Workplace Culture

NAU is a community devoted to student success and sustained by an unshakable commitment to our shared mission, vision, and values. We—faculty, staff, and administrators—thrive by combining our efforts and working side by side to further NAU's culture of excellence.

https://nau.edu/strategic-plan-2025/

Special Information

The Department of Sociology at Northern Arizona University invites applications for multiple Assistant Teaching Professors, which are nine-month, non-tenure track positions. These positions have a one academic year contract with the potential opportunity for renewal beyond 2022-2023, contingent upon program needs, continued availability of funding, and effective performance.

Job Description

Successful candidates will have experience in or potential for working with underrepresented groups. Candidates with a demonstrated commitment to the unique populations of Northern Arizona University are strongly desired. Responsibilities include teaching four (4) undergraduate courses per semester in addition to engaging in service activities at the department, college, and/or university levels as well as the potential for up to 10% research allocation. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to student success and experience or potential for teaching in various modalities including in-person, blended learning, hyflex, and/or online. The ability to teach both upper- and lower-division courses across the curriculum for the undergraduate degree program, particularly in Social Statistics, and either Race & Ethnic Relations, and/or Crime, Law & Society are preferred. These positions also include the potential for community engagement through internship coordination as well as collaboration with the interdisciplinary Bachelor of University Studies.

Minimum Qualifications
• A PhD in Sociology or related social science field completed by August 2022

Preferred Qualifications

• Experience or potential for teaching upper-division sociology courses, particularly in Social Statistics, and either Race & Ethnic Relations, and/or Crime, Law & Society
• Evidence of commitment to interdisciplinarity and willingness to engage with Bachelor of University Studies
• Experience or potential for teaching in multiple formats (in-person, blended, hyflex, and/or online)
• Willingness to teach high enrollment courses
• Potential for community engagement (e.g. internship coordination)
• Evidence of success working with underrepresented groups in an engaging, civil, and respectful campus climate
• Commitment to equity-based pedagogy and the infusion of diverse perspectives into undergraduate and graduate curriculum

Salary

Commensurate with experience.

Benefits

This is a Faculty (FAC) position. NAU offers an excellent benefit package including generous health, dental and vision insurance; participation in the Arizona State Retirement System (ASRS) or the Optional Retirement Program (ORP); sick leave accruals and 10 holidays per year; and tuition reduction for employees and qualified family members. More information on benefits at NAU is available at the NAU https://nau.edu/Human-Resources/Benefits/. Faculty are hired on a contract basis, renewable according to terms of the http://nau.edu/Provost/Resources-Policies/. Employees offered a position will be eligible for state health plans (including NAU's BCBS Plan). Employees will have 31 days from date of hire to enroll in benefits, and their benefits will then be effective the first day of the pay period following their completed enrollment. If a new employee chooses the Arizona State
Retirement System (ASRS) retirement option, participation in the ASRS Plan (and the long-term disability coverage that accompanies it) will begin on the first of the pay period following 183 days of employment. New employees who choose to participate in the Optional Retirement Plan (ORP; an alternative to the ASRS plan) will begin to participate on the first day of employment. The long-term disability plan that accompanies the ORP will begin on the first day of the pay period following 90 days of employment. More information about NAU benefits is available at the NAU https://nau.edu/Human-Resources/Benefits/.

Employer Description:

General Information

The Department of Sociology at Northern Arizona University has a strong background in applied and public sociology. We emphasize community engagement as well as a commitment to social justice for both our undergraduate and master's students. We also house the Bachelor of University Studies program, an interdisciplinary major where students can pair two minors to create a unique synergy. NAU and the Department of Sociology are committed to hiring and developing a diverse faculty, and we encourage candidates from underrepresented groups as well as individuals who have experience working with diverse communities. Northern Arizona University has a student population of 29,569, including approximately 21,000 on its main campus in Flagstaff and the remainder at more than 20 locations statewide and online.

Committed to a diverse and civil working and learning environment, NAU has earned a solid reputation as a university with all the features of a large institution but with a personal touch, with a faculty and staff dedicated to each student's success. All faculty members are expected to promote student learning and help students achieve academic outcomes.

While our emphasis is undergraduate education, we offer a wide range of graduate programs and research. Our institution has carefully integrated on-campus education with distance learning, forming seamless avenues for students to earn degrees.

Flagstaff has a population of about 70,000, rich in cultural diversity. Located at the base of the majestic San Francisco Peaks, Flagstaff is 140 miles north of Phoenix at intersection of Interstate 17 and Interstate 40.

For information about diversity, access and equity at NAU, see the http://nau.edu/Center-for-University-Access-and-Inclusion/.

COVID-19 Vaccine Requirement

As of 12/10/21, the Safer Federal Workforce employee vaccination requirement is currently suspended pending the outcome of a federal court-issued injunction. This injunction has suspended the recent executive order issued by President Biden requiring all employees of federal contractors to receive COVID-19 vaccinations. For current status of the vaccine requirement and/or questions, please visit https://in.nau.edu/human-resources/faqs-for-employee-vaccination-requirement-2/.

Background Information

Northern Arizona University requires satisfactory results for the following: a criminal background investigation, an employment history verification and a degree verification (in some cases) prior to employment. You may also be required to complete a fingerprint background check. Additionally, as an employer in the state of Arizona, NAU is required to participate in the federal E-Verify program that assists employers with verifying new employees' right to work in the United States. Finally, each year Northern Arizona University releases an https://in.nau.edu/police-department/annual-security-and-fire-safety-reports/. The report is a result of a federal law known as the Clery Act. The report includes Clery reportable crime statistics for the three most recent completed calendar years and discloses procedures, practices and programs NAU uses to keep students and employees safe including how to report crimes or other emergencies occurring on campus. In addition, the https://in.nau.edu/police-department/annual-security-and-fire-safety-reports/ is combined with the Annual Security Report for the NAU Flagstaff Mountain Campus as this campus has on-campus student housing. This report discloses fire safety policies and procedures related to on-campus student housing and statistics for fires that occurred in those facilities. If you would like a free paper copy of the report, please contact the NAUPD Records Department at (928) 523-8884 or by visiting the department at 525 E. Pine Knoll Drive in Flagstaff.

Job Description:
The Department of Sociology in the College of Arts and Sciences at Case Western Reserve University invites applications for a full-time, visiting assistant professor position for the 2022–2023 academic year. Courses to be taught may include health and social behavior, disability in society, family, and/or research methods. This is a one-year position with the possibility of renewal.

Case Western Reserve University offers students the quality and class size of a strong liberal arts college within one of the nation’s major research universities. The teaching load for this position is 2/2; CWRU faculty members also may have the opportunity to teach in our university-wide undergraduate program of liberal education, SAGES. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Sociology or a related field by the time of appointment. Preference will be given to candidates with demonstrated excellence in teaching. Review of applications will begin and will continue until the search is concluded. Applicants should submit applications via Interfolio (http://apply.interfolio.com/105201) and include (1) a cover letter that addresses their qualifications for this teaching position, (2) a diversity statement that explains how diversity, equity, and inclusion inform their past and/or future professional experience (scholarship, teaching, service) with further details available on the application webpage, and (3) a CV. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation submitted via the application website by June 1, 2022. Other correspondence may be sent to Dale Dannefer (socijobs@cwru.edu), Chair, Department of Sociology, Case Western Reserve University, 10900 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, OH 44106-7124.
Employer Description:
In employment, as in education, Case Western Reserve University is committed to Equal Opportunity and Diversity. Women, veterans, members of underrepresented minority groups, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Case Western Reserve University provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process should contact the Office of Inclusion, Diversity and Equal Opportunity at 216-368-8877 to request a reasonable accommodation. Determinations as to granting reasonable accommodations for any applicant will be made on a case-by-case basis.

Job 17926: Data Scientist, Center for Security and Emerging Technology (CSET)

Date Position is Available: Fall 2022

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 4/15/2022 to 5/15/2022

Institution: Georgetown University
Department:

Region: East

Title: Data Scientist, Center for Security and Emerging Technology (CSET)

Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Other

Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Applicable

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Quantitative Methodology

Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

Data Scientist, Center for Security and Emerging Technology (CSET)

We are currently seeking applications for a Data Scientist to work with Data Research Analysts and Analysis Team Members (Fellows and Analysts) to explore research questions leveraging CSET's unique data holdings.

Ideal Candidate:

CSET Data Scientists bring together technical skills and advanced research experience with a motivation to address policy-relevant problems. They have a general interest and familiarity with a range of data approaches and solutions, with a willingness to learn more, and baseline knowledge from which to carry out exploration and experimentation. This general interest enables them to work collaboratively and engage with other members of the data and analysis teams. They have demonstrated experience working with large datasets (e.g., more than 10 million records) and some aptitude for data engineering, or a willingness to work with and enhance data to make it more analytically useful and approachable.

Data Scientists have experience designing research and an appreciation for both the opportunities and the limitations of data. They also have a general understanding of the current state of the art ML algorithms (e.g., transformers, reinforcement learning) and are able to digest the relevant research literature.

Responsibilities:

The Data Scientist will report to CSET's Director of Data Science and Research and will be responsible for:

• Devising and executing data processing techniques for large datasets using Python and SQL.
• Proposing, evaluating, and implementing solutions to add value to datasets and enable new analytic capabilities.
• Ingesting structured and unstructured datasets into Google Cloud Platform (GCP).
• Collaborating with Research Fellows and other CSET staff to develop research ideas and designs and identify appropriate datasets.
• Interpreting results and drawing valid inferences from data to support CSET research and publications.
• Communicating substantive findings from data for policy audiences, via accessible visualizations, written outputs, and presentations.

Requirements:

• Bachelor's degree in a quantitative field like economics, mathematics, computer science, or engineering, or related area of study.
• 2+ years of quantitative or statistical analysis experience - building data intuition, solving problems using data, and providing practical insight using data.
• 2+ years of experience with SQL.
• 2+ years of experience with Python.
• Ability to process and analyze datasets, and to interpret them to make decisions.
• Ability to manage a project delivery scope, schedule, and cost.
• Ability to excel in a highly collaborative team environment.
• Excellent communication skills, both oral and written, demonstrated through the development of publications and delivery of presentations.
• Experience with advanced approaches to statistics and data-driven model development.
• Motivated, enthusiastic and self-guided.
• We welcome experience working with data in multiple human languages, and reading fluency in languages other than English.

This Data Scientist position is based in the United States and offers no relocation assistance. This position is not eligible for a specialty-occupation sponsorship and, accordingly, this position requires that all applicants be legally eligible to work in the United States without sponsorship from Georgetown University.

In general, CSET Data Scientists earn between $115,000 and $145,000 annually, commensurate with experience.

Application Instructions:

Resume

Cover letter that explains your interest in CSET and the Data Science role.

Please make sure that your cover letter and/or your resume includes a link to a GitHub repo or other publicly available example of recent data work.

Salary Range: $50,000 - $59,999

Job Description:

St. Louis Anchor Action Network (STLAAN)

Post-Doctoral Research Fellowship

We are looking for a post-doctoral fellow in residence to lead this research, helping to set the agenda and implement the research in collaboration with the research team. Preferably, the person will have a PhD in hand by June 1, 2022 in an appropriate field, such as, political science, economics, sociology, social work, urban studies, public administration, or public policy. Background in workforce development, business development, and/or community development is desirable.
Proficiency in data management and quantitative and qualitative analysis is expected. The research will involve existing data bases (public and proprietary), as well as the collection of original data through surveys, focus groups, etc.

The Research Fellow will be based at UMSL’s Community Innovation and Action Center (https://ciac.umsl.edu/), with an affiliation with the appropriate department at UMSL. The Research Fellow will lead a team of researchers from institutions of higher learning in St. Louis and other organizations. We expect the research to result in peer-reviewed publications, as well as other reports and policy briefs. The term of the appointment will be for two years at $50,000 salary per year ($68,000 budgeted with full benefits), with the potential to extend to a third year. The Research Fellow will work with the research team to pursue external funding opportunities. There are no teaching or service responsibilities. If interested, the Research Fellow will have an opportunity to supplement the salary with adjunct teaching.

Applicants must apply at http://www.umsl.jobs. Applications received through other sources will not be considered. Applicants are asked to combine all application materials into a single PDF file and upload as RESUME. Application materials should include at least the following: a letter of application addressing the requirements of the position, a current curriculum vitae, and names and contact information of three professional references. Interested individuals may contact Dr. Todd Swanstrom at swanstromt@umsl.edu with any questions. No phone calls please. We will begin reviewing applications on April 22nd and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Missouri–St. Louis is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to excellence through diversity.

STLAAN (https://www.stlaan.org/) is a collaboration among eleven anchor institutions in the St Louis metro region, including major health systems (BJC, Mercy, and SSM), colleges and universities (Washington, Saint Louis University, the University of Missouri-St. Louis - UMSL, Webster University, St. Louis Community College, and Harris-Stowe, an HBCU), the St. Louis Zoo, and one private corporation (Edward Jones). The Network aims to increase employment, income, and wealth in 22 predominantly African American ZIP Codes in North St. Louis City and County that have been systematically disinvested. STLAAN is building a research agenda to better understand the impact of Anchor Institutions’ intentional employment and purchasing strategies on people and businesses within the focus geography. Besides evaluating outcomes, the research also aims to better understand the pathways or processes of change, including the barriers to addressing racial and spatial inequities in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Salary Range: $40,000 - $49,999

Job Description:

Sociology & Anthropology – Augustana College, Rock Island, IL, invites applications for a full-time, Visiting, Open Rank position in Sociology beginning in August of the 2022-2023 academic year, with possible renewal up to a total of three years upon mutual agreement. Augustana College is a selective liberal arts and sciences college of 2,400 students, including 19 percent first generation college students, 22 percent Pell Grant students, 23 percent students of color, and 13 percent international students. Our beautifully wooded and largely residential campus is located in Rock Island, IL, a diverse Illinois-Iowa Quad Cities metropolitan area along the Mississippi River with 400,000 residents about three hours west of Chicago.

Strengthening our diverse and inclusive community is central to the college's mission and strategic plan. We seek applicants with an interest in fostering rigorous, inclusive, and high-impact learning environments for a diverse student body. Details about Augustana College, faculty life, and the Quad Cities all are available at Teaching at Augustana.
The successful candidate will teach 24 credits per 10-month academic year (standard courses are 4 credits), which may include Introduction to Sociology, Methods, Contemporary Social Problems (during our experiential January term), a course in their specialty area, and an interdisciplinary course in the first year liberal arts sequence.

The successful candidate will join our faculty of sociologists and anthropologists with a broad range of research and teaching interests. We value and cultivate teamwork, support, and communication within our department, and our faculty members are active throughout the college in teaching and service.

Preference will be given to candidates who have earned a Ph.D. in Sociology; ABD candidates will also be considered. The successful candidate will be able to demonstrate a dedication to excellence in teaching, a commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration and the value of a broadly educated person, a commitment to fostering equity and inclusion, and the ability to teach Introduction to Sociology and Methods.

Augustana College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Augustana College provides equal opportunity to all qualified employees and applicants without regard to race, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, veteran status, and any other category protected by federal, state, or local law.

A complete application will include: a cover letter stating your interest in the position, updated curriculum vitae, unofficial copy of graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and a statement of teaching philosophy. Questions may be directed to Dr. Peter Kivisto, Chair of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, at peterkivisto@augustana.edu. To guarantee full consideration, please submit all application materials by April 27, 2022. Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Job 17925: Assistant Professor of Sociology (Tenure-Track)

Date Position is Available: Fall 2022

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 4/14/2022 to 5/14/2022

Institution: Earlham College
Department: Department of Sociology & Anthropology

Region: Midwest

Title: Assistant Professor of Sociology (Tenure-Track)

Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Assistant Professor

Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenure Track

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Social Welfare/Social Work, Other Program/Area

Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

The Department of Sociology/Anthropology at Earlham College, a progressive liberal arts college with strong commitments to social justice, invites applications for a tenure track position in sociology at the Assistant Professor level to begin in Fall, 2022. Areas of specialty are open, but we are particularly interested in sociologists whose research and teaching focuses could contribute to interdisciplinary programs in African and African American Studies and Social Services (a major which prepares students for careers in counseling, social work, human resources and related fields).
The Sociology/Anthropology (SOAN) Department of Earlham College draws on two social scientific disciplines to teach students about social life. Whether investigating the conditions of the human around them or considering cultures distant in time or space, SOAN prepares students to understand and address the problems facing our world in the 21st century. Our faculty are deeply engaged in both teaching and research across a wide variety of topical areas. The College provides substantial support for student-faculty research collaboration and the SoAn department has many ongoing projects of this nature.

Responsibilities

This is a full-time, nine-month position that includes a teaching load of five courses a year. In addition to teaching courses in their area of expertise, the successful candidate is expected to teach an introductory course in sociology (Inequality, Power and Society) and Social Research Methods (which covers qualitative methods and quantitative methods an introductory level).

Qualifications

Ph.D. or advanced ABD in sociology is required. Candidates should have prior teaching experience (which could include teaching assistant experience) and evidence of teaching effectiveness, such as student evaluations, peer observations, or other similar evidence. The College is especially interested in candidates from under-represented groups as well as individuals who have experience with diverse populations who can contribute to the diversity, inclusion, and excellence of the academic community through their research, teaching, and service. While a successful candidate would need to teach quantitative methods at an introductory undergraduate level, they do not need to specialize in quantitative methods or employ them in their own research.

To Apply

Please submit the following through our Earlham Careers Portal:

- curriculum vitae with names and contact information for recommenders
- statement on diversity
- research statement
- writing sample
- evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Review of applications will start immediately.

Earlham College requires all employees to be vaccinated against COVID-19 or apply for and receive a qualified exemption within two weeks of the employment start date.
Earlham utilizes E-Verify to confirm employment eligibility for all newly hired employees within the United States.

Earlham College is an equal opportunity employer committed to building a diverse community, one that reflects the makeup of society at large and that particularly welcomes and supports individuals from groups that have been historically marginalized because of factors such as race, ethnicity, sex, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, socioeconomic class, and physical ability. The College strongly encourages applications from women and people of color. As an institution with a Quaker identity, the College also solicits applications from members of the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers).

Employer Description:
Earlham College, an independent, residential college, aspires to provide the highest quality undergraduate education in the liberal arts, including the sciences, shaped by the distinctive perspectives of the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers). Earlham emphasizes the pursuit of truth, lack of coercion, respect for others, openness to new truth, integrity and application of what is known to improving our world.

Department Summary
The Department of Sociology is a vibrant community featuring leading scholars within sociology and related interdisciplinary fields. Faculty have expertise in a range of theories and methods, from ethnography to social network analysis, underscoring our commitment to training our students in the many tools within the sociological toolkit. Program strengths include environmental sociology, gender, political & economic sociology, and race, with an increased focus on the sociology of health and cultural sociology.

Position Summary
The Department of Sociology at the University of Oregon invites candidates to apply for a Career Instructor position starting in the fall of 2022. This is a full-time non-tenure track professional teaching position. A candidate with college-level teaching experience is preferred. The standard teaching load for career faculty in Sociology is nine courses per year. Contingent on other responsibilities assigned, this position may be released from teaching a course and would dedicate that effort to related program administration and advising. Courses would be taught over three ten-week quarters and will be in the broad areas of criminology, carceral studies, and criminal justice; for example, Intro to Deviance, Control, and Crime; Juvenile Delinquency; Drugs and Society; Mental Health and Society; White Collar or Elite Crimes; Policing and Law Enforcement; Systems of Incarceration; Cyber Crime/Security; and Terrorism and Political Violence. The position also involves advising and mentoring students in the Criminology Minor, working with the UO's Career Center to develop experiential learning opportunities in crime, law, and society, and participating in UO's prison education program, which currently offers UO courses in the Oregon State Prison system to campus-based and incarcerated students. Because this involves teaching inside prisons, the applicant should be aware they will need to pass security background checks to be eligible to teach inside. Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and advising in the broad areas of criminology and criminal justice studies, and a commitment to working with criminal justice institutions to help place students in internships. Candidates should also demonstrate a commitment to fostering a learning community that prioritizes equity and inclusion. People with lived experience personally or through family involved in the criminal justice system are welcome to apply.

Minimum Requirements
• Ph.D. in Sociology, Criminology, or related field.

• Active research or teaching experience in the areas of criminal justice, carceral studies, or criminology.

Professional Competencies

• Demonstrated commitment to student engagement, teaching innovation, and the application of scholarship to course development and design.

• Strong teamwork orientation and demonstrated ability to work collaboratively with others.

• Demonstrated commitment to and understanding of a learning community that prioritizes diversity, equity, and inclusion in a major university.

Preferred Qualifications

• Two years of university teaching experience.

• Teaching experience in multiple modalities (online, in-person, and hybrid), with substantial fully online, asynchronous teaching experience.

• Professional experience working in or professionally volunteering in the criminal justice field.

University of Oregon students and employees are required to be fully vaccinated against COVID-19. For additional information see: https://coronavirus.uoregon.edu/vaccine.

Institution: Bennington College
Department:
Region: Northeast
Title: Two-Year Visiting Faculty Position in Sociology at Bennington College
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Other
Tenure/Tenure Track:
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Quantitative Methodology
Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

Two-Year Visiting Faculty Position in Sociology at Bennington College

Bennington College seeks to fill a two-year visiting faculty position in sociology beginning Fall 2022. All fields of specialization will be considered but we are particularly interested in candidates whose training and scholarship equips them to teach courses that bring quantitative methods into conversation with pressing social issues. We would welcome a colleague who could also teach cutting-edge undergraduate courses on: education and inequality; historical formations of state power; urban sociology; comparative dimensions of race; and/or climate inequities. Preference will be given to candidates who have a Ph.D. and previous teaching experience. Teaching expectations include four, four-credit courses each year: two introductory and two intermediate/advanced.

Bennington College is a small residential liberal arts college in southern Vermont, long distinguished for its progressive approach to higher education. The College was founded in 1932 on the principle of active engagement in learning, which manifests in individualized plans of study developed by students together with faculty. Bennington’s open curricular structures facilitate innovative teaching across traditional disciplinary boundaries, and small class sizes enable student-centered and engaged learning within the classroom.

Bennington serves a student population inclusive of members of ethnically/racially diverse, international, LGBTQIA+, and disability communities as well as diverse gender identities, socioeconomic backgrounds, religions, and political beliefs. Our staff and faculty also reflect diverse and intersecting backgrounds and identities. All employees are expected to be respectful and responsive to these differences in the service of building community that promotes student and employee success. Each individual (faculty, staff and student) will be accountable for upholding these values. The College’s approach to pluralism and inclusivity—both as fields of inquiry and practice—is to prioritize flexible thought, and to invite the examination of access, value, power, and privilege through its institutional policies and areas of study. We encourage applications from women and/or candidates from traditionally underrepresented backgrounds and diverse realms of interest and experience to apply.

Candidates should apply to https://apptrkr.com/2986680 by submitting: a) letter of application that describes teaching experience, scholarly work, and potential contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion; b) curriculum vitae; c) a description of two (2) proposed courses for Bennington College; d) one writing sample; and e) contact information for three references.

Review of applications will begin on May 1, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. This position requires the successful completion and acceptable results of a background check.

Job 17917: Lecturer – Sociology of Anthropology (Criminology)

Date Position is Available: Fall 2022
Application Deadline:
Listing Active: 4/8/2022 to 5/8/2022
Institution: College of Staten Island
Department: Department of Sociology and Anthropology
Region: Northeast
Title: Lecturer – Sociology of Anthropology (Criminology)
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Lecturer
Tenure/Tenure Track:
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Criminology/Delinquency
Salary Range: Negotiable
Submission Link: < a href='http://cuny.jobs' target='_blank'>http://cuny.jobs

Job Description:
Job Title: Lecturer – Sociology of Anthropology (Criminology)
Job ID: 24066
Location: College of Staten Island
Full/Part Time: Full-Time
Regular/Temporary: Regular
Performs teaching and related faculty functions in area(s) of expertise.
The Department of Sociology and Anthropology seeks someone who can teach both introductory and upper-level courses in critical criminology, social justice, and structural inequity and/or who can teach at the intersection of technology, critical criminology, and race and racism (in a domestic, international, and/or migration-based context). The successful candidate also would advise our majors and minors in our concentration in critical criminology and social justice. We especially invite applications from those who do mixed methods or multimedia research or use creative approaches to research including but not limited to filmmaking, oral history, layered theoretical frameworks, etc.

This is a teaching position with a course load of 24 teaching credits per year in addition to expectations of departmental service. The position of lecturer is tenure-bearing through what is called a “certificate of continuous employment” (CCE) after a positive sixth annual reappointment.

Ideal candidates will have demonstrated consistent excellence in teaching at the undergraduate level. In-person, online, and hybrid teaching will be required of this position; experience and pedagogical training in online and hybrid teaching is essential. While primary qualifications for reappointment and CCE are teaching excellence and successful participation in service obligations, candidates with past evidence of scholarly research and/or active scholarly agendas are welcome to apply; a lecturer’s research is eligible for various forms of support such as Fellowship Leave (sabbatical) and the competitive PSC CUNY Research Awards.

The College seeks faculty members and colleagues who thrive in multicultural academic environments and are committed to access, equity, inclusion, and excellence in higher education. The hiring committee is especially interested in applicants who contribute to the diversity mission of the college through their leadership, community service, and/or lived experiences.

QUALIFICATIONS

Bachelor's degree in area(s) of expertise, and the ability to teach successfully.

Preferred Qualifications include: M.A., ABD, or Ph.D. in Sociology, Anthropology, or a closely related field and strong experience in undergraduate teaching.

COMPENSATION

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

From our job posting system (http://cuny.jobs), select "Apply Now", create or log in to a user account, and provide the requested information. If you are viewing this posting from outside our system, access the employment page on our web site and search for this vacancy using the Job ID or Title.

Candidates should provide:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Teaching Statement, specifically addressing how teaching addresses Diversity, Equity & Inclusion
- Statement of research interest and goals (optional)
- One writing sample such as a publication (if available)
- The names and contact information (title, institutional affiliation, email address, phone number) for three (3) individuals willing to write confidential letters of recommendation.

If you have any difficulty uploading multiple documents to the website, please send them to: facultyrecruitss@csi.cuny.edu

Job Description:

Job Title: Lecturer –International Studies

Job ID: 23648

Location: City College of New York
FACULTY VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

The Department of Anthropology, Gender Studies, and International Studies in The Colin Powell School for Civic and Global Leadership (the division of social sciences) at The City College of New York (CUNY) invites applications for a full-time faculty position at the rank of Lecturer to begin August 25, 2022. The candidate's primary teaching and advising responsibilities will be in the International Studies Program, the only B.A. Program in International Studies within the City University of New York. This is an interdisciplinary program with approximately 200 majors and a course of study that concentrates in four areas: International Relations, Comparative Public Policy, Culture and Communication, and Development. We seek candidates who will be able to draw on their own ample professional experience in a field related to International Studies in order to teach introductory and advanced courses and to mentor undergraduate students as they develop their own professional goals and career paths. Candidates must have a commitment to teaching and mentoring a diverse student population. Expertise may be in any area of International Studies or region of the world. However, candidates with areas of expertise that complement those of existing faculty are especially attractive, as are candidates with experience in NGOs, social movements, human rights, and humanitarianism.

About the Colin Powell School

The Colin Powell School for Civic and Global Leadership is the division of social sciences at CCNY and is comprised of five academic departments: Anthropology, Gender Studies, and International Studies; Economics and Business; Political Science; Psychology; and Sociology. It is also home to all of the College’s leadership development and public service programs, alongside a range of dynamic interdisciplinary programs including International Relations, Mental Health Counseling, Public Service Management, Women’s Studies, and the Honors Program for Legal Studies. With almost 4,000 students, the Colin Powell School is CCNY’s largest student division, and it offers a wide variety of traditional and interdisciplinary undergraduate and graduate degrees. The internationally recognized scholarship of the Colin Powell School’s diverse faculty addresses critical topics of societal concern from multiple intellectual perspectives. Our students constitute one of the most unique academic communities in the country. Intellectually curious and highly motivated, they come from broadly diverse national and ethnic backgrounds, united in the mission to improve the world they will inherit. Colin Powell School students serve in community clinics, international development projects, local advocacy organizations, and communities at home and abroad. They also matriculate at top law, business, and public affairs schools and pursue graduate degrees at highly ranked universities around the globe.

About the City College of New York

For 160 years, The City College of New York has provided low-cost, high-quality education for New Yorkers in a wide variety of disciplines. Over 13,000 students pursue undergraduate and graduate degrees in the Colin Powell School for Civic and Global Leadership, the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the School of Architecture, the School of Education, the Grove School of Engineering, the Center for Worker Education and the Sophie Davis School of Biomedical Education. Notable graduates of The City College include: Gen. Colin L. Powell, USA (ret.), ’58, former Secretary of State and Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Andrew S. Grove, ’60, co-founder and former Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Intel Corp., and Dr. Jonas S. Salk, ’34, who discovered the first polio vaccine. In addition, The City College of New York has produced nine Nobel laureates, the most of any public college or university in the United States.

QUALIFICATIONS

A B.A. in International Studies, Anthropology, or other relevant discipline in the social sciences is required at time of application, as is ample experience working in a professional field related to International Studies. We also welcome candidates who have advanced degrees in addition to the requisite professional experience. Candidates must have a commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching and advising.
COMPENSATION
CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

Job 17915: Canada Excellence Research Chair (CERC) in the Sociology of Climate Change

Date Position is Available: Summer 2023

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 4/2/2022 to 5/2/2022

Institution: UBC Sociology
Department: Department of Sociology
Region: Canada
Title: Canada Excellence Research Chair (CERC) in the Sociology of Climate Change
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Full Professor, Academic Positions: Associate Professor
Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenured
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Environmental Sociology
Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

The University of British Columbia (UBC) Vancouver campus is recruiting an outstanding researcher to be nominated for the Canada Excellence Research Chair (CERC) in the Sociology of Climate Change. The CERC program, Canada’s highest research chair appointment, is designed to attract and support world-renowned researchers and their teams to Canada.

The Canada Excellence Research Chair in the Sociology of Climate Change provides a unique opportunity for an environmental sociologist focused on the empirical drivers and impacts of climate change within and/or across human societies. This scholar will engage with an extraordinary group of interdisciplinary colleagues in shaping the future of the discipline.
The candidate would be joining both a department and university with strong commitments to research on climate change. The Department of Sociology has a strong contingent of faculty members engaging with environmental topics such as climate change, consumption, sociology of natural resources, responses to natural disasters, the urban environment, and environmental movements and politics. The candidate will complement existing strengths in the Department of Sociology and UBC more broadly, while advancing knowledge on the social determinants of climate change, the inequitable distribution of risks associated with climate change, and/or the ways in which climate change and inequality are related. UBC’s institutional commitment is evident in its Climate Action Plan and ongoing initiatives to support research that include the University Sustainability Initiative, the Climate Hub and the newly announced Climate Justice Centre.

As a faculty member and CERC chair holder, the successful candidate will be expected to lead a strong, externally-funded research program, to teach undergraduate and graduate students, to supervise postdoctoral fellows and graduate students, collaborate with other faculty members, and actively participate in service to the Department, University, and academic/scientific community. In addition to the above, candidates must:

- have a PhD in sociology;
- be an internationally recognized leader of a highly impactful research program with at least 10 years of internationally competitive research experience, post Ph.D, at the intersection of climate change and social inequality;
- demonstrate excellent leadership capacity through concrete examples of actions such as formation of international, collaborative research teams and a record of institutional leadership; and
- have a proven track-record of advancing knowledge related to climate change and inequality within and beyond sociology, including clear research-driven contributions to public policy.

CERC holders will have strong commitment to equity, diversity, and inclusion and a commitment to creating a welcoming community where those who are historically, persistently, or systemically marginalized are treated equitably, feel respected, and belong. UBC recognizes that inclusion is built by individual and institutional responsibility through continuous engagement with diversity to inspire people, ideas, and actions for a better world. As Canada’s highest research chair appointees, UBC CERCs will have a unique and profound impact on our commitments to these values.

It is expected that the successful candidate will qualify for a full-time appointment at the rank of professor or — in exceptional circumstances — senior associate professor and be promoted to full professor within one or two years of the nomination. Nominees from outside the academic sector must possess the qualifications necessary to be appointed at these levels. The anticipated start date will be July 1st, 2023. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience and is subject to final budgetary approval. The CERC award is valued at $500,000(CAN) per year for 8 years including up to 25% of the total award value for the indirect costs of research. Competitive start-up packages, relocation, housing assistance and infrastructure development funds will be provided.

The successful applicant will be nominated for a Canada Excellence Research Chair. The CERC nomination is subject to review and final approval by the CERC Secretariat.

Program nominees are not restricted by their nationality or their country of residence. Non-Canadian Chairholders may work in Canada under the procedures by Employment and Social Development Canada and Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada. In some cases, a work permit may be expedited.

To apply: Interested candidates must apply through the online application via the following link: https://soci.air.arts.ubc.ca/sociology-of-climate-change-application-portal/ Complete applications will include the following: (1) a detailed curriculum vitae; (2) a research statement; (3) a separate one-page statement identifying the applicant’s contributions, or potential contributions, to equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) along with their ability to work with a culturally diverse and international student body; (4) two sample publications; (5) a teaching portfolio which must include a statement of teaching philosophy and should include evidence of teaching effectiveness where relevant (e.g. student evaluations, peer assessments, graduate and/or undergraduate course syllabus); and (6) request to have three referees send confidential supporting letters via email to soci.HEAD(at)ubc.ca while indicating both the search title, “Sociology of Climate Change,” and the applicant’s name in the subject line.
Review of applications will begin on May 6th.

Employer Description:

The University of British Columbia (UBC) is consistently ranked among the top 20 public universities in the world and is a renowned global centre for teaching, learning and research. Since 1915, UBC has been opening doors of opportunity for people with the curiosity, drive and vision to shape a better world. Today, our students, faculty and staff come from around the world and our international research partnerships and publications help us collaborate on a global scale. UBC is proud to nurture and transform the lives of more than 65,000 students from Canada and 140+ countries around the world.

Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person.

UBC is committed to creating and maintaining an inclusive, non-discriminatory and accessible work environment for all members of its workforce. UBC is also committed to ensuring that the application and interview process is accessible to all applicants. If you require accommodations or have questions about UBC benefits, services or accommodations policies, please contact Sue Lebrun at sue.lebrun@ubc.ca in Workplace Health Services.

UBC recognizes the legitimate impact that leaves (e.g., parental leaves, illness or disability, COVID-19 impacts) can have on research achievement and commits to ensuring that leaves are taken into careful consideration. Candidates are encouraged to highlight in their application how interruptions have had an impact on their career.

We rank in the top two Sociology departments in Canada. The university is situated in Vancouver, which is routinely included in lists of the top five most livable cities in the world. It is renowned for its mild year-round climate, innovative urban design, emphasis on the environment and sustainability, extensive cultural and cosmopolitan offerings, ethnic diversity, and spectacular natural beauty set among the coastal mountains and the Pacific Ocean. The UBC Vancouver campus is on the traditional, unceded territory of the Musqueam people.

Position description

The Program

We seek a postdoctoral candidate for the UC Berkeley Undergraduate Data Science at Scale program, that aims to implement, scale, and propagate a novel prototype for undergraduate data science education through a collaboration between UC Berkeley's Data Science Education Program, Social Sciences D-Lab, and two partner institutions with diverse student bodies, the University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC), and Mills College (Mills). The project is led by a multidisciplinary group of faculty and staff who collectively bring deep expertise in undergraduate STEM education, data science pedagogy, and the science of diversity and inclusion in higher education. Through a continuous cycle of design, implementation, evaluation, and refinement, the project advances the field of undergraduate data science education by producing a set of open source curricular materials, developing technical infrastructure, and disseminating the new knowledge necessary to deploy such resources successfully in multiple and diverse institutional settings. Ultimately, we will engage a wide community in the process of institutional transformation. This project is funded by the National Science Foundation Improving Undergraduate STEM Education (IUSE) program.

The Postdoctoral Fellow will support a research agenda with a set of broad questions that are generalizable to undergraduate data science education in many types of four-year institutions. Pedagogical questions include issues related to the impacts of exposure to active learning, team-based learning, near-peer teaching, and scientific identity. Evaluation questions will assess the effectiveness of outreach strategies, strategies of recruitment and support for underrepresented students in data science.

We encourage women and minority Ph.D. recipients to apply for this position. In addition to faculty mentorship from David Harding, PI, the incumbent will have the opportunity to collaborate with faculty, staff, and peers within a vibrant data science community based at the Social Sciences D-Lab and in close proximity to the Data Science Education Program Office at UC Berkeley.

The program is seeking applicants with the potential to bring to their academic and research careers the critical perspective that comes from their non-traditional educational background or understanding of the experiences of members of groups historically underrepresented in higher education in the United States.
Awards

In addition to salary and benefits, the postdoc will be eligible to apply for the Berkeley Postdoctoral Association Professional Development Award for postdocs at UC Berkeley. This award provides up to $500 to cover costs associated with presenting at a scientific or professional meeting. In addition, our budget includes funds for conference travel that will be available to the postdoc to present project findings at professional meetings.

Deliverables, Expectations, Support, and Mentorship

The postdoc will prepare publications, presentations, blogs, and social media updates with the support of the evaluation team lead and in collaboration with the Project Director and other members of the project. The postdoc will receive training in the preparation of manuscripts for scientific journals and presentations for conferences.

The Postdoc will be expected to participate in regular meetings of the evaluation team as well as in campus workshops, seminars, conferences, etc., where they will have opportunities to present work, teach, and mentor graduate and undergraduate students in both formal and informal settings.

The Postdoc will build their knowledge of fundamentals of research methodology, responsible conduct of research, conflicts of interest, and other ethical issues and professional practices. In addition, the postdoc will be encouraged to affiliate with one or more professional societies in her/his chosen field. The postdoc will complete CITI human subjects research training and certification.

The Postdoc will gain additional grant writing experience through direct involvement in proposals prepared by the PI and Co-PIs. They will have an opportunity to learn best practices in proposal preparation, including identification of key research questions, the definition of objectives, description of approach and rationale, and construction of a work plan, timeline, and budget. The postdoc will have access to proposal writing workshops offered by the Berkeley Research Development Office and the VSPA office.

In addition to working on the National Science Foundation (NSF) Improving Undergraduate STEM Education (IUSE) project, the Postdoc will work closely with the Social Sciences Data Lab (D-Lab) core staff team on the following:

Consulting: D-Lab provides no cost consulting services to UC Berkeley students, staff, faculty, scholars, and affiliates. The Postdoc will provide consultations on topics related to the candidate’s areas of expertise.

Fellowship program management: With support from D-Lab core staff the Postdoc will take the lead on organizing and managing the D-Lab Data Science Fellows program by mentoring graduate student fellows and coordinating their work on weekly research talks, blog posts, professional development, workshop instruction, consultations, and other areas relevant to D-Lab.

Special projects: Contribute to D-Lab special projects, and in particular work with the hate speech and social media and data for health research teams to conduct research, present work, and produce publications.

Research: Conduct research relevant to the candidate's area of expertise, and foster collaborations with other D-Lab community members and faculty, staff, and students across the Berkeley campus.
Workshop instruction: Develop content for and instruct workshops for the Berkeley campus community on topics including programming fundamentals in R and Python, Bash, GitHub, machine learning, text analysis, and deep learning.

Job 17912: Assistant Professor in Sociological Criminology

Date Position is Available: Summer 2022

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 4/2/2022 to 5/2/2022

Institution: University of Guelph
Department: Department of Sociology and Anthropology
Region: Canada

Title: Assistant Professor in Sociological Criminology
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Assistant Professor
Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenure Track
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Criminal Justice
Salary Range: Negotiable

Submission Link: < a href='http://sachair@uoguelph.ca' target='_blank'>sachair@uoguelph.ca

Job Description:

The Department of Sociology and Anthropology at the University of Guelph invites applications for two tenure-track positions at the rank of Assistant Professor.

The successful candidates will hold a PhD or be ABD in Sociology, Criminology, or a related discipline, with a record of excellence in teaching and research commensurate with their experience. These positions will support the Department’s contribution to the undergraduate program in Criminal Justice and Public Policy (CJPP) and the graduate program in Criminology and Criminal Justice Policy (CCJP).

Position 1: Race, Crime, and Social Control
For this position, the Department seeks applicants with teaching interests and an active research agenda in the area of Race, Crime, and Social Control. To address the underrepresentation of scholars who are Black, Indigenous, and/or members of racialized communities, this position is reserved for qualified scholars who self-identify as Black, Indigenous, and/or members of racialized communities.

Position 2: Crime and Social Justice
For this position, the Department seeks applicants with teaching interests and an active research agenda in the area of Crime and Social Justice, with a focus on issues of marginalization, social inequality, and/or social justice. All qualified individuals are encouraged to apply, particularly those from groups that have been traditionally underrepresented in employment, including scholars who are Black, Indigenous, members of racialized communities, persons with disabilities, persons who identify as 2SLGBTQ*, and women. Preference will be given to qualified scholars who self-identify as Black, Indigenous, and/or members of racialized communities.

The successful candidate for each position will teach four courses in the CJPP and CCJP programs. Possible courses include: Crime and Criminal Justice (SOC*1500); Criminological Theory (SOC*2700); Law and Society (SOC*3490); Youth Justice (SOC*3710); Courts and Society (SOC*3730); Corrections and Penology (SOC*3740); Violence and Society (SOC*4010); Advanced Topics in Criminology (SOC*4030); Advanced Topics in Criminal Justice (SOC*4200). The successful candidates will also be given the opportunity to develop new courses in their area of specialization.

Applicants must demonstrate a willingness and ability to contribute to the mentoring of undergraduate and graduate students, to the Department’s collegial and collaborative intellectual community, and to College and University goals and priorities of equity, diversity, inclusion, and indigenization.

The anticipated start date is July 1, 2022.

Application Process:
Assessment of applications will begin on May 9, 2022 and will continue until the positions are filled. Interested applicants should submit the following materials (as a single PDF file): (1) a cover letter; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) a research statement; (4) a teaching dossier; and (5) the names and contact information of three references. Applications should be sent to the attention of:

Dr. Vivian Shalla, Interim Chair
Department of Sociology and Anthropology
University of Guelph
Guelph, ON N1G 2W1

Email: sachair@uoguelph.ca

All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

The University recognizes that applicants may have had obligations outside of work that have negatively impacted their record of achievements (e.g., parental, elder care, and/or medical). You are not required to disclose these obligations in the hiring process. If you choose to do so, the University will ensure that these obligations do not negatively impact the assessment of your qualifications for the position.

The University of Guelph resides on the ancestral lands of the Attawandaron people and the treaty lands and territory of the Mississaugas of the Credit and we offer our respect to our Anishinaabe, Haudenosaunee and Métis neighbours as we strive to strengthen our relationships with them.

At the University of Guelph, fostering a culture of inclusion (https://uoguel.ph/ox2p9) is an institutional imperative. The University of Guelph is committed to equity in its policies, practices, and programs, supports diversity in its teaching, learning and work environments, and ensures that applications for members of underrepresented groups are seriously considered under its employment equity policy. All qualified individuals who would contribute to the further diversification of the University community are encouraged to apply, particularly those from groups that have been traditionally underrepresented in employment, including scholars who are Black, Indigenous, members of racialized communities, persons with disabilities, persons who identify as 2SLGBTQ*, and women.

If you require a medical accommodation during the recruitment or selection process, please contact Occupational Health and Wellness at 519-824-4120 x52674.

Employer Description:
The Department of Sociology and Anthropology offers undergraduate degrees in Anthropology and Sociology, and graduate degrees in Anthropology (MA) and Sociology (MA, PhD). We also offer, in collaboration with the Department of Political Science, a BA in Criminal Justice and Public Policy, and an MA in Criminology and Criminal Justice Policy. The Department participates in other interdisciplinary programs such as Development Studies, One Health, and Indigenous Environmental Science and Practice. The College of Social and Applied Human Sciences is a national and international leader in promoting community engagement in research, teaching, and learning. The Department and the College support and welcome community engaged scholarship activities.

The University of Guelph is the third largest employer in Guelph, a city of approximately 130,000 people, located about an hour drive west of Toronto, Ontario. The University of Guelph is a top-ranked comprehensive university in Canada with an enrolment of over 30,000 undergraduate and graduate students across over 40 academic units. The University is known for its commitment to student learning, innovative research, and collaboration with world-class partners. It is a unique place, with transformative research and teaching and a distinctive campus culture. People who learn and work here are shaped and inspired by a shared purpose: To Improve Life. Reflecting that shared purpose in every experience connected to our university positions us to create positive change, here and around the world. Our University community shares a profound sense of social responsibility, a drive for international development, and an obligation to address global issues.
