitate attendance at the Annual Meeting. The ASA Information desk will coordinate resources during the meeting week for registrants with physical disabilities who are attending the Annual Meeting. Special services which were arranged in advance may be verified with Information Desk staff on your arrival to ensure that you receive the assistance you need.

Comfort Zone. Attendees coping with illness, meeting fatigue, or stress may use the small room set aside by ASA as a "safe haven" to escape briefly from the noise and bustle of meeting activities. The Comfort Zone is located in the Bancroft room on the Terrace Level at the Washington Hilton. This space is provided in response to concerns brought to the ASA Council by the Sociologists' AIDS Network, Sociology Lesbian and Gay Caucus, and the ASA Committee on Society and Persons with Disabilities.

Sessions. ASA has made arrangements for sign language interpreters and other communication avenues for preregistered meeting registrants who requested such services. ASL sign language interpreters will be interpreting the following program activities: Sessions 191, 276, 286, 389, 395, and 413; Tour 9 (Gallaudet University); the Committee on Society and Persons with Disabilities meeting; and the Irving Zola Memorial presentations. The shuttle service running between the Washington Hilton and the Capital Hilton includes a wheelchair accessible vehicle.

Housing. Attendees who requested wheelchair accessible rooms, bathrooms with safety equipment (grab bars), amplified telephone receivers, closed captioned TV equipment, TDD access, "shake awake" alarms, or other resources when making room reservations and who have not received the desired equipment are asked to contact the ASA Office immediately.

Travel. Attendees with mobility impairments who are flying in and out of DC are advised to notify their airline 24 hours before departure if they will need assistance in getting from their arrival gate to the baggage claim area.

Elevator access is available but not as obvious as escalators and stairs. Airline and airport personnel will gladly assist any meeting attendee needing transportation aid.

Local Transportation. Wheelchair accessible Washington Flyer bus service to/from National and Dulles airports and downtown DC is available by advance reservation. Call (703) 417-8417 for information. Attendees traveling to DC via Baltimore-Washington International Airport may call the Baltimore SuperShuttle terminal in DC at (202) 562-1234 to make advance reservations for wheelchair accessible transportation.

On-Site Requests. Registrants who did not make advance arrangements for services or equipment are requested to contact staff in the ASA Office in the State room at the Washington Hilton. Every reasonable effort will be made to assist registrants on-site. However, if you have a physical disability and need special services, equipment, or accommodations, and did not notify ASA in advance of your arrival at the meeting site, ASA may not be able to provide the proper services due to the limited availability of some equipment and services.

Airport Transportation

Three major airports service the Baltimore-Washington metropolitan area. The closest airport to downtown DC is Washington National Airport, which serves most major airlines. Since this airport is located just across the Potomac River in Virginia, it is only a 20-minute drive (during non-rush hours) into downtown Washington. Washington Dulles International Airport, which handles most transcontinental and international flights, is located in Virginia about 40 minutes (during non-rush hours) from downtown DC. Baltimore-Washington International Airport is located on the outskirts of Baltimore approximately 45 minutes (during non-rush hours) from Washington.

Attendees with mobility impairments who are flying in and out of DC are advised to notify their airline 24 hours before departure if they will need assistance in getting from their arrival gate to the baggage claim area. Airline and airport personnel will gladly assist any meeting attendee needing assistance.

The Washington Flyer bus service provides a continuous transfer service between National and Dulles airports and the airport bus terminal at 1517 K Street, N.W., near the Capital Hilton in downtown Washington, DC. Courtesy shuttles are available to/from the airport bus terminal and eight major hotels, including the Washington Hilton. Washington Flyer discount coupons were sent to meeting registrants with their registration confirmations. Advance reservations are required for wheelchair accessible service to/from both airports; call (703) 417-8417. For more information on Washington

Flyer's general schedule and services, call (703) 685-1400.

Detailed information on various transportation options for all three airports is provided below.

Washington National Airport

Taxi. A taxi ride for one person will cost around $10-12 and the trip will take 15-20 minutes. A variety of licensed cab companies operate from the airport.

Metro. The free airport shuttle bus connects the airport terminals with the National Airport Metro station on the Blue and Orange Lines. Transfer to the Red Line at Metro Center or Gallery Place. Exit at the Farragut North stop, K Street access, for a one-block walk to the Capital Hilton; go on to the Dupont Circle stop, Q Street access, for a 1-4 block walk to all other hotels. Check the housing map for exact hotel locations. Metro service begins at 5:30 a.m. on weekdays and 8:00 a.m. on weekends; service closes at midnight seven days a week. Travel costs between $1.00 and $3.15 each way depending upon time of day and destination. Metro information is available at (202) 637-7000.

Bus. Washington Flyer service to and from National costs $8.00 one way, $14.00 round trip, and takes approximately 20-30 minutes. Service to the downtown airport bus terminal at 1517 K Street, N.W., is available from 6:25 a.m. until 9:25 p.m. Courtesy shuttles are available to/from the bus terminal and eight major hotels, including the Washington Hilton. Buses depart the downtown terminal for National Airport beginning at 6:05 a.m. until 10:35 p.m. Call (703) 685-1400 for more information.

Washington Dulles International Airport

Taxi. Taxis offer the most convenient as well as most costly transportation from Dulles to downtown DC. The fare for the 40-60 minute trip will run $45-60.

Bus. The Washington Flyer provides the most economic access to and from Dulles Airport. Buses operate between the airport and the airport bus terminal at 1517 K Street, N.W. in downtown Washington. The trip takes approximately 45 minutes to one hour. Courtesy shuttles to eight major hotels and taxis are available at the airport bus terminal to take you to your final destination. From Dulles to downtown Washington, the Washington Flyer operates seven days a week, from 5:20 a.m. until 10:20 p.m. Returning to Dulles from downtown, service begins at 6:15 a.m., and concludes at 12:15 a.m. Washington Flyer service costs $16.00 one way and $26.00 round trip, and tickets may be purchased in advance or at the time of departure.

Metro. The closest Metro station is the West Falls Church station on the Orange line. The Washington Flyer operates an express connector from the airport to the Metro station. The Express costs $8.00 each way and runs between 6:00 a.m. and 10:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. on weekends. Call (703) 685-1400 for more information on the Flyer's Express service.

Baltimore-Washington International Airport (BWI)

Taxi. Most travelers use bus or rail service rather than a taxicab to get from Baltimore to downtown DC. If you opt for a cab, make sure you and the driver agree on a price before leaving the airport. Fares usually range around $50.

Bus. The Baltimore SuperShuttle coach service transfers passengers from BWI to the airport bus terminal in downtown Washington, located at 1517 K Street, N.W. Taxis are available at the bus terminal to complete your trip. SuperShuttle tickets are $15.00 one way, $25.00 round trip. SuperShuttles depart BWI every hour at 10 minutes past the hour. The SuperShuttle operates from 5:10 a.m. until 11:10 p.m. between BWI and downtown Washington. Shuttles to BWI from 1517 K Street depart every hour on the hour from 5:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at time of departure or in advance. Call (202) 562-1234 for further information or to make advance reservations for wheelchair accessible transportation.

Train. A free shuttle bus which runs three times per hour connects the airport and the train station, where there are two types of train service (see below). Trains run every day from the BWI Airport station to Union Station in Washington. Metro and taxis are available at Union Station to take you to your hotel.

1—Maryland's commuter rail service, MARC, operates Monday through Friday. From BWI, MARC's Penn Line service begins at 5:36 a.m. and runs approximately once an hour until 8:48 p.m. Returning to BWI, MARC trains depart Union Station beginning at 6:31 a.m. and ending at 9:48 p.m. MARC service costs $4.50 one way and $8.00 round trip. For more information, call (800) 325-7245.

2—Amtrak is available seven days a week. There are approximately 15 trains per day. From BWI to Union Station, service begins at 7:22 a.m. and concludes at 12:44 a.m. From Union Station to BWI, the first train departs at 3:00 a.m. and the final train leaves at 11:36 p.m. Tickets are $10.00 each way. Call (800) 872-7245 for more details.

ASA Information

The ASA Information desk, located in the Concourse Lobby at the Washington Hilton, is staffed with ASA Executive Office personnel who will be able to assist attendees who have questions about meeting events, activities, and accessibility resources. Information hours are 1:00-5:00 p.m. on Friday, August 18. Hours on Saturday-Wednesday, August 19-23 correspond to the On-Site Registration hours shown above.

ASA Office

The on-site ASA Office is situated in the State room at the Washington Hilton. It will be staffed from Friday-Wednesday, August 18-23, with ASA Executive Office personnel. Office hours are 8:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. each day.

Cafe ASA

By popular demand, the Annual Meeting will once again feature Cafe ASA. This special cafe is a place to buy coffee, sodas, sandwiches, and light snacks, and a place to sit with friends and enjoy a quick bite to eat accompanied by lively conversation. The Cafe will be located in the Exhibit Hall in the middle of the ASA Exhibits on Sunday-Tuesday, August 20-22. On August 18 and 23, the "Snackery" will be open in the Concourse Lobby near the entrance to the hall. Both locations are central to meeting activities. Plan to meet friends, transact business, sociology watch, or just rest your feet at these quick-stop cafes.

Child Care

ASA is continuing the tradition of providing an innovative program of activities for children of Annual Meeting registrants. Arrangements have been made with KiddieCorp to offer a full child care program from 8:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on August 19-23 for children between the ages of 6 months to 12 years. Evening care must be arranged on an individual basis with KiddieCorp personnel or local babysitting agencies.

KiddieCorp is dedicated to providing quality child care services across the nation for meeting attendees. Staffing is based on a 1:2 ratio for children 6 months to 1 year, 1:3 ratio for children 1-2 years of age, and a 1:5 ratio for children 3-12 years of age. The program includes a customized hourly schedule of creative and educational activities, age-appropriate toys and games, popular arts and crafts projects, and child-pleasing movies and cartoon videos. No outings to the swimming pool can be arranged, however, due to liability concerns.

The Child Care Service is located in Parlor 1101 on the 1st floor of sleeping rooms at the Washington Hilton. Fees for preregistered families are $35 per day, $20 per half day. For those using the service for shorter periods, the half-day fees will apply in order to encourage more stable use, discourage frequent dropping in and out, and simplify staffing and payment. Fees include on-site activities and snacks; lunch is not included but meal arrangements can be made through the hotel and/or KiddieCorp. Parents/guardians using these services must be registrants for the Annual Meeting.

Non-preregistered families will be accommodated on-site only if space is available. Fees for children who were not preregistered will be $55 per day per child. No half-day rates are available for non-preregistrants.

Comfort Zone

Attendees coping with illness or lack of stamina may use the small meeting room set aside as a "comfort zone" at the Washington Hilton to escape briefly from the noise and bustle of meeting activities. The Comfort Zone is located in the Bancroft room on the Terrace Level at the Washington Hilton. This space is being provided in response to concerns brought to the ASA Council by the Sociologists' AIDS Network and the Sociologists' Lesbian and Gay Caucus.

Anyone needing immediate medical attention may contact the ASA Office and hotel personnel by picking up the nearest house phone.

Exhibits

The 1995 ASA Exhibits highlight the middle days of this year's Annual Meeting. Located in the Exhibit Hall at the Washington Hilton, ASA Exhibits will be open to meeting registrants from 9:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Sunday-Tuesday, August 20-22.

The location of the Exhibits offers excellent accessibility by meeting attendees, due to its close proximity to main meeting rooms and ASA services. Cafe ASA, one of the highlights of previous meetings, will make a reappearance in the middle of the exhibit area once it has opened.

Meeting attendees are encouraged to schedule several visits to the exhibit area so that ample time can be given to leisurely exploring the many offerings. Browse through the latest sociological publications, explore current computer hardware and software, chat with representatives of statistical and informational literature and services, meet with colleagues participating in the Poster Sessions adjacent to the exhibit area, and enjoy Cafe ASA.

See the Directory of Exhibitors elsewhere in this Program for names and booth numbers of all exhibitors. Don't forget to look through the Program for special ads!

All persons wishing access to ASA Exhibits must be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting; badges are required for entrance into this area.

Locator File and Message Center

All attendees are invited to fill out a "locator card" when picking up their meeting registration packets. These cards will then be made available at the ASA Information Desk during the meeting to help colleagues contact each other while in the DC area.

The Message Center returns to the traditional message "boxes" to facilitate 24-hour non-technical exchange of messages between meeting attendees. Boxes will be located in the Concourse Lobby across from the ASA Information Desk.

Employment Service

The 1995 Employment Service will be open at the Washington Hilton on Friday, August 18, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., and Saturday-Tuesday, August 19-23, from 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. The service will not be open on Wednesday, August 23.

Anyone using this Service, whether as Candidate or Employer, must register for the Annual Meeting as well as with the Employment Service. Once registered, you will be issued a pass permitting your entrance to the Service any time it is open. No one will be admitted without a pass; no browsing by non-registered attendees is permitted.

Fees for use of the Employment Service are $85 for Employers, $30 for Candidates who are not members of ASA, and $15 for Candidates who are ASA members. All employer listings must be prepaid (a valid purchase order will be accepted); post-meeting billing is not available. Candidates must pay by the time they activate their files.

Facilities are available at the Washington Hilton for reviewing employment listings, exchanging messages, and initiating introductory interviews. Position listings supplied by preregistered employers will be available for viewing when the Service opens on Friday afternoon, August 18. Listings supplied by employers who register on-site will be posted as the listings are received and processed.

Forms for listing positions (Employer Forms) and applications for individuals (Candidate Profile Forms) were printed in the Preliminary Program and the Employment Bulletin. Extra copies of these forms are available in the Employment Service Registration areas for those unable to preregister.

Employment Service Candidates should report to the Candidate Registration area in the Exhibit Hall (use the Concourse Corridor entrance) as soon as possible after arrival in DC to activate candidate profiles. For those unable to preregister, it is recommended that you visit the Employment Service as early as possible upon arriving in DC in order to start the required processing.

Representatives from organizations that are listing positions with the Employment Service should check in at Employer Registration in the Exhibit Hall (use the Concourse Corridor entrance) to begin the candidate profile review and interview scheduling processes.

Candidate profiles are not supplied to employers until the candidate files have been activated on-site. Since employers need some time to review the files, there will be a time lag between activation of a candidate file and the scheduling of interviews. Because of that processing and review time, those intending to make full use of the Service should register and activate their files/listings by 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 19. No candidate files will be activated on the last day (Tuesday, August 22) of Employment Service operations.

During the Annual Meeting in Los Angeles last year, 48 employers listed 72 openings, including 8 positions outside academia, and 334 candidates registered with the Service. Over 700 interviews were scheduled.

Membership and Publications Center

Information on ASA membership, sections, subscriptions, and publications will be provided in the Membership and Publications Center in the Exhibit Hall at the Washington Hilton. The Center will be staffed by ASA Executive Office and open during the same hours as ASA On-Site Registration.

Limited quantities of all ASA publications will be available for inspection and purchase at the display tables. Price lists and order forms may be used when inventory is sold out or attendees wish to have materials shipped rather than carrying copies with them.

Browse through the display tables to review current career publications, syllabi sets, sociological practice materials, recent journal issues, indexes, teaching resources, departmental guides and directories, minority fellowship application information, ethics code, section newsletters, and many other publications. Plan to take a copy of the latest catalogues home for further consideration!

Paper Sales

All session papers which were submitted to the Executive Office by July 15 will be available in ASA Paper Sales in the Jefferson West room at the Washington Hilton beginning Friday, August 18. Paper Sales service hours are the same as ASA On-Site Registration.

Check the list of "Available Papers" in your program packet for information on expected availability. Authors who indicated that they would bring copies with them to the Annual Meeting are urged to deliver them to Paper Sales as soon as possible.

Meeting registrants may purchase papers for $3.00 each; these fees go toward covering shipping and service setup costs. Papers may be purchased as long as supplies last; orders for future delivery cannot be accepted. Authors must be contacted directly if copies of papers are not available in the Paper Sales Room nor accessible through the Sociological Abstracts Document Delivery Service. To facilitate communication with authors, the ASA Executive Office has compiled a Roster of Authors with mailing addresses which may be purchased either at the meeting or from the Executive Office after the meeting.

Copies of papers will not be available from ASA following the Annual Meeting. The Executive Office is not able to return unsold copies of papers to individual authors; however, authors may pick up any remaining copies of their own papers after 1:00 p.m. on Wednesday, August 23.

Copies of some papers may remain at the end of the meeting. Any institution wishing to obtain some of these should contact the ASA Office during the meeting.

All persons wishing access to the Paper Sales area must be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting; badges are required for entrance into this area.

Press Office

Members of the press and media representatives are invited to check in at the ASA Press Office for registration packets and interview assistance. The Press Office is located in the Adams room at the Washington Hilton. Office hours are 1:00-5:00 p.m. on Friday, August 18; 8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Saturday-Tuesday, August 19-22, and 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, August 23.

Meeting attendees are encouraged to stop by the Press Office and provide information on their availability to discuss their work with the media while in DC.

Section Information

Looking for information about 35 active ASA Sections and one potential sections-in-information, or copies of 1995 section newsletters? Check at the Sections Display Table in the Membership and Publications Center located in the Exhibit Hall at the Washington Hilton.

Sections have been invited to designate representatives to attend the display table during each meeting day. Representatives will also be present at the Welcoming and Orientation Party on Saturday, August 18, 6:30-8:00 p.m. in the International East room at the Washington Hilton.

Tickets

Registrants already enrolled for didactic seminars, DC Tours, and special events should have received tickets with their meeting packets. Those who did not make advance reservations may check at the ASA Tickets counter in the Exhibit Hall at the Washington Hilton for ticket availability.

Event tickets are non-refundable and cancellations cannot be accepted. You may, however, sell your ticket to someone else if you are unable to attend.

ASA Meeting Services is pleased to announce that the Centralized Housing Reservation Service (CHRS) used for this year's meeting is no longer in operation. The ASA housing arrangements were transferred to this system when the Washington, DC Convention & Visitors Association joined the CHRS group. CHRS has now closed its doors and convention housing services are being returned to city bureaus, much to the relief of ASA staff and attendees who experienced a great deal of frustration with the CHRS system.

Minority Fellowship Program Fellows

The following MFP Fellows are participating in this year's Annual Meeting Program. ASA and the 1995 Program Committee are pleased to highlight these professional activities of current and former Fellows. The Minority Fellowship Program (MFP), in operation since 1974, has been a significant factor in recruiting minorities into sociology. Fellows continue to make important contributions to the growth of the discipline. The Association takes great satisfaction in acknowledging this form of professional activity.

Pre-Meeting Activities

1. Professional Skill-Building Workshop. Program and Policy Evaluation: Research Design and Applications

Washington Hilton, Map

Thursday, August 17, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon; 1:00-5:30 p.m.

Friday, August 18, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon; 1:00-5:00 p.m.

Ticket required for admission

Organizer: Janet Mancini Billson, American Sociological Association

Leaders: Ray C. Rist, George Washington University
Virginia Mulhern, Human Services Research Institute, Cambridge, Massachusetts

Sociologists have long contributed to evaluation research, an applied field that draws from many other disciplines as well as from sociology. While some sociologists have made their marks in conceptualizing and practicing evaluation research, others have felt a gap in their graduate training that might have prepared them to be practitioners in this diverse and exciting field. This Skill-Building Workshop offers training in evaluation research concepts, theories, strategies, and methodologies. Two seasoned evaluation researchers, sociologists Ray Rist (Director, Center for Policy Studies, George Washington University, Washington, DC) and Virginia Mulhern (Associate Director, Evaluation Center, Human Services Research Institute, Cambridge, Massachusetts) will serve as co-trainers for the two-day workshop. In this workshop, participants will learn about the vocabularies and logic of evaluation research; how to design evaluations; the variety of research methodologies applicable to evaluation research; applications of evaluations to the policy cycle; and links between evaluation research and other research methodologies.

Teaching Resources Group Training, Friday, August 18, 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.--Washington Hilton, Monroe West

Theory Day, Friday, August 18, 8:30 a.m.-7:30 p.m., Preregistration required for admission (Organizer: David Sciulli, Texas A&M University)--Washington Hilton, Monroe East

2. Didactic Seminar. Introduction to Models for Limited Dependent Variables (co-sponsored by the Section on Methodology and the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research)

Washington Hilton, Military

Friday, August 18, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon

Ticket required for admission

J. Scott Long, Indiana University

The seminar will present models for limited dependent variables as extensions of the multiple regression model: After a brief review of the standard regression model, censoring of the dependent variable will be introduced, resulting in the tobit model and models for sample selection bias. Additional restrictions on the dependent variable will then be introduced resulting in the binary logit and probit models, and then the ordinal logit and probit model. The theoretical development of these models will be accompanied by substantive examples. These applications will be used to illustrate the interpretation of output from standard statistical packages.

3. Didactic Seminar. Advanced Techniques for Limited Dependent Variables (co-sponsored by the Section on Methodology and the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research)

Washington Hilton, Military

Friday, August 18, 1:00-4:00 p.m.

Ticket required for admission

Christopher Winship, Harvard University

The session will examine techniques for modeling the effects of discrete variables in structural equation models. Emphasis is on the dual roles of discrete variables in structural models: (1) as indicators of latent continuous variables; (2) as shifters. A wide variety of models will be considered, including bivariate probit models, selection models, endogenous treatment effects, and simultaneous equation. Issues of estimation and interpretation will be examined. Focus will be on models that can be estimated in LIMDEP.

Honors Program Executive Committee, Friday, August 18, 1:00-3:00 p.m.--Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

65. Didactic Seminar. Methodological Issues in Feminist Social History

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Ticket required for admission

Susan E. Marshall, University of Texas, Austin

The purpose of this seminar is to acquaint participants with proposed revisions to the conduct of feminist history from scholars in other disciplines and their potential relevance for sociological research. Topics covered include reconsideration of the concepts of separate spheres, feminism, and gender as well as increased attention to women's participation in public life. We will address the significance of these revisions for both the study of women's history in particular and of politics and social organization more broadly. The seminar material will focus primarily on 19th century U.S. women's history.

66. Professional Workshop. Sociologists Working in the Public Interest

Washington Hilton, Farragut

Organizer: Roberta Spalter-Roth, Institute for Women's Policy Research

Panel: Judith D. Auerbach, National Institutes of Health
Sara E. Rix, American Association of Retired Persons
Jill Quadagno, Florida State University and 1994 ASA Congressional Fellow

The notion of the sociologist as a neutral expert who uses social scientific research to inform policy makers so that they can formulate policies "in the public interest" has been under attack for several decades. The claims of Marxists, feminists, post-modernists, and the radical right have undermined the preeminence of the concepts of expert, social science, and public interest. What do sociologists working in the public interest do? How have sociologists working in think tanks, for governments, in Congress, on public councils and commissions, and in national membership organizations, responded to the onslaught? Are some of the claims useful even though they might result in loss of scientific privilege? Have there been changes in the relation between the sociologists and public policy? This panel will present the thoughts and experiences of a group of "public interest" workers. Members of the audience will be invited to participate in the discussion.

67. Teaching Workshop. Strengthening a Department's Advising System

Washington Hilton, Military

Joann F. Elder, University of Wisconsin, Madison

Andrea Walsh, Harvard University

A good advising program is essential to any quality sociology department. Accurate information about department requirements, college breadth requirements, and steps needed for each individual to graduate is step one. Assistance in exploring career goals and the "how-to-get-there" and "where-to-go-for-information" will be featured in this workshop. A sample Handbook for Sociology Majors will be available. A design for computer based information for advising, easily adaptable to your program will be demonstrated. We will discuss ways to encourage your students to take advantage of good advising and be active in their own career development. How to streamline the process of advising and be able to give each student a sense of her/his own importance will be one of the aims of this workshop.

106. Teaching Workshop. Training Graduate Students to Teach

Washington Hilton, Monroe East

Ronald Aminzade, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis
Edward L. Kain, Southwestern University

This workshop has four goals: 1) to introduce participants to materials from the ASA which can be helpful in training graduate students to teach and in improving classroom instruction; 2) to introduce participants to a range of approaches for training graduate students to teach; 3) to provide participants with a number of specific teaching tools and techniques which can be integrated into the classroom; and 4) to allow participants to exchange ideas on instruction. We will provide handouts on a set of teaching techniques, including methods for increasing student interest and participation, a case study on writing and multiculturalism, and a technique for grading student presentations.

107. Teaching Workshop. Innovations in Teaching with Computers: Multimedia with HyperRESEARCH, Census Tables on the Internet, Student CHIP for Social Problems Courses

Washington Hilton, Military

Gregg Carter, Bryant College

Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College

This workshop builds on previous ASA teaching workshops on computing. Gregg Carter will demonstrate the latest version of Student CHIP with new aggregate-level data on AIDS. William Frey will discuss progress on networking inter-campus social science labs and using the Internet to download census data that has been tailored for ready use in a variety of undergraduate courses. Sharlene Hesse-Biber will show how qualitative researchers can extensively code verbal as well as nonverbal interactions in their data using a multimedia approach and HyperRESEARCH software; she will also demonstrate how to use these materials in the teaching of undergraduate sociology.

128. Didactic Seminar. Postmodernism and SociologyWashington Hilton, Cabinet

Ticket required for admission

Patricia Ticineto Clough, Queens College and Graduate Center, City University of New York

While still not easily defined, postmodernism has been hotly debated in sociology. The didactic seminar will focus on the various debates postmodernism has provoked over the meaning of textuality, the relationship of theory and narrativity, the transformation of writing in the context of communication technologies, the difference of gender and sexuality, the articulation of political economy in terms of the breakdown of the distinction of public and private spheres, and the relationship of power and knowledge in the criticism of ethnography.
The relationship of postmodernism and feminist thought, queer theory, postcolonial theory, critical race theory, and post Marxist cultural criticism also will be considered.

129. Professional Workshop. Ethics in Sociological Research, Teaching, and Practice: The Revised ASA
Code of Ethics*Washington Hilton, Dupont

Organizer: John M. Kennedy, Indiana University, Bloomington

During 1995, the ASA Committee on Professional Ethics is substantially revising The ASA Code of Ethics. The revisions will address new issues not covered in previous codes and alter the enforcement mechanisms. This workshop will provide an opportunity for ASA members to comment on the themes of the proposed Code.
Members of the Committee will present the background, perspectives, and strategies the Committee used to develop the Code revision. The Committee will consider additional issues raised in the workshop in its proposal to Council for the Code revision. Current members of the ASA Committee on Professional Ethics are: Anthony Cortese (Southern Methodist University); Karen Hembry (Oakland, CA); Sue Hoppe, Co-Chair (University of Texas Health Science Center, San Antonio); Joyce Miller Iutovich (Keystone University Research Corporation); John M. Kennedy, Co-Chair (Indiana University, Bloomington); Barbara Melber (Battelle, Seattle); Eleanor M. Miller (University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee); Helen A. Moore (University of Nebraska, Lincoln); Ida Harper Simpson (Duke University); and Betty Woody.

130. Professional Workshop. How to Increase Your Success at Publishing in Journals

Marta Tienda, Editor, American Journal of Sociology, University of Chicago

Adrian Raftery, Editor, Sociological Methodology, University of Washington

The editors will discuss publishing generally and how to increase your chances of success. The format will be informal and questions will be taken from the participants. Topics will include: editorial policy, submissions processes, reviewing, how to revise, when to resubmit, and communications with the editor.

131. Teaching Workshop. Exploring American Society with SPSS for Windows

Washington Hilton, Military

Fred Halley, State University of New York, Brockport

Earl Babbie, Chapman University

Personal computers, "point and click" software, and national data bases make it possible for students to analyze data in entry level sociology courses. This workshop demonstrates how students can explore their conceptions and mis-conceptions of American society. It gets students to ask interesting questions and find their own empirical answers. We will demonstrate how variables from large national surveys can be selected and prepared for student use. While we will be using the student version of SPSS for Windows and data from the General Social Survey, our approach may be used with other data sets and statistical packages.

151. Teaching Workshop. Teaching the Sociology of Culture with Computers

Thomas Cushman, Wellesley College

This workshop will introduce new computer technologies which are useful in introducing a strong visual component to teaching and student research in various subfields of the sociology of culture and sociological theory. We will focus on the use of moving images in student term papers, developing data bases for visual information for use in lectures and examinations, the pedagogical value of uniting image and text in teaching and student research, and the types of hardware and software necessary to develop a basic computer laboratory for the sociological analysis of culture. Successful projects from the workshop leader's courses in the sociology of mass media, popular culture, and sociological theory will be distributed and discussed. Participants were invited to send the workshop organizer syllabi from courses in the sociology of culture prior to the workshop. The workshop leader will offer suggestions on how computers can be incorporated into participants' classes and this will be followed by discussion among all participants of the workshop.

1:00 p.m. Sessions168. Poster Session. Research Funding Opportunities (to 4:00 p.m.)*Washington Hilton, Exhibit HallOrganizers: Felice J. Levine and Paula M. Trubisky, American Sociological Association

Join us anytime between 1:00-4:00 p.m. to explore research funding and other resources available from a variety of public and private organizations. Representatives of major institutions that provide research funding and infrastructural support for the social sciences will be on hand at each display to discuss funding for research and research related activities for the social sciences. This is an opportunity for you to speak one-on-one with representatives about funding priorities, application procedures and review processes, elements of a competitive research proposal, and more.

For detailed information on participating agencies, see page 168.

177. Didactic Seminar. Narrative/Textual Analysis

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Ticket required for admissionRoberto Franzosi, University of Wisconsin, Madison

The seminar provides an introduction to a linguistic approach to content analysis, based on semantic grammars. A semantic grammar is a set of functionally defined categories built around the "canonical form" of the language, noun phrase/verb phrase, or Subject, Verb, Object and modifiers (e.g., type of subject, time and space of action). A computer application of a semantic grammar allows researchers to collect rich text data that can be analyzed statistically. For all their power, semantic grammars have their limitations: They work well only for narrative text (the five W's of news reporting: Who, What, When, Where, Why).

178. Professional Workshop. Identity Empowerment Theory: A Base for Some Sociological Practices

 Washington Hilton, Edison
 Organizer and Presider: James Latimore, Livingstone College

Maria Isabel Bryant, Charles County Community College

This workshop is designed to promote a better understanding of the community college by discussing the misconceptions about this little known and understood institution. Exploring the similarities and differences between community colleges and four-year institutions, the workshop will focus on such areas as: an historical overview of the community college movement, philosophy and mission, curriculum and instruction, student profile, faculty development issues, teaching introductory courses, the cooling-out function, and other current issues in the community college. Participants are urged to bring their own issues, difficulties, and dilemmas to discuss. Relevant ASA materials will be available.

"Preparing Future Faculty" Project. Jerry Gaff, American Association of Colleges and University

"Faculty Roles and Rewards Forum" and "Tenure Project." Eugene Rice, American Association for Higher Education

"Professional Service." Zelda Gamson, New England Resource Center for Higher Education

Each panelist is heading one or more national projects on an important topic in higher education. The national higher education associations, primarily based in Washington, DC, have initiated national conversations on these topics. Through their meetings, publications, and special events, administrators and faculty work on critical issues facing higher education and the professorate. This session will help sociologists join in those conversations, learn about resources, workshops, materials, technical assistance, and the debates in higher education. Take advantage of this opportunity to have a "briefing" on exciting issues in the academy.

Saul Alinsky's best-selling how-to manual for citizen participation was published by the University of Chicago Press in 1945. Trained as a sociologist at Chicago, Alinsky is considered the father of community organizing. During the past half-century, his ideas have influenced several generations of both applied sociologists and social activists. The panelists, each an important practitioner of social activism, will review

Alinsky's legacy and his relevance for sociology and citizen politics today.

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Ticket required for admission

Rand D. Conger, Iowa State University*Irving Tallman*, Washington State University

This seminar considers various approaches to observing and quantifying the quality of behavioral interactions between family members. Presumably, social structural influences on family life have their impact on family members and family relations through the changing cognitions, emotions, and behaviors of individuals in the family. This seminar takes the position that family member reports of interactions provide only one view of behavioral exchange in family life, and that systematic observations give an additional perspective on such phenomena that is essential for theory building and testing. We consider observational techniques that range from the minute description of moment by moment behavioral sequences to global ratings of large interactional segments. The seminar describes the specific empirical and theoretical issues appropriate to these various approaches to observation. Videotapes of families used to code interactions will be used to illustrate these techniques. We will also review questions related to data analysis, reliability and validity.

266. Professional Workshop. Research Topics in Sociology of Mental Health (co-sponsored by the Committee on the Minority Fellowship Program)

Washington Hilton, Caucus

Organizers: Ramon S. Torrecilha, Social Science Research Council and American Sociological Association; Bernice Pescosolido, Indiana University

The aim of this session is to map out a general plan for graduate training in the sociology of mental health. Participants will be introduced to specific theories and research methods in this subfield. Cutting edge research will be discussed. In addition, the workshop will inform participants about how to develop a system of intellectual enrichment and student support that can respond to the needs and concerns of minority graduate students. Specifically, how minority graduate students can deal effectively with isolation, develop networks, and structure mentoring relationships with faculty in their home departments and elsewhere.

267. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Introductory Sociology from a Global Perspective

287. Didactic Seminar. New Developments in Standardization and Decomposition of Rates

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Ticket required for admission

Prithwis Das Gupta, U.S. Bureau of the Census

The technique of standardization is widely used to control for the compositional factors affecting the overall rates in two or more populations. The technique of decomposition attempts to decompose the difference between two rates into the effects of underlying factors. There have been some methodological developments in recent years which allow the computation of standardized rates and factor effects by linking them by some internally consistent conditions. The seminar is intended for social scientists interested in these developments and it will provide computer programs for routine applications of these techniques to problems involving various types of data.

307. Didactic Seminar. Interactionist Theory and Methodology in the Study of Public Policy

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Ticket required for admission

Peter M. Hall, University of Missouri, Columbia

The seminar is intended for sociologists interested in studying the development, implementation, and consequences of public policy. A theoretical perspective and methodology for analyzing the complete policy process from emergence to institutionalization will be presented.
The perspective includes a definition of policy as process; a conceptualization of how policy phases, sites, and levels fit together across space and time; and specification of relationships between collective activity and social organization, conditions and consequences, and conventions and power. The methodology emphasizes qualitative, longitudinal, multilevel, and comparative analysis. A five year case study of educational policy will be used as an exemplar. Problems in the field and strengths and weaknesses of the method will be explored. Extensions of the approach to other policy arenas using participants' interests will be discussed.

308. Professional Workshop. Managing Anger in the Workplace: Expanding the Boundaries of Sociological Practice

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Melvyn L. Fein, Kennesaw State College

The role of sociology in making real world changes has been grossly underestimated. This workshop seeks to correct this impression by applying a specifically sociological theory of anger, namely Integrated Anger Management (IAM), to the problem of controlling primitive anger in complex organizations. It will demonstrate how only an interpersonal, and indeed a social, perspective can make sense of the part the emotion plays in the workplace. Building upon the notion that anger typically grows out of frustration, and that when properly employed it can influence others to assist in, or at least not impede, the furtherance of important ends, IAM is shown to be essential in establishing and maintaining effective authority, in negotiating interpersonal differences, and in structuring and implementing group norms. Participants in the workshop will learn techniques for controlling problem anger (their own and others), for strategizing methods of expressing anger that are effective, not merely assertive, and for utilizing the emotion to set priorities and to cement alliances. In contrast to more psychologically oriented techniques, IAM insists that the proper question is not whether to get angry, but how, when, and where to be angry.

309. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time

Washington Hilton, Hemisphere

Kathleen McKinney, Editor, Teaching Sociology, Illinois State University

Stephen F. Steele, Applied Data Associates, Inc. and Society for Applied Sociology

The goals of this workshop are to help instructors who are teaching Introductory Sociology for the first time to consider relevant pedagogical issues and to begin to prepare syllabus and course material. Topics to be considered include course goals, course content, the syllabus, choosing readings, evaluation of students, preparing lectures, alternatives to lecturing, critical thinking and application, motivating students, and issues of "control." The format of the workshop will be diverse, with brief presentations by the leaders, participant group work, questions/discussion, and the distribution and use of a workbook.

Shulamit Reinharz, Brandeis University

Joey Sprague, University of Kansas

The goal of this workshop is to help graduate departments design their curriculum so that feminist sociology is integrated throughout the curriculum. We will focus on successful strategies for mainstreaming feminist scholarship into required core areas such as theory and methods. Discussion will address why such curriculum transformation is important at the graduate level. Panelists will discuss their experiences trying to implement such integrative strategies in their own departments, and their own courses. The session will be interactive, with audience members both asking questions and responding to the panel members.

328. Didactic Seminar. Dynamic Modeling of Data: A Primer

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Ticket required for admission

Nancy Brandon Tuma and Eric Bloch, Stanford University

In this seminar, we review the statistical techniques most commonly used by sociologists to analyze quantitative data when time is a key element. First, we talk about the advantages and difficulties of considering time in both the conception of sociological research problems and the analysis of data. Next, we discuss the types of temporal data sociologists are most likely to encounter. For each type of data discussed, we review one main style of analysis. Specifically, we discuss time series analysis (including simple time series and pooled cross-section time series), event history analysis, event count analysis, and sequence analysis. For each one, we provide a brief introduction to the underlying mathematics/statistics and review a concrete example in detail. In particular, we will stress understanding and interpreting the results of these analyses. Along with seminar notes, we provide an explicit example of how to conduct each of the analyses (using commonly available software) and a bibliography of works that provide more thorough introductions to the topics discussed. (This seminar assumes a basic knowledge of linear and logistic regression, statistical inference, and probability theory.)

329. Professional Workshop. Doing Clinical Sociology

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Organizer: Phillip D. Robinette, Life Enrichment Center
Doing Clinical Sociology in a Private Practice. Phillip D. Robinette and Donna K. Wallace, Life Enrichment Center

330. Professional Workshop. Sociologists and the Media (co-sponsored by the Committee on Public Information)

Washington Hilton, Hemisphere

Organizer: Peter Adler, University of Denver

Panel: Jerry Lewis, Kent State University

Jack Levin, Northeastern University

Pepper Schwartz, University of Washington

David L. Altheide, Arizona State University

Drawing on their personal experiences, panelists will discuss how sociologists can better interact with members of the media, focusing on when and how to talk with broadcast and print journalists. The aims of the session are to help assure that sociology gets better representation in the media, to increase its visibility to the public, and to address some of the potential problems and solutions concerning the relationship between sociology and the media. In addition, the logic and structure of media formats will be discussed to shed light on the dynamics of media presentations. Guidelines for presenting research and ideas to the press will be highlighted.

331. Teaching Workshop. Dilemmas of Multicultural Teaching

Washington Hilton, Edison

Organizers: Tom Gerschick, Illinois State University; Ramon S. Torrecilha, Social Science Research Council

Presider: Tom Gerschick, Illinois State University

Sangeeta Tyagi, Roanoke College

Panelists will describe how they understand multiculturalism, discuss issues and dilemmas they face in the classroom as a multicultural teacher, and how they address them. The workshop is designed as a "working session" to maximize audience participation. Possible topics for discussion include: How we approach multiculturalism based on our own identities; how we teach material that is written by people who are not members of our group, especially when there are members of that group in the audience; and how we deal with identities that are not readily discernible but which may affect how we perceive ourselves and how we are perceived by students.

370. Didactic Seminar. Log-Linear, Log- Multiplicative, and Related Models for the Analysis of Tabular Arrays

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Ticket required for admission

David B. Grusky, Stanford University

This seminar provides an introduction to recent developments in the analysis of tabular arrays using log-linear, log-multiplicative, and related models. The latter models have of course been widely deployed for the analysis of social mobility, but their promise has not yet been fully realized in other substantive areas. We shall discuss new and exciting applications of these models to the analysis and understanding of segregation processes (occupational, residential, etc.), assortative mating and social affiliation, response consistency and reliability, demographic behavior and outcomes, non-conventional forms of mobility (e.g., geographic), and attitudes, voting behavior, and public opinion. Although emphasis will be placed on the purely practical matters of estimating and interpreting a wide range of models that might be applied to such substantive domains, the statistical theory under lying log-linear and log-multiplicative modeling will also be reviewed.

371. Professional Workshop. The Uses of Sociology: Working with Environmental Interest Groups

Organizer and Presider: Stuart A. Wright, Lamar
University

Panel: Phil Brown, Brown University

Robert D. Bullard, Clark Atlanta University

Sherry Cable, University of Tennessee

Stephen Couch, Pennsylvania State University,
Schuylkill Haven

Steve Kroll-Smith, University of New Orleans

Panelists have been carefully selected among scholars who have worked with environmental interest groups, either in the course of their research or as activists promoting the interests and goals of a movement. Since sociological research often informs public policy effecting social change, working with environmental organizations may be seen as a valuable public service, helping to stem the tide of pollution and environmental degradation. Such involvement, however, raises some interesting questions and issues about the role of the sociologist. For example, how do scholars negotiate the treacherous ground between dispassionate researcher and committed activist? What are the appropriate boundaries to such a role? What kinds of role conflict can one expect, and what kinds of problems may arise? Alternately, what are some concrete ways in which sociologists might help further concerns for environmental protection? The workshop will explore a wide range of issues centering around linkages to environmental groups.

372. Professional Workshop. The Practice of Mathematical Sociology

Washington Hilton, Chevy Chase

Organizer and Presider: Eugene C. Johnsen, University of California, Santa Barbara

Panel: John Angle, Economic Research Service

Philip Bonacich, University of California, Los Angeles

Kathleen Carley, Carnegie Mellon University

John Skvoretz, University of South Carolina

Panelists will discuss several research issues, showing some of the advantages of using a mathematical approach to study social phenomena. Discussion will touch on such matters as theory development, modeling, simulations, empirical work, and problem solving. The intent of the workshop is to encourage other sociologists to explore and possibly enter this arena.

373. Teaching Workshop. Assessment of Sociology Programs and the Sociology of Assessment

Washington Hilton, Military

Theodore C. Wagenaar, Miami University

John Myers, Rowan College of New Jersey

This workshop considers the definition and rationale of assessment and examines strategies for assessment in sociology programs. We discuss how to use assessment results and consider the sociological realities of assessment. Lessons from assessment in general education will be shared. Open discussion will occur to address issues of concern to participants.

396. Professional Workshop. Sociologists Working in Practice Settings

Washington Hilton, Cabinet

Organizer: Rodolfo Alvarez, University of California, Los Angeles

Panel: Rodolfo Alvarez, University of California, Los Angeles

Manuel de la Puente, U.S. Bureau of the Census

Nancy Durbin, Battelle

Jan Fritz, University of Cincinnati

This workshop is intended both for sociologists seeking initial employment in "practice settings" as well as for those already professionally engaged in sociological practice and seeking re-exposure to ideas, techniques, theories, procedures, styles of work, etc., being used by successful sociological practitioners. Some attention will be given to techniques on "How to get in the door?", but the primary focus will be on technical knowledge and skills needed to "survive, remain, thrive, and advance after getting in the door:" (1) Writing Skills: The sine qua non element essential for practice employment. Letter to the President (client) offering one's skills and services becomes the initial screening device for judging ability and task effectiveness. (2) Communications Skills: Total package presentation of company, project, and self to gain client "acceptance." (3) Capacity to Identify and Serve Client Needs: "On the spot" versus formal assessment. (4) Project Cost Analysis: Providing easily verifiable, detailed, realistic figures; setting the professional fee. (5) Skills for Acquisition and Analysis of Empirical Data: Quantitative and qualitative. (6) Focus Group Skills.

SPECIAL POSTER SESSION OPPORTUNITIES FOR RESEARCH SUPPORT

Presiders/Organizers: Felice J. Levine and Paula Trubisky, American Sociological Association
Sunday, August 20 ♦ 1:00 - 4:00 p.m.
Washington Hilton, Exhibit Hall

Meet program officers and representatives of major research funding institutions anytime between 1:00 - 4:00 p.m. to talk about your opportunities for research and fellowship support. This is a chance for conference participants to speak one-on-one with representatives and learn about new and continuing funding initiatives, application procedures and review processes, and elements of a competitive research proposal. This is a golden opportunity to start and build relationships with representatives of major institutions that provide research funding and infrastructural support for the social sciences.

1. NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

Directorate for Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences (SBER)

Presenters: William Sims Bainbridge and Mildred A. Schwartz, Sociology Program, 4201 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, VA 22230; (703) 306-1756

The Directorate for Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences is the single most identifiable federal source of support for basic research in the social sciences. Social science research is primarily supported in the Division of Social, Behavioral and Economic Research where sociology is located. The Division consists of five program clusters: Anthropological and Geographic Sciences; Cognitive, Psychological and Language Sciences; Economic, Decision and Management Sciences; Social and Political Sciences (including Sociology); and Science, Technology and Society. It supports disciplinary and multidisciplinary research, data collection, and measurement and methodological research. Its goal is to develop basic scientific knowledge of social, behavioral and economic systems, organizations and institutions, and human interaction and decision making. SBER also provides support for research conferences, doctoral dissertation research, group international travel, and data resource development.

2. NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

Directorate for Education and Human Resources

Presenter: Larry Suter, Director, Office of Studies and Assessment, 4201 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, VA 22230; (703) 306-1656

The Indicators Program seeks statistical information about the health of the nation's science, mathematics, engineering, and technology (SME) education. It measures educational achievements of the nation's education system. It produces a biennial indicators report on national and international trends. Research funded through this program assesses: SME achievement trends in the U.S. and other nations at pre-college and higher levels; student participation trends in both pre-college and higher SME education; educational quality, such as teacher qualifications, instructional time, course content, and learning methods; and measurements of both conceptual knowledge and problem-solving skills.

3. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION Office of Research and Development

Presenter: Joseph Conaty, Director of the National Institute on Student Achievement and Assessment, Room 510h Capitol Place, 555 New Jersey Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20008

Through support of basic and applied research, evaluations, and syntheses, the Office of Educational Research and Improvement (OERI) serves parents, teachers, school administrators, and policy makers at local, state, and national levels. OERI supports the National Center for Education Statistics, the Office of Reform Assistance and Dissemination, the National Institute on Early Childhood Education, the National Institute on At-Risk Students, the National Institute on Student Achievement and Assessment, the National Institute on Educational Governance, Finance, and Management, and the National Institute on Postsecondary Education, Libraries, and Lifelong Learning. A major function of OERI is to fund and coordinate research carried out at a national system of research and development centers and regional education laboratories. In addition, the Office supports a variety of grants program including Field-Initiated Studies that encourage individuals to pursue research clearly related to national education concerns and issues.

4. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

National Center for Educational Statistics (NCES)

Presenter: Paul Planchon, Associate Commissioner, National Center for Educational Statistics, 555 New Jersey Ave., Washington, DC 20002

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) has traditionally collected and disseminated large nationally representative cross-sectional and longitudinal elementary and secondary and post-secondary data sets. Many sociologists are familiar with High School and Beyond (HS&B) and National Education Longitudinal Study (NELS). During the last ten years, NCES has launched a series of other studies including a new multi-level study of elementary and secondary schools and teachers (Schools and Staffing Survey), a survey of student financial aid (National Postsecondary Student Aid Study), a new longitudinal survey of college students (Beginning Postsecondary Study), and a survey of college faculty (National Survey of Postsecondary Faculty). In conjunction with the American Education Research Association and the National Science Foundation, NCES has recently sponsored three funding programs: a research grant program (up to $25,000 for 2 years), a resident research fellows program (maximum $32,000 for 9 months), and a dissertation grants program ($20,000 for 2 years). Applications can be submitted at any time and will be reviewed at three times during the next fiscal year. Since 1992, the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) has conducted a grant competition to encourage secondary analysis of student achievement data. NCES data are an important component of many investigations conducted directly through the department's grant competitions and indirectly through its contracts with educational research firms throughout the country.

5. NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

Division of Research Grants

Presenter: Bob Weller, Scientific Review Administrator, 6701 Rockledge Drive, Room 5204, Mail Stop Center 7848, Bethesda, MD 20892; (301) 435-1261; e-mail iwe@drppo.drug.nih.gov

NIH study sections provide the critical first review and evaluation of the scientific merit of research grant applications. This poster session will explain the steps of the NIH review process and procedures, review study section activities, and examine criteria for writing a successful proposal. The Division for Research Grants is a service division of NIH that provides peer review for the various institutes and centers which comprise NIH.

6. NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON AGING (NIA)

Behavioral and Social Research

Presenter: Katrina W. Johnson, Health Scientist Administrator, Gateway Bldg., Room 533, 7201 Wisconsin Avenue, Bethesda, MD 20892; (301) 496-3136

The National Institute on Aging supports a wide variety of qualitative and quantitative sociological research and training related to aging processes, the relationship between the aging population and social institutions (including the health care system), and the impact on society of the changing age composition. Opportunities and options for Federal funding of aging research will be available. Of particular interest is the potential for sociological contributions to issues of women and minorities in later life.

7. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF CHILD HEALTH & HUMAN DEVELOPMENT (NICHD)

Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch

Presenter: Susan Newcomer, Statistician, Room 8 B13, 6100 Executive Blvd., Bethesda, MD 20892-7510; (301) 496-1174

NICHD, through its Center for Population Research, is the nation's largest funder of behavioral and social science research. Program areas of interest include family and household structure and their relationship to children's well-being; fertility and contraceptive behavior; the relation of demographic factors to labor markets and labor force participation; population distribution and immigration; residential segregation; social factors in mortality, especially infant mortality and child health; and risk-taking behavior, especially in relation to sexuality and HIV/AIDS. The Center for Research on Mothers and Children also supports behavioral and social research in the areas of child development, mental retardation, and nutrition and growth. A new program, the National Center for Medical Rehabilitation Research, founded in 1991, supports work on the behavioral aspects of disability.

8. NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON ALCOHOL ABUSE AND ALCOHOLISM (NIAAA)

Prevention Research Branch

Presenter: Susan Martin, Health Scientist Administrator, Suite 505 Willco Building, 6000 Executive Blvd., Rockville, MD 20892; (301) 443-8767

NIAAA supports basic and applied research related to the causes, consequences, treatment, and prevention of alcohol-related problems. Most social science research is funded through the Division of Clinical and Prevention Research and the Division of Biometry and Epidemiology. NIAAA also supports several alcohol research centers and an intramural research program. Research priorities include sociocultural and environmental determinants of drinking; safety, trauma, and alcohol-related performance; economic and socioeconomic issues in the prevention and treatment of alcohol problems; the prevention of alcohol-related problems in children, adolescents, and other at-risk populations; and alcohol-related health services studies.

9. NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON DRUG ABUSE (NIDA) Division of Epidemiology and Prevention Research

Presenter: Rebecca Ashery D.S.W, Prevention Research Branch, 5600 Fishers Lane, Room 9A-53, Rockville, MD 20857; (301) 443-1514

The National Institute on Drug Abuse, one of the 16 NIH Institutes, supports a wide range of research and training, and is a prominent source of funding in support of research on drug abuse, dependence, and addiction. Sociologists and other social scientists are actively involved in the research and training programs of many NIDA units, especially the Prevention Research Branch of the Division of Epidemiology and Prevention Research. The NIDA Prevention Research Branch supports a broad extramural research program on prevention and early intervention of drug use and abuse. The Branch's primary focus is on efficacy studies of prevention and early intervention on the general population of school aged children and adolescents and subpopulations at risk such as school dropouts, runaways, adolescents showing psychiatric disturbances, etc.

10. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF MENTAL HEALTH (NIMH)

Division of Epidemiology and Service Research

Presenter: Ann A. Hohmann, Chief, Methods Development Programs, Services Research Branch, Division of Epidemiology and Services Research, NIMH, 5600 Fishers Lane, Room 10C-06, Rockville, MD 20857; (301) 443-4045

NIMH supports and conducts research and research training in the following areas: the etiology, genetics, prevention, treatment, and clinical course of mental disorders; clinical mental health services and service systems research; psychiatric epidemiology; assessment and classification of mental disorders; violence and traumatic stress; law and mental health; and health and behavior.

11. AMERICAN SOCIOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION Minority Fellowship Program (MFP)

Presenter: Havidan Rodriguez, Program Director; Dennis Rome and Ruth Zambrana, Minority Fellowship Advisory Committee Members; and MFP Fellows Vinetta Witt, Donna Marie Peters, Shandra Nash, Lionel Canta and Alicia Gonzales. For further information contact: Havidan Rodriguez, Director of Minority Affairs, American Sociological Association, 1722 N Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20036; (202) 833-3410.

Through its Minority Fellowship Program (MFP), the American Sociological Association supports the development and training of minority sociologists in mental health. Funded by a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), the MFP seeks to attract talented minority students interested in mental health issues and to facilitate their placement, work, and success in an appropriate graduate program. In addition to providing financial support, the MFP works with Fellows and their faculty advisors at the Fellow's home departments to help prepare the Fellow for a career in the sociology of mental health. Also, MFP plans symposia sessions at scholarly meetings, offers travel support to scientific conferences and fosters the development of formal and informal networks for Fellows.

12. COUNCIL FOR INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE OF SCHOLARS (CIES)

Fulbright Scholar Program

Presenter: Christine Morfit, Administrator, American Scholar Program, 3007 Tilden Street, N.W., Suite 5M, Washington, DC 20008; (202) 362-3442

CIES cooperates with the United States Information Agency in the administration of the senior Fulbright Scholar Program. Each year 1,000 grants are offered to U.S. academics and professionals for advanced research, university lecturing or combined lecturing and research in nearly 140 countries around the world. The program also brings approximately 1,000 visiting scholars to U.S. institutions for research and/or lecturing annually.

13. AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES

Presenter: Christine Morfit, Administrator, American Scholar Program, CIES

ACLS supports research in the humanities and humanistic aspects of the social sciences through awards to individual scholars. Of the five ACLS programs, the general Fellowship/Grant-in-Aid helps make it possible for scholars to devote two to twelve continuous months to research. In addition, ACLS jointly sponsors several programs concerned with encouraging social science and humanistic research on specific countries or regions of the world. For further information contact: Doug Bennett, Vice President, 228 East 45th Street, New York, NY 10017-3398 (212) 697-1505 x133.

14. U.S. CENSUS BUREAU Department Of Commerce

Presenter: Manuel de la Puente, Sociologist, CSMR Washington Plaza Building, Room 433, Washington, DC 20233-4700; (301) 763-1447

The Census Bureau funds research through contracts with social research firms and is a key source of statistical data for social science research. Additionally, it provides opportunities for research within the Census Bureau through its ASA/NSF/Census Research Fellow Program. Other opportunities for research include Intergovernmental Personnel Assignments, commonly referred to as IPAs.

15. SCHOLARS IN HEALTH POLICY RESEARCH PROGRAM

Presenter: Eileen Connor, Deputy Director, National Program Office, Boston University School of Management, 685 Commonwealth Avenue, Room 334, Boston, MA 02215; (617) 353-9220

The Scholars in Health Policy Research Program, a national program sponsored by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, is intended to foster the development of creative thinkers and problem solvers in health policy. The Program provides recent graduates of doctoral program in economics, political science, and sociology, with a unique and challenging two-year experience in both academic and applied policy research environments. Up to 12 scholars will be selected annually to undertake training at one of three nationally prominent academic institutions--the University of California - Berkeley (in collaboration with the University of California - San Francisco); The University of Michigan; and Yale University. There they will have the opportunity to work closely with faculty from the social sciences--as well as from medicine, public health, and public policy--in an environment conducive to the full range of university sources.

16. ROBERT WOOD JOHNSON FOUNDATION

Presenter: Beth Steven, Senior Program Officer, P.O. Box 2316, Princeton, NJ 08543; (609) 452-8701

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation is the largest philanthropy in the United States devoted to health care, awarding approximately $160 million dollars per year in grants. The Foundation funds research to further four goals: to assure that all Americans have access to health care; to improve the organization of care to the chronically ill; to reduce substance abuse; and to help the nation deal with escalating health expenditures. Sociologists with research interests in the sociology of occupations and organizations, deviance, politics, and medical sociology are encouraged to submit proposals for research funding.

17. ASPEN INSTITUTE NONPROFIT SECTOR RESEARCH FUND

Presenter: Alan Abramson, Associate Director, Nonprofit Sector Research Fund, 1333 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W., Suite 1070, Washington, DC 20036; (202) 736-5829

The Aspen Institute's Nonprofit Sector Research Fund (NSRF) supports studies by researchers in nine major areas of interest to the nonprofit sector. Among these areas are democracy, including public participation and civil society; advocacy, including the impact of the nonprofit and voluntary sector on the public agenda; and philanthropy, including the relationship between philanthropy and social needs. NSRF makes grants from $2,000 - $50,000, and especially encourages research collaboration between scholars and hands-on nonprofit staff, communities, and university departments. NSRF and its grant-making is intended to develop an information, research, and educational base, and project findings are widely disseminated so that university departments, governments, organizations, and the public and media begin to recognize the scope and importance of the nonprofit sector in our society and others.

NSRF has a national grants program, as well as special state programs in California and Michigan. Under the Michigan program, NSRF also selects a doctoral student to be the W.K. Kellogg Nonprofit Research Fellow.

18. INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH & EXCHANGES BOARD

Presenter: Christeen Morris, Program Officer, IREX, 1616 H Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20006; (202) 628-8188

The International Research & Exchanges Board (IREX) provides US specialists with field research opportunities in Central and Eastern Europe, the Baltic countries, the Newly Independent States, and Mongolia. IREX also conducts training programs for specialists from the region in a variety of fields that are central to the reform efforts underway there.

19. UNITED STATES INSTITUTE FOR PEACE

Presenter: Sheryl J. Brown, Director, Office of Communication, will answer questions regarding these two USIP programs: (202) 219-1728.

The U.S. Institute of Peace is an independent, nonpartisan federal institution, authorized and annually funded by Congress for the express purpose to strengthen the nation's capabilities to promote the peaceful resolution of international conflicts. Its major research programs are funded through grants and fellowships. Solicited and unsolicited grants support research, education, training and dissemination of information to nonprofit organizations (including private colleges and universities), official public institutions, and individuals. The Jennings Randolph Fellowship program provides resident fellowships and other forms of support to enable outstanding scholars, diplomats, journalists, and other professionals to conduct research and education projects focused on the nature of international conflict and methods for achieving peace. Fellowships are also available for doctoral candidates conducting dissertation research on topics concerned with sources and resolution of violent conflict.

20. CIVIC EDUCATION PROJECT (CEP)

Presenter: Catherine Reed, Director, P.O. Box 5445, Yale Station, New Haven, CT 06520; (203) 781-0265

The Civic Education Project is an international not-for-profit organization committed to assisting in the revitalization of the social and policy sciences throughout Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. With 120 volunteer faculty teaching in 14 countries, CEP is a leading force in higher education reform in the region.

SPECIAL POSTER SESSION DATA RESOURCES

Presiders/Organizers: Felice J. Levine and Paula Trubisky, American Sociological Association
Monday, August 21 ♦ 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.
Washington Hilton, Exhibit Hall

Meet principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale data sets which are publicly available for use. Each exhibit showcases a major data set of multiple data resources of tremendous value for primary and secondary analysis. These representatives will be available to talk about the nature of these data sets, their analytic potential, and issues relating to access and use including the development of state-of-the-art internet services to access data sets. This is an opportunity for conference participants to learn about these data sets and their potential for research and teaching. Students are encouraged to attend.

1. GENERAL SOCIAL SURVEY (GSS)

Presenter: Tom W. Smith, National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago, 1155 East 60th Street, Chicago, IL 60637; (312) 753-7877

The Directorate for the General Social Survey (GSS) of the National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago has been monitoring social change in the United States. Since 1972, the GSS has gathered data on contemporary American society in order to monitor and explain trends and constants in attitudes, behaviors, and attributes of the adult population. This high quality data is easily accessible to a broad-based user community, including researchers, teachers in colleges and universities, students at undergraduate and graduate levels, business and corporation planners, journalists, and public officials who need to understand the pulse of our country in their work. The 20 national probability samples include interviews of 32,380 respondents. 2,400 items have been asked and there are time trends for over 900 items.

2. INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL SURVEY PROGRAM (ISSP)

Presenter: Tom W. Smith, National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago, 1155 East 60th Street, Chicago, IL 60637; (312) 753-7877

The International Social Survey Program (ISSP) is the cross-between the General Social Survey (GSS) and its counterparts in Germany, Britain, and Australia. Studies on 11 different topics from the environment to social inequality have been carried out. There are now 25 member countries.

3. THE WISCONSIN LONGITUDINAL STUDY (WLS)

Presenter: Robert M. Hauser and Taissa S. Hauser, University of Wisconsin-Madison

The Wisconsin Longitudinal Study (WLS) is a 35-year study of the social and economic life course in a sample of 10, 317 men and women who graduated from Wisconsin high schools in 1957, and who have been followed up at ages 25, 36, and 53-54. [Survey data collected from the original respondents or their parents in 1957, 1964, and 1975 cover social background, youthful aspirations, schooling, military service, family information, labor market experiences, and social participation. The 1992-93 surveys cover occupational histories and job characteristics; incomes, assets, and inter-household transfers; social and economic characteristics of parents, siblings, and children and the respondents' relationships with them; and mental and physical health and well-being.]

WLS data and documentation are available from the Data Program Library Service (DPLS) at the University of Wisconsin-Madison or the National Archive of Computerized Data on Aging (NACDA), Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research at the University of Michigan. WLS project staff can be contacted by e-mail at wls@ssc.wisc.edu. The Principal Investigator is Robert M. Hauser, Department of Sociology, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

4. THE PANEL STUDY OF INCOME DYNAMICS (PSID)

Presenter: Sandra L. Hofferth, PI for PSID, Institute for Social Research, University of Michigan, P.O. Box 1248, Ann Arbor, MI 48106; (313) 763-5131

The Panel Study of Income Dynamics (PSID) collects information annually from a representative national sample of some 7,000 families and about 20,000 individuals. Initiated in 1967, the PSID is a unique longitudinal data set on individuals, families, and their economic lives. It is a highly used and highly regarded resource because of the amount and quality of intergenerational data on economic capacity, income, and the transmission of wealth as well as information on such issues as the long-term effects of life events (e.g., illness) on workers and families, the relationship of business cycles to economic well-being and the interaction of labor mobility and geographic mobility. In recent years, the value of PSID has been even further extended by the launching of similar income dynamics panel studies in a number of European countries.

5. NATIONAL ELECTION STUDIES (NES)

Presenter: Steven Rosenstone, PI for NES, Center for Political Studies, University of Michigan. For further information contact the Center for Political Studies at the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research, 426 Thompson Street, Ann Arbor, MI 48106-1248; (313) 764-5494; e-mail: nes@umich.edu; World Wide Web homepage--<http://www.umich.edu/~nes>, NES FTP server -- <ftp.nes.isr.umich.edu>

NES produces high quality data on voting, public opinion, and political participation that serve the research needs of social scientists, policy makers, teachers, and students concerned with understanding the theoretical and empirical foundations of mass politics in a democratic society. Though most noted for its coverage of elections, NES data on the social and economic attributes of the American People, their attitudes towards social and political issues, and their values and predisposition are also used across the social sciences to support basic research on social identity, attitude formation and change, decision-making, group conflict, coalition formation, and social changes.

The NES time-series encompasses 23 biennial Election Studies spanning five decades -- making it the longest running survey in the social sciences. In 1977, the National Science Foundation formally established NES as a national resource for the social sciences. The user community participates in every phase of the project from study planning through data analysis. NES datasets are available on CD-ROM (as well as other media) and are distributed by the ICPSR to individuals at member and non-member institutions alike.

6. CONSORTIUM FOR INTERNATIONAL EARTH SCIENCE INFORMATION NETWORK (CIESIN)

Presenter: Roberta Balstad Miller, President & Chief Executive Officer, Consortium for International Earth Science Information Network, 2250 Pierce Road, University Center, MI 48710; (517) 797-2780

The Directorate for the Consortium for International Earth Science Information Network (CIESIN) is a non-profit consortium of five universities and a research institute created to provide access to and enhance the use of data and information and to advance understanding of human interactions in the environment. CIESIN operates the Information Cooperative, a globally distributed, electronic archive of socioeconomic and environmental data.

7. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE Economic Research Service (ERS)

Presenter: James Horsfield, Chief, Research Support and Training Branch, Information Services Division, 1301 New York Avenue, N.W., Room 110, Washington, DC 20005; (202) 219-0764

The Directorate for ERS provides economic and other social science information on U.S. and foreign agriculture, food, natural resources, rural development, and related topics. The agency publishes numerous periodicals, monographs, and electronic data products and is a founding partner in the USDA Economics and Statistics System, which is a major reservoir of agricultural and data on the Internet.

8. CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION

National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS)

Presenter: Sharon Ramirez and Kathi Brannan, Data Dissemination Branch, Room 1064, Presidential Building, 6525 Belcrest Road, Hyattsville, MD 20782

NCHS is the Federal Government's principal, vital, and health statistics agency. NCHS collects, analyzes, and disseminates data covering the full spectrum of concerns in the health field from birth to death, onset and diagnosis of illness and disability, and the utilization of health care resources in the United States. Data are disseminated in published reports, electronic media including CD-ROM, and through the Internet's World Wide Web.

9. CENTER FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION

National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Vital Statistics

Mortality Statistics Branch

Presenter: Donna L. Hoyert, Statistician, Room 840, 6525 Belcrest Road, Hyattsville, MD 20782; (301) 436-8884

The National Vital Statistics System encompasses data bases of statistical information on vital events such as birth, marriage, divorce, and death. The Mortality Statistics Branch, NCHS, compiles national data on deaths of all ages, infant, fetal, and linked birth/infant deaths from records filed in each of the states.

10. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

National Center for Education Statistics

Presenter: Marilyn McMillen, Senior Statistician, 555 New Jersey Ave., NW, Washington, DC, 20208; (202) 219-1754

NCES is now disseminating large national data sets on CD-ROM with electronic codebooks. Current data releases include school and institutional censuses for basic data on enrollments and finances at both the elementary/secondary and post secondary levels of public and private education. More detailed data are available through repeated cross-sectional surveys of teachers and faculty. An RDD household survey is used to collect population based education data on topics such as early childhood education, school safety, and adult education. In addition, the NCES decennial collection of longitudinal high school cohorts continues, with longitudinal data now available from seniors in 1972, 1982, and 1992. Longitudinal studies of students who have just started their post secondary education and of students who just completed their baccalaureate degrees are also underway.

11. U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS)

Presenter: Bruce M. Taylor, Statistician, 633 Indiana Ave. N.W., Washington, DC 20531; (202) 616-3498

BJS collects, analyzes, publishes, and disseminates statistics on crime, victims of crime, criminal offenders, and operations of justice systems at all levels of government throughout the United States. Published information is distributed through the National Criminal Justices Research Service. Data files are disseminated by the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data, many on DC-ROM and diskette. Files typically include electronic documentation, along with SAS and SPSS control cards. All BJS files will be available via the Internet by December, 1995. BJS is currently working to provide WWW access to all its products that will include hypertext links among publications, table spreadsheets, data documentation, and data files.

12. NATIONAL ARCHIVES

Center for Electronic Records and Textual Reference Division

Presenter: Theodore J. Hull, Center for Electronic Records, National Archives, 8601 Adelphi Road, College Park, MD 20740-6001; (301) 713-6645

Presenter: Aloha South, Textual Reference Division, Textual Reference Branch-Civil, National Archives, Washington, DC 20408, (202) 501-5395

The National Archives is the federal agency responsible for the preservation of and access to the permanently valuable electronic records of the federal government. The Center for Electronic Records has custody of the permanently valuable computerized records of federal agencies transferred to the National Archives for long-term preservation. The Center has approximately 20,000 computerized data files from over 100 federal agencies in all three branches of government. The poster presentation will highlight the availability of data files in the Center's custody of particular interest to sociologists. A representative from the National Archives Textual Reference Division will be available to discuss those textual (paper) records in the custody of the National Archives relevant to research by sociologists.

13. COUNCIL OF PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATIONS ON FEDERAL STATISTICS (COPAFS)

Presenter: Edward J. Spar, Executive Director, 1429 Duke Street, Suite 402, Alexandria, VA 22314; (703) 836-0404

COPAFS' major role is to act as an advocate for the development and dissemination of high-quality federal statistics. Through COPAFS, members have an opportunity to review and have an impact on issues including timeliness, quality, confidentiality, and relevance. One of the major goals is to make members of the federal statistical agencies aware of the needs of data users. COPAFS identifies areas where improvements are needed in federal statistical programs and suggests strategies to bring about these improvements.

14. U.S. BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS

Current Population Survey (CPS)

Presenter: Francis Horvath, Senior Labor Economist, Office of Employment and Unemployment Statistics, Room 495, PS Building, 2 Massachusetts Avenue, N.E., Washington, DC; (202) 606-6425

The Current Population Survey is a monthly household survey, conducted by the Bureau of the Census for the Bureau of Labor Statistics that provides a comprehensive body of information on the employment and unemployment experience of the nation's population. Supplements to the basic monthly questionnaire provide details on a wide range of work-related topics.

15. U.S. BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS

National Longitudinal Surveys (NLS)

Presenter: Jonathan R. Veum, Economist, Suite 4945, 2 Massachusetts Avenue, N.E., Washington, DC 20212; (202) 606-7387

The National Longitudinal Surveys (NLS) are a set of surveys, each of which has gathered information at multiple points in time on the labor market experiences of five groups of American men and women. Each of the NLS survey groups consists of 5,000 or more members, some of who have been surveyed over many decades. NLS data have served as an important tool for economists, sociologists, and other researchers in the study of determinants of labor supply, earnings and income distribution, job search and separation, labor market inequities, and human capital investments.

16. U.S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Legalized Population Survey (LPS)

Presenter: Shirley J. Smith, Labor Economist, Division of Immigration Policy and Research, Bureau of International Labor Affairs; (202) 219-9098

Respondents of the Legalized Population Survey (LPS) are illegal aliens who sought amnesty under the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. LPS1 (6,193 interviews in 1989) details their behavior prior to legalization, while LPS2 (a follow-up of 4,012 LPS1 respondents in 1992) looks at post-legalization changes. Topics include personal attributes, economic behavior, family characteristics, use of social services and past and prospective migration.

17. LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

Presenter: Kathy Woodrell, Reference Specialist, Humanities and Social Sciences Division, Library of Congress, Jefferson Building, LJ 109, Washington, DC 20540; (202) 707-0945

The Library of Congress is the largest repository of recorded knowledge in the world. The Library's mission is to sustain, to celebrate, and to preserve for future generations a universal collection of knowledge and creativity. Its collections are universal and comprehensive in scope, encompassing research material in more than 450 languages. The collections exceed 105 million items; in addition to more than 16 million books, they include personal papers, government documents, photographs, musical scores, journals, newspapers, moving images, maps, recordings, and other media. The sheer size of the Library's collections ensure exceptional strengths in all areas of sociology.

Dynamical Systems in Social Psychology

Edited by

Robin R. Vallacher
and Andrzej Nowak

"Probably for the first time in social psychology, Vallacher and Nowak have brought together a number of authors who try to establish a link between the concepts and tools of dynamic systems on the one hand and the problems, data, and theories of social psychology on the other... The book, probably the first of its kind, provides a very interesting, accessible and informative introduction to a new and exciting approach to social psychology."

Methods for Macrosociological Research

Krishnan Namboodiri

This practical book provides the means to handle distributions and compositional data without forfeiting the information from which they derive. Real-world data and illustrations are featured throughout the text, and for easy reference, each chapter contains a summary and bibliography.

As heard on National Public Radio's Talk of the Nation! The Psychopathology of Crime

Criminal Behavior as a Clinical Disorder

Adrian Raine

"Raine's book presents an exemplary summary of the available evidence on all the risk factors for criminality that have been studied along more or less scientific lines, both biological and environmental. His scholarship is impeccable... The book sets a standard that will be difficult to surpass... The book can be safely recommended as an excellent summary of the known facts in this tantalizing field... The book is outstandingly successful."

AMERICAN ETHNICITY, Second Edition

Joseph Hraba, Iowa State University

Examines the specific histories of American ethnic groups within the context of the nation's economic and labor history and demonstrates how social and psychological theories complement each other in the interpretation of ethnic changes in a changing American society. All chapters have been updated to reflect new research and changing demographics, including a separate chapter on Native Americans, two chapters on African Americans, a new chapter on European Americans, a chapter each on Chinese Americans and Japanese Americans, a new chapter on Korean, Filipino and Vietnamese Americans, and a new chapter on Cuban, Puerto Rican, and Mexican Americans.

1995 617 pages casebound

DEVIANCE AND CONTROL, Third Edition

Craig B. Little, State University of New York, Cortland

Intended to be the most comprehensive survey available, this text analyzes deviant behavior from biological, psychological, social-psychological, and sociological perspectives. It develops the thesis that the kinds and amounts of deviance in a society depend substantially on how that society is organized. Chapters on specific kinds of deviance demonstrate how often its forms are deeply embedded in social and economic structures of society.

1995 411 pages paper

STATISTICS FOR SOCIAL DATA ANALYSIS, Third Edition

George W. Bohrnstedt, American Institutes for Research, and David Knoke, University of Minnesota

The third edition is intended for social statistics courses that emphasize multivariate relations from a General Linear Model (GLM) approach.

1994 574 pages casebound

RELIGION IN CONTEMPORARY SOCIETY, Third Edition

The late H. Paul Chalfant, Texas Tech University, Robert E. Beckley, West Texas A & M University, and C. Eddie Palmer, University of Southwestern Louisiana

This thorough introduction to the sociology of religion deals with a wide array of topics including the dimensions of religiosity, church-sect theory, sectarian development, and secularization. Recent developments, such as resurgent fundamentalism, new religious movements, and the restructuring of the religious landscape in the United States are examined from a contemporary as well as a historical perspective.

1995 502 pages casebound

UNDERSTANDING POPULATION CHANGE

Charles B. Nam, Florida State University

Discusses population change and its determinants and consequences in the United States, the world, and its regions. Written for undergraduate courses, the text employs jargon-free language and numerous examples. Its comprehensive coverage of contemporary and historical perspectives is based on the author's thorough survey of the most up-to-date research in the field.

1994 471 pages casebound

MULTIPLE REGRESSION AND CAUSAL ANALYSIS

McKee J. McClendon, University of Akron

This text for the second course in social statistics provides students with an understanding and working knowledge of the fundamentals of multiple regression as practiced in the social sciences.

Introduction to Sociology

New Edition!

Introduction to Sociology, Fifth Edition

Henry L. Tischler, Framingham State College

Thoroughly revised and updated, Tischler's Introduction to Sociology continues the Harcourt Press tradition of providing proven texts at lower prices. This mainstream introduction to sociology is really three resources in one book—chapter discussion, study guide, and practice tests. All of which provide an applications-oriented approach that helps students see how society shapes people and how people shape society.

0-15-502100-1 1996 Paper 760 pp.

Sociology: Micro, Macro, and Mega Structures

Brian J. Jones

Bernard J. Gallagher III

Joseph A. McFalls, Jr.

all of Villanova University

This text puts students' experiences into broadening levels of social structure—micro, macro, and mega. The first book to devote three chapters to social structure, this text explores a society's whole demographic system, including its place in the world system.

0-03-029638-2 1995 Hardcover 672 pp.

Thinking Sociologically:

An Introduction to the Discipline

William C. NesSmith,

Florida Community College of Jacksonville

This brief introductory text uses a comparative, multicultural, and cross-cultural approach to give students a clearer insight. The text's application-oriented approach provides readers with a model for thinking sociologically and introduces sociological concepts and theories as useful, relevant tools that can be applied to specific situations.

Introduction to Sociology/ Social Problems Supplement

New!

The American Pipe Dream:

Crack Cocaine and the Inner City

Dale D. Chitwood, University of Miami

James E. Rivers, University of Miami

James A. Inciardi, University of Delaware

The American Pipe Dream is a supplemental book for courses in criminology, social problems, urban studies, substance abuse, and social deviance. The book focuses on the impact of crack on inner-city populations, targeting such issues/groups as crime, women, the homeless, HIV, race/ethnicity, and juveniles. The American Pipe Dream is the only book of its kind appropriate for classroom use.

0-15-503093-0 1996 Paper 200 pp.

Criminal Justice

New Edition!

Criminal Justice, Fifth Edition

James A. Inciardi, University of Delaware

Covers all major areas of criminal justice so instructors can focus on the system as a whole or on areas of particular interest.

Criminal Justice provides a unique perspective rooted in Inciardi's research background and his access to national data currently unavailable to other authors. The story-telling style captures students' imaginations and offers them inside information that only Inciardi can bring.

0-15-502099-4 1996 Hardcover 750 pp.

Criminology

Criminology, Second Edition

Piers Bierne

James W. Messerschmidt

both of University of Southern Maine

This textbook introduces the basic aspects of modern criminology to undergraduate students and emphasizes the importance of historical, feminist, and comparative perspectives on crime.

0-15-501926-0 1995 Hardcover 680 pp.

Criminology Theory:

An Analysis of Its Underlying Assumptions

Werner J. Einstadter

Stuart Henry

both of Eastern Michigan University

The only senior- and graduate-level criminological theory text to devote complete chapters to feminist and postmodernist criminological theory, this primary text thoroughly examines the ideas of various theorists on human nature, societal structure, criminal law, criminal behavior, and crime causation.

0-15-500329-1 1995 Paper 360 pp.

Social Problems

Social Problems

Christopher Bates Doob,

Southern Connecticut State University

Professor Doob's Social Problems offers a distinctive choice for the instructor with a desire to include a strong historical component in the discussion of social problems. Also of note are the micro-level analyses that conclude each chapter, relating an applied perspective to previously discussed topics.

CHILDREN OF POVERTY

Research, Health, and Policy Issues

Edited by Hiram E. Fitzgerald, Barry M. Lester, and Barry Zuckerman

Based on the proceedings of the 1993 Society for Research on Child Development Roundtable on Children of Poverty, this book offers papers presented on research, health care, and public-policy issues, as well as the transcript of the discussions that followed. The essays, which offer recommendations for politicians, government officials, parents, and professionals, examine both methodological and ethical issues and highlight the panel's call for direct confrontation with the political powerbase to enhance children's quality of life.

CHILD MALTREATMENT AND OPTIMAL CAREGIVING IN SOCIAL CONTEXTS

Diana Baumrind

Following an introductory overview, the author discusses what constitutes child maltreatment, and evaluates the abusive family in a broader social context, focusing on such variables as maternal youth, single parent status, marital discord, adoption and foster care, and difficult temperament as causes of maltreatment. The book also offers specific cultural recommendations for family-preservation efforts in public policy and welfare practices.

BEYOND INDIVIDUALISM

MICHAEL J. PIORE

"Most books are lucky if they have one important, original idea. Beyond Individualism has many. It explores the political and economic challenge which the new identity groups in the United States have generated. Its synthesis of cognitive psychology and economic theory to resolve the conflict between individualism and collective community is brilliant."

IDENTIFICATION PROBLEMS IN THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

CHARLES F. MANSKI

"The book is bound to be a fundamental treatise on social science methodology ... and ought to be used widely in graduate training programs throughout the social and behavioral sciences. It deals with some of the most important issues in quantitative methods, measurement, modeling, and inference that arise in the social and behavioral sciences ... The final chapter is a gem, and I think all those who work with multilevel models will benefit immensely from this chapter."

Working from the Margins

Voices of Mothers in Poverty

Virginia E. Schein

Virginia E. Schein shatters the stereotype of mothers on welfare. The women she interviewed in cities, towns, and rural areas talked to her about their commitment to the children they are raising in poverty, about the abuse they have endured, about their eagerness for meaningful work, and about their inventiveness in stretching scarce dollars. In a policy debate increasingly dominated by shrill, punitive voices, Schein argues that the experiences and collective wisdom of these women cannot be ignored.

The Japanese Model and the American Worker

Laurie Graham

How do U.S. workers respond to Japanese management strategies that center production on work teams and emphasize worker input? Laurie Graham found out. She went through the arduous selection and training process in a nonunion Japanese automobile transplant near Lafayette, Indiana. She worked in the plant for six months, keeping covert records of her experiences and those of her co-workers. Her insights are essential reading for anyone interested in the implications of management philosophy.

AUTHOR SIGNING AT ASA* KEEPERS OF THE CULTURE

The Power of Tradition in Women's Lives

Janet Mancini Billson

"Part of the genius of Keepers of the Culture is that it presents valuable information about how women and men work out their power relations in intimacy across cultures. The promise of Keepers of the Culture is that even though traditional cultures are at the heart of women's being, women can also reshape cultures to meet their needs for growth and political representation. Thus Billson inspires all women to harness their individual and collective abilities to move beyond their common pain."

—C. Margaret Hall,
Georgetown University

"Janet Billson's ethnographic study of Canadian women representing a diversity of cultural traditions is vividly descriptive. Her chapters are written so as to 'take the reader with her' as she travels from one group to another, revealing the richness of hitherto unknown worlds of these women and their families."

CHILDREN OF INCARCERATED PARENTS

Katherine Gabel and Denise Johnston, M.D., Editors

• There are an estimated 1.5 million children of incarcerated parents in the United States.

Children are traumatized by the arrest and incarceration of a parent. They often react by demonstrating a consistent pattern of aggression, anxiety, hyperarousal states, depression, attention disorders, developmental regression and "survivor guilt." Like children bereaved through violence, children of prisoners also experience a change in future orientation and are unsure of how to feel about their parent. This book discusses the optimum time to provide intervention following significant traumas and shows that direct preventative and early intervention services to children of offenders can help them cope and steer them away from a life in which crime plays a familiar role. The authors offer guidance to aid those who work with children with incarcerated parents to help them meet their needs and prevent future delinquency, adult offenses, and incarceration.

SEXUAL HOMICIDE

Patterns and Motives

Robert K. Ressler, Ann K. Burgess, and John E. Douglas

Who are the men committing the rising number of serial homicides in the U.S.—and why do they kill? The increase in these violent crimes over the past decade has created an urgent need for more and better information about these men: their crime scene patterns, violent acts, and above all, their motivations for committing these shocking and repetitive murders.

This authoritative book represents the data, findings, and implications of a long-term F.B.I.-sponsored study of serial sex killers. Specifically trained F.B.I. agents examined thirty-six convicted, incarcerated sexual murderers to build a valuable new bank of information which reveals the world of the serial sexual killer in both quantitative and qualitative detail. Data was obtained from official psychiatric and criminal records, court transcripts, and prison reports, as well as from extensive interviews with the offenders themselves.

Featured in this book is detailed information on the F.B.I.'s recently developed Violent Criminal Apprehension Program (VICAP) and a sample of an actual VICAP Crime Analysis Report Form.

CRIME CLASSIFICATION MANUAL

A Standard System for Investigating and Classifying Violent Crimes

John E. Douglas, Ann K. Burgess, Allen G. Burgess and
Robert K. Ressler

This landmark book classifies the three major felonies—murder, arson, and sexual assault—based upon the motivation of the offender, standardizing in one place, for the first time, the language and terminology used throughout the criminal justice system. The manual provides police officers, detectives, homicide investigators, and other law enforcement personnel, in any size community, access to the same information used by the FBI to coordinate their investigations.

The Responsive Community: Rights and Responsibilities

WHERE YOUR CONCERNS
AND VALUES FIND THEIR VOICE

The RCQ is a unique, lively, and thought-provoking quarterly. Four times a year it presents some of the sharpest arguments and most innovative ideas in the world in an accessible, open format. TIME magazine says that it offers "tantalizing hints of new ways of looking at old problems."

Past contributors have included L. Douglas Wilder on the black family; Jean Bethke Elstain on the politics of difference; Lynn Martin on teenage motherhood; Daniel Yankelovich and Seymour Martin Lipset on the moral state of the union; Alice Rivlin on federalism; Mary Ann Glendon on welfare rights; Charles Derber on socio-economics; and Bill Bradley on rebuilding urban communities.

Our nation's leaders share our excitement for dialogue that moves beyond the standard left/right rhetoric:

I applaud your efforts to encourage and shape the dialogue on fostering healthy communities rooted in a shared sense of rights and responsibilities. . . . The questions you raise—questions of individual liberty and common obligation—go to the very heart of American self-government.—Jack Kemp, Former Secretary, HUD

I believe very deeply that you're really on to something. . . . I believe that we have lost our connection to conscience in which we form values, in which we relate to others, in which we relate to the Earth itself.—Vice President Al Gore

Saul Alinsky's Legacy: Fifty Years After Reveille For Radicals

Session 262. Monday, August 21, 2:30 - 4:15 p.m.

Lincoln East Room, Washington Hilton

The panelists, each an important practitioner of social activism, will review Alinsky's legacy and his relevance for sociology and citizen politics of today.

- Richard Cloward, Columbia University
- Ernesto Cortes, Jr., Texas Industrial Areas Foundation
- John Gaventa, University of Tennessee and Highlander Center

The ASA Sydney S. Spivack Program in Applied Social Research and Social Policy is a multifaceted effort to advance the use and contributions of social science research to social policy.

The Voice of Social Science in the Federal Science Policy Agenda

Session 124. Sunday, August 20, 10:30 a.m. - 12:15 p.m., Hemisphere Room, Washington Hilton.

Three high ranking officials from key federal science agencies and two leading advocates for social science will address how the new political climate in Washington, D.C. is changing the federal role in social and behavioral science research. Panelists will address the threats to the National Science Foundation's Social, Behavioral, and Economic Science Directorate, the role of social and behavioral sciences as an R&D priority at NIH, navigating a presence for the social and behavioral sciences in future federal science policy, and how the science community can position itself to deal with future political challenges. This is a "don't miss" session for all participants. Questions and comments from the audience are encouraged.

- Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association
- Cora Marrett, National Science Foundation
- Norman B. Anderson, Office of Behavioral and Social Science Research, National Institute of Health
- Joyce Justus, Office of Science and Technology Policy, Executive Office of the President

WHO SUCCEEDS IN SCIENCE?

The Gender Dimension

GERHARD SONNERT, WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF GERALD HOLTON

With a Foreword by Linda S. Wilson

Drawing on a wealth of information, Sonnert and Holton illuminate the partly gender-driven dynamics of "the leaky scientific pipeline." At the heart of this book are gripping personal life stories of ten women and ten men: half became highly successful scientists, the rest left research science.

248 pp. Paper, $16.95; Hardcover, $49.00

ABORTION AT WORK

Ideology and Practice in a Feminist Clinic

WENDY SIMONDS

Simonds documents the ways in which workers at a feminist clinic construct compelling feminist visions, and also watch their ideals fall short in practice.

NURSING WOUNDS

Nurse Practitioners, Doctors, Women Patients, and the Negotiation of Meaning

SUE FISHER

The rise of the nurse practitioner as a new kind of health care professional has blurred the traditional distinction between physicians and nurses. Nurse practitioners argue that they combine both the traditionally male health care delivery of the M.D. and the traditionally female caring attention of the R.N. This compelling and complex analysis employs a range of theoretical perspectives—from sociolinguistic to postmodern and materialist.

IDENTITY DESIGNS

The Sights and Sounds of a Nation

KAREN A. CERULO

National symbols, modern totems with ancient roots, remain entities for which men and women continue to march, debate, fight, and die. Modern political leaders still drape their campaigns in such symbols; modern revolutionaries still defile them. Identity Designs explores the source of this long-standing power—the way national symbols are selected, the manner in which their meaning is conveyed, their potential effects, and the sustenance of their power.

EDUCATING FOR FREEDOM

The Paradox of Pedagogy

DONALD L. FINKEL AND WILLIAM RAY ARNEY

Exploring various educational philosophies the authors examine how the primary vehicle necessary to a liberating education, the personal relationship, is also the fundamental obstacle to the achievement of genuine liberation. They show how the changed dynamics of equality and the altered structure of authority created by collegial teaching may be a way out of the paradox of pedagogy to intellectual freedom.

FEMINISM AND THE TECHNOLOGICAL FIX
CAROL A. STABLE

The quantum leaps in technology in the twentieth century have provoked a profound shift in the way we think about our bodies. Carol Stable argues that the two traditional responses of technophobia or technomania are simply inadequate for the choices facing us today. She charts the development of these two responses across a wide cultural terrain: from ecofeminism's uncritical celebration of women and nature to fetal imaging, struggles over women and the military, and the advent of cyborg politics.

And where is society headed?

To find out, sociologists must have access to all the nuances of social interaction that reveal what the trends are and where they are going.

The complexities have never been greater; the consequences never more important.

Where To Begin

Begin your research with the Sociological Abstracts' family of databases.

Sociological Abstracts (SA) and Social Planning/Policy & Development Abstracts (SOPODA) are the premier sources of information about how our global society works, or doesn't.

They provide over 40 years of succinct, expertly prepared abstracts drawn from more than 2,000 core and discipline-related periodicals from 35 countries, as well as selected books, conference papers, book and other media reviews, and relevant dissertations published worldwide.

The classification systems encompass both broad and highly specialized fields. And The Thesaurus of Sociological Indexing Terms is available to streamline your investigations.

Pick Your Medium.

SA and SOPODA are available in three convenient media designed to complement your research requirements and to fit your budget. Use the hardcopy (now available at special reduced rates for individuals). Surf the sea of information on the Internet. Or spin our sociofile CD-ROM from SilverPlatter or EBSCO.

When you have pinpointed the most relevant abstracts, order the full text of journal articles and other material cited in the databases from

SOCIOLOGY*Express.

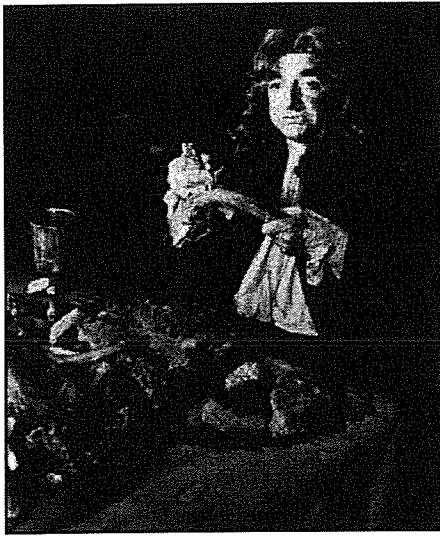

Our document delivery service offers both quick turnaround and attractive pricing.

So give us a call. We'll show you how SA and SOPODA can provide the tools to jump-start your research and help you contribute to our understanding of what society is coming to.

NEW CHOICES FOR A

SOCIOLOGY IN OUR TIMES

Diana Kendall

More than a survey of sociological theory and research, this text uses compelling social issues and poignant first-person accounts to demonstrate how sociology speaks to the real conditions of our times. Besides reflecting the relevance of sociological imagination, Kendall draws upon a wide variety of sources to emphasize the diversity of American society and the ways in which race, class, and gender shape individuals' lived experiences and life chances. CHANGING WORLD

SOCIOLOGY, 6TH EDITION

Rodney Stark

Giving students an over-the-shoulder perspective, by focusing on what sociologists do at work, this classic text illustrates the connection between theory, research, and application, so that no sooner are students introduced to the main concepts of sociology than they see them applied in actual research.

(736 pages. 8 x 9 3/4. Casebound. ISBN: 0-534-25710-0.)

FORTHCOMING FALL 1995

“The most important study of street criminals published in twenty years. For policy makers, scholars, activists, and average citizens who want to defuse urban America’s ticking crime bomb, this book is truly must reading.”—John J. Dilulio, Jr., author of No Escape: The Future of American Corrections

BEGGARS AND THIEVES

Lives of Urban Street Criminals

Mark S. Fleisher

Fleisher shows that parents who are addicts, abusers, and criminals beget irreversibly damaged children who become addicts, abusers, and criminals. He recommends permanently removing brutalized children from criminal, addicted, and violent parents.

Paper $16.95, Cloth $37.50

THE BLACK BOOK AND THE MOB

The Untold Story of the Control of Nevada’s Casinos

Ronald A. Farrell and Carole Case

This compelling account scrutinizes the immensely lucrative Nevada gambling industry’s struggle to maintain legitimacy. By listing notorious characters in the “Black Book” and banning them from casinos, Nevada state regulators focus public attention on “the Mob,” rather than the competing criminal interests in the gaming industry. The book uncovers evidence of ethnic discrimination by the regulators, including selective prosecution of Italian Americans whose notoriety fits popular Mafia stereotypes.

Paper $17.95, Cloth $44.00

CANCER AND SELF-HELP

Bridging the Troubled Waters of Childhood Illness

Mark A. Chesler and Barbara K. Chesney

Focusing on the special population of parents of children with cancer, this book explores how self-help groups function, why they are effective, and how they can be created and maintained. Invaluable to researchers studying self-help and psychosocial processes in health care.

Paper $19.95, Cloth $54.00

THE MASADA MYTH

Collective Memory and Mythmaking in Israel

Nachman Ben-Yehuda

“The Masada Myth is both a scholarly and a passionate book, analyzing with great clarity the relationship between deviance and mythology. The careful descriptions and provocative ideas will create new controversy, one that is timely and important for our understanding of what has become the new world dis-order.”

—Pat Lauderdale, Stanford University

Paper $22.95, Cloth $60.00

STATE AND PARTY IN AMERICA’S NEW DEAL

Kenneth Finegold and Theda Skocpol

A comparison of the origins, implementation, and consequences of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the National Recovery Administration during the New Deal, this volume takes a historical and institutional approach to analyzing state and party dynamics in advanced industrial societies. It will appeal to political scientists, policy makers, sociologists, historians, and economists—in short, all those who must understand how past programs influence present U.S. policies.

Paper $19.95, Cloth $54.00

STATES, FIRMS, AND RAW MATERIALS

The World Economy and Ecology of Aluminum

Bradford L. Barham, Stephen G. Bunker, and Denis O’Hearn

Offers fresh perspectives and possible solutions to the ecological and economic dilemmas of mineral extraction. A closely integrated collection of case studies on aluminum production, this volume blends detailed empirical data with current theories of the state, the firm, industrial organization, and industrial development to expose the tensions and contradictions in world systems of extraction and refining.

Paper $22.50, Cloth $50.00

FETAL RIGHTS, WOMEN’S RIGHTS

Gender Equality in the Workplace

Suzanne Samuels

Are women workers or wombs? Samuels analyzes fetal protection policies and the ambiguous responses to them by federal and state courts, legislatures, administrative agencies, litigants, and interest groups.

Paper $12.95, Cloth $32.50

AFTER THE USSR

Ethnicity, Nationalism, and Politics in the Commonwealth of Independent States

Anatoly M. Khazanov

Khazanov’s astute assessments of ethnic and political strife in Russia, in Central Asia, in Kazakhstan, among the Meskhetian Turks, and among the Yakut of Eastern Siberia illuminate the interconnections between nationalism, ethnic relations, social structures, and political process in the waning days of the USSR and in the new independent states.

SOCIOLOGY After the Crisis

Charles Lemert

"After the Crisis orchestrates a dialogue between established sociological traditions and the 'new' social knowledges (e.g., postmodernism, feminism, race-based theory and queer theory). In this elegantly crafted, brilliantly argued volume, Lemert establishes himself as perhaps the preeminent essayist in sociology today."

Steven Seidman,

State University of New York at Albany

"Sociology After the Crisis is a stunning book, learned, gracious, passionate. A history of sociological theory and practice and a meditation on the vocation of 'coming to terms with one's social world' when the world no longer harbors such confident singularity, Charles Lemert has produced one of the most thoughtful and compelling books on modernity itself. Every sociologist should carefully read Lemert's arguments for the centrality of our work to worldly affairs."

Ain't No Makin' It

Aspirations and Attainment in a Low-Income Neighborhood, Expanded Edition

Jay MacLeod

This expanded edition of MacLeod's landmark ethnography adds three new chapters that follow the Hallway Hangers and the Brothers into adulthood and the world of work.

"The new material provided here is as gripping as the old—in highlighting the new inequalities of the '90s, and in a human depiction of the emergence of cocaine capitalism and of the developing crisis afflicting forms of working class masculinity. Rarely is ethnography given a longitudinal dimension, rarely so well."

Age and Structural Lag

Society's Failure to Provide Meaningful Opportunities in Work, Family, and Leisure

Edited by Matilda White Riley
Robert L. Kahn
Anne Foner

"In excellent essays by outstanding scholars, the book achieves a remarkable conceptual unity around the idea of structural lag of human institutions behind the changes in human lives. It has enormous force. After grasping the contradictions it lays out, I found it almost necessary to predict a twenty-first century revolutionary transformation of age-related structures as thorough-going as the civil rights and feminist revolutions of the twentieth." Neil Smelser, Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences

"A persuasive argument that the mismatch between individual potential and social opportunity in an aging population can be minimized with social policy informed by multidisciplinary theoretical perspectives." George Maddox, Duke University

"In less than 300 highly readable pages, historical and cross-cultural analyses explore the current disjuncture between people and opportunities. Anyone concerned about the future of modern society, and the welfare of people in it, cannot ignore this book." William Julius Wilson, University of Chicago

"An important analysis of outmoded structures and policy implications for people of all ages. A pioneering contribution to life course research." Glen Elder, University of North Carolina

"A thoughtful set of papers employs the conceptual apparatus and methods of basic social science to grapple with serious social issues." W. Richard Scott, Stanford University
