CHAIR’S REPORT
Submitted by Darlaine Gardetto

First, I would like to thank everyone (council, committee chairs and members) for their efforts to keep the section strong and vibrant. Kathleen McKinney (Past Chair) and Jeff Chin (Chair Elect) deserve special thanks for providing me with generous counsel/support during my term as chair. Secretary-Treasurer Kathy Feltey, Publications Chair Kerry Strand, Awards Committee Chair Cathy Zimmer and Cooperative Initiatives Chair Diane Taub, were always available when I needed information or advice. Kerry Strand will be leaving Council as her term expired in late August, as will Todd Bernhardt (2 Year), and Diane Taub (University). Our new chair-elect is Elizabeth Grauerholz, University of Central Florida, and our new council members include: Krisler Bailey, Tarrant County College (Two-year Representative); Rachael Neal, Coe College (Four-Year Representative); David Purcell, Kent State University (University Representative); and Alison Moss, University of Illinois at Chicago (Student Representative). I would also like to thank our new newsletter editors, Corey Dolgon, Kathleen Korgen and Jonathan White, for their outstanding service to the section during 2010-2011. Finally, a big thanks goes to Diane Pike and her able committee, for organizing our pre-conference teaching workshop and to Keith Roberts for his continuing work with SAGE/Pine Forge Press and the way in which he and his committee were able to facilitate 23 travel awards for ASA 2011.

I would also like to thank all the ASA staff, especially: Margaret Vitullo, for generously stepping in to take notes at our business meeting when our secretary/treasurer could not attend; Justin Lini for taking care of all the sections and for helping me to keep track of deadlines; and Kareem Jenkins and Lee Morris for making sure that things ran smoothly at the convention!

Highlights of the year (see details in committee reports below):

- In the fall of 2010 I reported in the newsletter that membership had dropped off a bit, from 813 members in 2009, to 747 members in 2010. I am pleased to report that due to the efforts of David Purcell, membership chair, and his committee members, we were able to increase our members to 804 by September 30, 2011.
- We have a new webmaster, Lynn Ritchey, who graciously volunteered to take over for Michael DeCesare. Michael stepped down from as STLS Webmaster after many years of outstanding service to the section.
- The winner of the Hans O. Mauksch Award was Nancy A. Greenwood (Indiana University Kokomo).
- The Cooperative Initiatives Committee had a busy year. They collaborated with SSSP, The Rural Sociological Society, SSSI and the ACRL.
- There were 102 applicants for the SAGE/Pine Forge Award and 23 recipients. SAGE has renewed their commitment for another five years.
- We had 41 participants attend the teaching preconference which included a keynote by Ed Kain and a full day of panels.
- Jeff Chin and the program committee put together a fine set of STLS sessions at ASA that were well-attended and well-received.
• Kathleen McKinney and her committee put together an excellent slate of candidates for 2011. We thank members who were willing to place their names on the ballot!
• ASA (Las Vegas) sessions were well attended and approximately 40 attended our Business Meeting.

Committee Reports
(Submitted by Committee Chair)

Awards Committee
Members of the Committee:
Catherine Zimmer (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill), Chair
Rebecca Bach (Duke University)
Dana Greene (North Carolina Central University)

A. Awards
The STLS Awards Committee is charged with soliciting nominees and choosing winners for two awards:

1. The Hans O. Mauksch Award for Contributions to Undergraduate Education, and

2. The Carla B. Howery Award for Developing Teacher-Scholars.

The call for nominees for both awards went out during the Fall Semester of 2010 in Footnotes and the STLS Newsletter. In addition, the call was posted on our website.

B. Nominee
The committee received only one nomination letter at the end of January, 2011 for a single nominee for one of the awards this year – the Hans. O. Mauksch Award. Each committee member read the entire nomination portfolio for the nominee. We then exchanged views via email on whether the nominee should receive the award.

C. Winner
The unanimous decision of the committee was to grant the Hans O. Mauksch Award to Nancy A. Greenwood (Indiana University Kokomo).

D. Recommendation
The 2011 STLS Awards Committee was very disappointed to receive only one nomination for one of the section’s awards. This is not an isolated event. Over the last three years nominations have been very few indeed. As a section, we recommend that we push our colleagues to nominate their colleagues for these awards. And we should take responsibility ourselves and nominate our colleagues. We know that there is no shortage of deserving nominees in our midst!
Cooperative Initiatives
Members of the committee:
Diane Taub (chair)
Shirley Jackson
Carol Jenkins
Marlynn May
Bryce Merrill
Purna Mohanty
Sally Willson Weimer

The chair had several individual and group correspondences with committee members throughout the year. All committee members have served on this committee for two years.

This committee is tasked with working on collaborations (e.g., shared sessions or projects) with other groups internal to ASA (e.g., DRG or another section) or external to ASA (e.g., regional sociological associations or other disciplinary associations). Committee activities are to involve other groups that share STLS concerns with education and scholarship on teaching and learning.

Activities
- Carol Jenkins continues our Section’s collaborative involvement with the Rural Sociological Society (RSS), which recently held its 2011 annual meeting. Carol reports that the Rural Sociological Society Research and Interest Groups: Teaching and Curriculum (parallels our Section) again had multiple sessions in the regular program that were well attended and received well. Plans for the 2012 meeting in Chicago include sessions on technology in the classroom, university restructuring and teaching changes due to the economic crisis, a workshop introducing academic portfolios, and student advising/career counseling. The professional development certification program was again successful and will continue next year. A designated RSS website link for teaching and learning also is being considered. The idea of a “mini-plenary” session on teaching and learning in the general program was discussed.
- Bryce Merrill organized two sessions, both cosponsored by our Section and the Society for the Study of Symbolic Interaction (SSSI), for the 2011 annual meeting of the Society for the Study of Symbolic Interaction. The first session is on pedagogical reflections on teaching symbolic interaction, and the second includes presentations of teaching exercises, lessons, and lectures. Bryce originally proposed one session, but received 15 submissions. He then received approval to create two sessions to accommodate the submissions. Bryce believes that one reason for the large number of submissions was that our Section posted the call on our listserv. The SSSI typically requires that presenters be members of its society, but has waived that for STLS members.
As a liaison to the ASA of the Association of College and Research Libraries Division (ACRL) of the American Library Association (ALA), Sally Willson Weimer co-conducted a workshop at the 2010 annual meeting of the ASA, entitled “The Library and Sociology: A New Rapid Assessment Tool for Library Collections and Services Related to Sociology.” Sally also co-conducted a case study workshop on continuing to examine the ACRL Anthropology and Sociology Section (ANSS) assessment tool for Sociology Collections and Services in Academic Libraries, at the 2010 annual meeting of the California Sociological Association. This assessment tool, revised July 2010, is located at http://anssacrll.wordpress.com/publications/assessment-tool/ and was adopted by the ACRL ANSS Executive Board. In addition, a tiered version is located at the ASA’s Department Resources Group web page. Sally co-discussed quantitative literacy trends, and the opportunity to collaborate with ASA and ACRL members, during the 2011 ANSS Sociology Librarians Discussion Group meeting. Lastly, Sally reports that the ANSS Instruction and Information Literacy Committee is collaborating to build a Repository of Teaching Materials to support information literacy needs of sociology librarians and sociology faculty. This repository is located at http://archive.nyu.edu/handle/2451/28103

David Purcell (Chair), Kent State University
Meghan Burke, Illinois Wesleyan University
Carolyn Corrado, University at Albany, SUNY
Linda Rillorta, Mt. San Antonio College
Lydia Rose, Kent State University, East Liverpool

Chair's notes
I became the Membership Chair in October 2010 after serving on the committee for a year. Many thanks to past chair Susan Ferguson for answering my questions and leaving detailed notes on our activities, and Darlaine Gardetto for being supportive and patient. The committee got off to a slow start due to my being overcommitted in spring 2011 – however, we are now making up for this with a variety of activities that are detailed below. We welcome suggestions or offers of assistance from other members of the section.

Membership levels
As displayed in the table below, the section grew every year from 2001 to 2010, with a peak of 813 members in 2009. We lost 66 members (-8.1% change) in 2010. I emailed all of the lapsed members in spring 2010 – many of them responded to say that they had dropped their ASA memberships entirely due to budget cutbacks and the difficult economic climate. As of 6/29/11, we are just four members short of last year’s total, and 57 members short of hitting the 800 mark, which will give us another session at the 2012 meeting.

Current Activities
1. Fall Membership Drive
I plan to email all lapsed members in the next two weeks to urge them to renew their membership, with a focus on how close we are to gaining another section at the 2012 meetings.

2. ASA Public Relations Giveaway
Last year, we distributed LED keychain flashlights. This year, thanks to Melinda Messineo's excellent suggestion, we decided to go with mini-highlighters. The price was very reasonable (.42/unit @ 650 units) and as Melinda noted, meeting attendees could use them right away to highlight sessions in the program. Lydia Rose, Linda Rillorta, and I will take the lead on distributing them at the ASA meeting. I will take them to the section preconference and the Employment Service area; Linda will distribute them at the Community College reception. We will also plan to distribute them at the regional conferences.

3. Survey of Lapsed Members
Carolyn Corrado is taking the lead on developing a brief survey of lapsed members. As I noted earlier, many lapsed members noted last year that they dropped their ASA membership altogether for economic reasons. Through the survey, we hope to gain more insight on why members do not renew in the section.

4. Social Media
Meghan Burke is taking the lead on developing a Facebook page for the section. I suggested to Darlaine and Jeffrey that we also consider a Twitter feed for the section. I believe the plan is to discuss this at the business meeting.

5. Outreach at regional meetings
We will coordinate a strategy to promote the section at the regional meetings. Last year, Carolyn Corrado created a one-page information sheet to distribute. Lydia volunteered to build on this by developing additional flyers and informational handouts that can be distributed at the meetings. Our plan is not set since the meetings are not until the spring – as of now, we know that Linda will be at PSA and I will be at NCSA.
6. Additional ideas under consideration:
• Promote the section more aggressively to graduate students, especially those who may be interested in teaching careers.
• Directly target Graduate School Program Coordinators.
• Target faculty at smaller schools where teaching is more prominent.
• Distribute STLS brochures at the ASA Employment Service.

Nominations Committee
Committee Members
Kathleen McKinney, Chair
Volunteer committee members:
Jeff Chin, LeMoyne College
Darlaide Gardetto, St. Louis Community College-Meramec
Reese Kelley, SUNY Albany
Katherine Rowell, Sinclair Community College

Through a variety of strategies including sending around volunteer sign-up sheets at the section business meeting at ASA 2010, posting open calls for volunteers to the section list and to the teachsoc list, and asking for recommendations from membership committee members and other members of section council, we generated a list of possible candidates for all positions. I then contacted everyone to see who was willing and able to run. In addition, we kept in mind diversity and inclusiveness as much as was possible (re gender, institutional type). Finally, we attempted to balance the slate of candidates in that ASA prefers no one run unopposed, especially for officer positions. Once I obtained the final slate of candidates, I requested brief bios and submitted the slate and bios to ASA. The following final slate of candidates was on the ASA ballot in spring 2011.

Chair-Elect – from a University this year-- (term August 2011-August 2012, then one year as Chair, then one year as Past-Chair)
Elizabeth Grauerholz, University of Central Florida*
Melinda Messineo, Ball State University

Student Representative to Council (term August 2011-August 2013)
Alison Moss - The University of Illinois at Chicago*
Maria Paino, University of Georgia
Brandy L. Simula -Emory University
Hephzibah Strmic-Pawl, University of Virginia

Community College Representative to Council (term August 2011-August 2014)
Krisler Bailey, Tarrant County College*
Rifat Anjum Salam, Borough of Manhattan Community Colleges

Four Year Institution Representative to Council (term August 2011-August 2014)
Michael DeCesare, Merrimack College
Rachael Neal, Coe College*
Ted Wagenaar, Miami of Ohio
University Representative to Council (term August 2011-August 2014)
Daniel Cortese, Governors’ State University
David Purcell, Kent State University*

*Those who were elected to Council.

Publications Committee
Committee Members:
Kerry Strand, Chair
Brent Harger, Albright College
Melinda Jo Messineo, Ball State University
Michael DeCesare, Merrimack Colleg
Corey Dolgon et al. (ex officio)

Actions and action items:

1. Michael DeCesare asked to be replaced as the section’s web master. After sending out a call to section members, I received four offers to take over this task and accepted the first. Our new webmaster is Lynn Richey (University of Cincinnati). Thanks to Michael for his hard work and for his help making this a smooth transition.

2. At last year’s Council meeting, members approved the recommendation of the committee that Corey Dolgon, Jonathan White, and Kathleen Korgen become STL newsletter editors. The Council also approved some changes in the process by which the newsletter editor is selected and the terms of service. Henceforth, interested section members apply to the Publications Committee and the Committee then makes a recommendation to Council, who votes whether to accept the recommendation. The council also voted, in 2010, to make this a three-year term.

Thanks to Corey Dolgon, Kathleen Korgen, and Jonathan White for their fine work on the section newsletter and, again, to Michael DeCesare for updating and maintaining the website over the past year.

Ad Hoc Committees

The SAGE/Pine Forge Teaching Innovations & Professional Development Award: 2011
Submitted by Keith A. Roberts, Selection Committee Chair

This year there were 102 applicants for the SAGE/Pine Forge Award, and award that provides $500 in expenses to award recipient to attend the Section Preconference workshop on teaching. This year there were 23 recipients chosen by a committee of the STLS. This means that our Section received more than $11,000 in donations—$5,000 from Sage/Pine Forge Publishers and the rest from SAGE/Pine Forge authors. This is the fifth year of a program that was initially approved for five years, and over the five years since it was started, 95 graduate students or untenured junior faculty members have received grants to attend our workshop. It has also expanded from two supporting authors to 25. The good news is that SAGE has deemed the program so highly successful that they have renewed their commitment for another five years. (Your help in extending kudos to SAGE/Pine Forge and to the sponsoring authors has helped to keep this going. No other publisher and authors do anything like this for the discipline and for the teaching movement in sociology.) This year was the first year that authorial support actually surpassed the SAGE contribution, so SAGE Publications has increased their level of support to $7,500 per year—an increase of 50% from the publishers. This could mean that in the future we will be able to support 25 or more young scholars to attend this workshop.

The 2011 recipients of the award are listed below:

Christopher Todd Beer
Indiana University

Casey Brienza
University of Cambridge

Sarah E. Cribbs
University of Oregon

Jamie Dolan
Carroll College

Angela Frederick

The selection committee, except for Keith Roberts, is composed section members who are former recipients of the award:

- Keith Roberts (Indiana--Hanover College)
- Wenhong Wang (Washington--Evergreen State College)
- Amy Traver (New York--Queensborough Community College)
Sarah Rusche (North Carolina--North Carolina State University)
Emily Bowman (Iowa--Coe College; also finishing up at Indiana University)

At the ASA annual meeting, SAGE/Pine Forge will host a reception in their book booth, honoring recipients and supporting authors and celebrating the five years of this successful program. The co-sponsoring books/authors for 2011 are listed below.

Jeanne Ballantine and Keith Roberts  Our Social World 3rd ed; Our Social World, Condensed

Kathleen Korgen and Jonathan White  The Engaged Sociologist 3rd ed.

Peter Kivisto  Key Ideas in Sociology 3rd ed; Illuminating Social Life 4th ed;

It was my privilege to lead planning team that presented the 2011 workshop for the second year. Thank you so much to the section on teaching and learning for this opportunity. I am pleased to report that by all accounts the workshop, ignoring the cold temperature of the hotel ballroom, was a resounding success.

That success comes from a number of factors. First, because this was my second round as lead, I believe I was able to learn from our first year (which also went very well) and thus tweak and build for the program in 2011. Second, the planning team had the benefit of both seasoned members and new members. Danielle McCartney and Nancy Greenwood deserve thanks again for serving a second year on the planning team and participating in the workshop; the Cole Sabatini and David Purcell joined the workshop planning team and did an excellent job. It has been my experience that this program does need a leader who coordinates and does a significant portion of the work; that said, a quality planning team is essential to determining good programming quality control and new ideas. It is truly a collaborative effort. Details regarding the structure and planning will be forwarded to the new workshop lead in the Handbook.

The goal this year was to have 40 participants and we had 41. In addition to those participants we had 10 other colleagues involved in the keynote roundtables, or the consulting sessions. One of my goals was to make sure those persons who were involved in a roundtable for example also had the opportunity to be involved in other activities during the day. This way we ensure that people who are involved fully participate throughout the whole workshop, rather than simply coming in for one isolated session and then leaving.

Several innovations have been added in the last two years which the new planning committee may wish to consider. First, we added asking participants to do a reading prior to the workshop so that that could be the basis of a small group discussion. This worked well both years but especially well the second year as I think we picked a better reading. The keynote with Ed came both years was very well received. We added the quote teacher is in consultations and those seem to be a successful addition as well. One of the goals was to increase the amount of participation and engagement of those attending the workshop since it is easy to have a day that's full of listening to panels and speakers and perhaps does not use as much and varied pedagogy as might be used. Eight different pedagogies were intentionally used in the workshop in 2011. The central goal was to model, model, model.

The partnership with Sage publishing is healthy and will continue for the next five years. This travel Grant award program went to over 20 of our participants. I think it is a good balance to have both award winners and those participants were able to come on their own. The generosity of Sage is important and we owe many thanks to Keith Roberts, Jeanne Ballantine and Greg Weiss for their early leadership in this program. Assessment data is available from Keith as well as from the post conference survey which I sent participants in September. A copy of that report will be sent to the section chair.

Again, let me express my appreciation for the opportunity to work on this project and to support the mission of the section on teaching and learning. It has been a true pleasure.
