Job 18024: Director of Strategic Partnerships and Engagement

Date Position is Available: Summer 2022

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 6/30/2022 to 7/30/2022

Institution: Urban Institute

Region: Northeast

Title: Director of Strategic Partnerships and Engagement

Position/Rank: Sociological Practice/Applied/Other: Director

Tenure/Tenure Track:

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Economic Sociology

Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

Director of Strategic Partnerships and Engagement

Urban Institute

Flexible, Washington D.C. Preferred

The Opportunity

Urban recently launched WorkRise, a major, multi-year initiative focused on jobs, workers, and mobility. The Director of Strategic Partnerships and Engagement (Director) will join WorkRise’s senior leadership team to conceive of and drive the “action” component of the bold research-to-action WorkRise platform. The Director will ensure that WorkRise’s research and evidence reach those who influence the practices, policies, and programs that strengthen economic security and accelerate economic mobility for low-wage workers. The Director will develop, implement, and assess comprehensive plans for engaging WorkRise’s stakeholders and stakeholder networks across the employer, advocacy, practitioner, and policy communities, and will play a pivotal role in ensuring that WorkRise creates a productive feedback loop between research, policy, and practice.

The Director will forge and prioritize new strategic partnerships with leading and influential organizations as well as lead WorkRise’s engagement with federal, state, and local government officials and policymakers. Additionally, the Director will develop and strengthen a robust network of partners and influencers who are not traditionally included in the conversation, including nontraditional organizations and BIPOC led and focused organizations. Given the WorkRise mission of developing a robust and diverse network of labor market stakeholders, the Director will foster collaboration by proactively... identifying opportunities that support the needs and ideas of external stakeholders and seek connecting opportunities, when possible, with Urban scholars housed within various Urban Centers.

What You’ll Do:

• Identify and engage a cross-sector network of labor market stakeholders, with a focus on research consumers (employers, small businesses, workers and worker advocates, practitioners, and policymakers at the local, state, and federal level), especially those rooted in Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC) communities.

• Develop, activate, and deepen strategic partnerships between WorkRise and key stakeholders in applied policy and practice, including employers, worker advocates, and government at the local, state, and federal levels.

• Facilitate partner engagement in the development of research, including surfacing priority questions and cultivating participation in research design and implementation.

• Work with the Research team to strengthen connections between WorkRise and a diverse network of researchers including BIPOC scholars, especially those at Minority-Serving Institutions.

• In conjunction with members of the Executive, Research, and Communications teams, develop and implement partner-informed dissemination strategies for research findings, including both WorkRise-funded insights and WorkRise-curated evidence from other sources, in order to ensure that actionable evidence is in the right hands at the right time.

• Develop and manage partner agreements, including developing metrics and frameworks and reporting on strategic partnership activities.

• Serve as a liaison between WorkRise and other Urban research initiatives on economic mobility, racial equity, and labor market outcomes (e.g. the Mobility Alliance, Building America’s Workforce, the Racial Equity Analytics Lab, the CTE CoLab), in service of expanding opportunities for deeper impact across institutional priorities.

• Manage, lead, coach, guide, and supervise staff and consultants on projects and programs across various teams and provide mentorship to junior staff.

• Meaningfully engage with Funders Advisory Council and Leadership Board to optimize external engagement approaches.

What You’ll Experience

No matter your role with Urban, you will contribute to meaningful work that makes a difference for people and communities across the country. And whether you call the Washington, D.C. area or elsewhere home, you can expect to be part of a welcoming and hybrid workplace. We are committed to cultivating a community and working in a manner defined by collaboration, equity, inclusivity, independence, and integrity.

Candidate Profile

We recognize that there is a spectrum of lived and professional experience that will set candidates up for success in this role. While no one candidate will have every experience outlined in the position description, ideal candidates will have the following professional and personal qualities, skills, and characteristics:

Passion for the Mission

Mission-driven at your core, you believe that WorkRise’s research will rebuild a more equitable and resilient labor market that expands opportunity and economic mobility for low-wage workers everywhere. A visionary leader, you bring a strong track record of negotiating and collaborating with senior-level thought leaders, preferably those with a focus on labor market policy, improving the economic well-being of low-wage workers, and/or building coalitions between employers, worker advocates, practitioners, policymakers, scholars, and philanthropists.

Research + Policy Competency

You have recognized expertise in key U.S. labor market issues and demonstrate fluency in policy and/or applied evidence pertaining to labor market challenges facing low-wage workers. Demonstrated experience and commitment to the role of evidence in informing policy and practice. An excellent communicator, you possess substantial public presentation skills targeted to professional associations, practitioner organizations, technical working group funders, policymakers, and others with whom WorkRise seeks to influence or engage.

Organizational Effectiveness

An experienced senior leader, you drive strong operational results by coordinating and aligning cross-functional teams and extending a vision that breaks down silos and fosters communication, transparency, and shared accountability. You drive organizational strategy and alignment in a fast-paced, high-growth, mission-driven environment, and guide both people and projects to collaborate on results-oriented work. An exceptional and adaptive communicator, you have a record of accomplishment in reaching internal and external audiences; managing conversations with diplomacy; synthesizing multiple points of view and perspectives; aligning your organization’s mission, goals, and direction, and reaching a range of audiences (from grassroots community organizations to global executives) to facilitate dialogue at all levels of the organization.

Strategic Networking

A natural collaborator, you value community engagement and facilitate reciprocal partnerships by engaging highly developed professional networks centered around one or more WorkRise topical issue areas. You are a vociferous learner and continuously grow strategic networks to funnel innovative ideas, research, and relationships into your work to maximize your organization’s impact. A connected leader, you build relationships across industries to coalesce diverse voices, facilitate the free exchange of ideas, and apply best practices and thought leadership to shape and impact research or policies around labor market barriers, trends, and opportunities.

In addition, strong candidates will offer:

• Post-graduate degree in public policy, economics, sociology, or a related field preferred. (Required education and experience may be substituted by an equivalent combination of education and experience deemed sufficient for qualification in the position).

• Demonstrated leadership experience developing, implementing, and managing high-impact cross-sector partnership strategies.

Compensation & Benefits

Urban’s greatest asset is our people.

Urban is committed to supporting our staff’s physical, emotional, and financial well-being through a robust benefits package for yourself, eligible dependents, and domestic partners. It includes generous paid time off, including nine federal holidays, medical (including prescription), dental and vision insurance, and transit benefits. Urban is unique in that we offer 403(b) retirement plan participation immediately after you’re hired and a generous employer contribution after five months of service and 1,000 hours, with immediate vesting. You’ll also have access to a health advocate, personal finance coaching, an Employee Assistance Program, and educational assistance for undergraduate and graduate degree programs. Urban features a competitive compensation for this position, commensurate with the candidate’s skill and experience.

Employer Description:

About Urban Institute

At the Urban Institute (Urban), we believe in the power of evidence to improve lives and strengthen communities. As a nonprofit focusing on social and economic policy, our researchers and policy entrepreneurs open minds, shape decisions, and identify transformative solutions to the most pressing issues of our time.

Our Mission

To open minds, shape decisions, and offer solutions through economic and social policy research.

Our Values

Collaboration

Whether working with fellow Urban Institute colleagues or partnering with communities, we strive to build teams with diversity of thought, background, and experience. We seek to maintain a culture of mutual respect where everyone feels their contributions are valued.

Equity

Our staff members are united by the belief that all people—regardless of income, race or ethnicity, education, or zip code—should have the chance to achieve their highest potential. We are committed to interrogating and mitigating structural racism in society and within our workplace.

Inclusivity

In our research, we embrace lived experience as a form of evidence, knowing it is important for conducting high-quality, authentic analysis. Within Urban, we seek to build a culture of belonging, where people feel they can bring their whole selves to work.

Independence

Urban does not have an agenda, ideological or otherwise, nor do we take institutional positions on issues. Staff members have autonomy to pursue new ideas, and they are empowered and supported to share their own evidence-based views and policy recommendations.

Integrity

Experts are committed to following the facts wherever they lead, offering solutions to societal and policy challenges that are rooted in rigorous research. Our strong policies and cultural norms ensure the conclusions of our experts are rooted in evidence and free from outside influence, and that we are transparent about our funding sources.

Job 18023: Organizational Studies Open Rank Faculty

Date Position is Available: Fall 2023

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 6/29/2022 to 7/29/2022

Institution: University of Michigan
Department: Organizational Studies
Region: Midwest

Title: Organizational Studies Open Rank Faculty

Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Assistant Professor, Academic Positions: Associate Professor, Academic Positions: Full Professor

Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenure Track

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Organizations, Formal and Complex

Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

ORGANIZATIONAL STUDIES. The Interdisciplinary Program in Organizational Studies at the University of Michigan solicits applications for an open-rank faculty position to begin August 28, 2023. This is a university-year appointment. Organizational Studies is a small (approximately 100 students) highly selective undergraduate major in the arts and sciences. Although our preference is for a candidate with a micro-organizational focus, we will consider applicants from all areas relevant to the study of organizations, regardless of disciplinary background. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in research and teaching related to organizational theory and behavior, broadly defined. We especially seek applicants committed to undergraduate mentorship and innovative teaching methods. Application deadline is October 3, 2022.

Applications must include a cover letter, CV, research statement, and up to three representative writing samples. The University of Michigan and the Organizational Studies Program value contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion (https://diversity.umich.edu/). In addition to the materials requested above, please include a statement (1-3 pages) that describes your demonstrated commitment to these goals through your scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service and engagement. We will contact you in the event that we require references and teaching materials. Please follow this link to our website http://apply.interfolio.com/108870 where you will be able to access the application. For questions, email Orgstudies.Faculty.Search@umich.edu.

Offers for this appointment are contingent on successful completion of a background screening. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and members of minority groups are encouraged to apply.

This offer is contingent upon reporting your COVID19 proof of vaccinations no later than one week before your appointment start date. You may request a medical or religious exemption; however, successful completion of the exemption process must occur prior to your start date. If you will not be up to date on your vaccinations at the time of hire (defined as receiving all recommended doses in the primary vaccine series and one booster when eligible), you may request an exemption. A temporary postponement may be requested if you are unable to receive the primary series or booster in your country of origin or current location. More information on this policy is available on the Campus Blueprint website.

Employer Description:
Organizational Studies is built on a foundation of three disciplines--sociology, economics, and psychology. Each discipline contributes a unique lens through which to see organizations, their forms, and their processes. These three perspectives together give students broad scope for understanding an organizational world.

Job Description:

The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Department of Management

Open Rank Tenured and Tenure-track Faculty Positions

Applications and nominations are now invited for multiple faculty positions at all ranks (tenured and tenure-track) in the macro (e.g., corporate social responsibilities and sustainability, entrepreneurship, family business, innovation, international management, organization theory, and strategy) and the micro areas (e.g., business ethics, entrepreneurship, family business, human resource management, and organizational behavior). Applicants for assistant professor positions should have an earned doctorate in a relevant discipline (upon appointment) and a record of publishing or the potential to publish in premium management journals (e.g., Academy of Management Journal, Academy of Management Review, Administrative Science Quarterly, Journal of Applied Psychology, Organization Science, and Strategic Management Journal). Demonstrated capacity for quality teaching is also required. For fresh assistant professors, the teaching load is 2-0 in the first year and 3-0 afterwards. For senior positions, a strong record of published research in premier management journals and a record of teaching in MBA/EMBA programs are required. Appointment with tenure requires a formal review. The language of instruction at HKUST is English.

Interested candidates are invited to send the required materials (a cover letter, curriculum vitae, list of references, research statement, dissertation proposal summary, three representative writing samples, teaching statement, and teaching records) electronically via Interfolio (http://apply.interfolio.com/107653). Review of applications begins on August 25, 2022 and will continue until the positions are filled.

As a special note, we will conduct separate online interviews 2-3 days before or after the Academy of Management Conference. Onsite interview at AOM Conference is available upon request and based on mutual availability. Candidates should at least send a cover letter, and CV via Interfolio (http://apply.interfolio.com/107653) by July 15, 2022 to schedule a possible interview.

Employer Description:

Established in 1991, the HKUST Business School is recognized globally as one of the world’s best business schools. Our Executive MBA Program, offered jointly with the Kellogg School of Management, has been ranked No. 2 in the world by the Financial Times in its 2021 EMBA global rankings. Our MBA program has been ranked among the world top 22 for 14 consecutive years.
The Department of Management at HKUST aims to continue as a leading intellectual center for management research and education. The University provides a supportive research and teaching environment with attractive research funding, strong teaching support staff and leading-edge facilities. The Department has a group of productive faculty members with great enthusiasm in conducting high quality research, which is regularly published in premier management journals. Salary Range: Negotiable

Submission Link: https://careers.msu.edu

Job Description:

Michigan State University’s James Madison College seeks to fill a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Relations and quantitative methods. James Madison College provides undergraduates a rigorous liberal arts education in public affairs in a residential college setting inside of the broader R1 university. The International Relations major equips students with a dynamic interdisciplinary curriculum that reflects both the breadth and depth of international public affairs.

We seek a teacher-scholar with teaching expertise in introductory and advanced quantitative methods, with preferred expertise in technological approaches to knowing and representing international affairs such as data visualization, machine learning, spatial analysis or other emerging methods. Additionally, applicants must be able to teach about the relationship between technology and international politics, broadly defined, as well as contribute to the broader interdisciplinary curriculum of the major and the college. Applicants should demonstrate commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching in an interdisciplinary setting; to achieving a substantial record of scholarship; and to promoting a diverse, equitable, and inclusive environment in a residential college setting. For more information on this major and the college please see the website: https://jmc.msu.edu.

Research areas of particular interest in the interactions between technology and international politics include, but are not limited to: artificial intelligence, climate politics, cybersecurity, energy politics, social media, state use and/or abuse of technologies in governance, and surveillance. The College is also particularly interested in expanding its coverage of Africa or Latin America.

A Ph.D. in a related field, including but not limited to Area Studies, Communications, Comparative Politics, Economics, Global Studies, International Relations, Political Science, Sociology, or related Social Science, is required by time of appointment. The College is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Applicants should supply a statement addressing how their teaching and research interests would contribute to James Madison College’s curriculum and mission. Supporting materials should include a CV, transcript, diversity statement, evidence of teaching approach and effectiveness, sample syllabi, and a sample of scholarship (e.g., article, dissertation chapter, conference paper). The names and contact information of three confidential references that speak to teaching expertise and scholarly promise must be provided as part of the application process. MSU will contact these references with instructions for the references on how to upload their confidential letter into MSU’s application system.

Applications must be submitted electronically to the Michigan State University Human Resources website: https://careers.msu.edu. Please see posting number 789783 for complete instructions on how to apply. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Katie Dyjach (dyjachk@msu.edu) with any questions.
MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Michigan State University occupies the ancestral, traditional, and contemporary Lands of the Anishinaabeg–Three Fires Confederacy of Ojibwe, Odawa, and Potawatomi peoples. The University resides on Land ceded in the 1819 Treaty of Saginaw.

Employer Description:
The students and faculty at James Madison College share a common goal of addressing and examining the major political, legal, social and economic issues affecting our world. Each major within the college allows students to examine a unique aspect of public affairs while developing strong communication, analytic and problem-solving skills.

Job Description:

Northwestern University invites inquiries, nominations, and applications for the position of dean of the School of Education and Social Policy (SESP). The school's 38 tenure-line faculty members, 11 research faculty and professors of instruction, approximately 65 adjunct faculty members, 118 staff members and postdoctoral fellows, and approximately 770 undergraduate, master's, and doctoral students form a vibrant community that values a wide range of methodological and theoretical approaches and fosters strong connections between world-renowned research, policy, and practice. The smallest of Northwestern's 12 schools and colleges, SESP nonetheless has a broad scope; the school draws to it those who seek to understand and improve learning and development over the course of the lifespan, as well as understand and shape social policies that affect learning and development. SESP scholars focus on individual development, families, organizations, and communities; and pedagogical and technological innovations, teacher education, school improvement, and local, state, and federal policies.

The University seeks a new dean to provide courageous, collaborative, and visionary leadership to further advance the school and to marshal the resources necessary to support the school's goals. Reporting to the provost, the dean is the chief executive and academic officer of the school, joining with faculty and staff in overseeing academic programs and policies; fostering a vibrant, equitable, and inclusive community that generates a passion for the school's mission; developing and stewarding the school's financial, capital, and human resources; and playing a leadership role in fundraising and external relations. Ideal candidates will be prominent scholars whose active and distinguished professional records include a compelling combination of teaching, research, and practice within a field of study relevant to the school's broad profile of scholarship; who bring demonstrated evidence of transforming vision into action, especially in areas of diversity, inclusion, equity, and justice; with experience in program design; with community-building skills; and who have strong academic leadership and management experience. SESP's ideal leader will also be committed to maintaining existing and establishing new collaborative relationships with community and policy partners with the aim of having a local, national, and global impact on educational, organizational, and social change.

All applications, nominations, and inquiries are invited. Applications should include, as separate documents, a CV or resume and a letter of interest addressing the themes in the leadership profile, found at www.wittkieffer.com.

WittKieffer is assisting Northwestern University in this search. Application review has begun and will continue until an appointment is made. For fullest consideration, candidate materials should be received by October 15.

Application materials should be submitted using WittKieffer’s candidate portal.

Nominations and inquiries can be directed to:

Job 18017: Andrew Harris Fellow

Date Position is Available: Fall 2023

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 6/27/2022 to 9/25/2022

Institution: University of Vermont
Department: Department of Sociology
Region: Northeast
Title: Andrew Harris Fellow
Position/Rank: Fellowships/Post-docs: Post-doctoral Tenure/Tenure Track: Tenure Eligible
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Criminal Justice
Salary Range: $50,000 - $59,999

Job Description:

Andrew Harris Fellowship Program

Academic Fellowship in the Department of Sociology

College of Arts and Sciences

The University of Vermont

The University of Vermont is pleased to announce an academic fellowship position in the Department of Sociology in the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) at the University of Vermont (UVM). UVM is especially interested in scholars who can contribute to the College of Arts and Sciences diversity plan, which was designed in part to ensure faculty, students, and staff members from underrepresented and marginalized populations are an integral part of the life and governance of the institution.

Description

The Andrew Harris Fellowship is open to BIPOC and is designed to bring promising early-career scholars to the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Vermont. Fellows are required to teach one course each semester (two courses over the year) for the College of Arts and Sciences, and deliver one research colloquium talk per year at the university related to the Fellow’s research (see “Area of Expertise” below). The fellowship (Postdoctoral Associate appointment) includes an annual, university health insurance, moving expenses, and research funds. Each semester the Fellow will also be provided with an undergraduate teaching assistant.

Area of Expertise

The UVM Sociology Department seeks a sociologist with research and teaching interests in crime, the criminal-legal system, the experience of justice-involved individuals, and/or law and society and social justice. Desired specializations of applicants include the role and intersection of race, gender, sexuality/identities, and economic status/poverty in interactions with the criminal-legal system and agents of control at all stages, and societal efforts aimed at combatting the impact of structural racism on the criminal-legal system. Beyond that, candidates who do mixed methods research, combining qualitative and quantitative approaches and who are prepared to contribute to the teaching of these methods, are of particular interest.

Possibility of Tenure-Track

This Fellowship is offered as a full-time, 12-month Postdoctoral Associate appointment (August 1, through July 31) in the Department of Sociology in the College of Arts and Sciences. Fellowships may be renewed for up to two years on the basis of performance and budgetary feasibility. Fellows establish and pursue their own research agenda with guidance through a mentorship program tailored to help the fellow to transition into a tenure-track faculty position at the end of the Fellowship. If, during the Fellowship, the Fellow decides to apply for a tenure-track position at UVM, the Department of Sociology will vote about converting the position to tenure-track and send the hiring recommendation to the Provost for approval. Such a tenure-track position would be 40% research, 40% teaching, and 20% service. Courses taught would serve the Sociology Department, the Health and Society Program, and the Critical Race and Ethnic Studies Program in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Eligibility Criteria

- U.S. citizens and permanent residents (LPR) are eligible to apply
- Evidence of high potential to contribute to the College of Arts and Sciences diversity plan (see below)
- Earned Ph.D. in sociology by August 1, 2023.
- Applicants must also possess teaching experience at the undergraduate level
- Evidence of high accomplishment as assessed by a faculty committee that will examine the Fellow’s scholarly record, as well as a minimum of three letters of recommendation

How to Apply

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2022 and will remain open until filled.

Please submit a complete application packet via email to:

Thomas Macias, Chair – Department of Sociology

tmacias@uvm.edu (include subject line "Harris Fellowship")

Please include:

- Cover letter that includes a description of research goals for the fellowship year; the cover letter should also provide:
  - a summary of the candidate’s accomplishments
  - subject areas of interest
  - a description or statement of past contributions and commitment to advance diversity
- curriculum vita (5 pages maximum)
- three letters of recommendation
- a 20 to 30-page writing sample

For more information or questions, please contact Thomas Macias (tmacias@uvm.edu)

UVM College of Arts and Sciences Diversity Plan

CAS aims to become a role model for the creation of a welcoming and socially nurturing environment that actively promotes a sincere appreciation of diversity. To achieve our purpose, CAS will:

- Ensure faculty, students, and staff members from underrepresented and marginalized populations are an integral part of the life and governance of the institution
- Substantially increase the representation of women, minorities, and other marginalized groups among faculty, students, and staff
- Engage all students, faculty, staff and community members in rich curricular and co-curricular experiences that enhance their understanding and appreciation of people of diverse personal and group histories, identities, and perspectives

Employer Description:

Scholarly Community at the University

The University of Vermont offers rich opportunities for engaging with scholars of sociology, race and ethnic studies, and healing, health, and health care. Faculty members in the Sociology Department, the Critical Race and Ethnic Studies Program, and the Health and Society Program in the College of Arts and Sciences will provide mentorship to the Fellow.
The Sociology Department consists of eleven faculty members whose research and teaching centers on bringing sociological perspectives to analyze current social issues. Such issues include social inequality; affluence and poverty; the family; criminal justice; social deviance: gender and sexualities; aging; race and ethnicity; race relations; population health; health care; environmental sustainability; and social responses to disaster.

UVM Sociology is engaged in community-based activities related to the justice system. The Liberal Arts in Prison Program and other service-learning classes offer student opportunities to participate in the local prison's activities, as well as other community settings. We welcome a scholar committed to local engagement and activism. The department also offers a concentration in crime and criminal justice within the sociology major and, along with the Department of Political Sciences, is the home of a university-wide, cross-disciplinary minor in Law and Society.

The Region

Burlington, Vermont is a New England university city situated on the shores of beautiful Lake Champlain to the west, and bordered by the Green Mountains to the east, both of which offer easy access to year-round outdoor recreational activities/sports. Burlington is within driving distance to major US and Canadian cities and was recently voted one of the healthiest states in the nation and one of the most desirable cities in which to raise children.

University Benefits

- Health, Life, and Flexible Spending Accounts: Penn offers comprehensive medical, prescription, behavioral health, dental, vision, and life insurance benefits to protect you and your family's health and welfare. You can also use flexible spending accounts to pay for eligible health care and dependent care expenses with pre-tax dollars.

- Tuition: Take advantage of Penn's exceptional tuition benefits. You, your spouse, and your dependent children can get tuition assistance here at Penn. Your dependent children are also eligible for tuition assistance at other institutions.

- Retirement: Penn offers generous retirement plans to help you save for your future. Penn's Basic, Matching, and Supplemental retirement plans allow you to save for retirement on a pre-tax or Roth basis. Choose from a wide variety of investment options through TIAA and Vanguard.

- Time Away from Work: Penn provides you with a substantial amount of time away from work during the course of the year. This allows you to relax, take vacations, attend to personal affairs, recover from illness or injury, spend time with family—whatever your personal needs may be.

- Long-Term Care Insurance: In partnership with Genworth Financial, Penn offers faculty and staff (and your eligible family members) long-term care insurance to help you cover some of the costs of long-term care services received at home, in the community or in a nursing facility. If you apply when you're newly hired, you won't have to provide proof of good health or be subject to underwriting requirements. Eligible family members must always provide proof of good health and are subject to underwriting.

- Wellness and Work-life Resources: Penn is committed to supporting our faculty and staff as they balance the competing demands of work and personal life. That's why we offer a wide variety of programs and resources to help you care for your health, your family, and your work-life balance.

- Professional and Personal Development: Penn provides an array of resources to help you advance yourself personally and professionally.

- University Resources: As a member of the Penn community, you have access to a wide range of University resources as well as cultural and recreational activities. Take advantage of the University's libraries and athletic facilities, or visit our arboretum and art galleries. There's always something going on at Penn, whether it's a new exhibit at the Penn Museum, the latest music or theater presentation at the Annenberg Center, or the Penn Relays at Franklin Field to name just a few examples. As a member of the Penn community, you're right in the middle of the excitement—and you and your family can enjoy many of these activities for free.

-  Discounts and Special Services: From arts and entertainment to transportation and mortgages, you'll find great deals for University faculty and staff. Not only do Penn arts and cultural centers and museums offer free and discounted admission and memberships to faculty and staff. You can also enjoy substantial savings on other goods and services such as new cars from Ford and General Motors, cellular phone service plans, movie tickets, and admission to theme parks.

- Flexible Work Hours: Flexible work options offer creative approaches for completing work while promoting balance between work and personal commitments. These approaches involve use of non-traditional work hours, locations, and/or job structures.

- Penn Home Ownership Services: Penn offers a forgivable loan for eligible employees interested in buying a home or currently residing in West Philadelphia, which can be used for closing costs or home improvements.
• Adoption Assistance: Penn will reimburse eligible employees on qualified expenses in connection with the legal adoption of an eligible child, such as travel or court fees, for up to two adoptions in your household.

Job 18012: Postdoctoral Fellow and Coordinator for Measurement and Evaluation in the Professional Schools, Program for Leadership and Character

Date Position is Available: Summer 2022

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 6/22/2022 to 7/22/2022

Institution: Wake Forest University
Department: Program for Leadership & Character

Region: Southeast

Title: Postdoctoral Fellow and Coordinator for Measurement and Evaluation in the Professional Schools, Program for Leadership and Character

Position/Rank: Fellowships/Post-docs: Post-doctoral

Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Tenure Track

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Applied Sociology/Evaluation Research, Education

Salary Range: Negotiable

Submission Link:

Job Description:

Introduction
The Program for Leadership and Character at Wake Forest University is seeking an exceptional individual as a postdoctoral fellow and research coordinator for measurement and evaluation in the professional schools. The fellow will work with an interdisciplinary research team conducting innovative and potentially transformative research on cultivating character and leadership among students in the professional schools at Wake Forest University (e.g., School of Law, School of Medicine, and School of Divinity).

This position is supported by a multi-year grant from the Kern Family Foundation. The successful candidate will be offered up to a 4-year term, with the potential for funding beyond the initial term.

Essential Functions of the Postdoctoral Fellow:
- will report to, and work closely with, the Senior Research Scholar in the Professional Schools to design and analyze multiple research studies;
- conceptualize innovative and creative ways to measure and evaluate key constructs and facets of the Program;
- coordinate multiple studies, involving but not limited to: developing and maintaining relationships with stakeholders, ethical compliance, participant recruitment and management, administering surveys, conducting research interviews, and facilitating focus groups;
- carry out all aspects of data management of multiple quantitative and qualitative datasets;
- conduct a range of quantitative and qualitative analyses;
- contribute to, and at times lead, the writing of manuscripts (e.g., journal articles, chapters, research reports);
- manage and mentor student research assistants.

Required Education, Disposition and Skills:
- Ph.D. in a social science field, including but not limited to psychology, human development, education, sociology, economics, political science or philosophy;
- strong and demonstrated analytical skills, with experience using qualitative and/or quantitative methods in empirical research;
- excellent writing, research, and communication skills.
- have a strong work ethic;
- be highly collaborative and enjoy working as part of a research team;
- be flexible, creative and open-minded about research approaches and methodologies;
- be attentive to detail and context;
- have strong time management skills to be involved in multiple ongoing research projects (at different stages in the research process), and the ability to follow through with high work quality and consistency of effort;
- be open to being mentored and given constructive feedback;
- be interested and able to learn quickly and independently;
- be willing to follow direction and eventually take on leadership of research as experience is gained on the job.

In the Cover Letter, please share your experiences and responses to the following:
- while we do not expect candidates to have necessarily worked or conducted research in the substantive area of leadership or character education, we would like you to articulate the nature of your interest in this area of research and in this particular Program;
- if you have conducted research using exclusively quantitative or qualitative methodologies, please make a case for your attitude towards using both approaches during this project, and how you intend to close any gaps in your methodological expertise (The Program is prepared to provide the successful candidate with funds to develop relevant methodological skills);
- provide examples of high-level organizational, administrative and interpersonal skills;
- provide examples (if relevant) of coordinating and managing multiple studies simultaneously.

In the Research Statement, please propose and outline some of the measurement and evaluation work you can imagine doing (or would like to do) in your role (taking into account the goals of the program from the website, and the outlined job functions and required dispositions and skills).
- Please give examples of between 2-4 research studies that you might design for the professional schools, and outline the measurement and evaluation methods and procedures you would envisage using, and any potential pitfalls you could see;
- If possible, describe how technologies, techniques and methodologies that are new and possibly uncommon in the social sciences, could be valuable in answering research questions that might be relevant to the cultivation of leadership and character in the Professional Schools;
- Talk about how the research experience and skills that you have (and any you would like to develop/get trained in), would be valuable in measurement and evaluation particularly within the context of leadership and character education in the Professional Schools.

Required documents to be submitted at the time of application (candidates are encouraged to apply by July 15th, 2022. Please note that incomplete applications will not be considered):
- Cover Letter (no more than 2 pages and addressed to the members of the search committee)
- Curriculum Vitae
- 2 writing samples demonstrating your research expertise (with at least 1 illustrating some of your methodological expertise)
- Research Statement (no longer than 3 pages)
- 3 confidential letters of recommendation to be sent via email to leadershipandcharacter@wfu.edu within 2 weeks of applying.

To apply, go to: https://wfu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Staff_Career_Website_live/job/Winston-Salem-NC/Postdoctoral-Fellow-and-Coordinator-for-Research-and-Assessment-in-the-Professional-Schools_R0004185

The position may begin as early as August 2022, though there is flexibility on the start date depending on availability and current appointment. For additional information, please contact the Senior Research Scholar for the Professional Schools, Ananthi Al Ramiah, alramiah@wfu.edu. Applications will be processed from July 16 2022 until the position is filled.

Employer Description:
Wake Forest University, formed in 1834, has experienced decades of growth and innovation. WFU is a distinctive university that combines a liberal arts core with graduate and professional schools and innovative research programs. The University embraces the teacher-scholar ideal, which prizes the personal interaction between students and faculty. It is a place where exceptional teaching, fundamental research and discovery, and the engagement of faculty and students in the classroom and the laboratory are paramount.
Wake Forest University is a community of people that seeks the enlightenment and freedom which come through diligent study and learning. Its higher goal, however, is to give life to the University motto "Pro Humanitate," as members translate a passion for knowledge into compassionate service. The community shares a tradition that embraces freedom and integrity and acknowledges the worth of the individual. The heritage, established by the school's founders and nurtured by succeeding generations, promotes a democratic spirit arising from open-mindedness and discourse. Wake Forest fosters compassion and caring for others. Its collective strength and character are derived from the values and distinctive experiences of each individual; therefore, it affirms the richness of human intellect and culture and its contribution to knowledge, faith, reason, and dialogue. Furthermore, it strives toward a society in which good will, respect, and equality prevail. To that end, Wake Forest University rejects hatred and bigotry in any form and promotes justice, honor, and mutual trust.

With the aim of educating the whole person, the University has established an innovative Program for Leadership and Character which works to create impactful programming and courses to help students develop the character needed to lead creatively and humanely in an increasingly complex world. The Program is based on cutting-edge academic research on leadership and character, including research conducted by Wake Forest faculty in various fields who are leading experts on the study of character. Over the last few years, the Program has received major grants and gifts to develop leaders of character at Wake Forest University. The Program also supports other colleges and universities who seek to promote leadership and character on their campuses. For more on the Program for Leadership and Character, see https://leadershipandcharacter.wfu.edu/.

The University is comprised of: the undergraduate college, Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, School of Business, School of Divinity, School of Law, and School of Medicine (located on the Bowman Gray campus with Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center) and today enrolls about 4,846 undergraduates and 2,823 students in graduate programs at its principal location, the Reynolda campus. Students at Wake Forest University enjoy a great deal of access to and interaction with world-class faculty both in and out of the classroom setting with a student-faculty ratio of 11:1. Wake Forest employs approximately 2,772 full and part-time faculty and staff.

Wake Forest is a collegiate university offering a vibrant, intellectual community with a rich cultural life, an impressive array of facilities, and a strong athletics program competing in the fifteen-team Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC). Since its founding, the university has adopted the motto “pro humanitate,” which is exemplified by a deep institutional commitment to public service and engagement with the world. Wake Forest has a strong commitment to holistic, eight-dimensional well-being for students, faculty and staff as evidenced in the Thrive initiative.

Wake Forest seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce while promoting an inclusive work environment committed to excellence in the spirit of Pro Humanitate. In adherence with applicable laws and as provided by University policies, the University prohibits discrimination in its employment practices on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, genetic information, disability and veteran status and encourages qualified candidates across all group demographics to apply.

Job Description:

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF SOCIOLOGY & ANTHROPOLOGY

Kalamazoo College invites applications for a tenure track position at the assistant professor level in the Anthropology and Sociology Department. We invite applications from anthropologists, sociologists, or geographers with expertise in qualitative and/or quantitative research methods. The area of research is open, but an international focus is desired. As a blended department, all courses blur disciplinary boundaries.

A Ph.D. is required in Anthropology, Sociology, Geography, or a related discipline (or evidence it will be completed by September 1, 2023). The position also requires advising senior theses, contributing to the College’s “Shared Passages” core curriculum (first-year, sophomore, and senior seminars), and a commitment to the liberal arts. Kalamazoo College is committed to inclusive excellence. We especially encourage applications from candidates whose intellectual and pedagogical approaches will be effective in attracting and retaining historically underrepresented students. The successful applicant will demonstrate a strong commitment to working with students, faculty, and staff from diverse social, cultural, and economic backgrounds. They will also demonstrate a high aptitude for and interest in undergraduate teaching, a commitment to the liberal arts, and the ability to establish an ongoing research record. Salary is competitive and consistent with the level of experience. Kalamazoo College is on the trimester system, and the teaching load is two courses per trimester.

Completed applications received by September 1, 2022 will receive full consideration, with later applications reviewed as needed until the position is filled. Please electronically submit to application materials in pdf format: cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement on equity and inclusion, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement of research interests. Please also have three letters of recommendation submitted to AnsoSearch@kzoo.edu with “Tenure Track” in the subject line. Prior to Zoom interviews, a 10-page writing sample and sample syllabi of a course the candidate has taught, or may teach in the future will be requested. Please direct all correspondence and questions regarding this position to Dr. Espelecia Baptiste: espelecia.baptiste@kzoo.edu

Kalamazoo College encourages candidates who will contribute to the cultural diversity of the College to apply and identify themselves if they wish. Equal Opportunity Employer.

Employer Description:
Kalamazoo College is a highly selective liberal arts college offering an integrated undergraduate experience that weaves a traditional liberal arts curriculum with educational experiences and civic engagement in domestic and international settings. As such, it attracts students from diverse backgrounds. The College is a member of the Posse Program and home to the Arcus Center for Social Justice Leadership. It is located in Kalamazoo, MI, a diverse and vibrant city in western Michigan and home of the first nationwide city-based college tuition remission program, the Kalamazoo Promise. Sitting halfway between Detroit and Chicago, Kalamazoo is also home to a large research university that shares many of its resources with the Kalamazoo College community. Thirty-five miles from the beautiful beaches and coastal towns of Lake Michigan, the area also offers many opportunities for outdoor activities.

Listing Active: 6/13/2022 to 8/12/2022

Institution: Drexel University

Department: Kline School of Law

Region: East

Title: Postdoctoral Fellow on Regulation of New Technology

Position/Rank: Academic Positions: All

Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Applicable

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Other Program/Area

Salary Range: $50,000 - $59,999

Job Description:

Job Summary

The Drexel University Kline School of Law’s Center for Law and Transformational Technology invites applications for a two-year postdoctoral fellow, beginning September 1, 2022, with an emphasis on sociotechnical research in the areas of law, regulation, and governance at the intersection of law and technology, and the development of new technologies. Applicants from all disciplines and methodological approaches are welcome to apply. The postdoctoral fellowship begins on Sept. 1, 2022, potentially can be extended to January 1, 2023. Center for Law and Transformational Technology was created in 2021 with a seed grant from the Green Family Foundation to bring together key stakeholders, including legal and technological scholars, industry leaders, activists, regulators, and other experts from across the country and the world. The Center supports concrete efforts to gauge the legal impact of transformational technology, promote critical conversations about the role of law in technological change and bring legal experts into interdisciplinary conversations with researchers and developers at all stages of design and development. Working across industries, the Center helps educate lawyers to play a positive role navigating a technological landscape we cannot yet imagine. By facilitating international and multi-disciplinary partnerships, the Center seeks to contribute to a future in which technology moves forward hand-in-hand with society.

The Fellow will also have the opportunity to collaborate with faculty and participate in workshops and symposia from across the University. Situated in the heart of Philadelphia, Kline Law and the Center for Law and Transformational Technology offer exciting opportunities to engage with the region’s intellectual and innovation communities.

Essential Functions

The Fellow will work with law faculty and faculty in cognate disciplines who work with the Center. The Fellow is expected to conduct original research, teach at least one course each year (for JD students or undergraduates studying in the Law School’s newly established B.A. in Law program), and support Center activities including symposia, outreach to scholars in varied disciplines, and a student research fellow program. The Fellow is expected to participate fully in the intellectual life of the Center and of Kline Law.

Required Qualifications

- PhD or Doctorate
- PhD in one of the social sciences, JD, or SJD
- No experience required
Preferred Qualifications
Applicants should have experience and an active scholarly agenda centering on the intersection of regulation, law and/or governance with respect to emerging technologies. Preference will be given to applicants who have published in this field.

Physical Demands
• Typically sitting at a desk/table

Location
University City – Philadelphia, PA

Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

McMaster University is located on the traditional territories of the Haudenosaunee and Mississauga Nations and, within the lands protected by the Dish With One Spoon wampum agreement.

Position Description

The DeGroote School of Business at McMaster University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant/Associate Professor in the Human Resources & Management Area. The appointment is targeted to commence July 01, 2023, though an earlier appointment could be made with an exceptional candidate. Profiles of Human Resource & Management faculty are found at the following link: https://research.degrote.mcmaster.ca/faculty-areas/human-resources-and-management/

Competitive candidates will have a Ph.D. (or nearing completion of a Ph.D.) in a discipline relevant to Human Resources Management (broadly defined) and demonstrated research and teaching interests in this field. We are particularly interested in candidates who are engaged in research, teaching and/or community service within the area of diversity and inclusion. The successful candidate is expected to (a) develop and maintain a grant-supported program of research leading to relevant publications in high quality high impact journals (b), be able to teach a variety of courses in HRM within both the undergraduate and graduate programs (i.e., MBA, EMBA, Ph.D.), (c) supervise graduate students, (d) actively engage in serving the school, university, professional community, and (e) contribute to the school’s governance (serving on committees).

McMaster University prides itself on a strong culture of excellence in research, teaching, and community outreach. It is consistently ranked among the top 10% of universities globally, including in the Times Education World Rankings and the Academic Ranking of World Universities (AWRU).

The DeGroote School of Business operates at two campuses, the McMaster University main campus in Hamilton, Ontario and in nearby Burlington, Ontario, housing the MBA and executive programs. The successful incumbent is expected to contribute to the school’s academic programs at both locations.

Commitment to Inclusive Excellence

The diversity of our workforce is at the core of our innovation and creativity and strengthens our excellence in research, teaching, and community outreach. In keeping with its Statement on Building an Inclusive Community with a Shared Purpose, McMaster University strives to embody the values of respect, collaboration, and diversity, and has a strong commitment to employment equity.
The University seeks qualified candidates who share our commitment to equity and inclusion, who will contribute to the diversification of ideas and perspectives, and especially welcomes applications from First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples, members of racialized communities (“visible minorities”), persons with disabilities, women, and persons who identify as 2SLGBTQ+.

We invite all applicants to complete a brief Diversity Survey, which takes approximately two minutes to complete. All questions are voluntary, with an option to decline to answer. All information collected is confidential and will be used to support efforts to broaden the diversity of the applicant pool and to promote a fair, equitable and inclusive talent acquisition process. Inquiries about the Diversity Survey may be directed to hr.empequity@mcmaster.ca.

Job applicants requiring accommodation to participate in the hiring process should contact the Office of the Dean of Business at dsbdo@mcmaster.ca to communicate accommodation needs.

How to Apply

Please apply online via the McMaster Academic Careers website: http://www.workingatmcmaster.ca/careers/, (Faculty Postings, Job 45704), addressing your application documents to:

Dr. Rick D. Hackett, Chair, Human Resources & Management, DeGroote School of Business, McMaster University, 1280 Main Street West, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada LMS 4M4.

Please submit the following materials:

• A cover letter with a curriculum vitae describing the impact that career interruptions have had on your research productivity, if applicable.

• A statement describing your primary research interests, accomplishments, and program, and their alignment with the field of human resources management. Please include a selection of your most significant research work (published articles or working papers).

• A statement of teaching interests and their alignment with the field of human resources management. It should include a description of your teaching philosophy and evidence of your potential to be an effective teacher. Teaching evaluations are not required.

• A statement describing any contributions made or planned in relation to advancing equity, diversity and inclusion or inclusive excellence in teaching, research, or service within higher education, community-based or other professional settings. (2-page maximum)

• Letters of reference are not required and will not be reviewed at the application stage. The Department will request letters of recommendation from three referees at later stages of the search process.

Review of applications will continue until the position is filled. All applicants will receive an online confirmation of receipt of their application; however, only short-listed applicants will be contacted for interviews.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.

To comply with the Government of Canada’s reporting requirements, the University is obliged to gather information about applicants’ status as either Permanent Residents of Canada or Canadian citizens. Applicants need not identify their country of origin or current citizenship; however, all applications must include one of the following statements:

• Yes, I am a citizen or permanent resident of Canada

• No, I am not a citizen or permanent resident of Canada

Vaccine Policy Statement

The University is committed to providing and maintaining healthy and safe working and learning environments for all employees, students, volunteers and visitors. In accordance with the University’s Vaccination Policy-COVID-19 Requirements for Employees and Students, effective October 18, 2021 all McMaster community members, including employees, accessing a McMaster campus or facility in person are required to be fully vaccinated or to have received an exemption from the University for a valid human rights ground. This is a term and condition of employment. The University will continue to follow the guidance of public health organizations to define fully vaccinated status.

Further information is available at the following link: https://covid19.mcmaster.ca/vaccination-mandate/. More information on the University’s Health and Safety framework is available online at https://hr.mcmaster.ca/resources/covid19/.

Questions regarding the above requirements or any accommodation requests through the recruitment process can be directed to your HR contact.

Job Description:

The Sociology and Criminology Department at Stonehill College invites applicants for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor of Sociology position to begin in August 2022. We seek enthusiastic applicants who are committed to excellence in teaching and mentoring undergraduates and have a demonstrated awareness of the importance of diversity and social justice in education.

The teaching load for this position will be four courses per semester that most likely will involve two preps each semester. Successful candidates will be ready and able to teach three sections of Introduction to Sociology and one section of Qualitative Research in the Fall 2022 semester. Preference will be given to the candidates who have a strong record of teaching Introduction to Sociology and conducting qualitative research in areas that complement existing departmental strengths. Candidates who enhance the department’s diversity are particularly encouraged to apply.

Applicants should have a completed Ph.D. in Sociology, Anthropology, Social Work, Social Policy, or other relevant disciplines. ABD candidates will be considered based on experience and an approved plan to finish the degree.

Applicants are asked to complete the online application and also provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae, one example of their scholarly work, and a teaching portfolio. The teaching portfolio should include evidence of teaching experience, course syllabi (ideally for Introduction to Sociology and Qualitative Research), and a statement of teaching philosophy. In your teaching philosophy statement, please explain how diversity and social justice are incorporated into your teaching materials and methods.

The review of applications will begin on July 1, 2022. This position will be considered open until filled. Please email inquiries to Jungyun Gill (jgill@stonehill.edu), Chair of the Sociology and Criminology Department.

Employer Description:

Founded by the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1948, Stonehill is a private Catholic college located just 22 miles from downtown Boston on a beautiful 384-acre campus in Easton, Massachusetts. With a student-to-faculty ratio of 13:1, the College engages its 2,500+ students in 80+ rigorous academic programs in the liberal arts, sciences, and pre-professional fields.
Faithful to the Holy Cross tradition in education, Stonehill College is committed to developing the moral, spiritual, intellectual, physical, and social competencies of its students and seeks to build and sustain a campus community that embraces diversity and inclusion in its teaching, learning, living, and working. Stonehill values the diversity of persons, opinions, and cultural and religious perspectives. In fulfillment of its motto, Lux et Spes ("Light and Hope"), the College cultivates in its students the competence to think, act, and lead with courage towards creating a more just and compassionate world.

Equal Employment Opportunity shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, veteran status, disability, and or ancestry. Stonehill College will adhere to the Federal Requirements of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, and its amendments, the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, the Massachusetts Fair Employment Practice Law, and all other applicable State and Federal laws. The College is committed to providing a work environment that is free of discrimination. All employees and applicants will be treated fairly, equitably, and with courtesy. Stonehill College encourages diversity and welcomes individuals who will enrich the cultural and diverse experiences of the campus. In accordance with Massachusetts law, employees of Stonehill College are considered employees-at-will.

23. Rice University

Job 17997: Postdoctoral Fellow, Network for the Sociological Study of Science and Religion

Date Position is Available: Fall 2022

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 6/6/2022 to 7/6/2022

Institution: Rice University
Department: The Boniuk Institute and the Department of Sociology
Region: South

Title: Postdoctoral Fellow, Network for the Sociological Study of Science and Religion

Position/Rank: Fellowships/Post-docs: Post-doctoral
Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Applicable

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Religion, Science and Technology

Salary Range: $60,000 - $69,999

Job Description:

Position Summary

The Boniuk Institute and the Department of Sociology (https://sociology.rice.edu/) in the School of Social Sciences at Rice University are offering an in-residence postdoctoral fellowship in Sociology that is one year in length that will begin on August 1, 2022 and end on July 30, 2023. This position is renewable for up to one additional year (through July 30, 2024) based on performance during the first year.

This postdoctoral fellowship largely relates to a re-granting initiative awarded to Rice University and the University of California, San Diego called the “Science and Religion: Identity and Belief Formation” project; for more information, see here: https://www.nsssr.org/grant-initiative. The goal of this initiative is to fund sociological research that empirically examines how identities and beliefs (such as those related to race and gender) are related to science and religion; the initiative has been designed to provide support for new scholarship in the sociology of science and religion. The project, led by Elaine Howard Ecklund (Rice University) and John H. Evans (University of California, San Diego), is funded through the Templeton Religion Trust and coordinated by The Issachar Fund.

This postdoctoral position will consist of three arms:

1. Approximately one-third of the postdoctoral fellow's time will be devoted to his/her independent research/personal scholarship related to the sociological study of science and religion. This scholar will join a community of graduate student, early-career, mid-career, and senior scholars who have already been funded through the re-grating initiative. Postdoctoral applicants are eligible to apply if within two years of earning their PhD in sociology. To note, the postdoctoral fellow will receive direct mentoring from PI Ecklund and be housed in the Department of Sociology at Rice University. The postdoctoral fellow will additionally receive periodic mentoring from John H. Evans by way of videoconference over the course of the fellowship.

2. Approximately one-third of the postdoctoral fellow's time will be devoted to work related to the Network for the Sociological Study of Science and Religion (co-directed by Ecklund and Evans), broadly, and related to the “Science and Religion: Identity and Belief Formation” re-granting project (and grantee network), more specifically. This work will be... performed under the supervision of both Ecklund and Evans and include varied activities, ranging from conducting research and to engaging social media and outreach efforts.

3. Approximately one third of the postdoctoral fellow’s time will be devoted to other research projects or to research projects directed by Prof. Ecklund, and may include activities such as data collection, data analysis and writing efforts, along with some project management. Some research-related travel, presentations and supervision of junior scholars will be required, as well as event attendance, engagement in programming, and direct interaction with members of the Boniuk Institute and Religion and Public Life Program team.

This fellowship has been designed to support the scholarship and livelihood a postdoctoral fellow specifically in the field of sociology. Funding includes a one-year appointment with a stipend of $60,000 (plus benefits) at Rice University, as well as $5,000 per year for research expenses. The postdoctoral appointment and benefits will be governed by Rice University policies and by the Office of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies (GPS) guidelines for postdoctoral appointments.

We encourage applicants to visit the Rice websites for University Policies at http://postdoc.rice.edu/postdoc_fellow.htm for postdoctoral appointment guidelines. Fellowship funding may not be used for costs associated with relocation to Houston, Texas.

The fellow is expected to work an average of 40 hours per week. There are no teaching responsibilities associated with this fellowship. The fellow will be required to attend a grantees conference in Spring/early summer 2023 at the University of California, San Diego as part of their participation in the broader regranting initiative, as well as virtual meetings with other grantees. Expenses related to that conference will be supported by the broader project.

Application Instructions

Applicants must provide their (a) cover letter, (b) curriculum vitae, (c) a writing sample, and (d) at least two letters of recommendation. In addition to providing this application information, applicants are asked to (e) prepare a Letter of Intent (LOI) for the project they wish to pursue over the course of their fellowship year and explaining their fit with the fellowship. The LOI should include:

1. a title for the proposed project;
2. a description of the research;
3. project dates and brief timeline of activities;
4. an explanation of how the proposed project fits within the nsssr.org regranting initiative;
5. information on the project’s methodology and significance;
6. proposed collaborators, if applicable.

The letter of intent should be no longer than three pages in length (single-spaced, Times Roman 12-point font, 1-inch margins, in English, and submitted as one single PDF). Only LOIs of this length and with a thorough description of the proposed research will be considered. Casual inquiries are not invited.

The application deadline is June 30th but applications will be considered until the position is filled. The Rice University application system allows applicants to submit only two attachments: the (a) cover letter and (b) CV with their application. To be considered for this position, however, applicants must email their (c) writing sample and (e) project LOI directly to the Talent Acquisition team, at jobs@rice.edu, using “Postdoctoral Fellow, Network for the Sociological Study of Science and Religion” in the subject line. Additionally, applicants must have their two recommenders submit (d) recommendation letters directly to Laura Achenbaum, Associate Director of Research for the Religion and Public Life Program (lsa1@rice.edu) by the application deadline.

Essential Functions

- Documents, analyzes, and maintains research data for personal research, for the Network for the Sociological Study of Science and Religion initiative, and for Boniuk and RPLP research projects
- Mentors, oversees, and/or trains junior research team members
- Publishes and presents research findings
- Supports project management
- Designs and implements research protocols; adapts new procedures, methods or instrumentation relative to research procedures
- Some research-related travel, as well as event attendance and engagement in RPLP and Boniuk programming is required
- Performs all other duties as assigned

Required Qualifications
PhD or other doctoral degree in Sociology
  - No substitution for education is allowed
- Postdoctoral applicants are eligible to apply within two years of earning PhD in sociology
- Ability to establish a research agenda related to the sociology of science and religion
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills, as well as oral presentation skills
- Ability to work in a collaborative environment
- Ability to work independently and professionally with minimal supervision and direction

Preferred Qualifications

- Research experience or interests in the sociology of science and religion is preferred. How the sociology of science and religion intersect with a diverse array of subfields, however, is encouraged including (but not limited to) sociology of race and ethnicity; international migration; sociology of religion; science, knowledge, and technology; sociology of sex and gender; medical sociology and political sociology

Rice University is an Equal Opportunity Employer with commitment to diversity at all levels, and considers for employment qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, genetic information, disability or protected veteran status.

Current Rice University COVID policies, which include vaccination, face mask, testing, gatherings, occupancy limits, and travel policies can be found here: https://coronavirus.rice.edu/policies.

Employer Description:
Boasting a 300-acre tree-lined campus in Houston, Rice University is ranked among the nation's top 20 universities by U.S. News & World Report. Rice has a 6-to-1 undergraduate student-to-faculty ratio, and a residential college system, which supports students intellectually, emotionally and culturally through social events, intramural sports, student plays, lectures series, courses and student government. Developing close-knit, diverse college communities is a strong campus tradition, which is why Rice is highly ranked for best quality of life and best value among private universities.

Employer Description:
The University of Washington Medical Center (UWMC) is Washington’s #1 Hospital for well over a decade and has numerous nationally ranked surgical subspecialties. Anesthesiologists have the opportunity to care for a large number of complex patients in the unique setting of Seattle. Approximately, 35,000 anesthetics are conducted annually at UWMC.

The UWMC is the largest of the four hospitals in the University of Washington Medical system and serves as the flagship hospital for our teaching programs. At any given time, over twenty-five residents and fellows are on clinical rotations at UWMC.

The UWMC consists of thirty operating rooms including two fully integrated hybrid suites, thirteen anesthesiology staffed procedural sites (gastroenterology, bronchoscopy, cardiac cath lab, cardiac electrophysiology, interventional radiology and imaging areas) and other areas such as a vibrant Pre-Anesthesia Clinic.

Presently, the department is especially interested in applicants with an interest in having a balanced practice caring for patients from over ten surgical subspecialties including hepatobiliary surgery, urologic surgery, neuro/ortho spine surgery, kidney transplantation, endovascular, gynecologic surgery, sports medicine, acute care surgery and plastic surgery as part of our Division of Multispecialty Anesthesia. Salary Range: $70,000 - $79,999
Submission Link:

Job Description:

To enrich education through diversity, TCNJ is an Equal Opportunity Employer. TCNJ has a strong commitment to inclusive excellence and to achieve diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage a host of diverse, intersectional populations and cultures to apply including, but not limited to, identities based on race, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, disability, national origin, and veteran status.

Teacher-Scholar Fellow in Sociology at The College of New Jersey

The Department of Sociology and Anthropology at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invites applications for a non-tenure track Teacher-Scholar Fellow at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor, starting August 2022. The position is intended for a recent Ph.D. recipient and/or post-doctoral fellow in Sociology in any area with a focus on quantitative methods. Applicants who are nearing completion of the Ph.D. are also encouraged to apply. TCNJ has a strong commitment to inclusive excellence in our community and to supporting a healthy work-life balance for our faculty of teacher-scholars.

The successful candidate should be interested in pursuing an academic career at a primarily undergraduate institution (PUI) where teaching and research are both valued and integrated. The position is offered for two consecutive years (pending successful performance during year 1).

The selected Teacher-Scholar Fellow will work closely with experienced faculty mentors gaining professional development in inclusive pedagogy, course design, and student mentoring. The Fellow will have an opportunity to develop an independent research program involving undergraduates, gain teaching experience, and receive mentoring toward attainment of a full-time, tenure-track position at a PUI. The fellowship includes funding for research support and professional travel to scholarly/professional development conferences.

The Fellow will collaborate with other departments to develop, pilot, and assess an inclusive, student-centered in-person introductory course in statistics for social scientists. Teaching duties will include in-person introductory and mid-level courses in sociology and research methods, with the opportunity to develop a course in the applicant's area of expertise.

Please visit the Department's website for information on our faculty members and their research interests: https://socanth.tcnj.edu/

To Apply

Applicants should send (a) a letter of application, (b) curriculum vitae, (c) statement of teaching philosophy, (d) statement of research interests and goals, (e) statement of commitment to inclusivity and diversity, and (f) representative teaching evaluations, if applicable; these should be compiled into a single PDF file. Please apply to the following link https://tcnj.taleo.net/careersection/00_ex_faculty/jobdetail.ftl?job=22001172&lang=en

Applicants should also arrange for three current letters of recommendation (one focused on teaching) to be sent to socanth@tcnj.edu.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled, but applications should be received by June 15, 2022 to receive full consideration. The successful applicant must present proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Employer Qualifications:

- Final offer of employment is contingent upon the successful completion of background check and reference checks.

Employer Description:

About TCNJ

Founded in 1855, TCNJ is a selective public PUI that has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. TCNJ emphasizes the residential experience for our nearly 6,500 undergraduate students, 30% of whom are self-described as members of groups traditionally underrepresented in academe. Students benefit from a 13-to-1 student-to-faculty ratio and an average class size of 21 students, which has led to TCNJ attaining a first-year to sophomore retention rate of 94% and a graduation rate of 86%. TCNJ has also received national recognition for the adoption and promotion of the teacher-scholar model for our faculty and deep engagement of our undergraduates in research. TCNJ was awarded the inaugural “Campus-wide Award for Undergraduate Research Accomplishment” from the Council of Undergraduate Research in 2016. In part because of TCNJ's intentional and comprehensive integration of research into our undergraduate curricula and institutional culture, an increasing number of TCNJ graduates have pursued and completed doctoral degrees over the past ten years. TCNJ was awarded, in 2006, a Phi Beta Kappa chapter—an honor shared by less than 10 percent of colleges and universities nationally. A strong liberal arts core forms the foundation for programs offered through TCNJ’s seven schools—Arts and Communication; Business; Education; Engineering; Humanities and Social Sciences; Nursing, Health, and Exercise Science; and Science. TCNJ is located within an hour, by train, of New York City and Philadelphia. The College’s campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its natural beauty. For more information, visit www.tcnj.edu.

TCNJ is the proud recipient of an Inclusive Excellence grant from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute (HHMI), which supports our work to provide access and foster success for all students, especially those traditionally underserved by higher education. TCNJ has also been a recipient of a National Science Foundation (NSF) ADVANCE grant, which has worked to support the careers of women faculty members.

Institution: New York University Abu Dhabi
Department: Division of Social Science
Region: Middle East
Title: Instructor of Social Science with an emphasis in Computational/Quantitative Methods (Open Rank)
Position/Rank: Academic Positions: Instructor, Open
Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Applicable
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Communication and Information Technologies, Quantitative Methodology
Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

Instructor of Social Science with an emphasis in Computational/Quantitative Methods (Open Rank)

Division of Social Science
New York University Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at New York University (NYU) Abu Dhabi is looking to hire an instructor (open rank) in the field of computational social science or data science, with some background in a social science field and expertise in computational techniques and have a working knowledge of the computational environments of Python and/or R, to provide support to faculty with grading and administrative duties for computationally intensive undergraduate courses as well as other courses in the Division of Social Science.

NYUAD students come from more than 115 countries, with no single nationality exceeding more than 15 percent of the total student population. Likewise, our faculty are highly diverse; over 320 faculty members represent more than 45 different nationalities and bring a global perspective to their classrooms and research projects. NYUAD is committed to building and strengthening a university-wide culture of inclusion, diversity, belonging, and equity (IDBE), which is fundamental to the university's commitment to excellence. For more information on NYUAD's commitment to IDBE and how these values are fundamental to our mission, click here.

Qualifications

The candidate will have broad familiarity with several subfields in the social and behavioral sciences, with an emphasis on quantitative methodology/data analysis, as well as expertise in computational techniques. They must be comfortable coding in Python or R (and willing to adapt to the language used in their assigned courses), and be willing to assist students with computationally intensive projects, as well as leading and teaching computational labs complementing the teaching faculty's course material. They will have a proven track-record of English-language academic writing for their coursework and at least some experience leading small-group discussions.

Candidates must have at least a master's degree in data science or any computational field or a related discipline with a background in a social science field and, ideally, some experience providing teaching support. Fluency in spoken and written English is essential, and familiarity with the US or British higher educational systems is preferable.

Listing Active: 6/1/2022 to 7/1/2022

Institution: Rice University
Department: Department of Sociology
Region: Southwest
Title: Post-Baccalaureate Fellow

Position/Rank: Fellowships/Post-docs: Pre-doctoral, Sociological Practice/Applied/Other: Researcher
Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Applicable

Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Urban Sociology, Quantitative Methodology

Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

The Department of Sociology at Rice University (http://sociology.rice.edu) in Houston, TX is hiring a full-time research assistant. The fellow will work with Dr. Elizabeth Roberto, Assistant Professor of Sociology, on projects studying social and spatial inequality using quantitative and computational methods. The position duration is one year, beginning in the summer of 2022, and includes a salary and full benefits.

Launched in 2009, Rice’s post-baccalaureate fellowship provides recent bachelor's or master's degree graduates the opportunity to work with a sociology department faculty member in an intensive research and mentoring experience. Designed as a one-year fellowship, this is an excellent opportunity for those interested in attending graduate school in the social sciences or related professional fields after the completion of their fellowship year. In addition to receiving hands-on training in the methods of social science research, fellows benefit by having the opportunity to attend academic talks, obtain recommendations for graduate school, and receive assistance in applying to top graduate programs.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to Prof. Elizabeth Roberto; email: eroberto@rice.edu. Rice University is an equal opportunity employer with a commitment to diversity at all levels, and I encourage applicants from underrepresented backgrounds to apply for this position.

Employer Description:

Rice University is an Equal Opportunity Employer with commitment to diversity at all levels, and considers for employment qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, genetic information, disability or protected veteran status.

Job 17988: Postdoctoral Researcher

Date Position is Available: Summer 2022

Application Deadline:

Listing Active: 6/1/2022 to 7/1/2022

Institution: University of Pennsylvania
Department: Center for Social Norms and Behavioral Dynamics
Region: All US Regions
Title: Postdoctoral Researcher
Position/Rank: Fellowships/Post-docs: Post-doctoral
Tenure/Tenure Track: Not Tenure Track
Special Program and Areas of Faculty Expertise: Open to All Specialty Areas
Salary Range: Negotiable

Job Description:

One post-doctoral position is available at the Center for Social Norms and Behavioral Dynamics at the University of Pennsylvania. This position is linked to a large-scale research project that aims to explore the relations between social norms, trust, and poverty across the US. The postdoctoral researcher will support the PIs (Prof. Cristina Bicchieri, Dr. Kevin Vallier, and Dr. Enrique Fatas) in designing and conducting experimental work, conducting data analysis, and work on activities including background research and literature reviews, mixed-methods research design (including design of a national survey on social norms and trust), data collection and analysis, as well as writing of papers, reports, and dissemination pieces. The Postdoctoral Fellow will also support the Project Manager in coordinating the general progress of research activities and will supervise the work of Research Specialists.

Applicants should have obtained a PhD in the social sciences before the start of the fellowship. Applicants from Sociology, Social Psychology, and similar disciplines with good knowledge of survey methods will be considered. Experience and interest researching poverty and inequality topics in the US is required. Applicants should have experience with mixed-methods research and conducting statistical analyses using R (required) and Stata (strongly preferred).

The postdoctoral researcher is expected to participate fully in the intellectual life of the Center, and to contribute to the vibrant interdisciplinary group of economists, behavioral and political scientists at Penn that includes faculty, postdocs and students in the Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Program. The position is available starting Summer 2022, for an initial period of one year with potential extension for up to two additional years.

Candidates should apply at http://apply.interfolio.com/102597. Please submit a CV, a cover letter, two samples of written work and the names and affiliations of three recommenders (who may be contacted later). The University will contact the recommenders directly with instructions on how to submit their letters.

The Center for Social Norms and Behavioral Dynamics is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to creating a more diverse faculty (for more information see: http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html). Minorities, women, individuals with disabilities and protected veterans are encouraged to apply.
