Job 16489: Assistant or Associate Professor

Date Position is Available: Fall 2021

Listing Active: 8/31/2020 to 10/30/2020

Institution: Denison University
Department: Dept of Global Commerce
Region: Midwest
Title: Assistant or Associate Professor
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Assistant/Associate Professor
Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenure Track
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Social Organization , Global and Transnational Sociology
Salary Range: $60,000 - $69,999

Job Description:

The Global Commerce program at Denison University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant or associate professor level beginning in Fall 2021. Field of specialization for this position is social/cultural anthropology with a focus on economic or business anthropology, or sociology with a specialization in social organization and focus on business practices or structures. Global Commerce is a thriving, innovative interdisciplinary major that trains students to think critically and creatively about how global exchanges of goods, services, information, money, and structures of power shape and are shaped by a wide variety of economic, political, cultural, social, and environmental factors. Through the intentional integration of curricular and co-curricular learning experiences, Global Commerce majors learn to understand the complex dynamics of global commerce and to put their thinking into practice. Teaching responsibilities will include the introductory course in the major, Commerce and Society; the sophomore course, Elements of Commerce; the senior capstone course; and upper-level seminars investigating the historical, cultural, structural, and economic aspects of global business and organizations. (For details on our Global Commerce curriculum and course descriptions, please see: https://denison.edu/academics/global-commerce.) The teaching load is 5 courses per year, the largest of which is capped at 25 students.

Candidates must have an active research agenda related to the practices and/or structures of commerce, businesses, or non-profit organizations in a non-U.S. region of the world (and that region’s global connections). Applicants must also have teaching experience and superior teaching skills, a clearly articulated commitment to pursuing teaching and scholarship in an interdisciplinary and liberal arts setting, and an interest in contributing to the integration and synergy of our curricular and co-curricular programming within the major. Additional work experience in the business or non-profit sectors is strongly desired as a complement to academic expertise. Candidates from traditionally underrepresented backgrounds are encouraged to apply.

Preference will be given to candidates who demonstrate a commitment to foster a classroom and research environment that engages students from diverse backgrounds. Our commitment to being an antiracist, diverse and inclusive learning and working community is essential to our educational mission. For more information on ways we are committing to be a campus community dedicated to antiracism please see President Adam Weinberg’s statement denison.edu/campus/president/speeches/135388.

Denison, located 30 miles from the Columbus, OH, metropolitan area, is an increasingly diverse, highly selective, residential liberal arts college enrolling approximately 2300 students from across the nation and around the world. We are looking for a versatile colleague who appreciates the interdisciplinary nature of a small residential, undergraduate, liberal arts institution and the desire to explore the practical applications of liberal arts education. Denison values faculty who are successful and effective teachers, who develop active and productive research programs, and who are involved in the life of the college.

We will begin reviewing applications on October 30, 2020, and will continue to accept applications until the position is filled. After initial vetting of applications, the search committee will contact selected candidates to request a proposed syllabus for either our Commerce and Society (GC 101) or Elements of Commerce (GC 201) course. We will conduct our first-round Zoom interviews with prospective candidates in December. We expect candidates to have their PhD in hand by August 2021.

Applicants should submit the following electronic application materials on-line at employment.denison.edu: a cover letter that includes discussion of interest in our interdisciplinary approach to Global Commerce, commitment to liberal arts teaching, a brief description of the candidate’s research agenda, and a statement addressing their potential to foster and support antiracism, diversity and inclusion among our students, faculty, and community; curriculum vitae; a syllabus that demonstrates how the applicant would teach a global commerce-related topic; a writing sample; three letters of recommendation from academic references; and other supporting documents.

Denison University is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity Employer. To achieve our mission as a liberal arts college, we continually strive to foster a diverse campus community, which recognizes the value of all persons regardless of religion, race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, disability, or socioeconomic background. For additional information and resources about diversity at Denison please see our Diversity Guide at www.denison.edu/forms/diversity-guide.

Job Description:

SENIOR DATA ANALYST
JOB OPENING ID 337359

JOB DESCRIPTION
We’re seeking a senior data analyst to join our diverse team of research and information technology professionals. We are looking for smart, technically-minded people who enjoy working with data. For this position, we seek someone with a strong data-driven social science or public health background who enjoys quantitative analysis and demographic methods with a focus on fertility/reproductive health and/or population-environment interactions.

In this position you will support the use of Performance Monitoring for Action (PMA) data in the newly developed PMA Data Analysis Hub. The PMA surveys collect actionable data, both cross-sectional and longitudinal, on a variety of family planning topics that inform policies at national and sub-national levels.

You will develop detailed reports comparing and visualizing quantitative health data, respond to requests for data analysis, and use your critical thinking skills as they relate to data science for application to questions of health and development. A portion of your time will also be focused on project coordination for a number of smaller data analysis projects which includes tasks like organizing data across multiple quantitative data projects, scheduling activities, organizing timelines and deliverables for projects from multiple funding agencies, and coordination of team research activities.
RESPONSIBILITIES
Your primary focus will be producing publications and online white papers using and applying PMA data for science and policy. You will also spend time coordinating related analysis projects, as described below. Most of this research will employ data from countries in sub-Saharan Africa. For all of these tasks, you will work with the project lead and/or other research staff.

- Research and/or analysis projects (50%): You will prepare monthly comparative research reports and respond to requests for analysis. This work involves, summarizing, mapping/visualizing and analyzing data across time periods and over countries to create visually-appealing reports, which will be made available on the Internet. You will also respond to data analysis requests from the PMA data funder, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

Data management and code sharing (30%): For all projects, you will manage and organize quantitative data. For PMA project, you will document the statistical program code used to organize and analyze the data and share this code on Github. Documentation will include training materials so that the data are widely accessible for researchers of all experience levels.

Project coordination (20%): You will assist principal investigator in monitoring project deliverables and timelines for several smaller data analysis projects. This will include communicating across multiple project teams and coordinate schedules with students and postdoctoral researchers. You will also work closely with the principal investigator to manage communications for several different data analysis projects.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE
Please apply using the University of Minnesota’s online employment system humanresources.umn.edu/jobs and search job opening ID 337359. You may also apply directly at jobsearch.cla.umn.edu/337359. Application requirements include a resume, and a cover letter describing your interest and qualifications in the position. Questions concerning the application process may be addressed to Mia Riza, HR & Operations Manager, at isrdi-jobs@umn.edu.

Any offer of employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Our presumption is that prospective employees are eligible to work here. Criminal convictions do not automatically disqualify finalists from employment.

Applications will be reviewed beginning mid-September with an anticipated start date of Fall 2020.

The University of Minnesota shall provide equal access to and opportunity in its programs, facilities, and employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, gender, age, marital status, disability, public assistance status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression.

Employer Description:
IPUMS (ipums.org) makes the world’s largest collection of individual-level population and health survey data freely accessible online. Thousands of researchers use these data worldwide, and you can contribute to the development and enhancement of this public good. IPUMS is part of the Institute for Social Research and Data Innovation (isrdi.umn.edu), which includes the Minnesota Population Center (pop.umn.edu), the Life Course Center (lcc.umn.edu), and the Minnesota Research Data Center (mnrdc.umn.edu).

Diversity, equity, and inclusion are core values of our organization. We aspire to create a team that represents the diversity of our city, our region, and our world, and to create a space that encourages and embraces inclusiveness, equal opportunity, and respect. We strongly encourage women and members of under-represented groups to apply.

We are constantly pushing the boundaries of data processing and dissemination methods, and there is considerable opportunity for initiative and creativity for all members of the team.

Job 16437: Chair

Virginia Tech invites applications for a full-time, 12-month, tenure-track position as Department Chair in the Department of Sociology to start fall, 2021. The successful candidate must be tenurable at the rank of full professor. We seek an experienced administrator and scholar with a proven record of research excellence both in publications and in external funding.

A Ph.D. in sociology is required. Areas of research specialization are open. Administrative experience at the departmental or center level and experience with graduate programs at the doctoral level are preferred. In addition, the preferred candidate should be able to effectively lead and strategically advocate for a large department with diverse constituents, including three interdisciplinary programs, two research centers, and a high-growth major in criminology.

Located within the College of Liberal Arts and Human Sciences, the Department of Sociology is the academic home of programs in Africana Studies, American Indian Studies, and Women’s and Gender Studies, and houses the Center for Race and Social Policy Research and the Center for Peace Studies and Violence Prevention. Each of the programs and centers has a director appointed by the department chair.

The department grants the B.S degree at the undergraduate level with majors in sociology and criminology. We also offer six minors. We have approximately 700 majors, a large majority of whom are in criminology; and we have over 250 minors.

At the graduate level we offer the M.S., and Ph.D. degrees in sociology with options in Africana Studies and Women’s and Gender Studies. Currently we have 33 tenured or tenure-track faculty and 4 full-time instructors or collegiate faculty.

Virginia Tech recognizes the critical importance of diverse teams of scholars. It seeks to diversify its faculty along multiple dimensions, including those that have been historically marginalized and excluded given the institutional history and legacy of the university.

Virginia Tech does not discriminate against employees, students, or applicants on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, genetic information, veteran status, or any other basis protected by law: (http://www.vt.edu/about/equal-opportunity.html).

The application package should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research plan, and statement of administrative philosophy, along with a listing of three references that includes names, affiliation, and email addresses. Any additional material that cannot be submitted online should be sent to the Sociology Chair Search Committee, Department of Sociology, Virginia Tech, 560 McBryde Hall (0137), 225 Stanger St., Blacksburg VA 24061.

Employer Description:
Virginia Tech is a public land-grant university, committed to teaching and learning, research, and outreach to the Commonwealth of Virginia, the nation, and the world. Building on its motto of Ut Prosim (that I may serve), Virginia Tech is dedicated to InclusiveVT—serving in the spirit of community, diversity, and excellence. We seek candidates who adopt and practice the Principles of Community, which are fundamental to our ongoing efforts to increase access and inclusion and to create a community that nurtures learning and growth for all of its members. Virginia Tech actively seeks a broad spectrum of candidates to join our community in preparing leaders for the world.

Job Description:
Postdoctoral Prize Research Fellowships in Sociology (two posts)

Nuffield College intends to appoint with effect from 1 September 2021 or as soon as possible thereafter, two Postdoctoral Prize Research Fellows (PPRFs) in Sociology, broadly construed to include sociology, demography, social and medical statistics, public policy, and social policy. Applicants who wish to undertake interdisciplinary research in Sociology which includes Economics and/or Politics are also welcome to apply for the Fellowships. The College particularly encourages applications from candidates who work or plan to work in the field of one or more of the College’s Sociology Fellows.

The key responsibilities of the Research Fellows are to engage in advanced study and independent scholarly research in sociology broadly construed (as above); to disseminate research findings through publication and participation in conferences and seminars; and to take part in the intellectual life of the College by organising seminars, workshops, or conferences. Research Fellows may also undertake ad hoc paid teaching or supervision within the collegiate University, up to a maximum of 48 hours per year.

To be eligible, candidates should have completed, or be close to completing, a PhD/DPhil in a relevant field. Candidates must be within three years of the defence date (viva voce examination date) of their doctorate at the time of application. Allowances will be made for career breaks (for example, family-related leave) and candidates are asked to provide relevant information. Preference will be given to candidates who have not previously held a research fellowship similar to that advertised for more than one year at the time of taking up the fellowship. Prospective candidates should also have experience of carrying out independent research and a track record of excellent quality papers appropriate for and commensurate with their career level. They should have the willingness to contribute to the intellectual life of the College, and excellent oral and written communication skills.

The posts are full-time and fixed-term for three years, starting on 1 September 2021 or as soon as possible thereafter. The posts will be based at Nuffield College. The salary offered is GBP32,150 per annum (salary for 2019/20; the salary to be adjusted with effect from August 2020 following the agreement of the 2020/21 pay award). Subject to availability, Research Fellows may opt to rent single accommodation in College. Benefits include a research allowance and free lunch and dinner in College.
Further particulars, including information on how to apply, are available from the College website at https://www.nuffield.ox.ac.uk/media/4174/jd_socpprf2021.pdf

The deadline for applications is Monday 28 September 2020.

Job 16485: Assistant Professor in Sociology

Date Position is Available: Fall 2021

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 8/26/2020 to 10/25/2020

Institution: Susquehanna University
Department: Dept of Sociology & Anthropology
Region: All US Regions
Title: Assistant Professor in Sociology
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Assistant Professor
Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenure Track
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Criminal Justice, Law and Society
Salary Range: $50,000 - $59,999
Submission Link: https://jobs.susqu.edu/

Job Description:

Susquehanna University invites applications for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to start in August 2021. An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in sociology, with a research focus related to crime and criminal justice systems, is required. Additional expertise in the intersections of social justice and law and society are preferred, and expertise in issues of race, class, and gender will be particularly helpful. Demonstrated success or evidence of potential to excel in teaching and advising undergraduates in a small, residential liberal arts college is essential, as is ongoing scholarly productivity and institutional and departmental service. The candidate must be able to teach introductory classes in sociology, a quantitative research methods course, and upper-division electives in their field. They will also supervise senior capstone and other independent student research projects as necessary.

Please submit curriculum vitae, statement of teaching objectives and research interests, a statement on how the applicant will contribute to the university’s commitment to diversity and inclusion, including applicant’s knowledge of and experience with inclusive pedagogical practices in classroom teaching, advising, and mentoring, and three letters of recommendation online at https://jobs.susqu.edu/. Any inquiries should be sent to the department head, Dr. John Bodinger de Uriarte, bodinger@susqu.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 5, 2020.

Employer Description:

As a living, learning and working community, Susquehanna University affirms its commitment to being an engaged, culturally inclusive campus. As we seek to embody the rich diversity of the human community, we commit ourselves to the full participation of persons who represent the breadth of human difference. The university encourages candidates from historically underrepresented groups to apply. Susquehanna University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Susquehanna University is a national liberal arts college committed to excellence in educating students for productive, creative and reflective lives of achievement, leadership and service in a diverse, dynamic and interdependent world. Its more than 2,300 undergraduates come from 35 states and 22 countries, and all students study away through Susquehanna’s unique Global Opportunities program. Susquehanna University’s 325 acre campus, noted for its beauty, is located in Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, 50 miles north of Harrisburg in the scenic Susquehanna River Valley, about a three hour drive from Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and New York City. Job Description:

Position Description: The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP), Department of Sociology & Anthropology, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Sociology or related disciplines. The purpose of this position is (1) to contribute to our strengths in environmental justice issues, and (2) to augment our efforts to obtain a doctoral program for the department. All areas of Environmental Sociology will be considered, but we are especially interested in their effects on our areas of expertise in Latinx and/or indigenous communities, borders, and health disparities. The teaching load is 2-2. Faculty with research interests that will benefit from our primarily Latinx student population and evidence of successful grant acquisition are especially encouraged to apply.

Required Qualifications: A Ph.D. in Sociology or related field; published research; potential to attract external funding; and the ability to teach and direct graduate research, with a high level of productivity.

Application Instructions and Contact Information: Interested candidates must submit: 1) a letter summarizing qualifications and fit within the department and program; and 2) a current curriculum vitae. If you have any questions about the position, you may contact María Cristina Morales, Search Committee Chair, at mcmorales@utep.edu.

Application Review Date: Review of applications will begin October 16, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled. To apply, visit https://www.utep.edu/employment.

Hiring decisions are subject to budgetary approval.

In keeping with its Access and Excellence mission, The University of Texas at El Paso is committed to an open, diverse, and inclusive learning and working environment that honors the talents, respects the differences, and nurtures the growth and development of all.

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, or gender identity in employment or the provision of services in accordance with state and federal law. Discrimination on the basis of sex includes an employee’s or prospective employee's right to be free from sexual harassment under Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972.

Employer Description:

About UTEP: The University of Texas at El Paso is a comprehensive public research university that is increasing access to excellent higher education. UTEP enrolls more than 25,000 students in 167 bachelor’s, master’s and doctoral programs in 10 colleges and schools. It is one of the largest and most successful Hispanic-serving institutions in the country, with a student body that is over 80% Hispanic. UTEP advances discovery of public value and positively impacts the health, culture, education and economy of the community it serves. With more than $100 million in total annual research expenditures, the University is ranked among the top 5% of colleges and universities in research and fifth in Texas for federal research expenditures at public universities. It is also nationally recognized as a community-engaged university.

About El Paso: Set against the backdrop of the Franklin Mountains in the Chihuahuan Desert, The University of Texas at El Paso is located along the U.S.-Mexico border in one of the world’s largest binational communities. UTEP’s award-winning, sustainably designed campus landscape and unique Bhutanese architecture create an energizing and tranquil oasis in the bustling El Paso-Juárez metroplex of more than 2 million residents. El Paso is a highly livable, bicultural community of more than 800,000 people that offers affordable homes and attractive neighborhoods. It has been repeatedly named among the safest large U.S. cities. El Paso experiences almost 300 days of sunshine annually, and residents enjoy outdoor activities year-round. The City of El Paso is adjacent to the state of New Mexico and the country of Mexico, making it an ideal venue for academic programs and research studies on topics of border environment and immigration, environmental sustainability and infrastructure, and health disparities, among others.

About The Department: Set against the backdrop of the Franklin Mountains in the Chihuahuan Desert, The University of Texas at El Paso is located along the U.S.-Mexico border in one of the world's largest binational communities. The UTEP Department of Sociology & Anthropology is the historical home of the field of U.S.-Mexico Border Studies and had a major role in the growth of border studies as a global academic field. The department has 16 tenured and tenure-track faculty members in the fields of Sociology, Anthropology, and Geography. We have an active M.A. program and a vibrant research agenda especially concerned with Latinx Studies, U.S.-Mexico Border Studies, immigration, criminalization, environmental justice, social inequality (i.e. race/ethnicity, class, gender, and citizenship), health issues, and the U.S. Southwest.

Job 16484: Lecturer

Date Position is Available: Fall 2020
Application Deadline:
Listing Active: 8/25/2020 to 9/24/2020
Institution: University of Chicago
Department: Master of Arts Program in the Social Sciences
Region: Midwest
Title: Lecturer
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Lecturer
Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Tenure Track
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Quantitative Methodology, Teaching and Learning in Sociology
Salary Range: Negotiable
Submission Link: http://apply.interfolio.com/78188

Job Description:

Description

The Division of Social Sciences at the University of Chicago invites applications for a Lecturer (“Lecturer 2”) in the Master of Arts Program in Social Sciences (MAPSS, https://mapss.uchicago.edu), with specialization in survey methods.

This is a part-time position beginning Autumn 2020 with assigned responsibilities in all three quarters of the academic year. The initial one-year appointment is renewable.

The Lecturer will teach four introductory courses in survey research methods principally oriented to MAPSS students, advise MAPSS students on survey research design and guide them through early stages of designing a thesis project, and possibly serve as thesis advisor. Depending on the candidate’s qualifications, the Lecturer may be assigned other duties in lieu of one to two courses. Other duties may include: developing programmatic linkages between the MAPSS program and the University’s graduate Certificate in Survey Research; advising MAPSS students who are developing human subject research protocols for submission to the Social & Behavioral Sciences Institutional Review Board (SBS IRB); serving on the SBS IRB Board; developing and overseeing opportunities for MAPSS students to gain practical experience on survey research projects.

Applicants must have the PhD in Sociology or a related discipline. Prior graduate teaching experience is required. Preference will be given to candidates who have experience advising students with broad academic and professional interests, guiding students on their individual research and writing, and experience working on scholarly and/or administrative projects as a member of a team.

Applicants must apply online at the University of Chicago’s Interfolio website at http://apply.interfolio.com/78188. The following material must be submitted: 1) a cover letter outlining your prior training, teaching or mentoring experience, and suggested course offerings for the MAPSS program; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) an article-length writing sample that demonstrates your academic or professional writing abilities; 4) at least one course syllabus from prior teaching; 5) course evaluations or other evidence of past excellence in teaching or mentoring; and 6) the names and contact information for two faculty recommenders.

The review of applications will begin on September 26, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

This position will be part of the Service Employees International Union.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange.

Title: Postdoctoral Research Associate
Position/Rank: Fellowships/Post-docs: All, Academic Positions: All, Sociological Practice/Applied/Other: All
Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Applicable
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Open to All Specialty Areas, Quantitative Methodology
Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

The Department of Sociology at Princeton University seeks applicants for a postdoctoral research associate or a more senior position in the Eviction Lab. The Eviction Lab at Princeton University is an interdisciplinary and multi-generational research team who has built the first-ever national database of evictions in America. We have validated, mapped, and published our data through an interactive website (evictionlab.org). Successful candidates will have a Ph.D and a background in statistics, data science, economics, quantitative social science, and/or computer science. This is a one year term position with the possibility of renewal for a second year based on funding and satisfactory performance.

The Eviction Lab is currently working on a large number of studies on the prevalence, causes, and consequences of housing displacement. Postdoctoral researchers will have access to novel and very large datasets not publicly released. In the coming years, the Eviction Lab will begin several new initiatives, including a Joint Statistical Project with the U.S. Census, involving the merging of over 80 million eviction records with several administrative databases and an analysis of the restricted-use file of the American Housing Survey (2017), which will entail the first estimation of informal evictions in national perspective. We seek self-driven, creative thinkers with strong quantitative skills to work with a team of researchers to analyze large administrative data sets and coauthor papers reporting findings on housing instability, urban inequality, and public policy.

Successful candidates will be comfortable with management of large datasets and advanced statistical modeling or computer programming skills. Preference will be given to candidates who have demonstrated experience with causal methods for observational data, Bayesian hierarchical and spatial modeling, and/or machine learning. Previous experience working in a research team or lab is a plus. A working knowledge of the literature on housing instability and urban sociology is not required but useful; an intellectual interest in applying rigorous analysis techniques data to real-world problems is essential. Salary is competitive and is benefits-eligible. Applicants should submit a dossier online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/16121> including: (1) a complete vita, (2) a cover letter of interest, (3) names and contact information of up to three persons who can serve as references, (4) a writing sample that includes quantitative analysis. The application review deadline date is October 31, 2020. Materials submitted by regular mail or email will not be accepted. This position is subject to Princeton University's background check policy. Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Title: Assistant or Associate Professor: Sociology (tenure-track) and Tier 2 Canada Research Chair (CRC) in Sociology of Race and Ethnicity
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Assistant/Associate Professor, Academic Positions: Assistant Professor, Academic Positions: Associate Professor
Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenure Track
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Racial and Ethnic Relations, Race, Class and Gender
Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

The University of British Columbia (Vancouver Campus)
Department of Sociology
Assistant or Associate Professor: Sociology (tenure-track) and Tier 2 Canada Research Chair (CRC) in Sociology of Race and Ethnicity

The Department of Sociology in the Faculty of Arts at the University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for a tenure-stream faculty position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with the possibility of a Tier 2 Canada Research Chair (CRC) beginning July 1, 2021. The substantive area of specialization for this position is Race and/or Ethnicity.

An ideal candidate will be an emerging scholar who is active in their field of research and whose profile and research proposal both meets CRC program criteria and demonstrates an excellent fit with institutional strategic goals and the aims of the position. The CRC is a federally-funded professorship and part of a national strategy to make Canada one of the world’s top countries in research and development. The program invests $295 million per year to attract some of the world’s most accomplished scholars. Chairholders aim to achieve national and international excellence in research.

We expect applicants to have a Ph.D. in sociology at the time of appointment. For information about the Department, visit: http://sociology.ubc.ca/
The Canada Research Chairs Program supports outstanding researchers in areas that will further UBC’s strategic research plan. The successful candidate should remain eligible to hold a Tier 2 CRC following approximately 12-18 months from their proposed UBC appointment start date. All Chair nominations are subject to review and final approval by the CRC Secretariat.

Tier 2 chairs are intended for exceptional emerging scholars. Applicants who are more than 10 years from having earned their highest degree (and where career breaks exist, such as maternity, parental or extended sick leave, clinical training, etc.) may have their eligibility for a Tier 2 chair assessed through the program’s Tier 2 justification process. Please consult the Canada Research Chairs website for full program information, including further details on eligibility criteria: www.chairs-choirs.gc.ca and http://www.chairs-choirs.gc.ca/program-programme/nomination-mise_en_candidature-eng.aspx.

In accordance with UBC’s CRC Equity, Diversity, & Inclusion Action Plan, and pursuant to Section 42 of the BC Human Rights code, the selection will be restricted to members of the following designated groups: women, visible minorities (members of groups that are racially categorized), persons with disabilities, and Indigenous Peoples. Applicants to Canada Research Chair positions are asked to complete this equity survey https://ubc.ca1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_6WJHo17SfpRxRMu9 as part of the application, and candidates from these groups must self-identify as belonging to one or more of the designated equity groups to be considered for the position. Because the search is limited to those self-identifying as members of designated equity groups, candidates must also provide their name to be considered.

Personal information is collected under the authority of sections 26(a) and 26(c) of the BC Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act. The information you provide will only be used to determine whether you qualify for participation in this hiring process. Data will be collected by the Equity & Inclusion Office and only the names of those who identify as women, visible minorities (member of groups that are racially categorized) and/or Indigenous peoples will be shared with the search committee. Currently, UBC has a gap in representation for people with disabilities. Until such time as this is remedied, the names of those self-identifying as having a disability will be provided separately to the search committee. Responses will be stored in a secure database.

Application materials are to be submitted online at the following link: https://soci.air.arts.ubc.ca/race-ethnicity-crc/. We ask interested individuals to submit the following materials: (1) a CV; (2) a cover letter describing their interest in the position as well as a description of their research and teaching record and future plans; (3) a separate one-page statement identifying the applicant’s contributions, or potential contributions, to equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) along with their ability to work with a culturally diverse and international student body; (4) two sample publications; (5) a brief statement of teaching philosophy and effectiveness and one course syllabus; and (6) Candidates should also request to have three referees send confidential supporting letters. Referee letters should be sent to soci.head(at)ubc.ca while indicating both the search area, “Race and Ethnicity,” and the applicant’s name in the subject line.

In assessing applications, UBC recognizes the legitimate impact that leaves (e.g., maternity or parental leave, leave due to illness) can have on a candidate’s record of research achievement. These leaves will be taken into careful consideration during the assessment process.

Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2020 and will continue until the position are filled. Virtual interviews are likely. This position is subject to final budgetary approval. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

UBC welcomes and encourages applications from persons with disabilities. Accommodations are available on request for all candidates taking part in all aspects of the selection process. To confidentially request accommodations, please contact Professor Guy Stecklov at soci.head(at)ubc.ca.

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an inclusive and equitable work environment for all members of its workforce, and in particular, for its employees with disabilities. An inclusive work environment for employees with disabilities presumes an environment where differences are accepted, recognized, and integrated into current structures, planning, and decision-making modes.

For contact information regarding UBC’s accommodation and access policies and resources (for faculty and staff as well as students), please visit the Centre for Accessibility: https://facultystaff.students.ubc.ca/student-development-services/centre-accessibility/faculty-and-staff-disabilities.

Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. The UBC Vancouver campus is on the traditional, unceded territory of the Musqueam people.

Job 16472: Assistant, Associate, or Professor of Sexuality, Women's and Gender Studies (Gender, Science, and Technology Studies)

Date Position is Available: Fall 2021

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 8/19/2020 to 9/18/2020

Institution: Amherst College
Department: Sexuality, Women's and Gender Studies

Region: Northeast

Title: Assistant, Associate, or Professor of Sexuality, Women's and Gender Studies (Gender, Science, and Technology Studies)

Position/Rank: Open

Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Applicable

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Sex and Gender, Race, Class and Gender

Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

The Amherst College Department of Sexuality, Women's and Gender Studies invites applications for a full-time tenure-track or tenured appointment in the field of gender, science, and technology studies that will begin on July 1, 2021. This is an open-rank search. Amherst College is one of the most diverse liberal arts colleges in the country. Forty-five percent of our students identify as domestic students of color, and another 9 percent are international, with non-U.S. citizenship; 14 percent are the first members of their families to attend college. Amherst is committed to providing financial aid that meets 100 percent of every student’s demonstrated need, and 57 percent of our students receive financial aid. Our expectation is that the successful candidate will excel at teaching and mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

We seek candidates whose scholarship and teaching make a creative and interdisciplinary intervention in science policy, medicine, and/or technology as they intersect in a global context with gender, race, and sexuality. Topics that candidates could address include (but are not limited to) the following: the role of race and gender in environmental policy and health care reform; the gendered dimensions of scientific and medical developments and controversies (e.g., surrogate motherhood, sex-selective abortion, medical tourism, HIV/AIDS, maternal/infant health); transgender health, identity, and rights; and contestations over reproductive rights (e.g., queer reproduction, and sex and gender reassignment). Although teaching and collaborating with lab scientists is encouraged, the successful candidate will not have the opportunity to conduct a laboratory-based research program. Candidates from the social sciences are especially encouraged to apply.

An appointment at the assistant, or, possibly, the associate professor rank will be tenure track. A senior appointment will be with tenure. Any appointment with tenure will be contingent upon a positive tenure review.

To apply, please submit electronically to https://apply.interfolio.com/77738 a letter of application, a CV, one writing sample not to exceed thirty pages, a teaching statement and three letters of recommendations. Review of applications will begin September 25, 2020, and continue until the position is filled. Candidates must have the Ph.D. degree in hand or all requirements for the degree fulfilled by the start of the appointment.

Inquiries may be directed to Stephanie Orion (sorion@amherst.edu), academic department coordinator, Department of Sexuality, Women’s and Gender Studies.

The department, founded in 1987, is committed to inclusion, diversity, and a high standard of interdisciplinary scholarship and instruction. We benefit from our location in the Connecticut River Valley, which boasts one of the largest concentrations of women’s studies scholars in the world, and includes Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts. We maintain linkages with the Five College Women’s Studies Research Center and offer Five College certificates in reproductive health, rights and justice, and queer, transgender, and sexuality studies.

Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college with 1,800 students and more than two hundred faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst College has taken a leadership role among highly selective liberal arts colleges and universities in successfully diversifying its student body.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Job Description:

Join our team of researchers working to reduce unnecessary pretrial detention.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

Under the supervision of a project director, research assistants are responsible for:

- Collecting and organizing data
- Checking and solving data quality issues
- Assisting in computerized data analysis
- Preparing statistical tables and graphics
- Writing memoranda and short reports

CJA offers a diverse and friendly work environment with opportunities to utilize and improve your skills in statistical research, and to learn about the criminal justice system.

QUALIFICATIONS:

Applicants must have a BA/BS, preferably in a social science (sociology, criminal justice, political science, psychology, economics) with a strong interest in criminal justice and some relevant experience. Preference will be given to applicants with course work in research methods and statistical analysis.

The successful applicant will be a detail-oriented person with strong problem-solving skills, excellent written and spoken communication skills, and experience with statistical (SPSS) and word processing (MS Word) software. Familiarity with additional MS Office software (e.g. Excel, Access) or other relevant computer applications, and/or an aptitude for computer programming and data visualization are highly desirable. Ability to work in an open workspace is essential.

Note: Due to the nationwide pandemic CJA has implemented remote working for most staff. While it is uncertain what phase NYC will be in at the time of hire, the successful hire must be willing to assume responsibilities that are both remote and on-site; this includes access to your own personal computer and internet.
All applicants must include a cover letter describing their qualifications for and interest in the position along with a resume.

SALARY: $48K

BENEFITS: CJA offers a very generous benefit plan including health, dental and vision insurance, a comprehensive mental health and wellness (EAP) plan, four weeks’ vacation, paid holidays and a retirement plan with employer matching contributions. CJA is also strongly committed to professional learning and development for its staff members and offers staff varied opportunities for learning and development through partnerships and vendor services for web based, in-person professional development training, as well as in-house job training and development.

Applications are reviewed as they arrive. Closing date for this position is August 31, 2020

Note: Only applicants under consideration will be contacted. No phone calls please.

Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

The University of British Columbia (Vancouver Campus)
Department of Sociology
Assistant or Associate Professor: Sociology, with focus on Computational Social Sciences

The Department of Sociology in the Faculty of Arts at the University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for a tenure-stream faculty position in computational social science, as an Assistant or Associate Professor.

An ideal candidate will be a Sociologist offering intellectual leadership in this exciting new area of scholarship. Candidates should explain how they can help to further develop computational social science research and training within Sociology at UBC. All candidates should be engaged in methodologically advanced work with “big” or innovative data structures and show an ability and interest in training students in computational methods.

The appointment is expected to begin July 1, 2021. We expect applicants to have a Ph.D. in sociology or a cognate social science discipline at the time of appointment and a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. For information about the Department, visit: http://sociology.ubc.ca/.

We ask interested individuals to submit the following online at: https://soci.air.arts.ubc.ca/computationalprof-hiring2020/

- a CV;
- a detailed cover letter describing their interest in the position with a strong emphasis on their research achievements, longer term aims in the field, and their fit with the department;
- a separate one-page statement identifying the applicant’s contributions, or potential contributions, to equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) along with their ability to work with a culturally diverse and international student body;

- evidence of teaching effectiveness (teaching evaluation scores/reports, sample course materials, examples of curriculum development, etc.);

- and three sample publications.

Candidates at the Assistant Professor level should also request to have three referees send confidential reference letters while candidates at the Associate Professor level may request these letters to be sent after notification of their inclusion on the long list. Referee letters should be sent to soci.head(at)ubc.ca while indicating both the search area, “Computational social science,” and the applicant’s name in the subject line.

Review of applications will begin on September 14, 2020. This position is subject to final budgetary approval. Interviews will most likely be conducted remotely. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Métis, Inuit, or Indigenous person. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority. The UBC Vancouver campus is on the traditional, unceded territory of the Musqueam people.

Employer Description:
The University of British Columbia is a globally-acclaimed institution that ranks among the top 30 universities in the world. We rank in the top two Sociology departments in Canada. The university is situated in Vancouver, which is routinely included in lists of the top five most livable cities in the world. It is renowned for its mild year-round climate, innovative urban design, emphasis on the environment and sustainability, extensive cultural and cosmopolitan offerings, ethnic diversity, and spectacular natural beauty set among the coastal mountains and the Pacific Ocean.

A PhD is required by time of appointment.

The review process will begin September 7th, 2020, but screening will continue until the positions are filled and/or department needs are met, with a final closing date of February 15th, 2021. Screening of applicants is ongoing and will continue as needed. The pool will close on February 15th, 2021; if you would like to continue to be considered after that time, and the pooled position is advertised again, you will need to submit a new application.

Appointments will be effective for Winter quarter and/or Spring quarter. Salary will be based on UCI salary scales and qualifications.

Please note: The department maintains a lecture pool from which we draw lecturers as our needs arise; a position in the pool doesn’t guarantee an offer to teach a course, nor does it obligate a pool member to accept the department’s offer to teach a class.

Questions about the position may be directed to the Sociology Department Manager, Maryann Zovak-Wieder, mzovak@uci.edu, or the Department Analyst, Alysha Casado, acasado@uci.edu. For more information on UCI Sociology, see www.sociology.uci.edu.

Job Description:

The Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS) announces a search for a tenure track faculty position to be filled by September 1, 2021. Appointment will be at the Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor rank, depending upon the finalist’s level of experience.

Applicants must have (or be in the process of obtaining) a PhD in sociology or a related social science discipline. Application materials must indicate the PhD completion date or expected completion date. Candidates must have the required degree by time of hire. Successful candidates should have expertise in medical sociology and health equity, and computational social sciences or health services research. Preference will be given to those who are able to teach sociological theory. Candidates should demonstrate excellence in teaching and research, including an established portfolio or promise of externally funded research. Candidates at the senior level must be willing and able to contribute to the leadership of the department, through periodic rotation to the Department Chair position.

For full consideration, applications should be submitted online at the link at the bottom of this ad; review of applications will begin on September 15, 2020. A complete application will include a cover letter that includes statements of research and teaching, a curriculum vitae, a statement of contributions to diversity, and copies of key publications and recent course syllabi. In addition, please provide names and email addresses for three references; letters of reference will be requested at a later date for finalists. Questions may be directed to Howard Pinderhughes (howard.pinderhughes@ucsf.edu) and Kristen Harknett (kristen.harknett@ucsf.edu), Search Committee Co-Chairs.

The Doctoral Program in Sociology at UCSF offers a unique PhD program, and one of the most in-depth curricula in the U.S., focused on the sociology of health, illness, medicine, and healthcare systems. It is a doctoral level program only; UCSF does not have an undergraduate student population. The principal aim of the Doctoral Program in Sociology is to educate students interested in professional careers as sociologists in academic and/or applied contexts. The Doctoral Program in Sociology is one of the top graduate sociology programs in the U.S., ranked 6th-20th by the National Research Council in 2010. Additionally, UCSF ranks among the top (16th) global universities for social science and public health. UCSF is one of few institutions solely dedicated to the study of health both domestically and globally. See http://sociology.ucsf.edu for additional information.

Please apply online at https://aprecruit.ucsf.edu/JPF03051.
Employer Description:

The Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences houses the Doctoral Program in Sociology, and is one of four departments in the School of Nursing. The Department also includes Doctoral and Master’s programs in nursing and health policy, whose aims are to educate students interested in academic careers in nursing with an emphasis on the study of health and public policies. While the successful candidate’s primary responsibility will be to the Doctoral Program in Sociology, they may also be asked to teach and advise in the health policy programs.

UC San Francisco seeks candidates whose experience, teaching, research, or community service has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence. The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. The Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences has a strong commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff, and is particularly interested in candidates who have a demonstrated commitment and experience in improving access to higher education for disadvantaged students.

Job 16466: Tenure-Track faculty position in Law & Liberal Arts

Yale-NUS College is a highly selective liberal arts college in Singapore. Co-founded by Yale University and the National University of Singapore, the College is committed to excellence in research and teaching in a full residential programme that integrates living and learning. Its curriculum educates students in Asian and Western intellectual traditions as well as current scientific thought. A student body of 1000 undergraduates from over 60 countries engages with 100 outstanding faculty from around the world through small classes and hands-on research. Students and faculty also have access to the wider resources of two world-leading research universities.

The College invites outstanding applications for at least one tenure-track position in the social sciences. Candidates would teach in the Double-degree Programme in Law and Liberal Arts.

Applicants should have a PhD in a relevant field, such as law and society, sociology, anthropology, politics, or history (a law degree is not expected) and demonstrate an outstanding track record for their career stage in the interdisciplinary study of law, such as (but not limited to) law and society, sociology of law, anthropology of law, law and courts, or legal history. In particular, we welcome applicants who can teach qualitative methods for interdisciplinary research on law and modules in Yale-NUS’s flagship common curriculum (http://www.yale-nus.edu.sg/curriculum/common-curriculum), such as Comparative Social Inquiry and Modern Social Thought.

The appointee will be expected to begin duties in August 2021 in time for the start of the 2021-2022 academic year.

Faculty receive internationally competitive salaries and start-up grants as well as a yearly travel and research allowance, and are able to access additional funding from Yale-NUS, the National University of Singapore and Singapore’s Ministry of Education. Most faculty qualify for highly subsidized faculty housing. Yale-NUS College is located in Singapore, a multicultural city of six million at the heart of a vibrant region.

Application Procedure

Applications should consist of the following: a cover letter explaining why the position at Yale-NUS is of interest; a full curriculum vitae, including a complete list of publications; statements on research interests, teaching experience and teaching philosophy, including how these might fit with the College’s particular mission and curriculum; and three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS).

Applications should be submitted via https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS.

Review of applications begins 1 October 2020 and continue until the positions are filled.

General enquiries should be made to the Social Sciences Divisional Manager at Enquiry_SocialSciencesDiv@yale-nus.edu.sg.

Equal Opportunity Employer

Yale-NUS College achieves excellence through the diversity of its students, faculty, and staff and by embracing inclusivity, equity and global engagement. We encourage applications by diverse individuals with a demonstrated commitment to these values. For more information about the College, please visit https://www.yale-nus.edu.sg.

Personal Data Protection Act (PDPA)

Candidates should understand that by sharing information with Yale-NUS, they authorise the College to use their personal data for the purposes of this application. The College will not use their data for other purposes and ensure that their data remains secure and confidential.

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Race, Class and Gender
Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:
The Department of sociology invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment at the assistant professor level beginning fall 2021. We seek scholars who have teaching and research expertise in race and ethnicity. Applicants should have a Ph.D. or equivalent in Sociology or a related field before the appointment begins. The successful qualified candidate will be appointed initially as a Faculty Fellow, a two-year residential postdoctoral appointment. After this two-year period, the position will convert to a regular tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. Faculty Fellows are part of a cohort of faculty committed to increasing diversity in their disciplines. Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including but not limited to: racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first generation college graduates. Applicants should state in their cover letter how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth’s commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Job 16460: Postdoctoral Scholar

Position: Postdoctoral Scholar

Institution: Vanderbilt University

Department: LGBT Policy Lab

Region: South

Salary Range: $60,000 - $69,999

Description:

POSTDOCTORAL POSITIONS AT VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY WITH THE VANDERBILT LGBT POLICY LAB

The Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab seeks postdoctoral scholars in LGBT Policy Studies (broadly defined). The ideal candidate is an empirical social scientist who has an interest in studying the causes and consequences of LGBT-related public policies (e.g., same-sex marriage, non-discrimination, ‘bathroom bills’, religious freedom exemptions, and others) on a range of social, economic, political, health, education, and demographic outcomes. Experience with programming in STATA and handling large datasets is required. A PhD in demography, economics, education, health services research, law/jurisprudence, LGBT studies, political science, public health, health policy, public policy, sociology, or a related field is required.

Please note that while the administrative home of these postdoctoral appointments will be in the Department of Economics, we invite applications from and plan to hire researchers in multiple disciplines.

Responsibilities include:

1. Carrying out an active research program focusing on LGBT policies and populations, including solo publications and joint papers with Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab faculty.
2. Co-developing and co-teaching a course on LGBT policies and advocacy to be co-taught with a Vanderbilt faculty member over the course of the fellowship.
3. Attending a monthly colloquium series on LGBT policies and populations.
4. Attending and helping to coordinate and facilitate an academic conference on LGBT policies and populations to be held at Vanderbilt in Spring 2022.
5. Serving as a liaison to campus and community leaders on LGBT policy topics.

With generous funding from a Vanderbilt Trans-Institutional Programs Reinvestment Award (http://vanderbilt.edu/strategicplan/trans-institutional-programs/tipshome.php), the Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab brings together Vanderbilt experts from multiple units including: economics; education; divinity; health policy; law; medicine; MHS; political science; religious studies; gender and sexuality studies; and sociology. Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab Faculty have secured over $3 million in external funding to support research on LGBT policies and populations. Our faculty’s research has been published... in journals such as the Harvard Law Review, Industrial and Labor Relations Review, and The New England Journal of Medicine; covered by NBC, the New York Post, and the Washington Post; and cited in Supreme Court decisions on marriage equality and LGBT employment nondiscrimination. Our goal is to compete for NIH LGBT-focused population center funding in 5-7 years.

All postdoctoral scholars will be supervised by Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab Director Kitt Carpenter and one or more faculty mentors depending on discipline. For example, while candidates with economics PhDs will work closely with PI Kitt Carpenter, candidates with education PhDs may work more closely with Co-Investigators Luis Leyva or Matthew Shaw; candidates with sociology PhDs may work more closely with Co-Investigators Tara McKay or Rachel Donnelly; and candidates with public health or health policy PhDs may work more closely with Co-Investigator Gilbert Gonzales.

The one-year fellowships will begin 7/1/2021 (or possibly earlier if mutually agreeable), with an initial end date of 6/30/2022, and carry the possibility of a one-year renewal. [Our strong preference is for candidates to be able to spend both AY 21-22 and 22-23 at Vanderbilt.] Each position carries a twelvemonth salary of $65,000, office space, health insurance, and eligibility for other benefits (https://gradschool.vanderbilt.edu/postdoctoral/postdoctoral-scholars/benefits.php). These in-residence positions require a physical presence in Nashville for the term of the fellowship.

Applicants should provide a cover letter describing interesting in the position and future research plans, CV, a research paper, and three references at: https://apply.interfolio.com/77119. Applications will be reviewed immediately and until the positions are filled.

Employer Description:
Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional scholars. Women, minorities, and members of other underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Vanderbilt University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer.

Job Description:

Challenges of Multi-Ethnic Democracy, Race, Inequality

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at any rank (Assistant, Associate, or Full Professors) who focus on the dynamics of race and ethnicity, class and inequality, migration, group identities (including gender and sexuality), community and urban dynamics, and forms of structural inequality in shaping, interacting with, making possible, and challenging the realization of democracy in global contexts and the U.S. We define these terms broadly and seek scholars from a range of disciplines.

Qualifications

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute. Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

Application Instructions

Applicants should apply online and submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications. Junior applicants without well-established publication records should also submit three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2020 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2021.

Employer Description:

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university’s Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The university is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the university’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Job Description:

Social Cognition/Political Psychology

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at any rank (Assistant, Associate, or Full Professors) who focus on social cognition or political psychology. We seek scholars from a range of disciplines examining the cognitive and psychological foundations of social and collective behavior, especially as it relates to questions about civic engagement and inclusive discourse across the globe or in the U.S.

This search is part of a broader initiative at Johns Hopkins University to expand expertise in social cognition within the Department of Psychological and Brian Sciences and in other departments. Faculty hired to the SNF Agora Institute, however, can sit in any department in the university.

Qualifications

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute. Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

Application Instructions

Applicants should apply online and submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications. Junior applicants without well-established publication records should also submit three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2020 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2021.

Employer Description:

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university’s Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The university is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the university’s goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Job 16452: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF SOCIOLOGY & ANTHROPOLOGY

Date Position is Available: Fall 2021
Application Deadline:
Listing Active: 8/10/2020 to 10/9/2020
Institution: Kalamazoo College
Department: Dept of Anthropology & Sociology
Region: Midwest
Title: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF SOCIOLOGY & ANTHROPOLOGY
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Assistant Professor
Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenure Track
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Political Sociology, Quantitative Methodology
Salary Range: Negotiable
Submission Link:
Job Description:

Kalamazoo College invites applications for a tenure track position at the assistant professor level in the Anthropology and Sociology Department. A focus on international political ecology and the ability to teach a quantitative research methods course are required. As a truly joint department, all courses offered seek to blur the boundaries between the two disciplines.

The successful candidate will demonstrate a high aptitude for and interest in undergraduate teaching, including contributing to the College’s “Shared Passages” core curriculum (first-year, sophomore, and senior seminars), a commitment to the liberal arts, and a desire to involve undergraduates in scholarship both in and out of the classroom. Ph.D. in Sociology or a related discipline (or evidence it will be completed by September 1, 2021) is required. We especially encourage applications from candidates whose intellectual and pedagogical approaches will be effective in attracting and retaining underrepresented students. The successful applicant will demonstrate a strong commitment to working with students, faculty and staff from diverse social, cultural and economic backgrounds. Salary is competitive and consistent with level of experience. Kalamazoo College is on the trimester system and the teaching load is two courses per trimester.

Kalamazoo College, home of the Arcus Center for Social Justice Leadership, is a highly selective, nationally known liberal arts college of approximately 1,450 motivated students, offering an integrated undergraduate experience that weaves a traditional liberal arts curriculum into domestic and international educational experiences (www.kzoo.edu). The campus is located midway between Chicago and Detroit, and the Kalamazoo area encompasses a community of 335,000, which supports several college and university campuses along with numerous civic arts and cultural associations. Thirty-five miles from Lake Michigan, the area offers many opportunities for outdoor activities.

Completed applications received by October 1, 2020, will receive full consideration, with later applications reviewed as needed until the position is filled. Submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed statement of teaching philosophy and goals, description of scholarly interests, a diversity and inclusion statement, and undergraduate and graduate transcripts (unofficial acceptable) in PDF format at www.kzoo.edu/search/anso.
Please have three confidential letters of recommendation sent in PDF format to ansoSearch@kzoo.edu, with subject line lastname_firstname. For more information about the College, see our home page at www.kzoo.edu and department web site at https://reason.kzoo.edu/anso/. Kalamazoo College encourages candidates who will contribute to the cultural diversity of the College to apply and to identify themselves if they wish. Equal Opportunity Employer.

Salary Range: $70,000 - $79,999
Submission Link: < a href='https://fellows.uchicago.edu' target='_blank'>https://fellows.uchicago.edu

Job Description:

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/humanities-course-descriptions

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach in five of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Global Society; and Social Science Inquiry. Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence. European Civilization is taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents.

For a description of these sequences see: https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/social-sciences-course-descriptions

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2021. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the third year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design an independent course and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. The position comes with a minimum annual salary for 2021-22 of $72,307.80, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $5,000. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2021.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at https://fellows.uchicago.edu. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 26, 2020.

The terms and conditions of this position are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.
Important deadlines:

Deadline for receipt of letters of recommendations: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 30, 2020. This includes letters of recommendation from your three recommenders or those received from a dossier service.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at http://www.uchicago.edu/about/non_discrimination_statement/.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:
Faculty Position in Environment, Climate Change and Peace

Location: Notre Dame, IN

Open Date:
Jul 31, 2020

Deadline: Oct 15, 2020 at 11:59 PM Eastern Time

Description:
The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenured/tenure-track position in climate change, environment and peace studies, based at the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies (https://kroc.nd.edu/). Rank is open though preference would be given to junior and mid-career candidates. The disciplinary and regional specialization for the position is open. While the primary appointment is at the Keough School, the successful candidate could also have an affiliation with another School or College at the University of Notre Dame.

We welcome candidates working on one or more of the following themes:

• conflict resolution as it relates to the environment, natural resources and climate change
• environmental justice and social transformation
• violence induced by climate change and environmental degradation

The successful applicant is expected to play a leading role in the Kroc Institute's plans for developing a research and teaching focus on climate change and environment as they relate to conflict and peace. They would be part of a growing community of scholars within the Keough School (https://keough.nd.edu) working on environmental policy in a global context. We encourage applications from scholars who can engage in interdisciplinary research and teaching, thereby contributing to the integrative mission of the Keough School. We particularly welcome scholars whose research has direct relevance to the peacebuilding practice and policy.
Qualifications:

To apply, visit https://apptrkr.com/1970915.

This appointment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Applicants will be asked to identify all felony convictions and/or pending felony charges. Felony convictions do not automatically bar an individual from employment. Each case will be examined separately to determine the appropriateness of employment in the particular position. Failure to be forthcoming or dishonesty with respect to felony disclosures can result in the disqualification of a candidate. The full procedure can be viewed at https://facultyhandbook.nd.edu/?id=link-73597.

Equal Opportunity Employment Statement

The University of Notre Dame seeks to attract, develop, and retain the highest quality faculty, staff and administration. The University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and is committed to building a culturally diverse workplace. We strongly encourage applications from female and minority candidates and those candidates attracted to a university with a Catholic identity. Moreover, Notre Dame prohibits discrimination against veterans or disabled qualified individuals, and requires affirmative action by covered contractors to employ and advance veterans and qualified individuals with disabilities in compliance with 41 CFR 60-741.5(a) and 41 CFR 60-300.5(a).

Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenured

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Public Policy

Salary Range: $100,000 - $109,999

Job Description:

CFR Call for 2021-2022 Fellowship Applications

The Council on Foreign Relations is seeking fellowship applicants for the 2021-2022 academic year. The programs offer unique opportunities, domestic and abroad, for mid and senior career U.S. citizens who have a demonstrated commitment to a career in foreign policy. Selected fellows broaden their perspective of foreign affairs either by pursuing work in a policymaking setting or research in an academic environment. Application Deadline: October 31, 2020

International Affairs Fellowship (IAF)

Established in 1967, the IAF is the hallmark fellowship program of CFR. It aims to bridge the gap between the study and making of U.S. foreign policy by creating the next generation of scholar-practitioners. The program offers its fellows the unique chance to experience a new field and gain a different perspective at a pivotal moment in their careers. Academics are thus placed in public service and policy-oriented settings, while government officials are placed in scholarly settings.

Over the years, the IAF program has produced approximately six hundred alumni that span the who's who of the U.S. foreign policy community, including a former secretary and several undersecretaries of state, U.S. ambassadors to NATO and the United Nations, and many other influential leaders in government, academia, and the private sector. The duration of the fellowship is twelve months, preferably beginning in September. The program awards a stipend of $105,000.

IAF in Canada, sponsored by Power Corporation of Canada

Launched in 2016, the IAF in Canada, sponsored by Power Corporation of Canada, seeks to strengthen mutual understanding and cooperation between rising generations of leaders and thinkers in the United States and Canada. The program provides for one to two mid-career professionals per year to spend six to twelve months hosted by a Canadian institution to deepen their knowledge of Canada. Fellows are drawn from academia, business, government, media, NGOs, and think tanks. The duration of the fellowship is between six and twelve months. The program awards a stipend of $95,000 for a period of twelve months (or a prorated stipend if the duration is less than twelve months) as well as a modest travel allowance.
The International Affairs Fellowship (IAF) in India, with a grant contributed by Bharti, seeks to strengthen mutual understanding and cooperation between rising generations of leaders and thinkers in the United States and India. The program provides for one to four mid-career U.S. professionals who have had little or no substantial prior experience in India, the opportunity to spend three to twelve months conducting research and working in India. The duration of the fellowship is between three and twelve months. The program awards a stipend of $90,000 for a period of twelve months (or a prorated amount if the duration is shorter) as well as a modest travel allowance.

The International Affairs Fellowship (IAF) in Japan, sponsored by Hitachi, Ltd., seeks to strengthen mutual understanding and cooperation between the rising generations of leaders in the United States and Japan. The program provides a select group of midcareer professionals the opportunity to carry out research while affiliated with appropriate institutions in Japan, and to establish long-term professional and personal ties through their activities. Fellows are drawn from academia, business, government, media, NGOs, and think tanks. Knowledge of Japanese is not a requirement. The duration of the fellowship is between three and twelve months. The program awards a stipend in yen, which covers travel and living expenses in Japan.

The IAF in International Economics, sponsored by Kimberly Querrey, provides the next generation of economic scholars and business economist hands-on experience in the policymaking field. Through the program, fellows expand their range of thinking and apply their work to international economic policy. Possible host placements for the fellowship include but are not limited to the U.S. Department of the Treasury, U.S. Department of Commerce, the Federal Reserve Bank, and relevant parts of the U.S. Department of State and the White House. The duration of the fellowship is 6 to 9 months, and a stipend in the range of $150,000 to $180,000 is awarded along with relocation assistance.

The International Affairs Fellowship (IAF) for Tenured International Relations Scholars offers tenured academics from a variety of scholarly backgrounds practical experience in the foreign policy-making field through placement at a U.S. government agency, in Congress, or with an international organization. The fellowship is geared toward professors who propose to work on peace and security issues and who have limited experience working at a U.S. government agency, in Congress, or at an international organization. The fellowship is for twelve months. Selected fellows will begin their one-year fellowship between June and September 2021. Fellows must arrange a paid sabbatical with their home universities. The program will match 50 percent of the fellow’s base salary for the academic year at their university (up to a maximum of $80,000 for the year) as well as provide modest assistance for moving expenses for those who need to relocate for the fellowship.

How to Apply: For more information on each program and application instructions, please visit CFR’s website (www.cfr.org/fellowships). If you have additional questions, please contact fellowships@cfr.org.

Job 16446: Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Public Management and Criminal Justice

Date Position is Available: Fall 2021

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 8/6/2020 to 9/5/2020

Institution: The Ohio State University
Department: John Glenn College of Public Affairs
Region: Midwest
Title: Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Public Management and Criminal Justice
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Assistant/Associate Professor
Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenure Track
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Criminal Justice, Public Policy
Salary Range: Negotiable
Submission Link: Glenn-CriminalJustice@osu.edu

Job Description:

The John Glenn College of Public Affairs at The Ohio State University (OSU) welcomes applications and nominations for a tenure-track faculty position (at the assistant/associate professor level) in Public Management and Criminal Justice. We especially encourage applications from scholars who study topics such as policing, police-community relations, criminal justice reform, mass incarceration, drug enforcement policy, courts, criminal law, or public law. We welcome scholars employing a variety of methodological approaches including but not limited to the analysis of large-N data, ethnography, experiments, interpretive and critical research methods, simulations, and surveys.

This position will be affiliated with the newly created Drug Enforcement and Policy Center, housed at OSU’s Moritz College of Law. Successful applicants will be motivated to participate in collaborative research with the Drug Enforcement and Policy Center. We encourage developing interdisciplinary research projects with faculty members and criminal justice researchers in other units of the University including but not limited to the Kirwan Institute for the Study of Race and Ethnicity and the Criminal Justice Research Center.

The position begins in the fall of 2021. Salary will be commensurate with the candidate’s experience and qualifications. Applicants must have completed all Ph.D. degree requirements by the time of their appointment. Successful candidates will likely have doctorates in public administration, public policy, criminology, sociology, psychology, or a related field. Highly desirable candidates will have practical experience (preferably in criminal justice), university teaching experience, a strong potential for developing a successful research portfolio, and a demonstrated commitment towards social equity, diversity, and inclusion.

Application Instructions

The review of applications will begin on October 1. Applications will be evaluated as they are received and will be accepted until the position is filled. To apply, please send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, research manuscript, and three professional reference letters to Glenn-CriminalJustice@osu.edu. Alternatively, materials can be mailed to: Office of the Dean, The John Glenn College of Public Affairs, 350 Page Hall, 1810 College Road, Columbus, OH, 43210.

OSU is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or gender identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Job Description:
The Department of Sociology at Bryn Mawr College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the sociology of race to begin August 1, 2021. The successful candidate will be expected to be part of developing and teaching a diverse and inclusive curriculum, including contributing to College-wide initiatives such as the 360 Program and the Emily Balch Seminars. We are searching for a colleague specializing in race, with research and teaching expertise in the African American experience and also an international area focus in Africa, the Caribbean, and/or other areas contributing to the Bryn Mawr College program in Africana Studies. Secondary fields focus on processes of marginalization, deviance, law, and criminalization/punishment/mass incarceration. Candidates must have completed all Ph.D. requirements by the start date.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching philosophy, research statement, and statement of demonstrated commitment to diversity and inclusion to Sociology Search Committee via Interfolio at: https://apply.interfolio.com/77699. In addition, arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted via Interfolio to the Sociology Search Committee. Applications received by October 2, 2020 will receive full consideration.

Recognizing health and safety concerns during this time, the College will be as flexible as possible in determining the nature of any interviews or meetings (virtual/remote and/or in-person interaction) that are conducted for this search.

Employer Description:
Bryn Mawr College is a distinguished liberal arts college for women with a vibrant faculty of scholar-teachers, a talented staff and intellectually curious students eager to make a difference in the world. The College is committed to increasing the diversity of its students, faculty, staff, and curricular offerings with a particular focus on enhancing ethnic and racial diversity and advancing social justice and inclusion. We believe diversity strengthens our community and enriches the education of our students. We have a student body of 1,370 undergraduates (32 percent are U.S. students of color and 21 percent are international students). There are 330 graduate students in coeducational graduate programs in social work, humanities and science. Bryn Mawr College is located in metropolitan Philadelphia and enjoys strong consortial relationships with Haverford College, Swarthmore College, and the University of Pennsylvania. Bryn Mawr College is an equal-opportunity employer; candidates from underrepresented groups and women are especially encouraged to apply.
