92nd Annual Meeting August 9-13, 1997

Sheraton Centre Toronto, Toronto Hilton Toronto Marriott Eaton Centre, Toronto Colony Toronto, Ontario, Canada

Theme: "Bridges for Sociology: International and Interdisciplinary"

Sociology, along with some of its sister social sciences, has expressed two dominant impulses in its development: it has grown along national lines, and it has moved incessantly toward greater specialization of inquiry. Both impulses are understandable and to some extent valuable. Sociology as nation-based knowledge has reflected the dominant political realities of the world in which it has developed; the national focus, moreover, has encouraged a focus on problems-at-hand, and probably discouraged an excessive preoccupation with abstract universals. Specialization has arisen as an expression of the scientific imperatives to isolate, focus, analyze, and control and thereby gain greater precision of knowledge.

Both impulses, however, have exacted serious costs. Sociologies based on nation, region, and group have contributed to parochialism, misunderstanding, and sometimes conflict. More generally, they stand in violation of the maxim that scientific knowledge knows no group or national boundaries. Moreover, as an entire world internationalizes along economic, political, and cultural lines, a focus on national units and problems progressively loses relevance. With respect to specialization, too, the increasing interconnectedness and "systemness" of the world now dictates that many phenomena we wish to analyze—the state, the economy, technology and its ramification, health care, violence, and others—defy understanding from a single standpoint and demand explanations based on multiple perspectives.

The theme for the 1997 ASA Annual Meeting in Toronto will be on international and interdisciplinary bridges. Accordingly we will organize thematic and general sessions under the following headings:

- Substantive topics of evident international importance--for example, multinational production, trade, migration, globalization of culture, international stratification; in addition, notable and promising examples of comparative, cross-societal research developments.
- Theoretical relations, empirical articulations, and research collaborations among sociology and the other behavioral and social sciences.
- The internationalization of sociology--promising developments, facilitating and obstructing conditions, examples of international collaboration, institutional infrastructures for internationalization.

ASA Business Meeting and Open Forum

The ASA Business Meeting is an opportunity for members of the Association to discuss important issues facing the discipline and profession. Members are encouraged to attend this "town business meeting" convened by ASA officers and Council.

The major item on this year's agenda is an open forum discussion on race and ethnic classification. A task force of federal agencies recently recommended changes to the OMB Policy Directive 15 on "Race and Ethnic Standards for Federal Statistics and Administrative Reporting." Directive 15 has been used since 1977 as the basis for the definitions, format, and tabulation of race and ethnicity for the federal government. In the past few years, numerous demographic and social changes have led to a number of requests to reconsider Directive 15, particularly as it relates to multi-racial classification. The task force recommended that multiple racial categories should be available. OMB is receiving comments on the recommendations until September 8. Suzanne Bianchi from the University of Maryland will lead the discussion.

Summary reports on the Association and its key activities this year will be given by President Smelser, Secretary Sullivan, and Executive Officer Levine. The meeting concludes with the traditional transfer of the gavel, marking the transition of duties from President Smelser to incoming President Ouadagno.

All meeting attendees are invited to join ASA officers, Council members, and staff for continental breakfast and discussion at the ASA Business Meeting on Tuesday, August 12, 7:30-8:30 a.m., in the Grand Ballroom Center at the Sheraton Centre.

Thematic Sessions

Thematic Sessions are devoted to investigating the meeting theme, "Bridges for Sociology: International and Interdisciplinary." The Program Committee encouraged organizers to include international scholars and those from other disciplines in these sessions. Topics introduced in the 20 Thematic Sessions will be developed throughout the Annual Meeting Program in workshops, seminars, discussions, poster presentations, and paper sessions.

Spotlight on Canada

Sessions on Canada and topics of interest to Canadian sociologists have been included throughout the Annual Meeting program. The 1997 Program Committee invited the Canadian Sociological and Anthropological Association (CSAA) and the Association Canadienne des Sociologues et des Anthropologues de Langue Française (ACSALF) to organize Thematic Sessions for this year's program. Many Canadian sociologists were invited to serve as session organizers. Other sessions which feature Canada include a plenary, nine special sessions, and several regular and Section paper sessions. A series of city tours explores the neighborhoods and streets of Toronto, and the first ASA 5K "Fun Run" allows preregistrants to experience the city firsthand. Some of the substantive program sessions are highlighted below; see the "Toronto Tours" section for complete details on special site visits and tours.

Special Session. Policy and Planning for Livable Communities:

Special Events for Directors of Graduate Study

ASA's Academic and Professional Affairs Program and Committee on Graduate Education recognize the important role of Directors of Graduate Study (DGS) in the lives of students and for strong sociology graduate programs. In partnership with the Department Chair, the DGS is an important leader in shaping department policies and opportunities for an effective gradu-ate program. Therefore, ASA has planned a series of events to encourage interchange among sociologists in the DGS role.

On Tuesday, August 12, there will be events pertinent to graduate studies. Session topics include reflections on the graduate admissions process, the graduate curricula core and canon, opportunities for sociologists in international development, trends in PhD production and employment opportunities, and special educational needs and contributions of international students.

Preregistration and fee payment are required. Fees are $50 for Directors of Graduate Study from Department Affiliates, $75 for non-affiliate Directors of Graduate Study. The registration fee includes all conference materials, and breakfast and lunch on Tuesday. Preregistered attendees should have received their tickets with their name badges when they picked up program materials at ASA Preregistration. Those who did not preregister may check at the ASA Tickets counter on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre for possible openings.

ASA Chair Conference

The ASA Academic and Professional Affairs Program is convening the Fourth Annual ASA Chair Conference. The conference is designed for new and current chairs at all types of institutions. The conference provides "briefings" on issues of critical importance for departmental leadership. Panels and informal conversation will facilitate chairs sharing information and advice. As always, chairs will meet in groups with chairs from similar institutions to discuss common issues. The ASA Research Program on the Discipline and Profession will present data on faculty review and workload issues as well as enrollment trends.

The conference begins in Conference Room B-C at the Sheraton Centre on Friday, August 8, at 1:00 p.m. and concludes at 2:15 p.m. on Saturday, August 9. The major briefing sessions will focus on: National Issues and Trends in Higher Education Affecting Sociology Department; An Inclusive Curriculum and Climate for Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, and Transgendered People; An Inclusive Curriculum and Climate for Students with Disabilities and Compliance with the ADA; Excellence and Equity in Sociology Departments; Everything You've Always Wanted to Know about Enrollments; Undergraduate Enrollment Management Strategies; and Strategies for Building Excellent Faculties.

Preregistration and fee payment are required. Fees for the Chair Conference are $75 for chairs from Department Affiliates; $95 for chairs from non-affiliate departments. The registration fee includes all conference materials, coffee breaks, dessert on Friday night, and breakfast and lunch on Saturday.

Preregistered attendees should have received their tickets with their name badges when they picked up program materials at ASA Preregistration. Those who did not preregister may check at the ASA Tickets counter on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre for possible openings.

Regular Sessions

Regular Sessions are comprised of papers submitted in response to the 1997 Call for Papers. One hundred and four general topics were announced for open submission, and each Regular Session organizer received anywhere from 3 to 66 submissions for review. A total of 181 formal paper sessions were organized from the submitted papers. (Last year 160 sessions were formed from 79 announced topics.) Please refer to the Program Schedule for details on each Regular Session.

Sixth Annual Research Support Forum Invited Speakers include NSF's Bennett Berthental, OSTP's Daryl Chubin, and COSSA's Howard Silver NIH's Norman B. Anderson featured at Town Meeting

ASA is pleased to announce the sixth annual Research Support Forum on Sunday, August 10, and Monday, August 11. This year's Forum features two science policy sessions, a professional workshop on developing competitive research proposals, and two poster/exhibits (one on research funding opportunities and one on available data resources). The two poster sessions have grown to be major events.

The Forum begins Sunday morning at 8:30 a.m. with a professional workshop on "Proposal Grantsmanship and Opportunities for Federal Funding for Research." Representatives from leading science agencies will discuss available support, offer advice on how to best develop competitive research proposals, and outline the review and evaluation process.

This session is followed at 10:30 a.m. by the first science policy session on "Social and Behavioral Sciences: Federal R&D Opportunities and Constraints." In this session, key leaders address the current political and policy climate and its implications for the social and behavioral sciences. Panelists Bennett I. Bertenthal (National Science Foundation), Daryl Chubin (White House Office of Science and Technology Policy), and Howard J. Silver (Consortium of Social Science Associations) assess the past year, candidly consider current funding constraints and opportunities, and provide fresh insights on what can be expected during the coming year. Research infrastructure and data resources are special points of attention.

The poster/exhibit session on "Research Funding Opportunities" takes place on Sunday afternoon (1:00-4:00 p.m.). It is an excellent opportunity for meeting participants to talk face-to-face with representatives of various funding agencies. Representatives from public and private funding organizations will be available to answer questions about funding priorities, application procedures, and other specific issues of concern.

The second poster/exhibit featuring "Data Resources" is scheduled over a three-hour period on Monday morning (9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon). This session provides attendees with an opportunity to meet principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale data sets that are publicly available for use. Each exhibit showcases at least one major data set of tremendous value for analysis. With over 30 exhibits (many with hands-on presentations and Internet access), this event is an excellent way to learn about available data resources and their potential for a range of research and teaching uses.

This year's Forum concludes with a Town Meeting with Norman B. Andersen, Associate Director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) and Director of the NIH Office of Behavioral and Social Sciences Research (OBSSR). This science policy session focuses on OBSSR's five-year strategic plan for advancing social and behavioral sciences at NIH and the role of the social and behavioral sciences in the study of health and well-being. Dr. Anderson will respond to questions from a panel of sociologists, and the audience is encouraged to engage in open discussion and exchange. The strategic plan is available on a complimentary basis at Paper Sales in advance of the session.

Didactic Seminars

Didactic seminars are designed to keep sociologists abreast of recent scholarly trends and developments. Experts considered to be at the forefront of a given field are invited by the Program Committee to conduct these sessions. There are 11 seminars this year.

Seminar speakers will present materials to explain specialized developments within their topic areas. Seminars are scheduled for two to four hours, except for the premeeting course co-sponsored by the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research and the ASA Section on Methodology. Please see the listing below for session details and brief descriptions provided by the leaders.

Attendance at each Didactic Seminar is limited to 50 people, and prepaid registration is required. Fees are noted with each seminar listing below. All persons registering for seminars must also be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting. Attendees who preregistered should have received their tickets with their name badges when they picked up their program materials at ASA Preregistration.

Reservations for all seminars were accepted in order of receipt in the ASA Executive Office. Those who did not make advance reservations may check at the ASA Tickets counter on the Concourse level of the Sheraton Centre for possible openings.

Hierarchical Linear Models (co-sponsored by the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research and the ASA Section on Methodology)

Friday, August 8, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon; 1:00-4:00 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Fees: $100 Methodology Section member, $60 students, $125 other Ticket required for admission

Stephen Raudenbush, Michigan State University

Hierarchically structured data arise in many studies including crosssectional surveys of respondents nested within families, schools, neighborhoods, or organizations: panel surveys where time series data are clustered within persons; experiments in which treatments are administered to intact clusters such as classrooms, therapy groups, hospitals, or cities; and meta analyses in which subjects are nested within studies. Hierarchical linear models (HLM) provides a conceptual framework and a set of flexible analytical tools for approaching such data. The course will introduce the basic two-level model for continuous outcomes with extensions to discrete outcomes and more complex designs including longitudinal studies that aim to assess the effects of context on the trajectories of individual change. Topics to be covered include the general two-level model using ANOVA, group means, contextual effects, ANCOVA, and cross-level models, with applications to clustered data and repeated measures (growth curve analysis) data. These will be extended to three-level models, cross-classified random effect models (individuals in multiple groups or migrating across groups), and non-normal error (binary and count) models. Participants should have strong backgrounds in matrix algebra and regression analysis.

Developing and Marketing Focus Group Skills Session 25, Saturday, August 9, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Fee: $20; ticket required for admission

David L. Morgan, Portland State University

Janet Mancini Billson, Group Dimensions Research

This seminar is for sociologists who want to explore the possibility of using focus groups in either academic or applied research. Focus groups are an increasing popular method for gathering qualitative interview data. This session will cover the fundamental aspects of focus groups at an introductory level. It will present the basic stages in conducting a focus group research project. Available resources for training in focus group research will be reviewed, including both published works and training workshops. The seminar will also include a discussion of how to set up a business that offers focus group services.

Ethnographic Fieldnotes

Fee: $20; ticket required for admission

Robert M. Emerson, University of California, Los Angeles

Rachel I. Fretz, University of California, Los Angeles

Linda L. Shaw, California State University, San Marcos

Ethnographers have given relatively little attention to moving from making observations of others' activities and talk to writing down fieldnote accounts of these observations. This session will focus in detail on these processes. Participants in this seminar are asked to submit in advance excerpts from their own fieldnotes, or from those of their students. These fieldnote excerpts will be used to address specific issues of writing, organizing, reviewing, and analyzing fieldnote data. Seminar participants will learn to improve their skills in writing and working with fieldnotes as well as develop strategies for teaching students. Registrants should consider reading Emerson, Fretz, and Shaw, Writing Ethnographic Fieldnotes (University of Chicago Press, 1995), before attending the seminar.

New Directions in Qualitative Methods Session 106, Sunday, August 10, 8:30-11:30 a.m.

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Fee: $20; ticket required for admission

Jaber F. Gubrium, University of Florida

James A. Holstein, Marquette University

The seminar is intended for those who have a basic knowledge of qualitative methods and who are interested in how traditional approaches are being expanded in new directions or are being combined together to form alternative research strategies. Among the "new directions" to be considered are developments in discourse analysis, ethnography, narrative analysis, rhetorical analysis, postmodernist turns, and the study of interpretive practice. These will be illustrated and discussed in relation to emerging research questions and vocabularies. The aim is to provide a working acquaintance with various new ways to think about and interpret qualitative data.

Postmodernism Is Not What You Think Session 130, Sunday, August 10. 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Charles Lemert, Wesleyan University

The seminar will present the three major traditions in the postmodernism debate: radical and strategic postmodernisms, and racial modernism. Postmodernism is not what you think. It is neither primarily a theory nor what is commonly said about it. Rather, if it is anything, it is an actually occurring world historical process. Postmodernism is interesting to sociologists because it raises questions that must be asked about changing global structures. Topics to be discussed will include: the Sokal affair and the science question, media culture, the politics of the postmodern, the elements of structuralist and poststructuralist sociology, and the challenge of new, extra-sociological sociologies. There will be lecture and discussion.

Game Theory in Sociology (co-sponsored by the Section on Mathematical Sociology)

Session 174, Sunday, August 10, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Fee: $20; ticket required for admission

Philip Bonacich, University of California, Los Angeles

Elisa Bienenstock, Stanford University

This seminar will afford an introduction to some of the key concepts in game theory. Time permitting, the following will covered: zero sum games; cooperative versus non-cooperative games; Nash equilibrium for non-cooperative games; Pareto optimality; the core, kernel, bargaining set, and other solutions for cooperative games; evolutionary game theory; and evolutionary stable strategies. Recent sociological work using these concepts will also be discussed. No mathematical background is required.

Software for Qualitative Analysis—SOLD OUT Session 192, Monday, August 11, 8:30-11:30 a.m.

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Fee: $20; ticket required for admission Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College

This didactic seminar is for qualitative researchers who wish to use computer software to analyze textual data (e.g., case records, newspaper articles, fieldnotes, transcripts of interviews or focus group discussions), pictures, graphics or audio and video tapes. The seminar leader will briefly explore the history of computer-assisted software programs in the social sciences. The range of computer software programs on the market today will be described, compared, and some of the most important programs will be contrasted. Factors to be considered in selecting a software program will be addressed. Key methodological and theoretical issues involved in using computer-assisted software programs for qualitative data analysis will be analyzed. There will be an in-depth demonstration of HyperRESEARCH—a software program for analyzing qualitative data (text, audio tapes, and video tapes)—and discussion of a sample of other software programs.

Structural Equation ("LISREL") Models Session 263, Monday, August 11, 2:30-4:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre. Simcoe-Dufferin

Fee: $20: ticket required for admission

Kenneth A. Bollen, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

The seminar provides an overview of Structural Equation Models. Sometimes called "LISREL," this general statistical model includes ANOVA, multiple regression, path analysis, factor analysis, and many other procedures as special cases. A distinguishing feature of the model is that it allows multiple indicators of latent variables (concepts) and it can estimate relationships that take account of measurement error. The seminar will examine the major subtypes of the model and the primary steps in applying it. Examples of programs and outputs from one or more of the major structural equation packages will be discussed. Participants should have a good background in multiple regression and should have some familiarity with matrix notation.

Loglinear Models and Extensions Session 285, Monday, August 11, 4:30-6:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin Fee: $20; ticket required for admission Scott R. Eliason, University of Iowa This module will cover loglinear models and some extensions to the loglinear model. The session will begin by addressing classic problems of assessing independence and conditional independence. The focus will then move on to modeling the association structure in two-way and higher-way tables, in part by manipulating the design matrix in the loglinear model and in part by estimating RC association models. A relatively new class of models, Generalized Loglinear Models, will also be discussed. Specifically, we will tackle what are called association-marginal models, models which allow simultaneous modeling of the association structure and the relationship between/among marginal distributions. Participants are assumed to be familiar with multiple regression and analysis of variance techniques.

Experiments in Sociology and Economics: Theories and Methods Session 306, Tuesday, August 12, 8:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe Dufferin

Fee: $20; ticket required for admission
David Willer, University of South Carolina
Lisa Rutstrom, University of South Carolina

This seminar gives an overview of behavioral experiments in sociology and economics using human subjects. In sociology the focus is exclusively on the development and testing of network exchange theories. The session will start with a brief history of network exchange theory which emphasizes theory growth: how the solution of one set of problems in theory led to new problems and new solutions. Different experimental settings are discussed, including face-to-face and networked PCs. Leaders will show how issues in theory become experimental designs. In economics the focus is on how the rules of the game and the definition of the strategy set influences the decisions of the bargaining parties. The rules to be studied include: who moves first, who has what information, and who can make exchanges with whom. The overlap between the experimental work in sociology and economics is potentially substantial, although not much explicit cooperative work has been done. The experimental methodology used is an important common element across the two fields. Leaders will discuss what aspects of the models and the games are common to the two fields and what aspects are different.

Collaborative Groups in the Introductory Classroom Session 373, Tuesday, August 12, 2:30-5:30 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Fee: $20; ticket required for admission

Leaders: Peter M. Lehman, University of Southern Maine

Rhonda F. Levine, Colgate University

Panel: John F. Zipp, Jr., University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee

Lynne Woehrle, Syracuse University Susanne Morgan, Ithaca College

Daniel D. Martin, Miami University

Arthur J. Jipson, Miami University

Patti Giuffre, Grand Valley State University

Karen V. Fox, Syracuse University

Douglas K. Anderson, University of Southern Maine

This hands-on seminar will present ideas and techniques for active learning in cooperative/collaborative groups in introductory sociology classrooms. Presenters will explain and demonstrate some approaches to active learning groups as well as sharing many specific class-tested group exercises. A range of options will be presented ranging from short-term mini-exercises to developed group project work. Attendees will receive a workbook with information about the theory and practice of active learning and collaborative group work in classroom as well as written descriptions of specific group exercises.

Professional Workshops

The 16 Professional Workshops on this year's program roster provide opportunities for attendees to update their knowledge and skills in a variety of professional areas. These workshops are open to all meeting registrants.

Using Kinship Pairs in the Adolescent Health Study: Methodological Issues

Session 26, Saturday, August 9, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Dominion North

David C. Rowe, University of Arizona

The Adolescent Health Study (Add Health) is an in-school survey of 90,000 children in 145 schools and an in-home survey of 20,777 adolescents in wave I and about 80% of that total in wave II. The study investigates the effects of family, peer group, school, neighborhood, and community on adolescent health and health behaviors, including diet, violence, and sexual behaviors. The Add Health Study is unique in that it includes behavior genetic samples-namely, identical and fraternal twins, biological full siblings, halfsiblings, and unrelated siblings reared together. The theme of this workshop is that allowing for genetic influences improves the estimation of environmental ones because of the potential methodological confound of genetic and environmental influences. The session first introduces the framework of partitioning variance into heredity, shared environmental influences, and nonshared environmental influences. These ideas are illustrated using the Add Health Study data. Two general analytic methods are discussed, one based on regression equations and the other on structural equation models. Assumptions of methods are presented, along with methods of evaluating them and relevant literature. The session closes by emphasizing the tremendous opportunities for estimating the causal effects of genes and environment using data in the publicly available Add Health data files. Conditions for obtaining Add Health data will be briefly described. The session is led by an internationally

Marketing Your Skills for the Non-Profit Job Market Session 86, Saturday, August 9, 4:30-6:15 p.m. Toronto Hilton, Johnston

Organizer and Presider: Jean Brittain Leslie, Center for Creative Leadership Panel: Martha Delaney, Moses Cone Hospital

Brenda Seals, Centers for Disease Control

J. Steven Picou, University of South Alabama

Jean Brittain Leslie, Center for Creative Leadership

The goal of this workshop is to educate participants about non-profit organizations and work. Members who attend this workshop should be able to (1) determine if they are developing the skills necessary for non-profit work, (2) locate non-profit job opportunities, and (3) weigh the pros and cons of a career in a non-profit organization.

Getting Papers Published in ASA Journals Session 107, Sunday, August 10, 8:30-10:15 a.m. Sheraton Centre, Dominion South

Organizer and Presider: Edward J. Lawler, Cornell University

Panel: Ronald Angel, University of Texas, Austin
Craig Calhoun, New York University
Jeffrey Chin, LeMoyne College
Glann Firehough, Pennsylvania State University

Glenn Firebaugh, Pennsylvania State University

Linda Molm, University of Arizona

Pamela B. Walters, Indiana University

This workshop is for sociologists who submit or who are planning to submit papers to sociology journals. It also should be useful to those who regularly review for journals or would like to do so. The general purpose of the workshop is to provide ASA members an opportunity to learn more about the operation of ASA journals, hear advice about preparing papers for submission, and gain a better understanding of how papers are reviewed and evaluated. The panel will consist of current or recent editors of several ASA journals. They will give brief presentations on their editorial policies/practices and offer some advice to prospective authors and to reviewers. The session will be informal and approximately half of the time will be devoted to questions from and discussion with the audience.

Proposal Grantsmanship and Opportunities for Federal Funding for Research

Session 108, Sunday, August 10, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Sheraton Centre, City Hall Room

Organizer: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association

Presider: Patricia E. White, American Sociological Association and the National Science Foundation

Miles Boylan, Division of Undergraduate Education, National Science Foundation

Joseph Conaty, Office of Educational Research and Improvement, U.S. Department of Education

Sheena M. Lee, Research and Communication Grants Program, Social Sciences and Humanities Council of Canada

Patricia E. White, Division of Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences, National Science Foundation, and the American Sociological Association

Representatives from leading federal science agencies will discuss research opportunities for social and behavioral scientists. Panelists will consider available support and describe new and continuing initiatives including the creation, application procedures, review process, and other elements of competitive research proposals. The session is part of the Association's Special Focus on Federal Science Policy and Research Support Opportunities being held on August 10-11.

The New ASA Code of Ethics as a Living Document Session 131, Sunday, August 10, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Toronto Hilton, Governor General Suite

John M. Kennedy, Indiana University Sue K. Hoppe, Iowa State University

The new ASA Code of Ethics offers sociologists many opportunities to renew their understanding of the importance of ethical issues in their professional lives. In this workshop, a panel of sociologists will discuss how they use the Code to assist them in their work. Included in the panel will be an editor of a sociological journal, a department chair, a research organization director, and a non-academic sociologist. The panel members will give a short presentation on how they use the Code. The Committee on Professional Ethics and the other participants will be invited to discuss the issues raised by the Committee on Professional Ethics: Anthony Cortese, Southern Methodist University; Cheryl Townsend Gilkes, Colby College; Karen F Hembry; Sue K. Hoppe, Iowa State University; Joyce Miller Iutcovich, Keystone University Research Corporation and Gannon University; John M. Kennedy, Indiana University; Barbara D Melber, Battelle Research Center, Seattle; Eleanor M.

Miller, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee; Helen Moore, University of Nebraska, Lincoln; Bernice Pescosolido, Indiana University; and Bette Woody, University of Massachusetts, Boston

Planning for Post-Retirement Careers Session 193, Monday, August 11, 8:30-10:15 a.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Organizer: William V. D'Antonio, Catholic University of America

Joan Huber, The Ohio State University (Emerita)

Darwin L. Thomas, Brigham Young University Barbara R. Williams, The RAND Corporation

Panelists will discuss the problems that are being and may be encountered in planning for retirement. For many people in academe and government, financial concerns have diminished in recent years, but it is not at all clear that role options have improved. The discussion will include questions about financing retirement, physical changes that affect mental and bodily functions, role and structural changes, and the problems that occur when retirement is faced with no planning for role alternatives. Academics in particular face the challenge posed by lack of office space for retirees, as well as kinds of courses they may be offered in the post-retirement years. For some, play may become work, and work play.

Strategies for Surviving Graduate School Session 217, Monday, August 11, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Dominion South

Organizers: Michael R. Fraser, Aspen Systems Corporation and University of Massachusetts, Amherst; and Lora Bex Lempert, University of Michigan, Dearborn

Presider: Lora Bex Lempert, University of Michigan, Dearborn Employment Strategies. Michael R. Fraser, Aspen Systems Corporation and University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Negotiating Race and Gender Boundaries. Sharon Elise, California State University, San Marcos

Networking Outside the Graduate Department. Mary Romero, Arizona State University

Finding Your Own Voice. Kathryn A. Sowards, Robert Wood Johnson Fellow, University of Michigan

Peer Support. Amy Schultz, Robert Wood Johnson Fellow, Yale University Time Management. Rhonda Singer, Smith College and University of Massachusetts. Amherst

Organizers and invited panelists will discuss various aspects of graduate school life, including strategies for time management, negotiating roles as students and teachers, developing a support network, getting a writers' group together, employment strategies both in and out of graduate school, the importance of mentoring and networking, surviving as a person of color in predominately white departments, and finding one's own voice and intellectual identity.

Assuring Inclusion in Social Research: How to Make Data Collection Techniques Accessible to People with Disabilities

Session 240, Monday, August 11, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Organizer: Corinne Kirchner, American Foundation for the Blind

Panel: Robert Bogdan, Syracuse University

Susan B. Foster, Rochester Institute of Technology
Gerry Hendershot, National Center for Health Statistics
Emilie Schmeidler, American Foundation for the Blind

Regardless of your research topic, you may exclude some participants (or research staff) because your data collection techniques are inaccessible to them; you thus risk obtaining biased results. The problem, and awareness of it, is growing as the population ages, and as more people at any age survive with long-term impairments, e.g., visual, hearing, cognitive, or other. Panelists will identify the diverse and often subtle ways that exclusion linked to impairment occurs. Panelists will also explain appropriate and inappropriate ways of dealing with the problem, demonstrate some adaptive techniques, and refer to resources which can help social researchers implement inclusive studies.

Getting Journal Articles Published

Session 264, Monday, August 11, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Sheraton Centre, Dominion South

Panel: Stephen A. Darman, State University of New York, Albany Richard H. Hall, State University of New York, Albany Jennifer Keys, State University of New York, Albany

The goal of this workshop is to help people get into print in sociological journals. The Editorial Staff of Sociological Forum will describe the entire editorial process. The session will deal with topics as diverse as selecting the appropriate journal, preparation of manuscripts, the timing of submissions, dealing with requests to revise and resubmit, dealing with rejections, and communicating with editors.

Negotiating the Sociological Job Market Session 286, Monday, August 11, 4:30-6:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre. Conference B-C

Leader: Jennifer Woolwich, University of Michigan Managed Care
Panel: David Grafstein, Consumer and Small Business Markets, Ontario
Hydro

Thomas M. Beckley, Canadian Forest Service
B. Lindsay Lowell, U.S. Commission on Immigration Reform
Theodore A Lamb, U.S. Air Force Academy

Rachelle L. Cummins, American Association of Retired People Sociologists working in the non-academic sectors will provide information on how they use sociological tools in their daily work, what skills are most marketable, salary ranges, and how best to network in today's market using personal contacts and internet web sites. The participants will include those employed with U.S. and Canadian governments, non-profit agencies, and the U.S. Air Force. Discussion with the audience will be encouraged.

Getting Your First Book Published Session 307, Tuesday, August 12, 8:30-10:15 a.m. Sheraton Centre, Dominion North

Margaret L. Andersen, University of Delaware Dan Clawson, University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Led by two former editors with extensive publishing experience, this workshop will provide advice on selecting publishers appropriate to your project, submitting book proposals, writing for diverse audiences, and negotiating contracts. Novice and experienced authors are welcome.

How to Communicate Research Findings to the Media Session 329, Tuesday, August 12, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Organizer: Jack Levin, Northeastern University
Panel: Richard J. Gelles, University of Rhode Island
Jerry M. Lewis, Kent State University

Jerry M. Lewis, Kent State University Jack Levin, Northeastern University Paul McCabe, Northeastern University

Panelists will discuss issues that arise in publicizing their research findings to reporters and producers. The workshop will offer guidelines for maximizing the effectiveness of media exposure and for minimizing conflicts with media representatives.

Starting Your Own Business Session 351, Tuesday, August 12, 12:30-2:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Wentworth

Organizer and Presider: Ross Koppel, Social Research Corporation and University of Pennsylvania

Panel: Joyce Miller Iutcovich, Keystone University Research Corporation and Gannon University

Andrew Ziner, Atlantic Social Research Corporation and Cedar Crest College

Ross Koppel, Social Research Corporation and University of Pennsylvania

The professional workshop will discuss starting and operating a business based on sociological knowledge, theory, methods, and statistics. The participants represent new and old as well as small and large enterprises. Topics include: doing research for money, consulting; differences between large and small firms; incorporating or not; maintaining documents and legal records, legal requirements; hiring others; joint projects with other firms or with universities; dual citizenship in business and academe; writing contracts—who prepares, what to include; hourly rates vs. fixed price contracts; estimating time on tasks, material costs, and others' services; and subcontracting.

Designing a Website to Facilitate Scholarly Work Session 374, Tuesday, August 12, 2:30-4:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin David Murphree, Indiana University Barry Wellman, University of Toronto John M. Kennedy, Indiana University

This workshop will describe Internet website construction from the perspective of both theoretical design and practical maintenance strategies. In particular, discussion will center on how an organization's website can be designed to be supportive of research and teaching. Topics will address the level of organizational resources (both in dollar amounts and personnel time) necessary to publish and maintain a website, and the design of a website that serves both as a marketing/contact information source and a daily organizational resource. Factors that influence website usage, both internally and externally, will be discussed. This last section will include practical strategies to encourage organization staff to access your webpage as a valuable resource and issues of graphic design and "marketing" to draw attention to your work and keep users coming back. Covered also will be strategies to simplify and automate website maintenance and connectivity between website users without compromising the security of the organization's LAN resources or data.

Program and Policy Evaluation Research Session 432, Wednesday, August 13, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

James Fremming, Management Systems International

Mary Ann Scheirer, Evaluation Consultant

The goal of this workshop is to sharpen the skills of sociologists, both as producers and consumers of evaluation research. Leaders will introduce some current methodological and management issues in the evaluation field, using overhead displays and handouts. Participants will be asked to analyze these issues in a variety of discussion formats.

Teaching Workshops

Teaching Workshops are a popular part of each Annual Meeting program. These sessions provide opportunities for attendees to enhance their teaching skills and discover ways to integrate new material into their courses. Teaching workshops emphasize interaction between leaders and audience, and attendees are encouraged to bring questions or problems for discussion and new ideas to enliven classroom activities. Teaching Workshops are open to all meeting registrants.

Internationalizing the Curriculum Session 27, Saturday, August 9, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Kent

Anne W. Martin, Edmonds Community College Donald F. Wheeler, Kean College of New Jersey

This workshop aims to assist faculty in revising sociology curricula to reflect international and global perspectives and subject matter. Three approaches to curricular reform will be explored: intercultural, comparative, and world systems. Teachers will receive support and materials (including bibliographies) which will assist in: (1) incorporating materials from marginalized peoples, allowing them to speak in their own voices; (2) applying ecological perspectives which ground studies in the natural world; and (3) designing materials to enhance intellectual awareness and competence. Two case studies will be presented: Edmonds Community College of Washington State and Kean College of New Jersey. These cases highlight the development of new curricula and programs such as a two-year International Studies Program, use of international branch campuses and study abroad, and consortial approaches to curricular reform and faculty development.

Hate and Bias on Campus Session 45, Saturday, August 9, 12:30-2:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C Lori K. Sudderth. Rutgers University

The workshop will feature brief presentations on curricular and cocurricular approaches to dealing with hate and bias on campus. There will be ample time for discussion and contributions from those attending. Presenters will include Tracy Ore (University of Illinois), Hilary Phillips (Rutgers University), Jean Shin (Indiana University), Mary Kay Schleiter (University of Wisconsin, Parkside), and Sara C. Hare (Indiana University).

Teaching the Required Theory Course(s) for Undergraduate Majors Session 68, Saturday, August 9, 2:30-4:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Dominion South

Richard W. Moodey, Allegheny College

This workshop will be structured around the new revision of the ASA Teaching Resources Center handbook on teaching social theory. The session will begin with an overview of different approaches to teaching the theory course and then break out into separate discussion groups with designated group leaders. Theory courses differ in terms of content as well as pedagogy. Each small group will be working with this kind of difference. Pedagogical issues are often more pressing in the teaching of theory than are content issues. Even beginning teachers are likely to have a pretty good idea of the content they want to include (deciding what to exclude is often more difficult), whereas pedagogical alternatives are likely to receive less careful consideration. Each small group will also focus on a different pedagogy for teaching social theory. Handouts, based upon the teaching resources manual, will be distributed to attendees.

Teaching Social Stratification Session 87, Saturday, August 9, 4:30-6:15 p.m. Toronto Hilton, Jackson

Organizer and Presider: Scott Sernau, Indiana University, South Bend Panel: William Breedlove, College of Charleston

John Noakes, Franklin and Marshall College Susan Ostrander, Tufts University Vania Penha-Lopes, New York University Winifred Poster, Stanford University Lynn Rapaport, Pomona College

Stratification has remained at the core of sociological thinking from the classical theorists on through new interest in issues of race, class, and gender. Yet, the stratification course itself can be a challenging one to teach. This workshop will focus on innovative ways of connecting with students' interests, incorporating global perspectives, bridging between theory and current controversies, and helping students to connect social stratification concepts with their own lived experience, as well as the daily lives of others with very different experiences. Participants are welcome to bring their own syllabi, exercises, and ideas.

Teaching about Sexuality and Sexual Orientation in Sociology Courses Session 110, Sunday, August 10, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C
Tom Gerschick, Illinois State University

Paula Rust, Hamilton College

This workshop will provide coverage of a wide variety of techniques and strategies for teaching about sexuality including issues arising inside and outside the classroom. The session format is a highly interactive forum, and attendees are invited to share their approaches and problems. The workshop is suitable for those teaching courses on sexuality and those who wish to incorporate such material into other courses. A donation of $5 would be appreciated, but is not mandatory, to cover the expense of the workshop handouts.

Teaching Sociology of the Family Session 133, Sunday, August 10, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Toronto Marriott, Trinity Salon 2

Marilyn Ihinger-Tallman, Washington State University Candan Duran-Aydintug, University of Colorado, Denver

This workshop focuses on teaching methods which emphasize an understanding of the concepts central to the study of the family. While students can read and assimilate information from textbooks, it is hard for them to gain an understanding of abstract concepts, e.g., family structure. How can concepts such as this be demonstrated with classroom techniques so students can "do" and "know" compared to "hear" and "see"? Some time will be spent discussing interactive teaching using the computer. Workshop participants are urged to bring ideas and experiences to share with the group.

Service Learning in Sociology Session 150, Sunday, August 10, 12:30-2:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Jim Ostrow, Bentley College Kerry Strand, Hood College

The goal of this workshop is to help sociology instructors learn how community service can enrich conventional sociological teaching. Workshop leaders will describe their own service learning experiences and will talk about some of the different forms that service learning courses can take. The major purpose, however, will be to explore with the participants some of the effective and creative ways that instructors can help students mine their service experiences for sociological insight and understanding. Concrete examples from students' experiences in the field will be used as discussion stimulators;

Teaching Economic Sociology Session 176, Sunday, August 10, 2:30-4:15 p.m. Toronto Hilton, Tom Thomson participants will be invited to share examples as well.

Organizers and Presiders: Gary P. Green, University of Wisconsin, Madison; and David J. Myhre, Lewis and Clark College

Panel: Bruce Carruthers, Northwestern University

Beth A. Rubin, Tulane University

Patrick McGuire, University of Toledo

John L. Campbell, Dartmouth College

Gary P. Green, University of Wisconsin, Madison

The goal of this workshop is to help instructors design courses in economic sociology. The panelists will discuss their approach to teaching courses in economic sociology. Participants will identify central concepts in economic sociology and potential student projects and activities. Handouts on electronic (and other) resources for teaching economic sociology will be distributed.

The Ethics of Teaching and a Method for Teaching Ethics: Rehearsing for the Drama of the Classroom

Session 218, Monday, August 11, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Huron

Panel: Lavon Gappa-Levi, Program for Instruction Excellence, Florida State University

Donna Nudd, Department of Communications, Florida State University Frank Trezza, Department of Theater, Florida State University

This workshop has two objectives. The first is to provide a preliminary look at the educational materials that are being developed by the Committee on Professional Ethics to accompany the new ASA Code of Ethics. These materials are designed to introduce sociologists to and help them negotiate ethical dilemmas in research, teaching, service, and practice. The second is to provide sociologists with two formats using dramatized situations to introduce ethical topics into their classrooms, their programs, their organizations and, in general, their work as sociologists, and to deal effectively with ethical issues as they arise. For this second objective, the panelists will describe and demonstrate how to structure a session on ethical issues using small/large group discussion around the performance of classroom dramas. This will be followed by a demonstration, using examples and input from the participants, of a hands-on approach to ethical issues. The panelists and the remainder of the audience will participate in discussing, describing, and restaging the scenarios and how they might be handled by sociologists.

Managing Anger in the Classroom Session 241, Monday, August 11, 12:30-2:15 p.m. Toronto Hilton, Johnston

Robert Rosenwein, Lehigh University

Catherine G. Valentine, Nazareth College of Rochester

The goal of this workshop is to help instructors understand and address anger in the classroom. The focus will be on exploring what is meant by anger in the classroom, the influence of emotion beliefs and teaching styles on perceptions and experiences of anger in the classroom, the contexts/sources in which issues of anger emerge in the classroom, and approaches to managing or addressing anger in the classroom. Handouts will be provided; participants will be asked to share classroom experiences, including their successes and frustrations in dealing with anger.

Bringing Social Policy Home: Applications of 504 and the ADA in the College Classroom

Session 265, Monday, August 11, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

R. Greg Emerton, Rochester Institute of Technology Susan Foster, Rochester Institute of Technology

Sociologists have long been interested in the application of social policy in the larger society. It is infrequent that we must examine our own practices at the micro level of our classrooms, using the guidelines of macro level social policy. While not a substitute for legal counsel, workshop leaders will endeavor in this session to provide accurate background information about the key features of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Practical classroom-based experience in using the reasonable accommodation processes of the ADA to remove barriers to participation in classrooms will be shared.

Field Research Assignments in the Sociology of Religion Session 287, Monday, August 11, 4:30-6:15 p.m. Toronto Colony, St. David

Patrick McNamara, University of New Mexico Madeleine Cousineau, Mount Ida College

Field research is a particularly important teaching technique in undergraduate sociology of religion courses, as well as interesting for the students. It is a way of engaging students personally, eliciting their own voices as they describe their observations, while maintaining academic standards. In this workshop, the leaders will present materials which they have used in their own courses, describe the procedures by which they teach students to do field research, solicit input from participants who have used such assignments, and encourage questions and discussion from other participants who would like to develop this component within their courses.

Curriculum Transformation: Lessons from the ASA's MOST Program (co-sponsored by the ASA Minority Affairs Program and the Minority Opportunity through School Transformation (MOST) Program)

Session 309, Tuesday, August 12, 8:30-10:15 a.m. Sheraton Centre, Huron

Havidan Rodriguez, American Sociological Association and the University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez

Edward L. Kain, Southwestern University

The goal of this workshop is to provide participants with information which will be useful in curriculum transformation. Topics include developing a strong sociology curriculum, integrating research training in the curriculum, integrating issues of race/ethnicity/diversity throughout the curriculum, and developing a curriculum which ensures that all students have met department goals for the sociology major. Specific examples and successful strategies will be provided from a variety of MOST (Minority Opportunities through School Transformation) institutions. Handouts will be provided, and there will be time for questions.

Graduate Curricula Core and Canon Session 331, Tuesday, August 12, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Barrett A. Lee, Pennsylvania State University
William G. Roy, University of California, Los Angeles

This workshop is intended for persons who plan or administer graduate curricula in sociology. The format will be interactive, with plenty of opportunity to share and compare experiences. Topics of interest include—but are not limited to—substantive area "packaging," coursework requirements, modes of delivery, the theory/methods sequence, multidisciplinarity and diversity issues, and assessment of mastery.

Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time Session 332, Tuesday, August 12, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Wentworth

Elizabeth R. Bryant, Johnson County Community College George Bridges, University of Washington

This workshop will address the issues of the first-time sociology teacher. It will be an interactive workshop intended for first-time sociology instructors who have many questions. Concerns about community college classes will be addressed as well as the large four-year institution classes. Specific issues to be discussed will be the objectives of the course, syllabus construction, and selecting texts and alternative materials. The workshop will also discuss strategies for teaching, including lectures, discussions, and service-learning projects. Management strategies for both small and large classes will be provided. Attention will also be focused on different modes of evaluation of student work.

The Inclusive Curriculum: Lessons from the Historically Black Colleges and Universities and Historically Latino Colleges

Session 353, Tuesday, August 12, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Sheraton Centre, Kenora

Bernadette J. Holmes, Hampton University Thomas Langham, Our Lady of the Lake University Alfonso R. Latoni, University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez

Preparing Graduate Students to Teach: Lessons from Preparing Future Faculty Projects

Session 376, Tuesday, August 12, 2:30-4:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Huron

Sheraton Centre, nuron

Judith A. Howard, University of Washington Charles Lawrence, Seattle University

Thomas J. Linneman, University of Washington

We have several goals for this workshop. In order to focus this workshop most effectively, we will ask participants to discuss at the outset, and according to their major focus, one of the following: (1) learning how to teach more effectively; (2) preparing graduate students for a career in teaching; or (3) what qualities they look for in a new hire at their teaching institutions. Then, we want to spark a broad, yet also concrete, discussion of precisely what best prepares graduate students for a career in teaching in four-year schools. Second, we want to generate a creative discussion of what kinds of strategies might be used to provide that training, over and above traditional teaching seminars, and in partnerships between four-year schools and graduate institutions. Third, we will describe and evaluate a "Preparing Future Faculty" project conducted in the Seattle area, with an eye toward lessons learned and implications for future training.

The Social Problems Course in the Millennium Session 397, Tuesday, August 12, 4:30-6:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Louis E. Anderson, Kankakee Community College Gregg Carter, Bryant College

Our goal is to communicate the value of thinking frames for developing the social problems course. The presenters will summarize and demonstrate two such frames that they have used successfully. The first focuses on argument analysis in order to help students confront what is being said about social problems in both popular and professional writing. The second focuses on data analysis in order to help students develop skill in interpreting relevant facts about social problems. Handouts will illustrate how both thinking frames are employed in the classroom, including how they can be incorporated with data analysis software intended for undergraduate courses (e.g., Student CHIP and MicroCase).

How to Access and Use Federal Data in Teaching Session 398, Tuesday, August 12, 4:30-6:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Organizer: William H. Frey, University of Michigan Panel: George Dowdall, St. Joseph's University

Christopher Dunn, Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research

Albert F. Anderson, Public Data Queries Jorge Del-Pinal, U.S. Bureau of the Census

The goal of this workshop will be to show undergraduate teachers how to access and integrate data analysis using federal statistics in their classes. Two kinds of federal statistics will be focused upon: census and survey data from the U.S. Census Bureau; and data available from the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data. Participants will learn how they can easily integrate data analysis exercises into undergraduate classes ranging from introductory sociology to more advanced topics. They will learn how to download, or request, appropriate data sets and exercises from the U.S. Census Bureau, the ICPSR's National Archive of Criminal Justice Data, and via the PDQ-EXPLORE program. Panelists will provide tips on how to create class exercises, deal with the technological strengths or limitations at your home institutions, and linkages with other faculty support groups such as the Social Science Data Analysis Network at the University of Michigan.

Studying and Teaching Social Problems with International Sensitivity Session 414, Wednesday, August 13, 8:30-10:15 a.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Norman A. Dolch, Louisiana State University, Shreveport Linda Deutschmann, University of the Cariboo

This session will explore ways to incorporate more international material into the teaching of social problems by focusing on American and Canadian differences. For example, the investigation and prosecution of violent and property crimes in the United States and Canada will be contrasted. Implications for enhanced understanding of social problems and responses to them will be stressed.

Graduate Education Forum

The ASA Academic and Professional Affairs Program is sponsoring a two-day Focus on Graduate Education. At nearly every session slot on Monday and Tuesday, August 11-12, there is a workshop, session, or event focusing on Graduate Education. There are no additional fees or pre-registration. Just join in!

Professional Workshop: Strategies for Surviving Graduate School Session 217, Monday, August 11, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Dominion South

Session 308, Tuesday, August 12, 8:30-10:15 a.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Teaching Workshop: Graduate Curricula Core and Canon Session 331, Tuesday, August 12, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Academic Workplace Workshop: Special Educational Needs and Contributions of International Students Session 375, Tuesday, August 12, 2:30-4:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Academic Workplace Workshops

Academic workshops are a new category of events at the Annual Meeting, building on the success of Teaching Workshops and Professional Workshops. The many pressing issues in higher education and the importance of chair and faculty leadership led the Program Committee to design sessions to increase sociology's strength and effectiveness in the academic context. Similar in format to Teaching Workshops, these sessions emphasize interaction between leaders and audience, and attendees are encouraged to bring questions or problems for discussion. Academic Workplace Workshops are open to all meeting registrants.

Effective Approaches to Peer Review of Teaching Session 67, Saturday, August 9, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Paul J. Baker, Illinois State University, Normal Gary Spencer, Syracuse University

This combined panel and workshop deals with organizational strategies that encourage faculty to collaborate with one another in ways that improve individual courses, better integrate the departmental curriculum, and make teaching and pedagogy a more open, central, and collegial activity. Workshop leaders will briefly present strategies that have worked for them as well as those that were not highly successful. The workshop portion will create group simulations that illustrate both strategies and pitfalls in the peer collaboration process-working through the wall of resistance, giving faculty ownership of the process, and altering reward structures and departmental cultures are among the issues to be dealt with.

Preparing for a Strategic Planning Process or a Program Review Session 109, Sunday, August 10, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Catherine White Berheide, Skidmore College Edward L. Kain, Southwestern University

The goal of this workshop is to provide participants with information and tools which will help them prepare for a program review or strategic department planning. The session will include models for collecting and organizing department data and guidance in department planning. Handouts will be provided, and there will be time for questions.

Strategies for Contract Bargaining in Colleges and Universities Session 132, Sunday, August 10, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Kent

Rachel Hendrickson, National Education Association Gary Rhoades, University of Arizona

Knowledge workers such as faculty have traditionally been reluctant to join unions. However, with the breakdown in collegiality on campuses, faculty are both more willing to assert their rights through unionization and to take the lead in negotiating such items pertinent to their professional interests as intellectual property rights and distance learning. Using a data base of 505 higher education contracts, workshop leaders will explore current contract language aimed at protecting faculty in the information age.

Evaluating and Rewarding Professional Service Session 175, Sunday, August 10, 2:30-4:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association Sue Marx Smock, Wayne State University

Most colleges and universities encourage professional service as part of a faculty member's role. How is service defined, encouraged, evaluated, and rewarded? In the national conversation about faculty roles and rewards, how can we move to enhance clarity about professional service in those dimensions? This workshop will offer models for how institutions/departments with various missions might think about that challenge and how they might proceed to bring professional service into the reward structure more authentically.

Reflecting on the Graduate Admissions Process Session 308, Tuesday, August 12, 8:30-10:15 a.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Organizers: Joseph J. Lengermann, University of Maryland, College Park; and Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association

Presider: Maureen Kelleher, Northeastern University

Panel: Maureen Kelleher, Northeastern University

Richard H. Hall, State University of New York, Albany Joseph J. Lengermann, University of Maryland, College Park

Robert L. Nelson, Northwestern University

William G. Roy, University of California, Los Angeles Phyllis M. Teitelbaum, Educational Testing Service

Part-time and Temporary Jobs in Sociology Session 330, Tuesday, August 12, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Toronto Hilton, Carmichael

Phyllis Hutton Raabe, University of New Orleans Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association

This workshop will discuss current trends and issues of part-time and temporary jobs in sociology that are relevant to chairs and all faculty. We will focus on the proportion of faculty in part-time and temporary jobs in sociology (about 1/3 of sociology faculty in 1992), inequities in part-time and temporary employment, characteristics of more positive constructions (in relation to contracts, remuneration, benefits, and career paths), and the effects of part-time and temporary employment on practitioners, departments and academic institutions, and the discipline.

Effective Advising and Mentoring Programs Session 352, Tuesday, August 12, 12:30-2:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Linda Moghadam, University of Maryland, College Park Havidan Rodriguez, American Sociological Association and the University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez

This session will focus on the multidimensional nature and responsibilities of academic advising and mentoring. Topics to be discussed include: mentoring, with a special focus on the ASA's MOST Program; more general aspects of advising for career and graduate programs; best strategies for assisting students in meeting academic requirements and making academic and career choices; recognizing barriers to students' academic success and professional development; centralized vs. decentralized advising (the role of the faculty advisor); and the use of peer advisors/mentors.

Special Educational Needs and Contributions of International Students Session 375, Tuesday, August 12, 2:30-4:15 p.m. Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Donna Hess, South Dakota State University

Kathleen S. Crittenden, University of Illinois, Chicago

This workshop focuses on one of the topics that the Ad Hoc Committee on Graduate Education addressed in its second year. Following a brief summary of the subcommittee report, workshop participants will be led into a consideration of the conditions under which an international graduate student's sojourn in an American sociology graduate program can maximize the intellectual and professional return to the student and also enrich the scholarship and teaching in the department. Implications of these conditions for recruitment and management of international students will be drawn out for discussion. Perspectives, resources, and materials from departments that have solid and innovative initiatives in addressing the special educational needs and drawing upon the contributions of international students will be discussed and presented as potential models for other departments.

Bridging the Gaps between University Sociology and Community College Sociology

Session 396, Tuesday, August 12, 4:30-6:15 p.m. Toronto Hilton, Carmichael

Organizers: David B. Bills, University of Iowa; and Elizabeth R. Bryant, Johnson County Community College

Panel: Kevin Dougherty, Manhatten College

David L. Levinson, Massachusetts Bay Community College Stuart L. Shafer, Johnson County Community College

Relationships between community colleges and universities are likely to assume increasing importance in the coming years. The purpose of this workshop is to help department chairs and other faculty who are involved in the relationships between these two types of postsecondary institutions by providing information in the following areas: similarities and differences in the work of community college sociologists and college and university sociologists; transfer students and articulation agreements; possibilities for research collaborations between universities and community colleges; and assessment. The workshop will focus on practical applications in managing and facilitating constructive relationships between community colleges and universities.

Introductory Sociology Featured

This year, in coordination with ASA's Academic and Professional Affairs Program, a set of teaching-related sessions focuses on the teaching of Introductory Sociology. At every session slot on Tuesday, August 12, there is a workshop, panel, or other event on Introductory Sociology. What course is more important to our discipline than the introductory course? And what course is more challenging to teach? Whether you are a new or seasoned faculty member, you will benefit from the events on Tuesday, August 12, focusing on Introductory Sociology.

The day begins with a teaching workshop on curriculum transformation, drawing on the successes of the ASA's MOST Program. The second session, the popular teaching workshop on "Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time," features strategies for making the first teaching experience something other than a trial by fire. Three more sessions focus on collaborative work (preregistration required), advising and mentoring, and teaching social problems.

The ASA Exhibits also feature book and software displays relevant to this focus on introductory sociology. Be sure to pencil in a time to visit each booth and see what is offered to enhance this most important foundational course.

Poster Sessions

This program component features a series of display presentations that allow face-to-face conversation between authors and viewers. By facilitating informal discussions between presenters and "browsers", Poster Sessions provide a more direct forum for information exchange than do formal paper presentations.

The 1997 Program Committee invited Theodore C. Wagenaar (Miami University) to review general submissions and select poster presentations. Three sessions have been arranged from the open submissions. In addition, the Program Committee reserved space for three special poster sessions: "Internet and the Sociological Landscape," organized by Barry Wellman (University of Toronto), "Graduate Student Research and Future Perspectives in Sociology," organized by Townsand Price Spratlen (The Ohio State University); and "Computer Demonstrations: Potpourri", organized by Jacqueline Cashen (Sociometrics Corporation).

The Research Support Forum is sponsoring two poster sessions to highlight research funding opportunities and data resources. As part of the Graduate Education Forum, there will be a poster session featuring displays and representatives from participating graduate departments of sociology.

The varied roster of display presentations includes something of interest for every meeting attendee. Be sure to include some time in your schedule to visit this year's poster displays in the Civic Ballroon at the Sheraton Centre.

Open Refereed Roundtables

The 1997 Program Committee has continued this open roundtable component which was added to the general program three years ago. Beverly Nagel (Carleton University) was invited to review submissions and organize sessions of six to ten roundtables using a "mini-session" format: a general topic identified for each table, two to four paper presentations, and a table presider to coordinate presentations and discussion.

Six Open Refereed Roundtable Sessions are included on this year's program; details are in the Program Schedule.

Informal Discussion Roundtables

This popular program component is designed to bring together small groups of people interested in discussing specific topics. The 1997 Program Committee invited Walter Goldfrank (University of California, Santa Cruz) to review proposals and coordinate topics and discussion leaders.

Six informal discussion sessions have been organized around general topics. Please refer to the Program Schedule for complete details on these sessions. Since discussions are held simultaneously in one large meeting room, no audiovisual equipment or recording devices may be used.

Film/Video Screenings

To take advantage of the facilities available for this year's meeting, a film/video screening series has been added to the program. On Monday and Tuesday, August 11 and 12, the movie theatres in the Sheraton Centre has been set aside for showing recent video and film releases.

Videos and films to be screened include:

The Ad and the Ego (58 min.)

The first comprehensive look on video at advertising and our commodity culture. California Newsreel

All Dressed Up and No Place to Go (72 min.)

Going behind the facade and into the lives of four very different crossdressers, this film not only questions notions of gender but also provides an intimate look at how an otherwise traditional man's unorthodox behavior affects his friends, family, and the women who love him. Cajun Films

Blacks and Jews (86 min.)

Cuts through the headlines and the stereotypes to re-examine key conflicts from the perspective of activists on both sides. Jonathan Rider will be at each presentation to lead a small, informal discussion after the showing. California Newsreel

Blue-Eyed: Diversity Training with Jane Elliott (85 min.)

Controversial anti-racism trainer Jane Elliott, who pioneered her "blue eyed / brown eyed" exercise 30 years ago (first featured in the film Eye of the Storm), takes adults through her workshop. California Newsreel

Frantz Fanon: Black Skin/White Mask (52 min.)

Explores the life and work of the post-colonial theorist whose texts still stand as a starting point for anyone interested in the psychological manifestations of oppression.

Keepers of the Water (39 min)

The waters that flow through the Chippewa's wild rice lake and into the Wolf River are now threatened by Exxon and Rio Algom's proposed metallic sulfide mine and 355-acre toxic waste dump at the headwaters of the Wolf River. This film documents the largest, broadest, multiracial environmental alliance ever formed over a single issue in Wisconsin. Film maker Al Gedicks will be present to lead a short discussion after the movie.

Le bouilloin d'awara (Awara Soup) (71 min.)

A fascinating look at an alternative to both nationalist and assimilationist visions of the future, a "creolized," or hybrid, world on the French Guyana frontier where identities are fluid and transnational. California Newsreel

Shattering the Silences: The Case for Minority Faculty (86 min.)

Tells the story of minority faculty, the tremendous pressures they face, and their contributions towards opening campuses to students of color. California Newsreel

Skin Deep (53 min., California Newsreel)

A multicultural, often contentious, group of college students awkwardly but honestly reveal their prejudices, bare their wounds, and try to understand one another. California Newsreel

Struggles in Steel (56 min.)

This chronicle of 75 years of racial discrimination in the mills provides an important—and often missing—historical framework for current debates over affirmative action. California Newsreel

Section Activities

ASA members with interests in specialized areas of sociological inquiry may join any of the 38 active Sections of the Association. These Sections promote ongoing communication among their members by publishing newsletters, supporting cooperative research ventures, recognizing outstanding work by professionals and students in their specialities, and sponsoring program activities at each Annual Meeting.

Section activities at the Annual Meeting are interspersed throughout the five-day schedule. These specialized sessions range in format from formal paper presentations to panels and discussion roundtables and are open to all meeting attendees.

The number of sessions allocated to each Section is based on the size of the Section. For the 38 active sections, there are a total of 149 sessions/meetings scheduled. There is also one meeting scheduled for those interested in forming a new section on the history of sociology; see the "Other Groups" listing for details.

Section activities are summarized below for quick reference. Meeting days are Saturday, August 9; Sunday, August 10; Monday, August 11; Tuesday, August 12; and Wednesday, August 13.

Student Activities

The ASA welcomes the attendance of undergraduate and graduate students at the Annual Meeting. Special arrangements for students include discounted registration fees, special housing blocks, sessions sponsored by the ASA Honors Program and the Honors Program Student Association, and space for an informal Student Center.

Student Center. All students attending the Annual Meeting are welcome to use this hospitality room. The Student Center will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Saturday through Tuesday, August 9-12, and 8:00 a.m.-6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, August 13, to provide a place for students to meet, make dinner arrangements, caucus, etc. Some coffee will be provided by ASA each morning.

Student Discounts. Registration fees are substantially discounted for students. Special blocks of hotel rooms and university housing were arranged. Valid student IDs may be required at check-in to verify eligibility for student rates.

Student Reception. All students registered to attend the Annual Meeting are invited to a special student reception on Monday, August 11, at 6:30 p.m., in the Grand Ballroom West at the Sheraton Centre.

Student Sessions. Several student sessions have been organized by the ASA Honors Program and Honors Program Student Association, and several workshops are oriented toward issues of interest to students. See sessions 47, 70, 86, 195, 217, 237, 242, 266, 277, 286, 288, and 355 in the Program Schedule for details.

Tour Toronto

An easy and enjoyable way to explore and learn about this year's host city is to participate in at least one or perhaps several of the special tours planned for the 92nd Annual Meeting. Tours are a vital segment of the Annual Meeting Program, enjoyed by meeting attendees and their guests. The opportunity to view local attractions through a sociological lens is one not widely available, so it is with much pride and enthusiasm that ASA presents its 13th year of tour programming.

Toronto is a city rich in tradition and heritage and these tours offer many opportunities to explore its history. Enjoy walking tours led by area sociologists, which will cover a wide range of topics. Visit some of the main arterial roads of Toronto and view the changing ethnic character of Toronto. Examine some of the city's most interesting housing projects, designed for both poor and mixed-income residents. Delve into the history of an area that has hosted the migration of many waves of Toronto immigrants but was known until only 20 years ago as "The Jewish Market." Take an intimate look at the history of Black culture and communities in Toronto. The Black heritage of Ontario is as old as the province itself. Visit Canada's largest museum featuring art, archaeology, and science exhibits. Tour "Toronto's Majestic Castle," built in 1914 by Sir Henry Pellatt. Discover some of the backstage secrets of the wonderful old theatres in Toronto which comprise the third largest theatre district in the world. Join a tour of some of Toronto's built parks and shared use areas to acquaint yourself with the challenges faced by Torontonians in shaping their city.

The schedule of tours is provided below. Reservations are mandatory. Those who already enrolled in tours should have received their tickets with their name badges. Many tours are sold out, but attendees who wish to join a tour may check at the ASA Tickets counter on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre for availability.

Most tour sites are accessible to persons with disabilities; however, tours are generally not accessible to attendees in wheelchairs unless alternative transportation was arranged in advance. Attendees may make such arrangements on their own or contact the ASA Office in the VIP room at the Sheraton Centre for assistance.

Fees are noted with the descriptions below and include all entrance fees. All fees go toward tour handling, entrance fees and group transportation costs. Tour fees are non-refundable. Some of the tours stop at local restaurants for lunch and this cost is generally not included in the tour fee. Please read the tour descriptions carefully for clarification.

Transportation costs are covered by tour fees, and the type of transportation involved is noted with each tour description. Attendees who opt to use an alternate mode of transportation, e.g., taking a cab instead of walking or using the subway, will be completely responsible for the cost of that transportation.

Limits on tour attendance are noted below.

All groups will depart from the Richmond Street entrance of the Sheraton Centre. Attendees are asked to arrive promptly so that departure times may be observed. Keep in mind that the arrival times back to the hotel are estimates only and may vary somewhat due to traffic congestion.

Tour 1: Toronto Blue Jays Baseball Game Friday, August 8, 7:00 p.m. Departure Fee: $10.00

The Toronto Blue Jays will be playing the Detroit Tigers in a game beginning at 7:35 p.m. The Toronto Blue Jays were the World Series Champions in 1992 and 1993. In addition, the Blue Jays were the American League Champions in 1992 and 1993, as well as, the American League East Champions in 1985, 1989, 1991, 1992, and 1993. The SkyDome is a relatively short walk from the Sheraton Centre. A cab ride will cost approximately $5.00 one way. The SkyDome is accessible to persons with disabilities. The tour fee includes entrance into the stadium, it does not include transportation costs. (Walking excursion—limited to 100 participants)

Tour 2: Art and Culture—SOLD OUT Sunday, August 10, 11:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Fee: general $24.00, students $20.00

Tour Leader: Christine Minas, University of Toronto

The first stop on the tour will be the Royal Ontario Museum, Canada's largest museum featuring art, archaeology, and science exhibits. The numerous collections include Ancient Egypt, Imperial Rome, Medieval Europe, and China. Next on the tour will be "Toronto's Majestic Castle," Casa Loma (recently featured on the Arts & Entertain-ment channel's American's Castles). Built in 1914 by Sir Henry Pellatt, the castle features furnished rooms, secret passages, towers, and an underground tunnel leading to stables. Enjoy the lush gardens surround-ing the castle that includes rose gardens, wildflowers, fountains, and sculptures. The Royal Ontario Museum and Casa Loma are accessible to persons with disabilities. Subway transportation and museum entrance fees are covered by the tour fee; lunch is not included in the tour fee. (Subway/Walking excursion—limited to 20 participants)

Tour 3: Black History—SOLD OUT

Monday, August 11, 9:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

Fee: $20.00

Tour Leader: Toronto Tours Ltd.

Toronto is a multicultural city, with many different cultural communities that provide an international flavor that make the city very special and unique. Since the 1700's, people of African descent have called Toronto home. This tour takes an intimate look at the history of Black culture and communities in Toronto. Bring your camera and prepare for one fantastic tour!

The Black heritage of Ontario is as old as the province itself. Among the Loyalists who founded Ontario two hundred years ago were several hundred Blacks, some of whom fought on the British side during the American Revolution and all of whom helped to open up the century by welcoming 30,000 to 40,000 fugitives from the slave system in the United States who decided to "follow the north star" to freedom via the legendary Underground Railway. By 1860, therefore, the roots of the Black community enriched Ontario's and Toronto's cultural mosaic with their churches, schools, newspapers, and numerous other social activities. In addition, they were actively participating in the business, professional, and political life of the province.

Learn about some of the famous Black community members who helped shape Toronto's and Canada's history: Mary Ann Shadd, the first female newspaper editor in North America; William Hubbard, who in 1894 was one of Toronto's most influential Alderman, and who won his seat an unprecedented 13 times in a row and became the first Black Mayor of Toronto; and Harriet Tubman, the celebrated liberator who assisted hundreds of blacks to freedom via the Underground Railway.

See the homes, churches, cemeteries, schools, and other historic sites that are such integral parts of the city. Did you know that the First North American Convention of Coloured Freedmen was held in Toronto in 1851 near St. Lawrence Hall? Enjoy this unique look at Black culture; there will be some picture stops and visits to local shops too. (Bus/Walking tour—limited to 30 participants)

Tour 4: The Infrastructure of Toronto, Part I: Meeting the Needs and Managing Demand for Largely Populated Areas—The Provision of Water and Sewage Services

Monday, August 11, 10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

Tour Leader: Kathleen Reil, Holistic Impax Group, Inc.

Like all large cities throughout the world, Toronto has faced the same pressures of providing safe drinking water, electric power, sewage, and waste disposal for its population. Like many cities, Toronto is really an amalgamation of smaller cities, towns, and villages. Toronto's infrastructure not only faces the challenges of providing for the residents within its own municipal boundaries, but also those residents in the surrounding suburban areas. Acquaint yourself with the socio-environmental considerations (particularly, social equity and environmental justice considerations) faced by both the local communities and the city at large. Note also the juxtaposition of small (older) and large (newer) treatment facilities, as well as the increased reliance on highly complex technological systems. This tour will involve viewing the changes in infrastructure through time. We will tour a Victorian era sewage tunnel. Visit a sewage treatment plant in North Toronto that was originally designed to meet the needs of its local community. Tour a world recognized water treatment plant: the R.C. Harris filtration plant that is characterized by its grand Art Deco architecture. It provides water for most of the city's population. View the plans for immense stormwater tunnels (lagoons), designed to prevent the overflow of untreated overflow of comingled sanitary and sewage outflows. The lagoons are designed to contain these flows and gradually release them to treatment facilities before the water is returned to the lake. These tunnels have been designed to ameliorate conditions at the waterfront during the summer. (Bus/Walking tour—limited to 19 participants; lunch is not included in the tour fee)

Tour 5: The Infrastructure of Toronto, Part II: Politics, Technology, Residents, and Time

Tuesday, August 12, 9:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

Tour Leader: Kathleen Reil, Holistic Impax Group, Inc.

Visit Pickering nuclear facility, located on the shores of Lake Ontario approximately 1 hour from downtown Toronto. This facility provides approximately 20% of the province's power and since its construction has witnessed the growth of the surrounding residential communities.

This tour will focus on some of the concerns that residents have over perceived risks and offer some insights into the operation and management of facilities in what are now primarily residential areas.

The Brock Road landfill will also be visited. Originally this facility was sited in a sparsely populated, primarily rural and developing area. Over its lifespan it has also seen a thriving residential community grow at its borders. It is located adjacent to tracks of government owned lands (Crown lands) previously expropriated for an aborted airport and community development project. Highlights of the tour will include the residential concerns about the landfill and its methane fueled energy facility, as well as the socio-political aspects of land use planning in the area. For example, three years ago, another landfill was proposed for the area immediately adjacent to the existing landfill. Approximately two months ago, a decision was made to develop some of the Crown lands as residential housing. Politics, people, and community mobilization will be highlighted during this tour. (Bus/Walking tour—limited to 24 participants)

A Walking Tour of Downtown Toronto

Tour 6: Monday, August 11, 1:00 - 4:00 p.m.—SOLD OUT

Tour 7: Tuesday, August 12, 1:00 - 4:00 p.m.

Fee: $10.00

Tour Leader: Jim Spates, Hobart and William Smith Colleges

This walking tour of downtown Toronto will take about two and a half to three hours. Our itinerary will be based on the guide's experience gained from teaching a sociology course on Toronto for the past 15 years. Beginning at City Hall, we shall visit the city's two Chinatown Districts, Eaton Centre, and the Yonge Street "strip". This will be followed by a walk through the area where most of the city's homeless and destitute live, and stops at some of the city's most interesting housing projects, designed for both poor and mixed-income residents. We shall finish with a walk through some of the city's most important areas of revitalization—the "Old City" (where Toronto, then "The City of York," began), Harborfront, and the financial district. At various points on the tour we shall meet Torontonians who live and work in the areas we are walking through. Subway transportation is included in the tour fee. (Subway/Walking tour—limited to 20 participants)

Tour 8: City Parks, Ravines, and Waterfronts

Monday, August 11, 3:00 - 6:00 p.m.

Fee: $15.00

Tour Leader: Kathleen Reil, Holistic Impax Group, Inc.

Toronto, like other urban cities, faces numerous pressures for different uses of its lands. Previously industrialized older communities face redevelopment pressures that create environmental and social challenges. Whenever changes in land uses are proposed, there can be struggles over both the process of development and decision making which ultimately affect the final use. At the same time, our society places a higher and higher value on recreational space. Please join in a tour of some of Toronto's built parks and shared use areas to acquaint yourself with the challenges faced by Torontonians in shaping their city.

This tour will involve background literature and visits to:

Yorkville/Cumberland Park: Reconstructing nature. Visit a con-structed urban park that has won international acclaim and awards. The park is located in the heart of one of Toronto's oldest neighborhoods that has recently become characterized by high price restaurants and boutiques. The park was constructed to represent the different aspects of Ontario: the Canadian shield, forested areas and indigenous wildflowers and grasses. It is located in the center of the city, steps away from the intersection of Yonge and Bloor streets.

The Lower Don River: Witness the changes that have occurred during the past 100 years when river side mills were an essential industrial component of our economy. Also remark on the land use succession over time, from open space to commercial/industrial to transportation and recreational uses. This ravine area is now characterized by a multi-lane expressway and a nature trail. See how these seemingly diverse uses co-exist.

The Martin Goodman and Waterfront Trails: Walk portions of the Martin Goodman trail and observe the different land uses along the Trail. Tour portions of the Waterfront Trail that extend from Hamilton to Cobourg. Witness the changes that have occurred, from industrialized to residential and recreational uses over the past 25 years. The Waterfront trail is a component of the Waterfront Regeneration Trust that strives to make the waterfront accessible to all while balancing the needs and uses of waterfront lands by different stakeholders such as industry, naturalists, recreational users, residents, etc.

Leslie Street Spit: Visit a park under construction. This is another example of lakefilling. Acquaint yourself with the multi-stakeholder process of developing the park and the jurisdictional and administrative structures and struggles involved in this process. This area is also a bird and wildlife sanctuary. (Bus/Walking tour—limited to 44 participants)

Tour 9: Historic Theatre Tour

Tuesday, August 12, 9:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. Fee: $15.00

Tour Leader: Toronto Tours Ltd.

Toronto is known as the third largest theatre district in the world, after London and New York. In the heart of downtown Toronto are two of the city's finest theatres, with fascinating histories and awe-inspiring interiors. Through a guided walking tour by experienced docents you will discover some of the backstage secrets of these wonderful old theatres.

The opening of Loew's Yonge Street Theatre on December 15, 1913 was a dazzling event drawing the city's elite. This was the Canadian flagship in Marcus Loew's chain of vaudeville playhouses. A few months later the Winter Garden Theatre was opened above the Yonge Street Theatre, where patrons encountered a fantasy English Garden theatre. For fourteen years, the theatres operated in tandem, until the Yonge Street Theatre (renamed The Elgin Theatre) was reduced to showing third rate "B" movies and was later closed and neglected for sixty years.

On December 15, 1989, The Elgin and Winter Garden Complex opened its doors, restored to its original splendor. One of the largest and most exciting restoration projects ever undertaken, it has become a unique venue for outstanding theatrical productions and social events. This complex is a National Landmark. You will also explore the Pantages Theatre, one of Toronto's historic theatres restored to its original glory, and currently the home of Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Phantom of the Opera." The Pantages opened its doors to an eager public in August of 1920. Tour its amazing lobby, the House, and the grand hall entry where decades ago avid theatre goers arrived by streetcar, paying a 45 cent admission to enter a fantasyland. More than seventy years later the fantasyland of the magnificent Pantages is very much alive. (Walking tour—limited to 30 participants)

Tour 10: Changing Ethnic Character of Toronto

Tuesday, August 12, 1:30 - 4:30 p.m.

Fee: $15.00

Tour Leaders: Patricia Albanese and Milena Gulia, University of Toronto This tour will concentrate on the downtown Toronto area. Toronto is considered by some to be a multi-cultural city that works. Visit some of the main arterial roads of Toronto and view the communities and commercial enterprises in these areas. Witness the succession of different ethnic groups in various areas of Toronto. This tour will also involve a comparison with previous uses of these spaces and discuss the niche creation of different communities: Italian, Chinese, Vietnamese, Somali, East Indian, Portuguese, etc. You will visit Bloor Street from Yonge to Dufferin, Spadina Avenue from College to the Lakeshore, College Street from Bathurst Street to Ossington Avenue, St. Clair Avenue from Dufferin Street to Caledonia, Queen Street from Spadina to Dufferin, Gerrand Street from Pape to Coxwell, and Dundas Street from McCaul to Spadina. For those who are interested and have a vehicle, ethnic communities in Toronto suburban areas such as Markham and Woodbridge are also worth visiting. (Bus/Walking tour-limited to 44 participants)

Tour 11: Punks and Peppers—A Kensington Market Radical History Walking Tour—SOLD OUT

Tuesday, August 12, 4:00 - 6:00 p.m.

Fee: $10.00

Tour Leader: Lesley Wood, Bikes on Wheels and Toronto City Cycling Committee, City of Toronto

"The Market" today hums between Chinatown and the University—a dynamic host to Rastafarian shopkeepers, Portuguese produce vendors, vintage clothing fiends, anarcho-punk bookstores and bales and barrels of spices, rags, and sharks. Nosing into the nooks and crannies in order to contextualize the present, this tour will delve into a history of an area that has hosted the migration of many waves of Toronto immigrants, but what was known until only 20 years ago as "The Jewish Market". We will meander past sites of Communist riots, Emma Goldman's speeches, anti-Nazi demonstrations, and police brutality. This tour is accessible to persons with disabilities. Streetcar transportation is included in the tour fee. (Subway/Walking tour—limited to 20 participants)

Tour 12: Self-directed Waterfront Tour

Fee: $2.00

Tour Organizer: Kathleen Reil, Holistic Impax Group, Inc.

This tour will take you past some historic, controversial and innovative examples of Toronto's development. Begin your tour at the foot of Yonge Street, the longest street in North America. As you walk along parts of the Waterfront Trail and the Martin Goodman Trail, you will pass remnants of Toronto's industrial past, Toronto's former glory as a shipping port, and witness the results of what many sociologists have termed the "growth machine."

You will see how Toronto has chosen to revitalize its waterfront. Stop off at Queen's Quay terminal for a quick walk around to observe how Toronto's former waterfront industrial character has been re-interpreted in the 1980's and 1990's.

Continuing westward you will walk past some of the most expensive residential real estate in the city and some of Toronto's co-operative residences that are "geared to income"—both offering their residents a view of the Lake. You will also pass the CN tower, the Sky Dome, and the central headquarters and warehouse depot for Toronto's Daily Food Bank.

You will pass the historic Fort York, once located on the shores of Lake Ontario and now nestled under an elevated expressway. Continuing along the Lakeshore, you will pass monuments to Canada's military activities. Your walk will end at Ontario Place and the Canadian National Exhibition (CNE) grounds. Ontario Place is a renowned recreational and architectural highlight of Toronto—located on land formed by lake-filling. End your tour with a meal and/or concert at Ontario Place.

Other Events

Welcoming Party

All meeting registrants are invited to the Welcoming Party on Saturday, August 9, from 6:30-8:00 p.m., in the Grand Ballroom East-Center at the Sheraton Centre to celebrate the opening day of the 1997 Annual Meeting.

Make new acquaintances, chat with old friends, and find a first-time meeting attendee to befriend. Lend an ear to the jazz quartet rounded up by sociologist Robert Faulkner. Remember to bring the Welcoming Party flyer from your Program packet with you to exchange for a complimentary beverage!

Honorary Reception

Since 1984, the American Sociological Association has been joined by social science departments and regional societies in co-sponsoring the annual Honorary Reception that follows the President's address. This year the Association is pleased to acknowledge the following co-hosts of the Honorary Reception:

Sponsors:

Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences

Cleveland State University

Cornell University

The Ford Foundation

McMaster University

Northeastern University

Pennsylvania State University

Queen's University

University of Akron

University of California, Berkeley

University of California, Los Angeles

University of Toronto

University of Vermont

University of Western Ontario

Donors:

Buffalo State University

Cuyahoga Community College, Metropolitan Campus

Nazareth College of Rochester

Wayne State University

All meeting attendees are invited to join with our sponsors and donors at the Honorary Reception at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, August 10, in the Grand Ballroom West-Foyer at the Sheraton Centre to express our appreciation, congratulations, and best wishes to President Smelser and the major ASA award recipients on this festive occasion!

Orientation for First-Time Attendees

This orientation to ASA and the Annual Meeting is a must for first-time meeting attendees. Scheduled from 5:00-6:15 p.m. on Saturday, August 9, in Grand Ballroom West at the Sheraton Centre, prior to the Welcoming Party, this special orientation hour provides the opportunity to meet Association officers and staff and begin networking with experienced colleagues.

ASA Secretary Teresa A. Sullivan and Executive Officer Felice J. Levine host this orientation. Pointers on navigating the Annual Meeting will be shared in informal roundtable discussion. First-time attendees should look for an admission ticket in their badge envelopes as soon as they pick up their program packets and come prepared to ask "what makes it work?"

In Remembrance

At the beginning of the Presidential Plenary (Sunday, August 10, 4:30-6:15 p.m.), there will be a "Moment of Silence" to remember those members of the profession who died during the past year. Names submitted to Footnotes since last year's Annual Meeting in August are listed below. If you know of other sociologists who should be on this list but whose names do not appear below, please contact ASA Meeting Services staff in the VIP room at the Sheraton Centre by 3:00 p.m. on Sunday, August 10.

Just Dessert!

A Teaching Endowment Fundraiser

Escape the fast pace of paper sessions, books displays, and convention life to unwind with friends at the fundraising event for the Teaching Endowment Fund, "Just Dessert." Come to the Lakeview Suite on the top floor of the Toronto Colony Hotel for a wonderful nighttime view of downtown Toronto. As the name Just Dessert implies, if your energy is flagging, enjoy special desserts, good coffee, stimulating conversation, and smile that all of this pleasure goes to a good cause.

Admission is by ticket only: $25 donor, $50 sponsor. A major portion of each ticket price will go toward supporting the fund. The Teaching Endowment Fund is a small grants program of the American Sociological Association designed to support teaching-related projects that have long lasting and transferable impact. Approximately four awards of $1000 each are made each year. Applications are due January 2, 1998.

Those enrolled in advance should have received their tickets with their name badges. Others may purchase tickets at the ASA Tickets counter on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre. Ticket sales will close at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 9, however, so don't delay!

DAN

Be sure your meeting schedule for Monday, August 11, includes the 24th annual Departmental Alumni Night (DAN), where sociologists from around the world meet to reminisce about graduate school days, create new coalitions, and catch up on the latest news!

The gathering will begin around 10:00 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom East-Center at the Sheraton Centre, following the evening plenary session. Plenty of time is provided for chatting with colleagues and alumni.

Each graduate department of sociology in the United States and Canada was given the opportunity to sponsor a table to attract alumni and friends. Tables are provided for sociologists in business and industry as well as for international scholars and guests.

Make plans to meet your friends and join in the alumni interaction beginning at 10:00 p.m. on Monday, August 18!

5K Fun Run

An informal 5 kilometer (3.2 miles) run/walk through scenic downtown Toronto has been organized for Sunday morning, August 10. This is a relaxed, non-competitive event for runners and walkers of all levels. ASA member volunteers will lay out a circular course starting and finishing at the Sheraton Centre.

Those who signed up for the walk should have received tickets with their name badges. Late entrants will be accepted on a space-available basis; availability of T-shirts is not guaranteed. Tickets must be purchased by 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 9, from the ASA Tickets counter on the Concourse level of the Sheraton Center.

Check-in for the event is 7:00-7:45 a.m. on Sunday, August 10, in the Grand Ballroom Foyer at the Sheraton Centre. Start time is 8:00 a.m. The post-event gathering back in the ballroom foyer will include water, juice, and—as promised—donuts!

Other Group Activities

The wide-ranging interests of ASA members generate meetings of special interest groups during each year's Annual Meeting. Space is assigned as available to these groups to hold their meetings in evening time slots when no program sessions or other ASA activities are scheduled.

"Other Group" activities range from ad hoc sessions sponsored by individual ASA members to meetings of sister/affiliated organizations.

In addition to the scheduled meeting time, some groups will have membership information and publications on display in the Table Space Area at the Sheraton Centre.

Registration Services

Registration confirmations were mailed for all meeting registrations postmarked by July 22 or received via fax on July 22. Attendees who miss the July 22nd deadline will find their paperwork held at the ASA Situations counter for on-site registration processing.

Pre-Registration Pickup. Attendees registered by July 22 may pick up badges, program kits and special tickets at the Pre-Registration checkroom on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre. Service hours are:

Friday, August 8	1:00-8:00 p.m.
Saturday, August 9	8:00 a.m5:30 p.m.
Sunday, August 10	8:00 a.m5:30 p.m.
Monday, August 11	8:00 a.m5:30 p.m.
Tuesday, August 12	8:00 a.m5:30 p.m.

Preregistrants who arrive on August 13 may pick up their meeting materials at the ASA Information Desk on the Concourse Level.

On Site Registration. Those who missed the July 22 preregistration deadline should go to the On-Site Registration counters on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre in Toronto. On-Site Registration hours are:

Friday, August 8	1:00-5:00 p.m.
Saturday, August 9	8:00 a.m5:30 p.m.
Sunday, August 10	8:00 a.m5:30 p.m.
Monday, August 11	8:00 a.m5:30 p.m.
Tuesday, August 12	8:00 a.m5:30 p.m.
Wednesday, August 13	8:00 a.m4:00 p.m.

Reminder: Access to all ASA services is restricted to meeting registrants. Badges are required for entry to the ASA Exhibits, Employment Service, Child Care Service, and Paper Sales areas. Also, attendance at events which require fee payment (e.g., Didactic Seminars, Chair Conference, Director of Graduate Studies Conference, TEF Just Dessert, Tours, Workshops, 5K Fun Run) is restricted to those who have registered for the meeting.

Spouse/Guest Registration. A Spouse/Guest registration provides a name badge only (name only, no affiliation). Spouse/guest registrations are limited to one per registrant. Any spouse/guest who wants a program packet and access to didactic seminars and pre-meeting conferences or workshops must register individually and pay the full registration fee.

Refunds/Cancellations. Cancellation notice must be made in writing. 90% of non-participant registration fees will be refunded if written cancellation was received before July 1. Cancellations and refund requests received after July 1 will not be accepted. All fees are non-refundable after July 1, 1997. Unfortunately, under no circumstances can ASA issue refunds for no-shows.

Program participant registration fees are non-refundable; cancellations will not be accepted nor refunds issued.

Duplicate Payments. The 90% refund policy applies to any and all duplicate payments. If you fax your registration form with a credit card authorization, do not send confirming copy by mail.

Accessibility Resources and Services

The ASA offers several services and oversight arrangements to facilitate attendance at the Annual Meeting. The ASA Information desk will coordinate resources during the meeting week for registrants with physical disabilities who are attending the Annual Meeting. Special services which were arranged in advance may be verified with Information Desk staff on your arrival to ensure that you receive the assistance you need. Should you encounter any problems during the week or need any additional information while in Toronto, please see ASA staff at the ASA Information Desk or in the on-site ASA Office (VIP room, Concourse level, Sheraton Centre).

Comfort Zone. Attendees coping with illness, meeting fatigue, or stress may use the small room set aside by ASA as a "safe haven" to escape briefly from the noise and bustle of meeting activities. The Comfort Zone is located in the Windsor West room on the mezzanine level of the Sheraton Centre. This space is provided in response to concerns brought to the ASA Council by the Sociologists' AIDS Network, Sociologists' Lesbian and Gay Caucus, and the ASA Committee on Society and Persons with Disabilities.

Sessions. ASA has made arrangements for sign language interpreters and other communication avenues for preregistered meeting registrants who requested such services. ASL sign language interpreters will be interpreting sessions 30, 107, 120, 150, and 190; oral interpreters will be available for sessions 290, 316, and 486.

Housing. Attendees who requested wheelchair accessible rooms, bathrooms with safety equipment (grab bars), amplified telephone receivers, closed captioned TV equipment, TDD access, "shake awake" alarms, or other resources when making room reservations and who have not received the desired equipment are asked to contact the ASA Office immediately.

Travel. Attendees with mobility impairments who are flying in and out of Toronto are advised to notify their airline 24 hours before departure if they will need assistance in getting from their arrival gate to the baggage claim area. Airline and airport personnel will gladly assist any meeting attendee needing transportation aid. For information regarding accessible public transportation services from the airport in Toronto, call Airport Express, 905-564-3232, between 6:00 a.m.-12:00 a.m., seven days a week. Accessible van services to/from the Toronto airport and hotels may be arranged in advance through Airline Limousine, 905-676-3210 or Airport MacIntosh and Aircab Limousine, 416-225-6666.

On-Site Requests. Registrants who did not make advance arrangements for services or equipment are requested to contact staff in the ASA Office in the VIP room at the Sheraton Centre. Every reasonable effort will be made to assist registrants on-site. However, if you have a physical disability and need special services, equipment, or accommodations, and did not notify ASA in advance of your arrival at the meeting site, ASA may not be able to provide the proper services due to the limited availability of some equipment and services.

ASA Information

The ASA Information desk, located on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre, is staffed with ASA Executive Office personnel who will be able to assist attendees who have questions about meeting events, activities, and accessibility resources. Information hours are 1:00-5:00 p.m. on Friday, August 8. Hours on Saturday-Wednesday, August 9-13 correspond to the On-Site Registration hours shown above.

ASA Office

The on-site ASA Office is situated in the VIP room at the Sheraton Centre. It will be staffed from 8:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. on Friday-Wednesday, August 8-13, with ASA Executive Office personnel.

Child Care

ASA is continuing the tradition of providing an innovative program of activities for children of Annual Meeting registrants. Arrangements have again been made with KiddieCorp to offer a full child care program from 8:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on August 9-13 for children between the ages of 6 months to 12 years. Evening care must be arranged on an individual basis with local babysitting agencies.

KiddieCorp is dedicated to providing quality child care services for meeting attendees. Staffing is based on a 1:2 ratio for children 6 months to 1 year, 1:3 ratio for children 1-2 years of age, and a 1:5 ratio for children 3-12 years of age. The program includes a customized hourly schedule of creative and educational activities, age-appropriate toys and games, popular arts and crafts projects, and child-pleasing movies and cartoon videos.

The Child Care Service is located in the Spindrift-Spring Song suite on the 4th Floor of the Sheraton Centre. The service is available to preregistrants only. Daily use fees per child are $35 per full day, $20 per half day; fees are in U.S. dollars. For children using the service for shorter periods, the half-day fee will apply to encourage stable populations. Fees include on-site activities and snacks; lunch is not included but meal arrangements can be made through KiddieCorp.

Parents/guardians using these services must be registrants for the Annual Meeting.

There is no guarantee that non-preregistered families can be accommodated on-site. Child care providers reserve the right to refuse admittance to non-preregistrants. Last year it was not possible to accept non-preregistered children into the service. If there are any openings, fees for children who were not preregistered will be $55 per day per child. No half-day rates are available for non-preregistrants.

Employment Service

In addition to the monthly Employment Bulletin, now available in print and on-line as part of ASA's homepage (http://www.asanet.org/), the Association assists prospective employers and employees by sponsoring an Employment Service during each year's Annual Meeting.

The 1997 Employment Service will be open at the Toronto Hilton from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. on Friday, August 8; and from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday-Tuesday, August 9-12. The service will not be open on Wednesday, August 13.

Anyone using this service, whether as Candidate or Employer, must register for the Annual Meeting as well as with the Employment Service. Once registered, you will be issued a pass permitting your entrance to the Service any time it is open. No one will be admitted without a pass; no browsing by non-registered attendees is permitted.

The fee for using the Employment Service is $100 for employers; $20 for candidates who are members of the ASA; and $35 for candidates who are not ASA members. All employer listings must be prepaid; post-meeting billing is not available. Candidates must pay by the time they activate their files on-site.

Forms for listing positions (Employer Forms) and applications for individuals (Candidate Profile Forms) were printed in the Preliminary Program and in the Employment Bulletin. Extra copies of these forms are available in the Employment Service Registration areas for those unable to preregister.

Facilities are available at the Hilton for reviewing position listings, exchanging messages, and initiating introductory interviews. Position listings supplied by preregistered employers will be available for viewing when the Service opens on Friday afternoon, August 8. Listings supplied by employers who register on-site will be posted as the listings are received and processed.

Employment Service Candidates should report to Toronto III in the Toronto Hilton as soon as possible after arrival in Toronto to activate their candidate profiles and deliver two copies, three-hole punched, of their complete resumes to the Service. These resumes will be used to create supplemental reference books for use by registered employers during the meeting. For candidates unable to preregister, it is recommended that you visit the Employment Service as early as possible upon arriving in Toronto in order to start the required processing.

Representatives from organizations that are listing positions with the Employment Service should check in at Employment Registration in Toronto II to begin the candidate profile review and interview scheduling process.

Candidate profiles are not supplied to employers until the candidate files have been activated on-site. Since employers need some time to review the files, there will be a time lag between activation of a candidate file and the scheduling of interviews. Because of that processing/review time, those intending to make full use of the Service should register and activate their files/listings by 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 9. No new candidate files will be activated on the last day (Tuesday, August 12) of Employment Service operations.

During the Annual Meeting in New York City last year, 53 employers listed 76 openings, including several positions outside academia, and 357 candidates registered with the Service. Over 875 interviews were scheduled. You can help make this year's Service even more effective by reminding employment personnel at your work site to list available openings with the ASA Employment Service.

Internet Access

Thanks to the efforts of Barry Wellman and Norman Housley at the University of Toronto, arrangements have been made for meeting attendees to access the internet through the University of Toronto Computer Centre. This will give attendees dial-up access to the UT system using their own laptops and modems, through which they can Telnet to their own home computers for the cost of a local call.

For a small service fee of $10, preregistrants received a pass as part of their program packet when they picked up their registrations materials at the Sheraton Centre in Toronto. This pass can be exchanged at the ASA Tickets counter for a login ID and instructions packet. Please note that this service is primarily available only to those preregistering in advance of the meeting (by July 22). Those wishing to register on-site should check at the ASA Tickets counter for availability information.

Internet/Web Access II

For those who have not brought their own computers, the Cyberland Café will give all meeting attendees showing ASA badges or university ID half-price access (CN$5/hour) to their computers for Internet (Telnet & PPP) and Web (Netscape). Cyberland has about a dozen computers plus a café. Sorry, you have to pay full price to use their games. Only a few blocks from the Sheraton Centre, Cyberland Café is located at 257 Yonge Street, 2nd floor, across from Eaton Centre and next to the Pantages Theatre. For more information, call (416) 955-9628.

Exhibits

The 1997 ASA Exhibits highlight the middle days of this year's Annual Meeting. Located in Sheraton Hall at the Sheraton Centre, ASA Exhibits will be open to meeting registrants from 9:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Sunday-Tuesday, August 10-12.

The location of the Exhibits offers excellent accessibility by meeting attendees, due to its close proximity to ASA Registration and meeting rooms used for sessions and roundtable discussions. Always one of the most popular activities at the Annual Meeting, Exhibits offer variety, convenience, and an opportunity to discover current trends in sociological publishing, information processing, and services.

Meeting attendees are encouraged to schedule several visits to the exhibit area so that ample time can be given to leisurely exploring the many offerings. Browse through the latest sociological publications, explore current computer software, chat with representatives of statistical resources and informational literature, and meet the editor of your next publication!

See the Directory of Exhibitors elsewhere in this Program for the names and booth numbers of all exhibitors. Don't forget to look through the Program for special ads!

All persons wishing access to ASA Exhibits must be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting; badges are required for entrance into this area.

Comfort Zone

Attendees coping with illness, lack of stamina, or overexposure to meeting "buzz" may relax in the Windsor West room, a small meeting room set aside as a "comfort zone" at the Sheraton Centre. The space is being provided in response to concerns brought to the ASA Council by the Sociologists' AIDS Network, the Sociologists' Lesbian and Gay Caucus, and the ASA Committee on Society and Persons with Disabilities. Anyone needing immediate medical attention may contact the ASA Office and hotel personnel by picking up the nearest house phone.

Media Office

Media representatives are invited to check in at ASA's onsite Media Office for registration packets and interview assistance. The Media Office will be located in Conference Room E at the Sheraton Centre. Hours will be 1:00-5:00 p.m. on Friday, August 8; 8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Saturday-Tuesday, August 9-12; and 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, August 13.

Meeting attendees are also encouraged to stop by the Media Office and provide information on their availability to discuss their work with the media while in Toronto.

Paper Sales

All session papers which were submitted to the ASA Paper Sales Service by July 15 will be available in the Paper Sales Service in the Essex room at the Sheraton Centre. The Paper Sales Service will be open on Friday, August 8, from 1:00-5:00 p.m. Service hours for the meeting week are 8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Saturday through Tuesday, August 9-12, and 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, August 13.

Check the list of "Available Papers" in your program packet for information on expected availability. Authors who indicated that they would bring copies with them to the Annual Meeting are urged to deliver them to Paper Sales as soon as possible upon arrival.

Meeting registrants may purchase papers for US$3.00 each; these fees go toward service setup and shipping costs. Papers may be purchased as long as supplies last; orders for future delivery cannot be accepted.

Authors must be contacted directly if copies of papers are not available in the Paper Sales Room nor accessible through the Sociological Abstracts document delivery service (Sociology*Express). To facilitate communication with authors, the ASA Executive Office is compiling a Roster of Authors with mailing addresses which may be purchased either at the meeting or from the Executive Office after the meeting.

Copies of papers will not be available from the Executive Office following the Annual Meeting. The Executive Office is not able to return unsold copies of papers to individual authors; however, authors may pick up any remaining copies of their own papers after 3:00 p.m. on Wednesday, August 13.

Copies of some papers may remain at the end of the meeting. Any institution wishing to obtain some of these should contact the ASA Office during the meeting.

All persons wishing access to the Paper Sales area must be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting; badges are required for entrance into this area.

Locator File and Message Center

All attendees are invited to fill out a "locator card" when picking up their meeting registration packets. These cards will then be made available at the ASA Information Desk during the meeting to help colleagues contact each other while in Toronto.

The Message Center retains the traditional handwritten message "boxes" to facilitate 24-hour non-technical exchange of messages between meeting attendees. Boxes will be located on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre.

Membership and Publications Center

Information on ASA membership, sections, subscriptions, and publications will be provided in the Membership and Publications Center on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre. The Center will be staffed by ASA Executive Office personnel and open during the same hours as ASA On-Site Registration.

Limited quantities of most ASA publications will be available for inspection and purchase at the display tables. Price lists and order forms may be used when inventory is sold out or attendees wish to have materials shipped rather than carrying copies with them.

Allocate some time in your meeting schedule to browse through the display tables laden with current career publications, syllabi sets, sociological practice materials, section newsletters, recent journal issues, indexes, teaching resources, departmental guides and directories, minority fellowship application information, code of ethics, and many other publications.

Section Information

Looking for information about 38 active ASA Sections or copies of 1997 section newsletters? Check at the Sections Display Table near ASA On-Site Registration on the Concourse level of the Sheraton Centre.

Sections have been invited to designate representatives to attend the display table during each meeting day. Staff from the ASA Executive Office will also be available occasionally to answer your questions and assist you in joining any and all sections.

Tickets

Registrants already enrolled for didactic seminars, Toronto Tours, and special events should have received tickets with their meeting packets. Those who did not make advance reservations may check at the ASA Tickets counter on the Concourse level at the Sheraton Centre for ticket availability. The Tickets counter will be open from 1:00-5:00 p.m. on Friday, August 8, and from 8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Saturday-Tuesday, August 9-12.

Event tickets are non-refundable and cancellations cannot be accepted. You may, however, sell your ticket to someone else if you are unable to attend.

Hotel Information

The 1997 ASA Annual Meeting is being held at the Sheraton Centre, the Toronto Hilton, the Toronto Marriott Eaton Centre, and the Toronto Colony hotels. Program sessions are being held at all hotels. ASA Exhibits, Registration, Child Care, and Paper Sales are located at the Sheraton Centre. The Employment Service is located in the Toronto Hilton.

Blocks of sleeping rooms for meeting attendees were reserved at five hotels in Toronto and special meeting discounts on room rates arranged. The cutoff date for reservations at ASA rates was July 10; availability of rooms at ASA rates ($122-137 single, $122-148 double) was on a first-come, first-served basis. All hotel rooms are subject to GST/PST which currently totals 12% per night.

For your convenience, a list of hotels where ASA registrants are staying is given below. Included is information on the headquarters hotels for the sister associations and societies, such as the Association for the Sociology of Religion (ASR), the Rural Sociological Society (RSS), the Society for the Study of Social Problems (SSSP), the Society for the Study of Symbolic Interaction (SSSI), and Sociologists for Women in Society (SWS).

Travel Arrangements

By Air. The American Sociological Association appointed Travel Technology Group, Ltd. (TTG) as travel coordinator for the 1997 ASA Annual Meeting. Arrangements were made to offer special fares on Air Canada, American, and Delta Airlines. TTG guarantees lowest airfare on any airline, special negotiated fares of up to 10% off the lowest Air Canada, American, or Delta Airline fares, and $100,000 free flight insurance when booking through TTG.

Stop by the 1998 Annual Meeting desk on the Concourse level at the Sheraton to talk to a TTG representative about arrangements for next year's meeting or call 1-800-631-5353 (from the U.S. or Canada). For your convenience, you may also fax or e-mail your travel inquiries to TTG at 312-329-9513, traveldesk@ttgonline.com. Be sure to include your preferred dates and times of travel.

By Rail. AMTRAK and VIA Rail Canada offer three day-time trains between the U.S. and Canada: one between Chicago and Toronto stopping at Stratford, Ontario; one between New York City and Toronto stopping at Niagara Falls, NY and Niagara Falls, Ontario; and one between New York City and Montreal. Trip times vary between 10 and 13 hours. These trains stop at the border for customs and immigration processing. VIA offers frequent daytime train service in Southwestern Ontario and Quebec between Windsor, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, and Quebec City. VIA 1 premier service offers meals at your seat for an added fare. For schedules, fares, and reservations for cross-border and VIA trains, phone AMTRAK at 1-800-872-7245, VIA rail at 416-366-8411, or consult Travel Technology Group at 1-800-631-5353 to make a train reservation.

Those who will travel by train can get from Union Station to the hotels by taxicab for around CN$3.50. The Sheraton Center and the Toronto Hilton are approximately 6 blocks from Union Station, while the Toronto Marriott is around 8 blocks away. Union Station is located on Front Street, between Bay and University (across the street from the Royal York Hotel). The station is right on Toronto's subway line and is open 7 days a week. For further information, call 416-868-7211.

By Ferry. Call the pertinent service provider for information in the following areas: Cape Vincent, NY and Wolfe Island, Ontario—Horne Transportation, 315-783-0638; Wolfe Island and Kingston—Ministry of Transportation, 613-548-7227; Sandusky, OH, Pelee Island, and Kingsville or Leamington, Ontario—Pelee Island Transportation, 800-841-4243; South Baymouth, Manitoulin Island, Ontario and Tobermory, Ontario—Ontario Northland, 800-265-3163.

By Bus. Both Greyhound and Trailways buses connect to Canadian inter-city buses at Detroit, Buffalo, and Montreal. Please note that Greyhound in Canada is corporately separate from Greyhound in the U.S. There is frequent inter-city bus service in the Windsor-Quebec City corridor.

Airport Transportation

Lester B. Pearson International Airport is the primary airport for the Toronto area, servicing some 35 major airlines. The airport is 25 kilometers from downtown Toronto and a 40-60 minute drive (during non-rush hours) to the headquarters hotels. The airport is located northwest of downtown Toronto in the Municipality of Mississauga.

Attendees with mobility impairments who are flying in and out of Toronto are advised to notify their airline 24 hours before departure if they will need assistance in getting from their arrival gate to the baggage claim area. Airline and airport personnel will gladly assist any meeting attendee needing assistance. For information regarding public transportation services for the physically challenged in Toronto from the airport, call Airport Express, 905-564-3232 between 6:00 a.m.-12:00 a.m., seven days a week.

Airport Express bus service provides a continuous transfer service between Toronto's Pearson International Airport and the Sheraton Centre, Toronto Hilton, Toronto Marriott, Toronto Colony Hotel, and Delta Chelsea Inn in downtown Toronto. Reservations are not required. The shuttle departs every 20 minutes from all three terminals and all downtown locations. When you deplane in Toronto, check in with the customer service representative located at the Airport Express kiosk on the Arrivals level curbside at Terminal 1, Post 7; Terminal 2, Post 7; and Terminal 3, Post 29.

Discount coupons for $1.00 off the one-way adult fare were inserted with registration confirmation letters. Airport Express also offers a 10% discount for seniors and students; however, the meeting discount coupon cannot be applied for an additional discount.

It takes approximately 60 minutes (in non-rush hours) to reach downtown Toronto. Service is available from 6:25 a.m. until 12:45 a.m., seven days a week. Buses depart from downtown Toronto for Pearson International Airport beginning at 4:45 a.m. until 10:45-11:30 p.m., depending on the hotel. Call 905-564-3232 for more information on Airport Express' general schedule and services.

Airport terminal shuttles provide free public transportation between airport terminals. Further information on various transportation options to downtown Toronto is provided below. All fare and price information is in Canadian currency.

Taxi and Limousines. Taxi fares to downtown Toronto are flat fares (not metered). Return trips to the airport may be metered or flat, depending upon the cab company location. Limousine service for 1-5 people is $36.50 tax included; taxi fares are only a few dollars less. Accessible van services should be arranged in advance through Airline Limousine, 905-676-3210 or Airport MacIntosh and Aircab Limousine, 416-225-6666.

Public Transit. Bus service to the nearest subway station is available only at Terminal 2. Take the TTC bus route #58A Malton, which terminates at the Lawrence West Subway Station on the Spadina-University subway line. This line serves the Sheraton Centre at the Osgoode Subway Station. The TTC fare to downtown Toronto is two $2 tickets or $4.00 cash, including bus to subway transfer. Allow an hour to an hour-and-a-half for the trip. Service is fairly frequent during the day. For detailed information, call 416-393-4636.

Local Transportation

Toronto Transit Commission (TTC). Very good public transit is offered in Metro Toronto by the Toronto Transit Commission. The TTC consists of nearly 4,000 kilometers of subway, bus, rapid transit, and streetcar routes. The adult cash fare is CN$2.00. Adult tickets/tokens are sold in multiples of five for CN$8.00. The TTC operates on the exact fare system. Tickets, tokens, and passes are sold at all subway stations and at selected convenience stores. Tokens are often preferred as they allow entry at subway stations without a ticket booth.

Subway passes provide special values, however. A Day Pass is available at CN$6.50, good for one person, Monday through Friday after 9:30 a.m., or all day Saturday. On Sunday, a Day Pass is good for up to six persons, with a maximum of two adults.

Convention Transit Pass. To help visitors get around the city and explore its famous attractions, as well as find some of its hidden treasures, the TTC has introduced the Convention Transit Pass, a specially-issued transportation card providing access to three consecutive days of unlimited travel at a very reduced rate throughout the city for meeting attendees. Each Convention Transit Pass comes in a folder which includes the pass itself, a Ride Guide (transit system map), and an insert with useful information about the pass and the transit system.

The ASA Convention Transit Pass may be activated anytime during the Annual Meeting dates of August 9-13. Your first use of the transit pass will start the three consecutive days of unlimited travel. Passes ordered before the pre-registration deadline date of July 22 may be picked up with your badge and program materials at the ASA pre-registration desk. Convention Transit Passes may also be purchased on-site on a first-come, first-served basis at the Tickets Desk during the ASA Annual Meeting; supply is limited.

Hours. The subway operates from 6:00 a.m. until about 1:30 a.m., Monday-Saturday. After 1:30 a.m., there are night buses which replace the subway on Bloor Street, and on Yonge Street. On Sunday, the subway opens at 9:00 a.m. The nearest subway station to the Sheraton Centre is Osgoode Station at Queen and University. For more information on subway, streetcar and bus routes, schedules and fares, contact TTC Customer Information at 416-393-4636 from 7:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m., EDT.

Buses, Streetcars, and Transfers. You need a ticket, token, or exact change on buses and streetcars. Drivers carry no tickets or change. Bus/subway transfers are free but must be obtained at time of boarding. The Queen Street streetcar, which runs in front of the Sheraton Centre, is the only route that operates on the proof-of-purchase (POP) system. On this route you must always carry a transfer.

Taxi Companies. Passengers will be charged an initial $2.20CN plus approximately $1.00 every additional kilometer. Major cab companies are Co-op Cabs, 416-504-4016, and Diamond Taxicab Association (Toronto) Ltd., 416-366-6868.

Customs and Immigration

Entry into Canada from the U.S. Entry into Canada requires proof of U.S. citizenship. A passport is the best and the quickest means of meeting this requirement. A driver's license alone is not sufficient if you are travelling by air. Proof of citizenship may be established by a birth certificate or voter registration card if accompanied by an additional piece of photo I.D. such as a driver's license with a photograph. Naturalized citizens who do not have passports need to show naturalization certificates or other evidence of citizenship. Permanent residents (who are not citizens) need to show the alien registration card.

For non-resident aliens in the U.S., a passport is required for entrance into Canada and, for certain countries, there is a further requirement of a visa. Visa information may be obtained at Canadian Consulates at the following telephone numbers: Buffalo, 716-858-9500; Detroit, 313-567-2340; New York City, 212-596-1600; Los Angeles, 213-346-2700. The Embassy of Canada, Consular and Visa Section, can be reached at 501 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20001, USA; 202- 682-1760.

Entry into Canada from Countries other than the U.S. Visitors from countries other than the U.S. must have a valid passport, and a visa may be required. Contact the Canadian Immigration Division, Citizenship and Immigration, Place du Portage, 140 Promenade du Portage, Phase 4, Hull, Quebec K1A 1L1; or call 819-994-2424.

Exit from Canada to the U.S. On flying out of Toronto's Pearson International Airport to the United States, passengers are processed by U.S. Customs and Immigration at Pearson Airport before boarding the plane. Allow for extra time for the processing! Reentry to the U.S., whether by plane, train, ferry, bus, or car, also requires proof of citizenship; see above section on entry into Canada for details.

Travel Tips

Weather. The average temperature in Toronto in August usually ranges from 62-79 degrees Fahrenheit (16-26 Celsius).

Taxes. Canada has two sales taxes: a Provincial Sales Tax (PST) of 8%, and a federal sales tax of 7% known as the GST or Goods and Services Tax (GST) Each tax is applied separately for a total of 15% tax on most goods and services. Foreign visitors to Canada can apply for a rebate on GST paid on accommodation (up to 30 nights per visit) and on goods purchased in Canada and subsequently exported within 60 days of purchase. A Revenue Canada brochure is widely available entitled "Goods and Services Tax Refund for Visitors" (RC4031 Revision 1997). A rebate of the PST is also available. However, each refund request must have a PST tax value of at least $50.00, which means total purchases of at least $625.00. You may request a refund form from the Ontario Ministry of Finance, Retail Sales Tax Branch, Refund Unit, 4th floor, 1600 Champlain Avenue, Whitby, Ontario L1N 9B2 or by calling 905-435-3574.

Monetary Notes. The exchange rate has averaged US$1.00 to CN$1.33. Even though there is a favorable rate of exchange, real costs are similar because prices in Canada tend to be higher than in the U.S. on balance. While many merchants will accept U.S. dollars and provide a rate of exchange, the best rate of exchange is to be found at banks. Debit or credit cards that have Cirrus® or Plus access can be used at ATMs throughout Toronto.

Canada has introduced two new coins, both almost half-dollar in size: a one-dollar coin (brass in color), popularly known as the "looney", because there is a picture of a loon on one side of the coin; and a two-dollar coin, often called a "tooney", which is a two-toned coin with a brass-like center. Many slot machines do not yet accept the two-dollar coin. Bills that circulate include denominations of five, ten, twenty, and fifty dollars, each in a different color.

Measures. Canada officially uses the metric system, though British measures are still widely understood and referenced on most items. Temperature is reported in degrees celsius, distances in kilometers. Two kilometers equals approximately 1.25 miles, and 100 km/h is about 60 mph. Liquids are sold in litres with the U.S. gallon being almost four litres (3.785 litres to be exact).

Sightseeing

Tourism Toronto. When you arrive in Toronto, stop by the Visitor Information Center operated by Tourism Toronto, the Metropolitan Toronto Convention & Visitors Association (MTCVA), located in Queen's Quay Terminal at Harborfront, Suite 590, 207 Queens Quay West. Visitor assistance and complimentary brochures are available, including special-interest flyers for wheelchair-using tourists, recreational cyclists, gay and lesbian travelers, great shopping in the city, and a short walking tour. Tourism Toronto hours are 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. EDT, Monday-Friday. Information is available via phone seven days a week by dialing 1-800-363-1990 from anywhere in the continental U.S. and Canada or 416-203-2500 from anywhere else in the world. Phone lines are open 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m. weekdays, 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. on Saturday, and 9:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m. on Sunday. Or write to Tourism Toronto, Queen's Quay Terminal at Harborfront Centre, P.O. Box 126, Toronto, Ontario M5J 1A7, Canada.

Ontario Ministry of Tourism's Travel Centre. Travel and tourism information may also be obtained from the province's recently privatized tourism information service, called Travelinx Ontario. For information in English, dial 1-800-ONTARIO from anywhere in the U.S. and Canada (except Yukon and N.W. Territories) or 416-314-0944; for information in French, call 416-314-0956. Internet browsers can consult http://www.travelinx.com. Travelinx can provide reservations and assistance in planning travel in Ontario, including maps, a provincial park guide, event guides, an adventure guide, and a trip planner. Travelinx maintains an information center, called the Travel Information Centre, located on Level 1 Below at the Eaton Centre Shopping Complex in downtown Toronto.

Toronto Islands Park. One of the most popular summer parks is located across the inner harbor from downtown Toronto, accessible only by ferry boats operated by Metro Parks and Culture. For recorded ferry information, call 416-392-8193. Fare is $4.00 for adults (return free), $2.00 for seniors and students 15-19, and $1.00 for juniors under 15. The park can be very busy on the weekends as residents and tourists alike enjoy the many picnic areas and playgrounds, children's amusement park and farm, and beach with changing rooms and bathing area protected by a breakwater. Three ferry routes are in operation, one of which serves the permanent community at Wards Island. All ferry routes originate at the ferry terminal at the foot of Bay Street, accessible by walking south from Union Station or taking streetcar route #510 one stop south of its terminal inside the Union Subway Station. Take Centre Island Ferry, rent bikes, and ride over to Wards Island (about 2km) and enjoy eating at The Rectory, and The Cafe, moderately priced restaurants.

Zoo and Science Centre Transit. The Metro Toronto Zoo can be reached from the Kennedy Subway Station using the #86A Scarbourough bus. The Ontario Science Centre can be reached from the Eglinton Subway Station using #34 Eglinton East or #100 Flemington Park buses, getting off at Don Mills Road, or from the Pape Subway Station using the #25 Don Mills Road bus.

Out-of-Town Cultural Attractions. Here are some suggestions for other activities if you have some leisure time; private transportation is recommended as public transportation options are limited. Call for information and details.

Shaw Festival, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario (800-511-7429 or 905-468-2172). Summer festival of plays by George Bernard Shaw and his contemporaries.

The Stratford Shakespearean Festival, Stratford, Ontario (800-567-1600, 519-273-1600, in Toronto 363-4471). Plays by Shakespeare and other classical dramatists.

McMichael Canadian Art Collection, Kleinburg, Ontario (905-893-1121). Noted for its collection of the Group of Seven Canadian painters. 20 miles northwest of downtown Toronto.

Niagara Peninsula. A new boat service has been inaugurated by Shaker Cruise Lines between Toronto (from the foot of Yonge Street) to St. Catharines across Lake Ontario (to the Welland Canal entrance). The fare is $12.50 one-way. For information, call 416-364-3938. From St. Catharines there is van-taxi service to Niagara-on-the-Lake and to Niagara Falls, Ontario. The van-taxi fare to either destination is $27.50 for up to five people. Bus connections are being worked on.

Acknowledgments: Thanks to Anton Turritin (York University) for notes on local transportation and area attractions.

Toronto Guidebook

This is a guidebook with a difference! Authored by Edward C. Relph, Professor of Geography at the University of Toronto, The Toronto Guide: The City, Metro, The Region explores many of the facets of Toronto's past and present that make the city what it is—historical and geographical contexts, social fabric, architectural and ethnic styles, issues of environment and pollution, housing and transportation, downtown and suburban development. Packing lots of information and an illustration on every page (most of them line drawings by the author), the updated Guide is designed to be enjoyed by visitor and residents alike. The 134-page guidebook is published by the Centre for Urban and Community Studies at the University of Toronto (Major Report 35, February 1997).

The price of the guidebook, including shipping and handling, is $16CN or $12US. For those who did not order copies in advance, a limited supply of guidebooks will be available for purchase on-site during the Annual Meeting. For more information, contact the Publications Officer, Centre for Urban and Community Studies, University of Toronto, Toronto, Ontario M5S 2G8, Canada; phone 416-978-2072; fax 416-978-7162; e-mail cucs@chass.utoronto.ca.

Hierarchically structured data arise in many studies including crosssectional surveys of respondents nested within families, schools, neighborhoods, or organizations: panel surveys where time series data are clustered within persons; experiments in which treatments are administered to intact clusters such as classrooms, therapy groups, hospitals, or cities; and meta analyses in which subjects are nested within studies. Hierarchical linear models (HLM) provides a conceptual framework and a set of flexible analytical tools for approaching such data. The course will introduce the basic two-level model for continuous outcomes with extensions to discrete outcomes and more complex designs including longitudinal studies that aim to assess the effects of context on the trajectories of individual change. Topics to be covered include the general two-level model using ANOVA, group means, contextual effects, ANCOVA, and cross-level models, with applications to clustered data and repeated measures (growth curve analysis) data. These will be extended to three-level models, cross-classified random effect models (individuals in multiple groups or migrating across groups), and non-normal error (binary and count) models. Participants should have strong backgrounds in matrix algebra and regression analysis.

25. Didactic Seminar. Developing and Marketing Focus Group Skills

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Ticket required for admission

Janet Mancini Billson, Group Dimensions Research

This seminar is for sociologists who want to explore the possibility of using focus groups in either academic or applied research. Focus groups are an increasing popular method for gathering qualitative interview data. This session will cover the fundamental aspects of focus groups at an introductory level. It will present the basic stages in conducting a focus group research project. Available resources for training in focus group research will be reviewed, including both published works and training workshops. The seminar will also include a discussion of how to set up a business that offers focus group services.

26. Professional Workshop. Using Kinship Pairs in the Adolescent Health Study: Methodological Issues Sheraton Centre, Dominion North

David C. Rowe, University of Arizona

The Adolescent Health Study (Add Health) is an in-school survey of 90,000 children in 145 schools and an in-home survey of 20,777 adolescents in wave I and about 80% of that total in wave II. The study investigates the effects of family, peer group, school, neighborhood, and community on adolescent health and health behaviors, including diet, violence, and sexual behaviors. The Add Health Study is unique in that it includes behavior genetic samples-namely, identical and fraternal twins, biological full siblings, halfsiblings, and unrelated siblings reared together. The theme of this workshop is that allowing for genetic influences improves the estimation of environmental ones because of the potential methodological confound of genetic and environmental influences. The session first introduces the framework of partitioning variance into heredity, shared environmental influences, and nonshared environmental influences. These ideas are illustrated using the Add Health Study data. Two general analytic methods are discussed, one based on regression equations and the other on structural equation models. Assumptions of methods are presented, along with methods of evaluating them and relevant literature. The session closes by emphasizing the tremendous opportunities for estimating the causal effects of genes and environment using data in the publicly available Add Health data files. Conditions for obtaining Add Health data will be briefly described. The session is led by an internationally recognized behavior geneticist.

27. Teaching Workshop. Internationalizing the Curriculum Sheraton Centre. Kent

Anne W. Martin, Edmonds Community College Donald F. Wheeler, Kean College of New Jersey

This workshop aims to assist faculty in revising sociology curricula to reflect international and global perspectives and subject matter. Three approaches to curricular reform will be explored: intercultural, comparative, and world systems. Teachers will receive support and materials (including bibliographies) which will assist in: (1) incorporating materials from marginalized peoples, allowing them to speak in their own voices; (2) applying ecological perspectives which ground studies in the natural world; and (3) designing materials to enhance intellectual awareness and competence. Two case studies will be presented: Edmonds Community College of Washington State and Kean College of New Jersey. These cases highlight the development of new curricula and programs such as a two-year International Studies Program, use of international branch campuses and study abroad, and consortial approaches to curricular reform and faculty development.

65. Didactic Seminar. Ethnographic Fieldnotes Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Robert M. Emerson, University of California, Los Angeles Rachel I. Fretz, University of California, Los Angeles Linda L. Shaw, California State University, San Marcos

Ethnographers have given relatively little attention to moving from making observations of others' activities and talk to writing down fieldnote accounts of these observations. This session will focus in detail on these processes. Participants in this seminar are asked to submit in advance excerpts from their own fieldnotes, or from those of their students. These fieldnote excerpts will be used to address specific issues of writing, organizing, reviewing, and analyzing fieldnote data. Seminar participants will learn to improve their skills in writing and working with fieldnotes as well as develop strategies for teaching students. Registrants should consider reading Emerson, Fretz, and Shaw, Writing Ethnographic Fieldnotes (University of Chicago Press, 1995), before attending the seminar.

66. Professional Development Workshop. Research Topics in the Sociology of Mental Health (co-sponsored by the Minority Fellowship Program Committee)

Nebraska, Lincoln

67. Academic Workplace Workshop. Effective Approaches to Peer Review of Teaching

Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Paul J. Baker, Illinois State University, Normal Gary Spencer, Syracuse University

This combined panel and workshop deals with organizational strategies that encourage faculty to collaborate with one another in ways that improve individual courses, better integrate the departmental curriculum, and make teaching and pedagogy a more open, central, and collegial activity. Workshop leaders will briefly present strategies that have worked for them as well as those that were not highly successful. The workshop portion will create group simulations that illustrate both strategies and pitfalls in the peer collaboration process—working through the wall of resistance, giving faculty ownership of the process, and altering reward structures and departmental cultures are among the issues to be dealt with.

68. Teaching Workshop. Teaching the Required Theory Course(s) for Undergraduate Majors

Richard W. Moodey, Allegheny College

This workshop will be structured around the new revision of the ASA Teaching Resources Center handbook on teaching social theory. The session will begin with an overview of different approaches to teaching the theory course and then break out into separate discussion groups with designated group leaders. Theory courses differ in terms of content as well as pedagogy. Each small group will be working with this kind of difference. Pedagogical issues are often more pressing in the teaching of theory than are content issues. Even beginning teachers are likely to have a pretty good idea of the content they want to include (deciding what to exclude is often more difficult), whereas pedagogical alternatives are likely to receive less careful consideration. Each small group will also focus on a different pedagogy for teaching social theory. Handouts, based upon the teaching resources manual, will be distributed to attendees.

Stratification has remained at the core of sociological thinking from the classical theorists on through new interest in issues of race, class, and gender. Yet, the stratification course itself can be a challenging one to teach. This workshop will focus on innovative ways of connecting with students' interests, incorporating global perspectives, bridging between theory and current controversies, and helping students to connect social stratification concepts with their own lived experience, as well as the daily lives of others with very different experiences. Participants are welcome to bring their own syllabi,

106. Didactic Seminar. New Directions in Qualitative Methods (to 11:30 a.m.)

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Ticket required for admission

Jaber F. Gubrium, University of Florida

James A. Holstein, Marquette University

The seminar is intended for those who have a basic knowledge of qualitative methods and who are interested in how traditional approaches are being expanded in new directions or are being combined together to form alternative research strategies. Among the "new directions" to be considered are developments in discourse analysis, ethnography, narrative analysis, rhetorical analysis, postmodernist turns, and the study of interpretive practice. These will be illustrated and discussed in relation to emerging research questions and vocabularies. The aim is to provide a working acquaintance with various new ways to think about and interpret qualitative data.

107. Professional Workshop. Getting Papers Published in ASA Journals

Sheraton Centre, Dominion South

Organizer and Presider: Edward J. Lawler, Cornell University Panel: Ronald Angel, University of Texas, Austin

Jeffrey Chin, LeMoyne College
Glenn Firebaugh, Pennsylvania State University
Linda Molm, University of Arizona
Pamela B. Walters, Indiana University

This workshop is for sociologists who submit or who are planning to submit papers to sociology journals. It also should be useful to those who regularly review for journals or would like to do so. The general purpose of the workshop is to provide ASA members an opportunity to learn more about the operation of ASA journals, hear advice about preparing papers for submission, and gain a better understanding of how papers are reviewed and evaluated. The panel will consist of current or recent editors of several ASA journals. They will give brief presentations on their editorial policies/practices and offer some advice to prospective authors and to reviewers. The session will be informal and approximately half of the time will be devoted to questions from and discussion with the audience.

108. Professional Workshop. Proposal Grantsmanship and Opportunities for Federal Funding for Research

Sheraton Centre, City Hall Room

Presider: Patricia E. White, American Sociological Association and the National Science Foundation

Joseph Conaty, Office of Educational Research and Improvement, U.S. Department of Education Sheena M. Lee, Research and Communication Grants Program, Social Sciences and Humanities Council of Canada

Patricia E. White, Division of Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences, National Science Foundation, and the American Sociological Association

Representatives from leading federal science agencies will discuss available support, offer advice on how to best develop competitive research proposals, and outline the review and evaluation process. Questions from the audience are encouraged. The session is part of the Association's Special Focus on Federal Science Policy and Research Support Opportunities being held on August 10-11.

109. Academic Workplace Workshop. Preparing for a Strategic Planning Process or a Program Review

Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Catherine White Berheide, Skidmore College Edward L. Kain, Southwestern University

The goal of this workshop is to provide participants with information and tools which will help them prepare for a program review or strategic department planning. The session will include models for collecting and organizing department data and guidance in department planning. Handouts will be provided, and there will be time for questions.

110. Teaching Workshop. Teaching about Sexuality and Sexual Orientation in Sociology Courses

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Tom Gerschick, Illinois State University Paula Rust, Hamilton College

This workshop will provide coverage of a wide variety of techniques and strategies for teaching about sexuality including issues arising inside and outside the classroom. The session format is a highly interactive forum, and attendees are invited to share their approaches and problems. The workshop is suitable for those teaching courses on sexuality and those who wish to incorporate such material into other courses. A donation of $5 would be appreciated, but is not mandatory, to cover the expense of the workshop handouts.

130. Didactic Seminar. Postmodernism Is Not What You Think

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Charles Lemert, Wesleyan University

The seminar will present the three major traditions in the postmodernism debate: radical and strategic postmodernisms, and racial modernism. Postmodernism is not what you think. It is neither primarily a theory nor what is commonly said about it. Rather, if it is anything, it is an actually occurring world historical process. Postmodernism is interesting to sociologists because it raises questions that must be asked about changing global structures. Topics to be discussed will include: the Sokal affair and the science question, media culture, the politics of the postmodern, the elements of structuralist and poststructuralist sociology, and the challenge of new, extra-sociological sociologies. There will be lecture and discussion.

131. Professional Workshop. The New ASA Code of Ethics as a Living Document

Toronto Hilton, Governor General Suite

John M. Kennedy, Indiana University Sue K. Hoppe, Iowa State University

The new ASA Code of Ethics offers sociologists many opportunities to renew their understanding of the importance of ethical issues in their professional lives. In this workshop, a panel of sociologists will discuss how they use the Code to assist them in their work. Included in the panel will be an editor of a sociological journal, a department chair, a research organization director, and a non-academic sociologist. The panel members will give a short presentation on how they use the Code. The Committee on Professional Ethics and the other participants will be invited to discuss the issues raised by the panel.

Committee on Professional Ethics: Anthony Cortese, Southern Methodist University; Cheryl Townsend Gilkes, Colby College; Karen F Hembry; Sue K. Hoppe, Iowa State University; Joyce Miller Iutcovich, Keystone University Research Corporation and Gannon University; John M. Kennedy, Indiana University; Barbara D Melber, Battelle Research Center, Seattle; Eleanor M. Miller, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee; Helen Moore, University of Nebraska, Lincoln; Bernice Pescosolido, Indiana University; and Bette Woody, University of Massachusetts, Boston

132. Academic Workplace Workshop. Strategies for Contract Bargaining in Colleges and Universities

Sheraton Centre. Kent

Rachel Hendrickson, National Education Association Gary Rhoades, University of Arizona

Knowledge workers such as faculty have traditionally been reluctant to join unions. However, with the breakdown in collegiality on campuses, faculty are both more willing to assert their rights through unionization and to take the lead in negotiating such items pertinent to their professional interests as intellectual property rights and distance learning. Using a data base of 505 higher education contracts, workshop leaders will explore current contract language aimed at protecting faculty in the information age.

133. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Sociology of the Family Toronto Marriott, Trinity Salon 2

Marilyn Ihinger-Tallman, Washington State University Candan Duran-Aydintug, University of Colorado, Denver

This workshop focuses on teaching methods which emphasize an understanding of the concepts central to the study of the family. While students can read and assimilate information from textbooks, it is hard for them to gain an understanding of abstract concepts, e.g., family structure. How can concepts such as this be demonstrated with classroom techniques so students can "do" and "know" compared to "hear" and "see"? Some time will be spent discussing interactive teaching using the computer. Workshop participants are urged to bring ideas and experiences to share with the group.

168. Poster Session. Opportunities for Research Support (to 4:00 p.m.)

Sheraton Centre, Civic Ballroom

Organizers and Presiders: Felice J. Levine, Patricia E. White, Carol Anne Davis, and Christopher J. Hickey, American Sociological Association

This poster/exhibit session is an important opportunity to meet program officers and representatives of major research funding institutions to talk about research and fellowship support. This is a chance for conference participants to speak one-on-one with representatives and learn about new and continuing funding initiatives, application procedures and review processes, and elements of a competitive research proposal. Each exhibit provides a visual overview of research funding and the application process, materials for distributions, and time for direct individual discussion. All meeting participants, including students, are encouraged to attend.

174. Didactic Seminar. Game Theory in Sociology (cosponsored by the Section on Mathematical Sociology)

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Ticket required for admission

Philip Bonacich, University of California, Los Angeles Elisa Bienenstock, Stanford University

This seminar will afford an introduction to some of the key concepts in game theory. Time permitting, the following will covered: zero sum games; cooperative versus non-cooperative games; Nash equilibrium for non-cooperative games; Pareto optimality; the core, kernel, bargaining set, and other solutions for cooperative games; evolutionary game theory; and evolutionary stable strategies. Recent sociological work using these concepts will also be discussed. No mathematical background is required.

175. Academic Workplace Workshop. Evaluating and Rewarding Professional Service

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association Sue Marx Smock, Wayne State University

Most colleges and universities encourage professional service as part of a faculty member's role. How is service defined, encouraged, evaluated, and rewarded? In the national conversation about faculty roles and rewards, how can we move to enhance clarity about professional service in those dimensions? This workshop will offer models for how institutions/departments with various missions might think about that challenge and how they might proceed to bring professional service into the reward structure more authentically.

176. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Economic Sociology Toronto Hilton, Tom Thomson

Organizers and Presiders: Gary P. Green, University of Wisconsin, Madison; and David J. Myhre, Lewis and Clark College

Panel: Bruce Carruthers, Northwestern University

190. Special Session. Community Action Research (cosponsored by the Spivack Program in Applied Social Research and Social Policy)

Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Organizer and Presider: Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association

Panel: Cynthia Deitch, George Washington University Al Gedicks, University of Wisconsin, La Crosse Nancy A. Naples, University of California, Irvine Lee Williams, University of Tennessee

The ASA's Spivack Program sponsors the Community Action Research Fellowships, designed to stimulate and support sociologists to undertake initiatives that bring social science knowledge, methods, and expertise for addressing community-identified issues and concerns. Sociologists who work with community groups can receive up to $2,500 to cover direct costs for doing applied research. Three cohorts of awardees have undertaken these projects. The panelists will describe the community research they undertook and lessons they learned.

191. Special Session. Disaster in Comparative Context Sheraton Centre, Huron

Organizer and Presider: Russell R. Dynes, University of Delaware

Panel: Frederick L. Bates, University of Georgia

192. Didactic Seminar. Software for Qualitative Analysis (to 11:30 a.m.)

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College

This didactic seminar is for qualitative researchers who wish to use computer software to analyze textual data (e.g., case records, newspaper articles, fieldnotes, transcripts of interviews or focus group discussions), pictures, graphics or audio and video tapes. The seminar leader will briefly explore the history of computer-assisted software programs in the social sciences. The range of computer software programs on the market today will be described, compared, and some of the most important programs will be contrasted. Factors to be considered in selecting a software program will be addressed. Key methodological and theoretical issues involved in using computer-assisted software programs for qualitative data analysis will be analyzed. There will be an in-depth demonstration of HyperRESEARCH—a software program for analyzing qualitative data (text, audio tapes, and video tapes)—and discussion of a sample of other software programs.

193. Professional Workshop. Planning for Post-Retirement Careers

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Organizer: William V. D'Antonio, Catholic University of

Joan Huber, The Ohio State University (Emerita) Darwin L. Thomas, Brigham Young University Barbara R. Williams, The RAND Corporation

Panelists will discuss the problems that are being and may be encountered in planning for retirement. For many people in academe and government, financial concerns have diminished in recent years, but it is not at all clear that role options have improved. The discussion will include questions about financing retirement, physical changes that affect mental and bodily functions, role and structural changes, and the problems that occur when retirement is faced with no planning for role alternatives. Academics in particular face the challenge posed by lack of office space for retirees, as well as kinds of courses they may be offered in the post-retirement years. For some, play may become work, and work play.

Organizers/Presiders: Felice J. Levine, Patricia E. White, Christopher J. Hickey, and Carol Anne Davis, American Sociological Association

This poster/exhibit session provides a unique occasion to meet principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale data sets that are publicly available for use. Each exhibit showcases at least one major data set of tremendous value for primary and secondary analysis. Representatives are available to talk about the nature of these data sets, their analytic potential, and issues relating to access and use, including the development of state-of-the-art Internet services to access data sets. This is an opportunity for conference participants to learn about these data sets and their potential for research and teaching. All meeting attendees, including students, are encouraged to attend. For detailed information on participants, see page 198.

218. Teaching Workshop. The Ethics of Teaching and a Method for Teaching Ethics: Rehearsing for the Drama of the Classroom

Sheraton Centre, Huron

Panel: Lavon Gappa-Levi, Program for Instruction Excellence, Florida State University

Donna Nudd, Department of Communications, Florida State University

Frank Trezza, Department of Theater, Florida State University

This workshop has two objectives. The first is to provide a preliminary look at the educational materials that are being developed by the Committee on Professional Ethics to accompany the new ASA Code of Ethics. These materials are designed to introduce sociologists to and help them negotiate ethical dilemmas in research, teaching, service, and practice. The second is to provide sociologists with two formats using dramatized situations to introduce ethical topics into their classrooms, their programs, their organizations and, in general, their work as sociologists, and to deal effectively with ethical issues as they arise. For this second objective, the panelists will describe and demonstrate how to structure a session on ethical issues using small/large group discussion around the performance of classroom dramas. This will be followed by a demonstration, using examples and input from the participants, of a hands-on approach to ethical issues. The panelists and the remainder of the audience will participate in discussing, describing, and restaging the scenarios and how they might be handled by sociologists.

240. Professional Workshop. Assuring Inclusion in Social Research: How to Make Data Collection Techniques Accessible to People with Disabilities

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Organizer: Corinne Kirchner, American Foundation for the Blind

Susan B. Foster, Rochester Institute of Technology
Gerry Hendershot, National Center for Health Statistics
Emilie Schmeidler, American Foundation for the Blind

Regardless of your research topic, you may exclude some participants (or research staff) because your data collection techniques are inaccessible to them; you thus risk obtaining biased results. The problem, and awareness of it, is growing as the population ages, and as more people at any age survive with long-term impairments, e.g., visual, hearing, cognitive, or other. Panelists will identify the diverse and often subtle ways that exclusion linked to impairment occurs. Panelists will also explain appropriate and inappropriate ways of dealing with the problem, demonstrate some adaptive techniques, and refer to resources which can help social researchers implement inclusive studies.

241. Teaching Workshop. Managing Anger in the Classroom

Toronto Hilton, Johnston

Catherine G. Valentine, Nazareth College of Rochester

The goal of this workshop is to help instructors understand and address anger in the classroom. The focus will be on exploring what is meant by anger in the classroom, the influence of emotion beliefs and teaching styles on perceptions and experiences of anger in the classroom, the contexts/sources in which issues of anger emerge in the classroom, and approaches to managing or addressing anger in the classroom. Handouts will be provided; participants will be asked to share classroom experiences, including their successes and frustrations in dealing with anger.

This year's Research Support Forum features a Town Meeting with Norman B. Anderson, Associate Director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) and Director of the NIH Office of Behavioral and Social Sciences Research (OBBSR). This science policy session will focus on OBSSR's five-year strategic plan for advancing social and behavioral sciences at NIH and on the role of these sciences in the study of health and well-being. A panel of sociologists will frame questions to Dr. Anderson and the audience is encouraged to participate in open discussion and exchange. Complimentary copies of the strategic plan will be made available at ASA Paper Sales in advance of the session.

263. Didactic Seminar. Structural Equation ("LISREL") Models

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Ticket required for admission

Kenneth A. Bollen, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
The seminar provides an overview of Structural Equation Models.
Sometimes called "LISREL," this general statistical model includes ANOVA, multiple regression, path analysis, factor analysis, and many other procedures as special cases. A distinguishing feature of the model is that it allows multiple indicators of latent variables (concepts) and it can estimate relationships that take account of measurement error. The seminar will examine the major subtypes of the model and the primary steps in applying it. Examples of programs and outputs from one or more of the major structural equation packages will be discussed. Participants should have a good background in multiple regression and should have some familiarity with matrix notation.

264. Professional Workshop. Getting Journal Articles Published

Panel: Stephen A. Darman, State University of New York, Albany

Richard H. Hall, State University of New York, Albany Jennifer Keys, State University of New York, Albany

The goal of this workshop is to help people get into print in sociological journals. The Editorial Staff of Sociological Forum will describe the entire editorial process. The session will deal with topics as diverse as selecting the appropriate journal, preparation of manuscripts, the timing of submissions, dealing with requests to revise and resubmit, dealing with rejections, and communicating with editors.

265. Teaching Workshop. Bringing Social Policy Home: Applications of 504 and the ADA in the College Classroom

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

R. Greg Emerton, Rochester Institute of Technology Susan Foster, Rochester Institute of Technology

Sociologists have long been interested in the application of social policy in the larger society. It is infrequent that we must examine our own practices at the micro level of our classrooms, using the guidelines of macro level social policy. While not a substitute for legal counsel, workshop leaders will endeavor in this session to provide accurate background information about the key features of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Practical classroom-based experience in using the reasonable accommodation processes of the ADA to remove barriers to participation in classrooms will be shared.

266. Poster Session. Graduate Programs in Sociology (to 5:30 p.m.)

Sheraton Centre, Civic Ballroom

Organizer and Presider: Kate Linnenberg, American Sociological Association

Graduate programs will display information about their programs, special emphases, financial aid and admissions criteria, and the opportunities to work with their faculty. Representatives from the department will be on hand to answer questions from undergraduate students and their advisors, MA students looking to pursue a PhD, and interested others. Departments will hand out information as well.

285. Didactic Seminar. Loglinear Models and Extensions Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Scott R. Eliason, University of Iowa

This module will cover loglinear models and some extensions to the loglinear model. The session will begin by addressing classic problems of assessing independence and conditional independence. The focus will then move on to modeling the association structure in two-way and higher-way tables, in part by manipulating the design matrix in the loglinear model and in part by estimating RC association models. A relatively new class of models, Generalized Loglinear Models, will also be discussed. Specifically, we will tackle what are called association-marginal models, models which allow simultaneous modeling of the association structure and the relationship between/among marginal distributions. Participants are assumed to be familiar with multiple regression and analysis of variance techniques.

287. Teaching Workshop. Field Research Assignments in the Sociology of Religion

Toronto Colony, St. David

Patrick McNamara, University of New Mexico Madeleine Cousineau, Mount Ida College

Field research is a particularly important teaching technique in undergraduate sociology of religion courses, as well as interesting for the students. It is a way of engaging students personally, eliciting their own voices as they describe their observations, while maintaining academic standards. In this workshop, the leaders will present materials which they have used in their own courses, describe the procedures by which they teach students to do field research, solicit input from participants who have used such assignments, and encourage questions and discussion from other participants who would like to develop this component within their courses.

306. Didactic Seminar. Experiments in Sociology and Economics: Theories and Methods (to 12:15 p.m.)

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Ticket required for admission

Lisa Rutstrom, University of South Carolina

This seminar gives an overview of behavioral experiments in sociology and economics using human subjects. In sociology the focus is exclusively on the development and testing of network exchange theories. The session will start with a brief history of network exchange theory which emphasizes theory growth: how the solution of one set of problems in theory led to new problems and new solutions. Different experimental settings are discussed, including face-to-face and networked PCs. Leaders will show how issues in theory become experimental designs. In economics the focus is on how the rules of the game and the definition of the strategy set influences the decisions of the bargaining parties. The rules to be studied include: who moves first, who has what information, and who can make exchanges with whom. The overlap between the experimental work in sociology and economics is potentially substantial, although not much explicit cooperative work has been done. The experimental methodology used is an important common element across the two fields. Leaders will discuss what aspects of the models and the games are common to the two fields and what aspects are different.

Lessons from the ASA's MOST Program (co-sponsored by the ASA Minority Affairs Program and the Minority Opportunity through School Transformation (MOST) Program)

Sheraton Centre, Huron

Havidan Rodriguez, American Sociological Association and the University of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez

Edward L. Kain, Southwestern University

The goal of this workshop is to provide participants with information which will be useful in curriculum transformation. Topics include developing a strong sociology curriculum, integrating research training in the curriculum, integrating issues of race/ethnicity/diversity throughout the curriculum, and developing a curriculum which ensures that all students have met department goals for the sociology major. Specific examples and successful strategies will be provided from a variety of MOST (Minority Opportunities through School Transformation) institutions. Handouts will be provided, and there will be time for questions.

Toronto Marriott, Trinity Salon 3

Organizer and Presider: Albert Bergesen, University of Arizona

Panel: Randall Collins, University of California, Riverside Christopher Chase-Dunn, Johns Hopkins University Janet L. Abu-Lughod, New School for Social Research Andre Gunder Frank, University of Toronto

The panel will debate the proposition that Europe was no different from the rest of the world in terms of its class relations (Marx) or a culture of rationality (Weber). Received theory is wrong. East and West were part of a larger Afroeurasian world economy, where, if anything, Asia was more developed.

330. Academic Workplace Workshop. Part-time and Temporary Jobs in Sociology

Toronto Hilton, Carmichael

Phyllis Hutton Raabe, University of New Orleans Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association

This workshop will discuss current trends and issues of part-time and temporary jobs in sociology that are relevant to chairs and all faculty. We will focus on the proportion of faculty in part-time and temporary jobs in sociology (about 1/3 of sociology faculty in 1992), inequities in part-time and temporary employment, characteristics of more positive constructions (in relation to contracts, remuneration, benefits, and career paths), and the effects of part-time and temporary employment on practitioners, departments and academic institutions, and the discipline.

331. Teaching Workshop. Graduate Curricula Core and Canon

Sheraton Centre, Conference B-C

Barrett A. Lee, Pennsylvania State University

William G. Roy, University of California, Los Angeles

This workshop is intended for persons who plan or administer graduate curricula in sociology. The format will be interactive, with plenty of opportunity to share and compare experiences. Topics of interest include—but are not limited to—substantive area "packaging," coursework requirements, modes of delivery, the theory/methods sequence, multidisciplinarity and diversity issues, and assessment of mastery.

332. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time

Sheraton Centre, Wentworth

Elizabeth R. Bryant, Johnson County Community College George Bridges, University of Washington

This workshop will address the issues of the first-time sociology teacher. It will be an interactive workshop intended for first-time sociology instructors who have many questions. Concerns about community college classes will be addressed as well as the large four-year institution classes. Specific issues to be discussed will be the objectives of the course, syllabus construction, and selecting texts and alternative materials. The workshop will also discuss strategies for teaching, including lectures, discussions, and service-learning projects. Management strategies for both small and large classes will be provided. Attention will also be focused on different modes of evaluation of student work.

Susanne Morgan, Ithaca College

Douglas K. Anderson, University of Southern Maine

This hands-on seminar will present ideas and techniques for active learning in cooperative/collaborative groups in introductory sociology classrooms. Presenters will explain and demonstrate some approaches to active learning groups as well as sharing many specific class-tested group exercises. A range of options will be presented ranging from short-term mini-exercises to developed group project work. Attendees will receive a workbook with information about the theory and practice of active learning and collaborative group work in classroom as well as written descriptions of specific group exercises.

374. Professional Workshop. Designing a Website to Facilitate Scholarly Work

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

David Murphree, Indiana University Barry Wellman, University of Toronto John M. Kennedy, Indiana University

This workshop will describe Internet website construction from the perspective of both theoretical design and practical maintenance strategies. In particular, discussion will center on how an organization's website can be designed to be supportive of research and teaching. Topics will address the level of organizational resources (both in dollar amounts and personnel time) necessary to publish and maintain a website, and the design of a website that serves both as a marketing/contact information source and a daily organizational resource. Factors that influence website usage, both internally and externally, will be discussed. This last section will include practical strategies to encourage organization staff to access your webpage as a valuable resource and issues of graphic design and "marketing" to draw attention to your work and keep users coming back. Covered also will be strategies to simplify and automate website maintenance and connectivity between website users without compromising the security of the organization's LAN resources or data.

375. Academic Workplace Workshop. Special Educational Needs and Contributions of International Students

Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Donna Hess, South Dakota State University

Kathleen S. Crittenden, University of Illinois, Chicago

This workshop focuses on one of the topics that the Ad Hoc Committee on Graduate Education addressed in its second year. Following a brief summary of the subcommittee report, workshop participants will be led into a consideration of the conditions under which an international graduate student's sojourn in an American sociology graduate program can maximize the intellectual and professional return to the student and also enrich the scholarship and teaching in the department. Implications of these conditions for recruitment and management of international students will be drawn out for discussion. Perspectives, resources, and materials from departments that have solid and innovative initiatives in addressing the special educational needs and drawing upon the contributions of international students will be discussed and presented as potential models for other departments.

376. Teaching Workshop. Preparing Graduate Students to Teach: Lessons from Preparing Future Faculty Projects Sheraton Centre, Huron

Thomas J. Linneman, University of Washington

We have several goals for this workshop. In order to focus this workshop most effectively, we will ask participants to discuss at the outset, and according to their major focus, one of the following: (1) learning how to teach more effectively; (2) preparing graduate students for a career in teaching; or (3) what qualities they look for in a new hire at their teaching institutions. Then, we want to spark a broad, yet also concrete, discussion of precisely what best prepares graduate students for a career in teaching in four-year schools. Second, we want to generate a creative discussion of what kinds of strategies might be used to provide that training, over and above traditional teaching seminars, and in partnerships between four-year schools and graduate institutions. Third, we will describe and evaluate a "Preparing Future Faculty" project conducted in the Seattle area, with an eye toward lessons learned and implications for future training.

396. Academic Workplace Workshop. Bridging the Gaps between University Sociology and Community College Sociology

Toronto Hilton, Carmichael

Organizers: David B. Bills, University of Iowa; and Elizabeth R. Bryant, Johnson County Community College

Panel: Kevin Dougherty, Manhatten College

David L. Levinson, Massachusetts Bay Community College

Stuart L. Shafer, Johnson County Community College Relationships between community colleges and universities are likely to assume increasing importance in the coming years. The purpose of this workshop is to help department chairs and other faculty who are involved in the relationships between these two types of postsecondary institutions by providing information in the following areas: similarities and differences in the work of community college sociologists and college and university sociologists; transfer students and articulation agreements; possibilities for research collaborations between universities and community colleges; and assessment.
The workshop will focus on practical applications in managing and facilitating constructive relationships between community colleges and universities.

397. Teaching Workshop. The Social Problems Course in the Millennium

Sheraton Centre, Conference D

Louis E. Anderson, Kankakee Community College Gregg Carter, Bryant College

Our goal is to communicate the value of thinking frames for developing the social problems course. The presenters will summarize and demonstrate two such frames that they have used successfully. The first focuses on argument analysis in order to help students confront what is being said about social problems in both popular and professional writing. The second focuses on data analysis in order to help students develop skill in interpreting relevant facts about social problems. Handouts will illustrate how both thinking frames are employed in the classroom, including how they can be incorporated with data analysis software intended for undergraduate courses (e.g., Student CHIP and MicroCase).

398. Teaching Workshop. How to Access and Use Federal Data in Teaching

Sheraton Centre, Simcoe-Dufferin

Organizer and Presider: William H. Frey, University of Michigan

Panel: George Dowdall, St. Joseph's University
Christopher Dunn, Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research
Albert F. Anderson, Public Data Queries
Jorge Del-Pinal, U.S. Bureau of the Census

The goal of this workshop will be to show undergraduate teachers how to access and integrate data analysis using federal statistics in their classes. Two kinds of federal statistics will be focused upon: census and survey data from the U.S. Census Bureau; and data available from the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data. Participants will learn how they can easily integrate data analysis exercises into undergraduate classes ranging from introductory sociology to more advanced topics. They will learn how to download, or request, appropriate data sets and exercises from the U.S. Census Bureau, the ICPSR's National Archive of Criminal Justice Data, and via the PDQ-

EXPLORE program. Panelists will provide tips on how to create class exercises, deal with the technological strengths or limitations at your home institutions, and linkages with other faculty support groups such as the Social Science Data Analysis Network at the University of Michigan.

Meet program officers and representatives of major research funding institutions to talk about opportunities for research and fellowship support. This is a chance for conference participants to speak one-on-one with representatives and learn about new and continuing funding initiatives, application procedures and review processes, and elements of a competitive research proposal. Each exhibit provides a visual overview of research funding and the application process, materials for distribution, and time for direct individual discussion. All meeting participants, including students, are encouraged to attend.

1. National Science Foundation Directorate for Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences, Sociology Program

Presenter: William Sims Bainbridge, Sociology Program, Division of Social, Behavioral, and Economic Research, National Science Foundation, 4201 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, VA 22230; phone (703) 306-1756; fax (703) 306-0485; email: wbainbri@nsf.gov; homepage: http://www.nsf.gov.

The Directorate for Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences is the single most identifiable federal source of support for basic research in the social sciences. Social science research is primarily supported in the Division of Social, Behavioral and Economic Research (SBER), the Division in which the Sociology Program is located. The Division consists of five program clusters: Anthropological and Geographic Sciences; Cognitive, Psychological and Language Sciences; Economic, Decision and Management Sciences; Infrastructure, Methods and Science Studies; and Social and Political Sciences (including Sociology). It supports disciplinary and multidisciplinary research, data collection, and measurement and methodological research.

Its goal is to develop basic scientific knowledge of social, behavioral, and economic systems, organizations and institutions, and human interaction and decision making. SBER also provides support for research conferences, doctoral dissertation research, international group travel, and data resource development.

2. National Science Foundation

Office of Polar Programs, Arctic Science Section

Presenter: Carole L. Seyfrit, Arctic Social Sciences Program, National Science Foundation, 4201 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, VA 22230; phone (703) 306-1029; fax (703) 306-0139; homepage: http://www.nsf.gov.

The NSF Arctic Research Program offers a focused multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary research program emphasizing the special character of the Arctic for scientific study. The arctic regions are among the most sensitive to environmental change, have long natural climate records, and thousands of years of human settlement. The Arctic Research Program consists of the Arctic Natural Sciences, Arctic System Science, and Arctic Social Sciences programs. The Arctic Social Sciences Program encompasses all social sciences supported by NSF, including anthropology, archaeology, economics, geography, linguistics, political science, psychology, sociology, and related subjects. Areas of particular interest include rapid social change, community viability, and human/environment interactions.

3. National Science Foundation Directorate for Education and Human Resources, Division of Undergraduate Education

Presenter: Myles Boylan, Division of Undergraduate Education, Directorate for Education and Human Resources, National Science Foundation, 4201 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, VA 22230; phone (703) 306-1681; fax (703) 306-0445; email: mboylan@nsf.gov; homepage: http://www.nsf.gov.

The Division of Undergraduate Education (DUE) is the focal point for the National Science Foundation's (NSF) agency-wide effort in undergraduate education. DUE supports both curriculum (the continuing renewal of undergraduate courses, curricula and laboratories) and faculty (the preparation of future faculty, teachers and other educators at all levels) development activities. A range of Foundation publications will be available, including "Shaping the Future: New Expectations for Undergraduate Education in Science, Mathematics, Engineering, and Technology," and the DUE program announcement which outlines current funding opportunities and application procedures.

A number of research themes have been stressed by DUE over the past year. These include introductory level courses that provide opportunities for active student participation; courses with interdisciplinary perspectives to enable students to better understand the relationship of a number of disciplines and their contributions to addressing problems and issues; training the next generation of elementary and secondary school teachers in mathematics and the sciences (including the social and behavioral sciences); and projects that teach students how to learn and to prepare for a lifetime of learning.

4. National Institutes of Health

National Institute of Child Health and Human Development

Presenter: Christine Bachrach, Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch, National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD), 600 Executive Boulevard, Room B13, Bethesda, MD 20892-7510; phone (301) 496-1174; fax (301) 496-0962; email: bachracc@hd01.nichd.nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nih.gov/nichd/.

National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD), through its Center for Population Research, is the nation's largest funder of behavioral and social science research on population. Program areas of interest include family and household structure and their relationship to children's well-being, fertility and contraceptive behavior, sexual behavior related to risk of pregnancy, HIV infection, and other sexually transmitted diseases; immigration, migration, and population distribution; the relation of demographic factors to labor markets and labor force participation; child care; social factors in mortality, especially infant mortality and child health; and formal demographic and methodological research. The Center for Research on Mothers and Children also supports behavioral and social research in the areas of child development, mental retardation, and nutrition and growth. A new program, the National Center for Rehabilitation Research, founded in 1991, supports work on the behavioral aspects of disability.

5. National Institutes of Health National Institute of Mental Health

Presenter: Leonard Mitnick, National Institute of Mental Health, 5600 Fishers Lane, Room 1075, Rockville, MD 20851; phone (301) 443-6100, fax (301) 443-9719, email: lmitnick@nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nimh.nih.gov/.

The National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) supports and conducts research and research training on mental health and illness. NIMH support in the social and behavioral sciences addresses such issues as the factors associated with health and well-being; violence and traumatic stress; law and mental health; the etiology, genetics, prevention, treatment, and clinical course of mental disorders; clinical mental health services and service systems research; epidemiology; and assessment and classification of mental disorders.

6. National Institutes of Health National Institute on Aging

Presenter: Ronald P. Abeles, National Institute on Aging (NIA), Gateway Building, Room 533, 7201 Wisconsin Avenue, MSC 9205, Bethesda, MD 20892; phone (301) 496-3136; fax (301) 402-0051; email: ronald_abeles@nih.gov.; homepage: http://www.nih.gov/nia/.

The National Institute on Aging (NIA) supports a wide variety of qualitative and quantitative sociological research and training related to aging processes, the relationship between the aging population and social institutions (including the health care system), and the impact on society of the changing age composition. Opportunities and options for Federal funding of aging research will be available. Of particular interest is the potential for sociological contributions to issues of women and minorities in later life.

7. National Institutes of Health

National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism

Presenter: Susan Martin, National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA), 6000 Executive Boulevard, Suite 505, Rockville, MD 20892; phone (301) 443-8767; fax (301) 443-8774; email: smartin@willco.niaaa.nih.gov; homepage: http://www.niaaa.nih.gov/.

National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) supports basic and applied research related to the causes, consequences, treatment, and prevention of alcohol-related problems. Most social science research is funded through the Division of Clinical and Prevention Research and the Division of Biometry and Epidemiology. NIAAA also supports several alcohol research centers and an intramural research program. Research priorities include sociocultural and environmental determinants of drinking; safety, trauma, and alcohol-related performance; economic and socioeconomic issues in the prevention and treatment of alcohol problems; the prevention of alcohol-related problems in children, adolescents, and other at-risk populations; and alcohol-related health services studies.

8. National Institutes of Health National Institute on Drug Abuse

Presenter: TBA, National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA), 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857; homepage: http://www.nida.nih.gov

The National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) is the nation's foremost biomedical and behavioral research organization on drug abuse issues. Its mission is to bring the power of science to bear on understanding, preventing, and treating drug abuse. NIDA supports a wide range of research and training activities, and is a prominent source of funding for social and behavioral sciences research on drug abuse, dependence, and addiction. Sociologists and other social scientists are supported in research and training programs in many of the NIDA units, especially in the Division of Epidemiology and Prevention Research. Special research foci in the extramural research program of the Division of Epidemiology and Prevention Research include drug abuse behaviors, the roles of drug practices in the spread of diseases, and the implications for the delivery of health-related services such as primary medical care, drug treatment, and prevention. There are also funding opportunities for efficacy studies and health services research that examine preventive interventions against problems associated with drug abuse, such as criminal behavior, violence, tuberculosis, hepatitis B and C, and infection with HIV; preventive intervention against the initiation of drug abuse; and treatment of drug abuse.

9. National Institutes of Health National Institute for Dental Research

Presenter: James A. Lipton, Division of Extramural Research, National Institute for Dental Research (NIDR), Natcher Building, Room 4AN-18J, Bethesda, MD 20892; phone (301) 594-2618; fax (301) 480-8318; email: liptonj@de45.nidr.nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nidr.nih.gov/.

The National Institute of Dental Research (NIDR) supports basic, patient-oriented and community-based research aimed at assessing the interactive roles of sociological, behavioral, economic, environmental, genetic, and biomedical factors in dental, oral, and craniofacial health and diseases. Examples of research topics of interest include: basic social science or health services research relevant to dental, oral, and craniofacial health or health care; the impact of oral health care delivery systems, clinical decision-making, and health promotion on oral and related systemic health outcomes; evaluation of the impact of factors affecting diffusion and adoption of preventive or therapeutic measures; the role of patients' and providers' knowledge, beliefs and behaviors on health outcomes; the basis for clinical decision making; the relationships among behavioral, environmental, and biological factors in determining health risks; the effects of social and psychological stress on the onset, course and outcomes of treatments; and health promotion intervention research for vulnerable population subgroups at high risk of disease. In addition, the NIDR supports training and career development for individuals at the predoctoral and postdoctoral levels in areas related to behavior, health promotion, and environmental aspects of oral, dental, and craniofacial health and diseases.

10. National Institutes of Health Office of AIDS Research

Presenters: Judith Auerbach and Paul Gaist, Office of AIDS Research (OAR), Building 31, Room 4C06, Bethesda, MD 20892; phone (301) 402-3555; fax (301) 796-4843; email: judith_auerbach@nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nih.gov/od/oar/oar htm.

The Office of AIDS Research (OAR) is located within the Office of the Director of NIH and coordinates the scientific, budgetary, legislative, and policy elements of the NIH AIDS Research Program. The OAR is charged with the following: developing an annual comprehensive Plan outlining science priorities in AIDS research and a budget that corresponds to that Plan; evaluating the NIH AIDS research program; and administering a discretionary fund. Additionally, the OAR helps foster cross-Agency and cross-disciplinary activities in AIDS research, including, sponsoring or co-sponsoring scientific meetings and symposia and facilitating inter-Institute mechanisms for research support.

11. National Institutes of Health

Office of Behavioral and Social Science Research

Presenter: Virginia S. Cain, Office of Behavioral and Social Science Research (OBSSR), Building 1, Room 326, Bethesda, MD 20892; phone (301) 402-1146; fax (301) 402-1150; email: virginia_cain@nih.gov; homepage:

http://www1.od.nih.gov/obssr/obssr.htm.

In 1995, the National Institutes of Health established the Office of Behavioral and Social Sciences Research (OBSSR) to advance the growth and development of research on the social and behavioral aspects of health, disease, treatment, and prevention. The OBSSR serves as a primary focal point for stimulating attention at NIH for behavioral and social factors, which have been underfunded relative to their contributions to health and illness. OBSSR is seeking to integrate the behavioral and social sciences with other areas of the health research enterprise. This Office provides discretionary funds for special initiatives and for coordinated activities across Institutes.

12. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention National Center for Health Statistics

Presenter: Audry Burwell, National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS), Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Presidential Building, Room 1100, 6525 Belcrest Road, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-7062; fax (301) 436-4233; email: zb2@nch11a.em.cdac.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS), through its Minority Health Statistics Grants Program, supports research to improve the quality and quantity of health data on racial and ethnic minority populations. Projects supported by this program focus on the development of innovative methodologies for surveying minority populations; improved methods for analyzing existing data sets; and special studies to gain better understanding of factors that affect the health status of minority populations.

13. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Division of HIV/AIDS Prevention

Presenter: Linda Wright-De Agüero, Division of HIV/AIDS Prevention, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 1600 Clifton Road, NE, Mail Stop E-59, Atlanta, GA 30333; phone (404) 639-0956; fax (404) 639-0929; email: lkw1@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) supports a wide range of training opportunities and applied research related to disease and behavioral surveillance, behavioral risk reduction, technology transfer, prevention strategies and programs, and health communication and social marketing. Sociologists, and other socio-behavioral scientists are actively involved in many surveillance and research projects of the centers, institutes, and offices which form CDC. Areas of interest to sociologists include: 1) the development and assessment of the effectiveness of interventions for improving women and adolescent health, the control and prevention of HIV/AIDS, sexually transmitted diseases, unintentional injury, and violence; 2) the development of surveillance systems and methodologies for examining occupational safety and health, behavioral risk factors, and youth risk behaviors; and 3) the development of public health policies and the assessment of their impact on community health and well-being. Research support is provided through several mechanisms including grants, contracts, and cooperative agreements.

14. U.S. Department of Education National Center for Education Statistics

Presenter: J. Michael Ross, National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), Department of Education, 555 New Jersey Avenue, NW, Room 412 Washington, DC 20208; phone (202) 219-1565; fax (202) 219-1728; email: michael_ross@ned.gov; homepage: http://www.ed.gov/NCES/.

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) collects and disseminates large, nationally representative data sets that include both cross-sectional and longitudinal sample of K-12 and post-secondary students. To augment the more familiar High School and Beyond (HS&B) survey and National Education Longitudinal Study (NELS), NCES has launched a series of new studies including a multi-level study of schools and teachers (Schools and Staffing Survey) in 1987, 1990, and 1993; a survey of student financial aid (National Postsecondary Student Aid Study); a new longitudinal survey of college students (Beginning Postsecondary Study); and a survey of college faculty (National Survey of Postsecondary Faculty). NCES data are important components of research funded through the department's grant competitions and indirectly through its contracts with research firms.

In conjunction with the American Educational Research Association and the National Science Foundation, NCES sponsors three funding programs: a research grant program (up to $25,000 for 2 years), a resident fellows program (maximum $32,000 for 9 months), and a dissertation grants program ($20,000 for 2 years). Applications can be submitted at any time and will be reviewed three times during the next fiscal year. Since 1992, the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) has conducted a grant competition for secondary analysis of student achievement data. In partnership with the American Statistical Association and National Science Foundation, NCES also hosts a resident fellows program. Finally, to encourage new research on higher education, NCES is sponsoring a grant program through the Association for Institution Researchers (maximum $30,000 for 2 years).

15. U.S. Department of Education Office of Educational Research and Improvement

Presenter: Joseph Conaty, Office of Educational Research and Improvement (OERI), Department of Education, Room 510H, Capitol Place, 555 New Jersey Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20208; phone (202) 219-2079; fax (202) 219-2135; email: Joseph_Conaty@ed.gov; homepage: http://www.ed.gov/offices/OERI/oeribro.html.

Through support of basic and applied research, evaluations, and syntheses, the Office of Educational Research and Improvement (OERI) serves parents, teachers, school administrators, and policy makers at local, state, and national levels. OERI supports the National Center for Education Statistics; the Office of Reform Assistance and Dissemination; the National Institute on Early Childhood Education; the National Institute on At-Risk Students; the National Institute on Student Achievement, Curriculum, and Assessment; the National Institute on Educational Governance, Finance, and Policy Making; and the National Institute on Postsecondary Education, Libraries, and Lifelong Learning. A major function of OERI is to fund and coordinate research carried out by a national system of research and development centers and regional education laboratories. In addition, the Office supports a variety of grant programs, including Field-Initiated Studies which encourage research pertinent to national education concerns and issues.

16. U.S. Department of Defense Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences

Presenter: Joseph Psotka, Research and Advanced Concepts Office, Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences (ARI), 5001 Eisenhower Avenue, Attn.: PERI-BR, Alexandria, VA 22333-5600; phone (703) 617-5572; fax (703) 617-5162; email: psotka@ari.fed.us; homepage: http://www.ari.fed.us/.

The U.S. Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences (ARI) is responsible for conducting research and development on manpower, personnel, and training issues for the Army. ARI also supports basic research in military sociology, which aims at understanding how major societal issues and changes in society affect both the Army and how military personnel perform their jobs.

17. U.S. Department of Justice National Institute of Justice

Presenter: Tim Woods, National Criminal Justice Reference Service (NCJRS) National Institute of Justice (NIJ), Department of Justice, 2277 Research Boulevard, Rockville, MD 20850; phone (301) 519-5313; fax (301) 519-5600; email: twoods@ncjrs.org; homepage:

http://www.ncjrs.org/nijhome.htm.

The National Institute of Justice (NIJ) is the primary federal sponsor of research in crime and criminal justice and of evaluations of programs to reduce crime. NIJ's mandate includes other important missions which are to develop and apply new technologies to enhance the capabilities and effectiveness of law enforcement and criminal justice agencies nationwide; evaluate the effectiveness of model programs to reduce crime and improve criminal justice operations; develop information about innovative approaches; and disseminate research findings. In selecting research, evaluation, and other projects, NIJ emphasizes those that best meet the needs of the criminal justice system, and whose results can be put to practical use in the field. NIJ's current research priorities are outlined in its 1997 Research Prospectus, which gives details on general areas of interest and the approach NIJ takes to building knowledge about crime and justice. In addition, in 1997, NIJ is issuing solicitations in five major areas—drug courts, law enforcement family support, violence against women, arrest policies under the Violence Against Women Act, and tribal strategies against violence.

18. U.S. Department of Labor Bureau of Labor Statistics

Office of Research and Evaluation

Presenter: Roberta L. Sangster, Office of Research and Evaluation, Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), 2 Massachusetts Avenue, NE, Washington, DC 20212; phone (202) 606-7517; fax (202) 606-7426; email: sangster_r@bls.gov; homepage: http://stats.bls.gov/.

The American Statistical Association (AStatA), jointly with the National Science Foundation (NSF) and the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), provides support for research fellowships at the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Fellowship terms are flexible and range from four to six months. Salaries are commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits and a travel allowance are also provided. Applicants must have a Ph.D. and a recognized research record in their area of proposed research. Possible research areas related to BLS data or methodology include, but are not limited to: price index estimation, time series methodology, statistical quality control, statistical disclosure limitation methodology, questionnaire design, expert systems, computer-assisted interviewing, statistical computing and graphics, social and demographic studies, longitudinal data analysis, and analysis of labor markets, prices, and productivity.

Detailed research proposals are due in January to Marie Argana, AStatA/NSF Fellowship Programs, American Statistical Association, 1429 Duke Street, Alexandria, VA 22314

19. U.S. Department of Labor Women's Bureau

Presenter: Arleen D. Winfield, Women's Bureau, U.S. Department of Labor, Office of the Secretary, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20210; phone (202) 219-8913, ext. 113; fax (202) 219-5529; homepage: http://www.dol.gov/dol/wb/.

The Women's Bureau formulates standards and policies that promote the welfare of wage-earning women, improve their working conditions, increase their efficiency, and advance their opportunities for profitable employment. The Bureau's mission is accomplished by collaborating with employers; education institutions; unions, community, and women's organizations in the private sector; state and local government; and federal agencies. The Bureau publishes and disseminates a variety of economic, legal, and career information concerning women in the work force. It periodically, supports employment-related research and job training projects through competitive solicitation for grant applications (SGAs) and requests for proposals (RFPs), and occasional unsolicited proposals in areas of the Bureau's interest.

20. U.S. Department of Commerce Bureau of the Census, Population Division

Presenter: John F. Long, Chief, Population Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-8800; phone (301) 457-2071; fax (301) 457-2644; email: jlong@census.gov; homepage: http://www.census.gov/.

In support of the Bureau of the Census mission to serve as the preeminent collector of timely, relevant, and accurate data about the U.S. population, the agency supports a rich program of research. Research into virtually any area of the Bureau of the Census data and operations is conducted under Joint Project Agreements, Cooperative R&D Agreements, Interagency Personnel Agreements, and the American Statistical Association (AstatA)/NSF/Census Fellowship Program. In addition, the Census Bureau provides summer intern and visiting research positions that permit researchers to use detailed census and survey data to address policy-related research problems such as immigration, race and ethnic identification, aging, and the effects of welfare reform.

21. National Endowment for the Humanities

Presenter: Douglas Arnold, National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Room 321, Washington, DC 20506; phone (202) 606-8225; fax (202) 606-8204; email: darnold@neh.fed.us; homepage: http://ns1.neh.fed.us/.

The National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) provides grants to individuals and institutions for exemplary work to advance and disseminate knowledge in all the disciplines of the humanities; these grants include fellowships for individual research. According to the act that established the NEH, "The term 'humanities' includes, but is not limited to, the study of the following: language, both modern and classical; linguistics; literature; history; jurisprudence philosophy; archaeology; comparative religion; ethics; the history, criticism, and theory of the arts; those aspects of social sciences which have humanistic content and employ humanistic methods; and the study and application of the humanities to the human environment with particular attention to reflecting our diverse heritage, traditions, and history and to the relevance of the humanities to the current conditions of national life." The Endowment awards grants through three divisions and two offices: Preservation and Access, Public Programs and Enterprise, Research and Education, and Challenge Grants and Federal/State Partnership. Each application is assessed by knowledgeable persons outside the Endowment who are asked for their judgments about the quality and significance of the proposed projects.

22. United States Institute of Peace

Presenter: John Crist, Jennings Randolph Fellow, U.S. Institute of Peace, 1550 M Street, NW, Suite 700, Washington, DC 20005; phone (202) 219-1728; fax (202) 429-6063; homepage: http://www.usip.org.

The U.S. Institute of Peace is an independent, nonpartisan Federal institution, authorized and annually funded by Congress for the express purpose of strengthening the nation's capabilities to promote the peaceful resolution of international conflicts. Its major research programs are funded through grants and fellowships. Solicited and unsolicited grants support research, education, training, and dissemination of information to nonprofit organizations (including private colleges and universities), official public institutions, and individuals. The Jennings Randolph Fellowship Program provides resident fellowships and other forms of support to enable outstanding scholars, diplomats, journalists, and other professionals to conduct research and education projects focused on the nature of international conflict and methods for achieving peace. Fellowships are also available for doctoral candidates conducting dissertation research on topics concerned with sources and resolution of violent conflict.

23. Social Science Research Council

Presenter: Sheri Ranis, Social Science Research Council (SSRC), 810 Seventh Avenue, New York, NY 10019; phone (212) 377-2700; fax (212) 377-2727; email: ranis@ssrc.org; homepage: http://www.ssrc.org.

The Social Science Research Council (SSRC) is an autonomous, nongovernmental, non-profit, international association devoted to the advancement of interdisciplinary research in the social sciences. It does this through a wide variety of workshops and conferences, fellowships and grants, summer training institutes, scholarly exchanges, and publications.

Founded in 1923, the Council is governed by a board of directors comprised largely of social scientists. It is an international enterprise in which a rotating group of some 300 social scientists work together in pro bono service giving continued and cumulative attention to topics at the frontiers of research, training, field development, and public policy in both the United States and other regions of the world. SSRC's committees encourage the development of new methods, confront theoretical controversies, and identify promising topics and issues for new empirical investigation.

24. Scholars in Health Policy Research

Presenters: Eileen Connor, Deputy Director, National Program Office, Boston University, School of Management, 595 Commonwealth Avenue, Room 546B, Boston, MA 02215; phone (617) 352-9220: fax (617) 353-9227; email: econnor@bu.edu; homepage: http://www.rwjf.org/.

The Scholars in Health Policy Research Program, a national program sponsored by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, is intended to foster the development of creative thinkers and problem solvers in health policy. The Program provides recent graduates of doctoral programs in economics. political science, and sociology with a unique and challenging two-year experience in both academic and applied policy research environments. Up to 12 scholars are selected annually to participate in the Program at one of three nationally prominent academic institutions - the University of California at Berkley (in collaboration with the University of California at San Francisco); The University of Michigan; and Yale University. At these sites, they have the opportunity to work closely with faculty from the social sciences - as well as from medicine, public health, and public policy - in an environment conducive to multidisciplinary learning and collaborative research. Scholars have access to the full range of university resources.

25. American Sociological Association Minority Fellowship Program (MFP)

Presenters: Havidan Rodriguez, American Sociological Association (ASA), Minority Fellowship Advisory Committee Member, Bruce Williams, and MFP Fellows, Deirdre A. Royster, Chiquita Collins, and Femi Ajanaku, 1722 N Street, NW, Washington, DC 20036; phone (202) 833-3410, ext. 322; fax (202) 785-0146; email: minority.affairs@asanet.org; homepage: http://www.asanet.org.

Through its Minority Fellowship Program (MFP), the American Sociological Association supports the development and training of minority sociologists in mental health. Funded by a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), the MFP seeks to attract talented minority students interested in mental health issues and to facilitate their placement, work, and success in an appropriate graduate program. In addition to providing financial support, the MFP works with Fellows and their faculty advisors at their home departments to help prepare Fellows in the sociology of mental health. Also, the MFP conducts symposia sessions at scholarly meetings, offers travel support to scientific conferences, and undertakes other initiatives that foster the development of formal and informal training for Fellows.

26. American Sociological Association Research and Fellowship Support for Sociologists

Presenter: American Sociological Association (ASA) and the National Science Foundation, 1722 N Street, NW, Washington, DC 20036; phone (202) 833-3410; fax (202) 785-0146; email: executive.office@asanet.org; homepage: http://www.asanet.org.

The American Sociological Association (ASA) provides funding for sociologists through two small grants programs and several fellowships programs. The ASA and the National Science Foundation jointly support the Fund for the Advancement of the Discipline (FAD). The goal of FAD is to nurture the development of scientific knowledge by funding ground breaking research initiatives and other important scientific research activities. FAD provides grant support (up to $5,000) for substantive and methodological breakthroughs that can advance knowledge and provide leverage for acquisition of additional research funds. Awards are limited to individuals with Ph.D. degrees or the equivalent.

ASA makes awards (up to $1000) through its Teaching Endowment Small Grants Program to support projects that extend the quality of teaching in the United States and Canada. Individuals, departments, and a program or a committee of a state or regional association are eligible to apply.

Through its Sydney S. Spivack Program in Applied Social Research and Social Policy, ASA supports Congressional Fellowships, Community Action Research Fellowships, and Mass Media Fellowships. The ASA Congressional Fellowship provides a Ph.D. level sociologist with in-depth experience as a staff member of a Congressional Committee or in a Congressional Office or agency. The Community Action Research Fellowships provide support for sociological work with community organizations, local public interest groups, or community action projects.

The ASA sponsors a summer media fellowship in collaboration with the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), as part of its Mass Media Science and Engineering Fellow Program. The ASA media fellow joins colleagues from other fields of science in an AAAS-led orientation session prior to placement at a media site for ten weeks. Recent placements have included Newsweek, Good Morning America, and a host of major newspapers or media locations. The fellowship gives sociologists the opportunity to enhance their skills in and commitment to public communication. The fellowship is open to advanced graduate students (ABD) and Ph.D. sociologists.

27. Consortium of Social Science Associations

Presenter: Howard Silver, Consortium of Social Science Associations (COSSA), 1522 K Street, NW, Suite 836, Washington, DC 20005; phone (202) 842-3525; fax (202) 842-2788; email: hsilver@tmn.com.

The Consortium of Social Sciences Association (COSSA) was established as an advocacy organization in 1981 and is supported by nearly 100 professional association, scientific societies, universities, and research institutes. COSSA stands alone in representing the full range of social scientists. COSSA lobbies Congress and the Executive Branch on issues affecting the social science portfolios of the National Science Foundation, the National Institutes of Health, the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Education, Justice, and Labor, and many other federal agencies. (The American Sociological Association is a founding member of COSSA and serves on its Executive Committee.)

SPECIAL POSTER SESSION 213 DATA RESOURCES

Organizers/Presiders: Felice J. Levine, Patricia E. White, Christopher J. Hickey, and Carol Anne Davis, American Sociological Association

Monday, August 11 ◆ 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

Sheraton Centre
Civic Ballroom

Meet principal investigators, researchers, and managers of large-scale data sets, which are publicly available for use. Each exhibit showcases a major data set or multiple data resources of tremendous value for primary and secondary analysis. Representatives are available to talk about the nature of these data sets, their analytic potential, and issues relating to access and use including the development of state-of-the-art Internet services to access data sets. This is an opportunity for conference participants to learn about these data sets and their potential for research and teaching. All meeting participants, including students, are encouraged to attend.

1. General Social Survey

National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago Presenter: Tom W. Smith, National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago, 1155 East 60th Street, Chicago, IL 60637; phone (773) 256-6288; fax (773) 753-7886; email: smitht@norcmail.uchicago.edu; homepage: http://www.norc.uchicago.edu/.

The Directorate for the General Social Survey (GSS) of the National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago, monitors social change in the United States. Since 1972, the GSS has gathered data on contemporary American society in order to monitor and explain trends and constants in attitudes, behaviors, and attributes of the adult population. These high quality data are easily accessible to a broad-based user community, including researchers, teachers in colleges and universities, students at undergraduate and graduate levels, business and corporate planners, journalists, and public officials who need to understand the pulse of our country in their work. The 20 national probability samples include interviews of 32,380 respondents. Of the 2,400 items that have been asked, there are time trends for over 900 items.

Three recent developments regarding the GSS and the International Social Survey Program (ISSP) are featured: 1) The GSS Data and Information Retrieval System (GSSDIRS). This new Web product links together code book, trends, bibliography, project reports, and other documentation; permits on-line analysis and data sub-setting; and provides the latest information via an announcement section, contact with the GSS staff, and a GSS newsgroup. 2) The 1997 GSS. Information on the new GSS items on gender, emotions, market exchange, giving and volunteering, mental health, race church attendance, national security, and genetic testing. 3) The ISSP. Information on the new ISSP modules on national identity and the role of government, a cumulative 1985-1992 CD-ROM file, methodological research, and the expansion of the ISSP into new countries. (See below.)

2. International Social Survey Program National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago Presenter: Tom W. Smith, National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago, 1155 East 60th Street, Chicago, IL 60637; phone (772) 256-6288; fax: (773) 753-7886; email: smitht@norcmail.uchicago.edu; homepage: http://www.norc.uchicago.edu/.

The International Social Survey Program (ISSP) is the cross-between the General Social Survey (GSS) and its counterparts in Germany, Britain, and Australia. Studies on 11 different topics, ranging from the environment to social inequality have been completed. There are now 26 member countries participating in the ISSP. It is a valuable resource for researchers undertaking comparative analysis or studying attitudes, behaviors, and attributes of adult populations in other countries.

3. The Wisconsin Longitudinal Study University of Wisconsin-Madison, Department of Sociology Presenters: Robert M. Hauser and Taissa S. Hauser, Department of Sociology, University of Wisconsin-Madison, 1180 Observatory Drive, Madison, WI 53706; phone (608)

262-2182; fax (608) 262-8400; email: wls@ssc.wisc.edu; homepage: http://dpls.dacc.wisc.edu/wls/wlsarch.htm/.

The Wisconsin Longitudinal Study (WLS) is a 35-year study of the social and economic life course among 10,000 men and women who graduated from Wisconsin high schools in 1957, and who have been followed up at ages 25, 36, and 53-54. Data from the original respondents or their parents from 1957 to 1975 cover social background, youthful and adult aspirations, schooling, military service, family formation, labor market experience, and social participation. The 1992-93 surveys cover occupational histories; income, assets, and economic transfers; social and economic characteristics of parents, siblings, and children; and mental and physical health and well-being. Parallel interviews have been carried out with siblings in 1977 and 1993-94. WLS data and documentation are available on the world wide web.

4. The National Survey of Families and Households The University of Wisconsin-Madison, Center for Demography and Ecology

Presenter: Judith A. Seltzer, Center for Demography and Ecology, University of Wisconsin-Madison, 4412 Social Science Building, Madison, WI 53706; phone (608) 262-2182; fax: (608) 262-8400; email: nsfhhelp@ssc.wisc.edu; homepage: http://www.ssc.wisc.edu/cde/home.htm.

In 1987-88 a national sample of 13,002 respondents were interviewed about numerous aspects of family life. Members of the original sample, along with their current and exspouse/partners, were reinterviewed in 1992-94. In addition, interviews were completed with a son or daughter age 10-23 and with a parent of the respondent.

The resulting data set, the National Survey of Families and Households (NSFH), includes information on family composition and history, relationship with spouse/partner, parenting practices, relationships with parents and kin, help given to and received from others, work and income, division of household labor, involvement with children living elsewhere, well-being, family attitudes and opinions, and a variety of other topics. Data are available from the Center for Demography and Ecology at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. (The 1987-88 data are also available from ICPSR and other sources.)

5. The Panel Study of Income Dynamics University of Michigan, Institute for Social Research Property Sandra Hofforth and Joan Young, Institute for

Presenters: Sandra Hofferth and Jean Yeung, Institute for Social Research, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI 48106-1248; phone (313) 763-5131 or (313) 936-0097; fax (313) 647-4575; email: psid_staff@umich.edu; homepage: http://www.umich.edu/~psid/.

Now in its thirtieth year of data collection, the Panel Study of Income Dynamics (PSID) is a longitudinal survey of a representative sample of U.S. men, women, and children and the families in which they reside. Data on employment, income, wealth, health, housing, and food expenditures. transfer income, and marital and fertility behavior have been collected annually since 1968. From 5,000 families in 1968. the study has grown to include over 10,000 families, including more than 2,000 families of Cuban, Puerto Rican, and Mexican descent, interviewed from 1990 through 1995. The study has collected high quality intergenerational data on economic capacity, income, and the transmission of wealth, as well as information on such issues as the long-term effects of life events (early childbearing, divorce, illness) on workers and their families, the relationship of business cycles to economic well-being, and the interaction of labor mobility and geographic mobility. In recent years, the value of the PSID has been further extended through matching PSID respondents to Census geocodes, permitting the addition of valuable neighborhood characteristics to individual files. The coverage of the PSID is being expanded in 1997 with the addition of an immigrant refresher sample and a child development supplement covering children from birth through age 12.

The Panel Study of Income Dynamics homepage is available to Internet browsers worldwide. The most recent versions of all PSID data and supplements can be downloaded from this site. Documentation, errata, and a newsletter are also available.

6. Children of the National Longitudinal Survey of Youth

Ohio State University, Center for Human Resource Research

Presenter: Paula Baker, Center for Human Resource Research, 921 Chatham Lane, Suite 200, Columbus, OH 43221; phone (614) 442-7375; fax (614) 442-7329; email: baker.21@osu.edu; homepage: http://www.chrr.ohiostate.edu/.

The Children of the National Longitudinal Survey of Youth (NLSY79) is a longitudinal data set that focuses on the cognitive, socio-emotional, and physiological development of the children of the mothers in the NLSY79. Sponsored by the U.S. Department of Labor, with support from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD), the NLSY Child is an outgrowth of the National Longitudinal Surveys of Youth. Started in 1986 and repeated biennially, the NLSY79 Child uses mother report and direct assessment to gauge the children's cognitive ability, temperament, motor and social development, behavior problems, perceived self-competence, and home environment. Since 1988, information has been gathered from older children on child-parent interaction, family decision-making, school attitudes, work activities, peer relationships, religious service attendance, substance use, and sexual activity. The 1994 Survey round replaced, for children 15 and older, the child assessment series with an hour-long CAPI interview on schooling, employment, training, family experiences, health, and attitudes. Repeated in 1996, the young adult also includes a confidential self-report on substance use, sexual activity, non-normative activities, computer use, and prosocial behavior. By 1996, the child sample ranges in age from birth to early twenties. The Center for Human Resource Research issues the maternal and child data and documentation at a nominal cost on CD-ROM. Topical research bibliographies and a child assessment handbook are available at no charge to users.

7. Mexican Migration Project University of Pennsylvania, Population Studies Center

Presenter: Douglas S. Massey, Population Studies Center, University of Pennsylvania/University of Guadalajara, 3718 Locust Walk, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6298, phone (215) 898-4688; fax (215) 898-2124; email: dmassey@lexis.pop.upenn.edu; homepage: http://lexis.pop.upenn.edu/mexmig.

Each year the Mexican Migration Project surveys 4-6 communities located in Mexico's leading sources states for migration to the United States. These community surveys are gathered using simple random sampling and generally include 200 randomly selected households. In the course of interviewing it quickly became clear where in the United States migrants from each community go. Consequently, several months later interviewers are sent to these U.S. destination to survey 10-20 out-migrants who have settled north of the border and no longer return home frequently enough to be interviewed in the Mexican surveys. A weighting scheme has been developed to pool the U.S. and Mexican surveys into a single sample that accurately represents the binational migrant community. To date, 39 communities have been sampled and incorporated into the database, which contains six basic datafiles. PERSFILE contains basic socioeconomic information on household members, including basic information on the first and last U.S. trips. HOUSFILE contains information on the soci-demographic composition and economic status of households; MIGFILE contains detailed information on the household head's last trip to the United States. LIFEFILE contains a complete life history of all household heads, which includes a complete migration and border-crossing history. The final two files are at the community level: COMCROSS contains cross sectional information on the survey at the time of the survey, and COMYEAR is an event history from 1940 to the survey year that records the changing social and economic setting in each community. All datafiles are publicly available via the Internet from the Mexican Migration Project's home page, listed above.

8. The National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent Health, The Add Health Project University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill Carolina Population Center

Presenter: Jo Jones, The National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent Health, The Add Health Project, Carolina Population Center, CB #8120, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC 27516-3997; phone (919) 962-7200; fax (919) 962-7568; email: jo_jones@unc.edu; homepage: http://www.cpc.unc.edu/.

The National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent Health (Add Health) is a longitudinal study which provides data uniquely qualified to address the most important questions about adolescent health and health behaviors today. A national sample of 7th to 12th grade students completed 90,000 in-school questionnaires during the 1994-1995 school year. Twenty thousand students and a parent were interviewed in their homes during the summer of 1995 and re-interviewed during the summer of 1996. Add Health provides a comprehensive view of adolescent health including: (1) physical, mental, and emotional health status with self-reported and measured height and weight, injuries, physical disabilities, sleep disorders, selfesteem, suicide ideation; and (2) health behaviors, including eating disorders, substance use and abuse, weapon carrying and use, measures used to prevent HIV and other sexually transmitted infections, sexual behavior, contraceptive use, nutrition, exercise, and use of health services.

The Add Health Study's unique design provides an unprecedented view of how an adolescent's health is shaped by characteristics of the world in which he or she lives. As well as the adolescent's view of his or her world, independent measures of the adolescent's social contexts are available. For example, the adolescent's family context is provided through data from the parent questionnaire. Peer influence is assessed through network data collected for same and opposite sex friends, as well as romantic partners. School policies and characteristics are reported in a short school administrator questionnaire, collected in 1995 and updated in 1996. A rich data set of local indicators provides information about constraints and opportunities in the local community.

9. American Religion Data Archive Purdue University, Department of Sociology and Anthropology

Presenters: Jody Wilkinson & Jennifer McKinney, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Purdue University, 1365 Stone Hall, W. Lafayette, IN 47907-1365; phone (765) 494-0081; fax (765) 496-1476; email: archive@sri.soc.purdue.edu.

The American Religion Data Archive is a 3½-year project supported by the Lilly Endowment for the development of a data archive for the study of American religion. Beginning in the Spring of 1998, the data sets will be available from an Internet Website will allow users to search the data sets for questions of interest, download data, print codebooks, and conduct basic data analyses.

10. National Election Studies

University of Michigan, Institute for Social Research

Presenters: M. Kathryn Cirkensa and Charles Franklin, Center for Political Studies. University of Michigan, Institute for Social Research, 426 Thompson Street, Ann Arbor, MI 48106-1248: email: nes@umich.edu or cirksena@umich.edu; phone (313) 764-5494; fax (313) 764-3341; homepage: http://www.umich.edu/~nes

The National Election Surveys (NES) has an international reputation for its national surveys of the American electorate in presidential and midterm election years, producing the highest quality data on electoral and other forms of political participation and public opinion. Its mission is to serve the research needs of those concerned with the theoretical and empirical foundations of mass politics in democratic societies. Though most noted for its electoral content, the biennial election surveys and the research and development ("pilot") surveys also support diverse basic research on such topics as social identity, attitude formation and change, decision-making, group conflict, coalition formation, political communication, and social change.

11. National Health and Social Life Survey University of Chicago

Presenter: Stuart Michaels, University of Chicago 1155 E. 60th Street, Chicago, IL 60637; phone (773) 256-6327; fax (773) 256-6313; email stu@spc.uchicago.edu

The 1992 National Health and Social Life Survey (NHSLS) is the most comprehensive representative sample survey of the sexual behavior of the adult population of the United States to date. The NHSLS data set is based on 3,432 face-to-face interviews averaging 90 minutes with a household probability sample of English speaking adults 18 to 59. The interview covered socio-demographic background variables, marriage, cohabitation, and fertility history, sexual partners and activity in the last year and the last event, life-time sexual partners, formative sexual experiences, unwanted and forced sex, sexually transmitted infections, and attitudes. Conducted by NORC for researchers based at the University of Chicago, the NHSLS is the basis for The Social Organization of Sexuality: Sexual Practices in the United States (1994) by Edward O. Laumann, John H. Gagnon, Robert T. Michael, and Stuart Michaels. The data are available from the InterUniversity Consortium for Political and Social Research and Sociometrics Corporation.

12. Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research

University of Michigan, Institute for Social Research

Presenter: Richard C. Rockwell, Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR), The University of Michigan, PO Box 1248, Ann Arbor, MI 48106; phone (313) 764-2570; fax (313) 764-8041; email: rcr@umich.edu. homepage: http://www.icpsr.umich.edu.

The Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR), located within the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan, is a membershipbased, nonprofit organization serving member colleges and universities in the United States and abroad, ICPSR provides:

- Access to the world's largest archive of computerized social science data:
- Training facilities for the study of quantitative social analysis techniques; and
- · Resources for social scientists are using advanced computer technologies.

In addition to information provided at the poster session, further information may be found on ICPSR's home page, listed above.

13. Electronic Collections Online

On-line Computer Library Center, Inc. (OCLC)

Presenter: Andrea Keyhani, On-line Computer Library Center, Inc., 6565 Frantz Road

Dublin, OH 43017-3385; phone (614) 764-6474:

Fax (614) 764-1640; email: keyhani@oclc.org; homepage: http://www.oclc.org/.

Online Computer Library Center, Inc. (OCLC) is a nonprofit computer library service and research organization serving 23,000 libraries worldwide. OCLC has created a new service, Electronic Collections Online, through which publishers can distribute their journals electronically to their members and institutional subscribers in a secure World Wide Web environment. Electronic Collections Online enables publishers to make their journals available as part of a large collection of titles from many publishers, while retaining complete control over the pricing, packaging, and sale of their content.

Combined with OCLC's FirstSearch service, which offers over 60 bibliographic databases, Electronic Collections Online enables users to seamlessly search and explore an integrated. comprehensive collection of both bibliographic databases and full text through a common, easy-to-use interface accessible through the World Wide Web. The service is available 24 hours a day. seven days a week. OCLC has over 25 years of experience delivering information online, as well as five years of electronic publishing experience.

14. Sociometrics Data Archives

Sociometrics Corporation

Presenters: Elizabeth A. McKean and Eric L. Lang, Sociometrics Corporation, 170 State Street, Suite 260, Los Altos, CA 94022; phone (415) 949-3282 x 201; fax (415) 949-3299; email: socio@socio.com or lmckean@socio.com; homepage: http://www.socio.com.

Sociometrics Corporation is a research and development firm specializing in social science research applications. Sociometrics produces many data resources for researchers, including topically focused data archives on CD-ROM. Data archives on CD-ROM include complete raw data, and SPSS and SAS command statements files, and Search & Retrieval/Data Extract software.

This poster session/computer demonstration will feature the latest data archive on CD-ROM: The Research Archive on Disability in the U.S. (RADIUS). RADIUS facilitates access to, and analysis of data and documentation from sixteen major investigations into the incidence, prevalence, and consequences of disability in the United States. Studies were conducted by major institutions from around the country and address topics relevant to the experiences of persons with impairments or disabilities in our society. Financial support for RADIUS was provided by a contract from the National Center for Medical Rehabilitation Research (NCMRR). Archived studies were selected with the help of a National Advisory Panel using scientific criteria of technical quality, substantive utility, policy relevance, and potential for secondary data analysis. RADIUS data sets contain a total of 15,808 variables and over 1.3 million unweighted cases. The computer demonstration will illustrate search and retrieval of variables in the RADIUS database by substantive topic, keyword, and other search strategies, and the creation of an extract command file using Sociometrics' Data Extract software. Information about all of Sociometrics Data Archives will be available.

15. The Question Bank of the ESCR Centre for Applied Social Surveys

University of Surrey, Social and Community Planning Research, London

Presenter: Martin Bulmer, Survey Methods Center, Social and Community Planning Research, London, Department of Sociology, University of Surrey, Guildford, Surrey, GU2 5XH, United Kingdom; phone (+44) 1483-259456; fax (+44) 1483-306290, email: m.bulmer@soc.surrey.ac.uk; homepage: http://www.scpr.ac.uk/cass.

The Question Bank of the ESCR Centre for Applied Social Surveys (CASS) provides electronic access via the World Wide

Web to the questionnaires of major British social surveys. This is not a data set of results, but a data set of questionnaires to aid instrument and proposal design and secondary analysis. Surveys covered include the General Household Survey, Labour Force Survey, British Social Attitudes, the British Election Study, and other major national surveys of crime, income, health, sexual behavior, and ethnicity. Coverage of major UK surveys is selective at present.

16. Journal Storage (JSTOR)

Presenter: Margit A. E. Dementi; Journal Storage JSTOR, 188 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10016; phone (212) 592-7345; fax (212) 592-7355; email: md@jstor.org; homepage: http://www.jstor.org/.

Journal Storage (JSTOR) is a nonprofit organization established in 1995 by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. with a mission to help the scholarly community take advantage of advances in electronic technologies. JSTOR's primary emphasis is on the creation of a trusted archive of the back files of core scholarly journals, and improving access to those back files. The project began as a test involving the digitization of ten journals in the fields of history and economics. These journals were combined in a database, housed on a central server, and the database delivered via the Internet to users at an initial group of five university test sites in the U.S. JSTOR has now grown to include the complete back files of twentytwo journals in eight fields, and over 200 libraries sites in the U.S. and Canada. Initial plans are to include 100 journals in fifteen fields, and to make the back files of those titles available within three years. The ASA is a JSTOR partner with five of its journals.

JSTOR is committed to a system-wide approach, taking into account the needs of publishers, libraries, and scholars. It is believed that working with JSTOR can offer benefits to all those involved in the field of electronic scholarly communication. More information about JSTOR, including a demonstration of the research capabilities of the database is available on the World Wide Web site listed above.

17. Center for Electronic Records National Archives and Records Administration

Presenter: Theodore J. Hull, Center for Electronic Records, National Archives and Records Administration, 8601 Adelphi Road, College Park, MD 20740-6001; phone (301) 713-6645; fax (301) 713-6911; email: theodore.hull@arch2.nara.gov or cer@nara.gov; homepage: http://www.nara.gov/.

The National Archives is the federal agency responsible for preservation of and access to the permanently valuable electronic records of the federal government. The Center for Electronic Records has custody of the permanently valuable computerized records of federal agencies transferred to the National Archives for long-term preservation. The Center has approximately 23,000 computerized data files from over 100 federal agencies in all three branches of government. Topics reflected in the Center's holdings include agricultural data, attitudinal data, demographic data, economic and financial statistics, education data, environmental data, health and social services data, international data, military data, and scientific and technological data. The poster presentation will highlight the availability of data files in the Center's custody of particular interest to sociologists.

18. Survey of Income and Program Participation U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census

Presenter: Lynne M. Casper, Fertility and Family Statistics Branch, Population Division and Judith Eargle, Labor Force and Transfer Programs Statistics Branch, Housing and Household Economics Division, U.S. Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233; phone (301) 763-8376; fax (301) 763-8412; email: jeargle@census.gov; homepage: http://www.bls.census.gov/sipp/sipphome.htm/.

The Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP) is a longitudinal survey of households which was designed to examine short-term changes in income and program participation and interactions between transfer programs, labor force participation, and household and family composition. A high-quality, nationally representative multistage-stratified survey, SIPP is representative of the U.S. non-institutionalized population. From 1984 to 1993, a new overlapping panel of SIPP was introduced every year, which collected data every 4 months from approximately 14,000 to 20,000 households over a 2½ to 3-year period, depending on the panel. Starting in 1996, new panels are introduced only once every 4 years, with households being interviewed every 4 months; the target sample size is 40,000 households. Detailed information is observed monthly for labor force participation, income, assets, assistance programs, health insurance coverage, and household composition. Additional detailed information on such topics as education, marital history, fertility, childcare, child support, disability, health care utilization, and adult and child wellbeing is collected on an intermittent schedule. The Census Bureau maintains a SIPP home page (listed above), which contains various forms of documentation, SIPP Current Population reports, and information about on-line data extraction tools.

19. National Center for Education Statistics U.S. Department of Education

Presenter: Carl Schmitt, National Center for Education Statistics, 555 New Jersey Ave., NW, Washington, DC, 20208; phone (202) 219-1642; fax (202) 219-1679; email: carl schmitt@ed.gov, homepage: http://www.ed.gov/NCES/.

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) disseminates large national data sets on CD-ROM with electronic codebooks and via the Internet at its World Wide Web page listed above. Current data releases include school and institutional censuses for basic data on enrollments and finances at the elementary, secondary, and post secondary levels of public and private education. More detailed data are available through repeated cross-sectional surveys of teachers and faculty. A Random Digit Dialing (RDD) household survey is used to collect population based education data on topics such as early childhood education, school safety, and adult education. In addition, the NCES collection of longitudinal data on elementary, secondary, and postsecondary cohorts continues. Longitudinal data are available from seniors in 1972, 1982, and 1992 as well as for students who have just started their post secondary education and students who just completed their baccalaureate. This exhibit will demonstrate the NCES web site and data resources available on-line.

20. National Longitudinal Surveys

Presenter: Julie A. Yates, U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics,
Suite 4945, 2 Massachusetts Ave. NE, Washington, DC
20212; phone: (202) 606-7388; fax (202) 606-6425; email:
yates j@bls.gov; homepage: http://stats.bls.gov/nlshome.htm.

The National Longitudinal Surveys (NLS) are a set of surveys, each of which has gathered information at multiple points in time on the life experiences of five groups of American men and women. Each of the NLS survey groups consists of 5,000 or more members, some of whom have been surveyed over many decades. NLS data have served as an important tool for economists, sociologists, and other researchers in the study of determinants of labor supply, earnings and income distribution, job search and separation, labor market inequities, and human capital investments.

21. Legalized Population Survey U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of International Labor Affairs

Presenter: Shirley J. Smith, U.S. Department of Labor, Division of Immigration Policy & Research, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20210; phone (202) 219-9098; fax (202) 219-5071; email: sjsmith@dol.gov; homepage: http://www.dol.gov/.

The Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 (IRCA) granted 1.6 million longtime-resident undocumented aliens lawful permanent residence in the United States. This two-wave survey of 4,012 legalized aliens examines their social and economic well-being before and five years following legalization (1987 and 1992).

22. Science Resources Studies National Science Foundation, Division of Science Resources Studies

Presenter: Ann T. Lanier, Division of Science Resources Studies, 4201 Wilson Boulevard, Suite 965, Arlington, VA, 22230; phone (703) 306-1774, ext. 6910; fax (703) 306-0510; email: alanier@nsf.gov; homepage: http://www.nsf.gov/sbe/srs/stats.htm.

The mission of the Division of Science Resources Studies (SRS) is to produce and disseminate data and analyses related to science, engineering, and technology. SRS focuses on the amounts of human and financial resources input into the Nation's science, engineering, and technology enterprise, the way these resources are utilized, and the results of these activities. To do this, SRS produces information by designing, sponsoring, co-sponsoring, and conducting surveys and soliciting comparable international data. SRS also analyzes these data in order to help policy-makers, administrators, and others understand the implications of the data and its limitations, and works to make data available to many constituents.

At the present time, SRS maintains data on a wide range of science and engineering (S&E) issues and promotes use of databases by researchers to examine topical issues. Examples of topics reflected in the SRS sponsored work are S&E education at all levels with details on gender, race, field, institutional type, financial support; S&E research infrastructure at universities and colleges, quality, quantity, and needs; S&E personnel and career paths for both researchers and academics including education history, citizenship, disability status, employment status, field of study, job assignment and salaries, and degree level; funding and expenditures for S&E research for colleges and universities: data on industrial research and development; and public attitudes to name a few. The poster presentation will highlight the availability of data files through SRS that are of particular interest to sociologists.

23. Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch National Institute of Child Health and Human Development

Presenter: Christine Bachrach, NICHD, 6100 Executive Boulevard, Room 8B13, Bethesda, MD 20892-7510; phone (301) 496-1174; fax (301) 496-0962; email: bachracc@hd01.nichd.nih.gov; homepage: http://www.nih.gov/nichd/.

The Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch (DBSB) of the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD), supports large-scale data collection activities that contribute to research on the determinants and consequences of demographic change. Surveys conducted in the United States with NICHD support include the National Longitudinal Survey of Youth-Child Supplement, the National Survey of Family Growth, the National Survey of Adolescent Males, the National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent Health (ADD HEALTH), the Intergenerational Panel Study of Parents and Children, the National Survey of Families and Households, and others. The program also supports data collection activities for research in international settings. Investigators supported through DBSB are strongly encouraged to place data sets in the public domain. With increasingly complex study designs, data files now often link individual data with information about other individuals and geographic contexts, as well as data from administrative records. These advances have required the development of procedures for protecting the privacy of research subjects in the sharing of data.

24. National Survey of Family Growth 1995 Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Reproductive Statistics Branch

Presenter: Linda Piccinino, Reproductive Statistics Branch, National Center for Health Statistics, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 840, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-8731, ext. 122; fax (301) 436-7066; email: ljp2@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

The National Center for Family Growth is an innovative, comprehensive data set of women's fertility in the United States, now publicly available. New features include several event histories and a rich array of contextual data. Computer-assisted personal interviews with 10847 women ages 15-44 contain supplemental information collected using Audio-CASI technology.

25. Multiple Causes of Death; National Mortality Followback Survey Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Vital Statistics

http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

Selected mortality data from the National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS) will be profiled. National, state and local mortality data from the NCHS are available from vital records filed in each of the states for deaths of all ages, infant, fetal, and linked birth/infant deaths. Supplemental data at the national level on characteristics of deceased persons (e.g., life style, extent of burden of illness, and socio-economic characteristics) are available from periodic surveys of samples of recent deaths. Data are released in publications and on CD-

ROMs, magnetic tape, CDC WONDER, and the Internet. CDC WONDER is a general-purpose health and communications system that can be accessed via the World Wide Web. It provides query access to 40 numeric databases that include information on subjects such as number and rates of deaths, sexually transmitted diseases, and cancer cases.

26. Natality Statistics

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Vital Statistics

Presenter: Stephanie J. Ventura, Reproductive Statistics

Branch, Division of Vital Statistics, National Center for Health Statistics, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 820, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-8954, ext. 131; fax (301) 436-7066; email: sjv1@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

The National Center for Health Statistics collects and publishes information on a variety of demographic and health characteristics reported on the birth certificate for all births occurring in the United States. Demographic characteristics include age, race, Hispanic origin, education, birthplace, marital status, residence, live-birth order, sex, and month and day of birth. Health information includes month prenatal care began, number of prenatal visits, medical risk factors, tobacco use, alcohol use, obstetric procedures, attendant at birth, place of delivery, method of delivery, complications of labor and/or delivery, period of gestation, birthweight, Apgar score, abnormal conditions of the newborn, congenital anomalies, and plurality.

27. National Hospital Discharge Survey and National Survey of Ambulatory Surgery Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Care Statistics

Presenter: Lola Jean Kozak, National Center for Health Statistics, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 9-52, Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-7125 x180; fax (301) 436-5452; email: ljk4@cdc.gov; homepage:

http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nchshome.htm.

The National Hospital Discharge Survey (NHDS), conducted each year since 1965, collects data from a sample of inpatient records obtained from a national sample of short-stay hospitals. In 1995, data was collected for 263,00 discharges from 466 hospitals. The survey produces national estimates of inpatient hospital use by demographic characteristics, diagnoses, and surgical and non-surgical procedures. The National Survey of Ambulatory Surgery (NSAS). Conducted for the first time in 1994, collects similar data from a national sample of ambulatory surgery patients in short-stay hospitals and freestanding ambulatory surgery centers. The 1994 NSAS data were abstracted from 118,000 medical records in 494 facilities. Data from the NHDS and NSAS can be combined to obtain a complete picture of procedures performed in both ambulatory and inpatient settings.

28. The National Health Interview Survey Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Interview Statistics

Presenter: Gerry Hendershot, National Center for Health Statistics, Division of Health Interview Statistics, 6525 Belcrest Road, Room 850 Hyattsville, MD 20782; phone (301) 436-7985, ext. 142; fax (301) 436-3484; email: geh2@cdc.gov; homepage: http://www.cdc.gov/nchswww/nhis.htm.

Alcohol, drug abuse, violence, and HIV/AIDS are just a few of the health-related topics covered by this nationally representative annual survey of the household population of the United States. For about $20, users can purchase a CD-ROM with micro data files and documentation for all of the face-toface interviews conducted in a year, with information on about 100,000 sample persons. A basic questionnaire module provides a wide range of demographic and health variables and supplemental questionnaires provide additional information on health topics such as managed care, health insurance, child health, and disability. Annual surveys have been conducted since 1957, permitting long-term trend analyses during a period of rapid change in social and health behavior. Some special topic questionnaires have a longitudinal design, such as the 1984-90 Longitudinal Study of Aging and the 1989-92 Teenage Attitudes and Practices Survey.

29. Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion,

Presenter: Deborah Holtzman, Division of Adult and Community Health, National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 1600 Clifton Road, Mail Stop K-30, Atlanta, GA 30333; phone (770) 488-5295; fax (770) 488-5974; email: dxh4@cdc.gov; homepage:

http://www.cdc.gov/nccdphp/nccdhome.htm

This presentation describes two independent survey systems coordinated and supported by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The first is the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS). Established in 1984, this unique, state-based surveillance system gathers information on those health behaviors primarily related to the leading causes of death from chronic diseases. In each participating state, data are collected monthly through telephone interviews with a random sample of the adult population aged 18 years and older. The BRFSS provides data for many purposes including assessing risks for chronic diseases, identifying socio-demographic patterns and trends in health-related behaviors, designing and monitoring health interventions and services, addressing emerging health issues, and measuring progress toward achieving state and national health objectives.

The second system, the Youth Risk Behavior Surveillance System (YRBSS), was developed in 1990 to monitor priority health-risk behaviors that contribute to the leading causes of morbidity, mortality, and social problems among adolescents and young adults. The YRBSS consists of national, state, and local school-based surveys of representative samples of 9th through 12th grade students, a national household-based survey of 12- through 21-year olds, and a national mail survey of college students. Data from the YRBSS are being used focus school health education teacher training and instructional programs, support comprehensive school health programs nationwide, and to monitor progress toward achieving community, state, and national health objectives.

30. National Medical Expenditure Survey Agency for Health Care Policy & Research

Presenter: Barbara Altman, Agency for Health Care Policy & Research, CCFF Suite 500, 2101 E. Jefferson Street, Rockville, MD 20852; phone (301) 594-1406; fax (301) 594-2166; email: baltman@cghsir.ahcpr.gov.

The Agency for Health Care Policy and Research (AHCPR), a component of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, is the Federal Government's focal point for research to enhance the quality, appropriateness, and effectiveness of health care services and access to those services. AHCPR accomplishes these goals through the establishment of a broad base of scientific research on the organization, financing and delivery of health care services, the collection of extensive, detailed data on health status and service use, and through the promotion of improvements in clinical practice.

Sponsored by AHCPR, in conjunction with the National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS), The Medical Expenditure Panel Survey (MEPS) is a vital new resource designed to continually provide policymakers, researchers, health care professionals, businesses and others with timely, comprehensive information about the United States population's health, health care utilization, and costs. Through the integration of four components, MEPS collects data on the specific health care services that Americans use, how frequently they use them, the cost of those services and how they are paid, as well as data on the cost, scope, and breadth of private health insurance held by and available to the U. S. population. MEPS is unparalleled for the degree of detail in its data, as well as its ability to link health status and health care to the demographic, employment, economic, family and other characteristics of survey respondents. In addition, MEPS is the only national survey that provides a foundation for estimating the impact of changes in sources of payment, insurance coverage, family status on different economic groups or special populations such as the poor, elderly, veterans, the uninsured, and racial and ethnic minorities. The data collected in Round 1 is available on the Internet and on CD-Rom and full year data will be available in the fall of 1998.

31. Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics

Presenter: Howard Silver for Ed Spar, Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics, 1429 Duke Street, Suite 402, Alexandria, VA 22314; phone (703) 836-0404; fax (703) 684-2037; email: spare@guvax.acc.georgetown.edu; homepage: http://members.aol.com/copafs/index.htm.

The Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics (COPAFS) is an independent organization established to act as an advocate for the development and dissemination of high-quality federal statistics. Through COPAFS, members have an opportunity to review and have an impact on issues including timeliness, quality, confidentiality, and relevance. One of the major goals is to make members of the federal statistical agencies aware of the needs of data users. COPAFS identifies areas where improvements are needed in federal statistical programs and suggests strategies to bring about these improvements. (The American Sociological Association is an active member of COPAFS.)

ASA Minority Fellowship Program Fellows

The following MFP Fellows are participating in this year's Annual Meeting Program. ASA and the 1997 Program Committee are pleased to highlight these professional activities of current and former Fellows. The Minority Fellowship Program (MFP), in operation since 1974, has been a significant factor in recruiting minorities into sociology. Fellows continue to make important contributions to the growth of the discipline. The Association takes great satisfaction in acknowledging this form of professional activity.

Social Science Research

A Quarterly Journal of Social Science Methodology and Quantitative Research

James D. Wright

"Since its appearance in 1972, Social Science Research has been publishing pathbreaking papers representing a broad range of social science research areas. Its articles typically are new and innovative treatments of issues of broad interdisciplinary importance. In addition, it has published many now-classic papers involving the application of newly developed quantitative techniques. Social Science Research is must reading for all those who wish to keep up with current developments in the social and behavioral sciences."

Rate

Social Science Research publishes papers devoted to quantitative social science research and methodology. The journal features articles that illustrate the use of quantitative methods in the empirical solution of substantive problems, and emphasizes those concerned with issues or methods that cut across traditional disciplinary lines. Special attention is given to methods that have been used by only one particular social science discipline, but that may have application to a broader range of areas. Volume 26 (1997), 4 issues

RENZETTI & CURRAN

Living Sociology

Written in an engaging style, Living Sociology introduces sociology as a scientific discipline that produces useable knowledge. While covering the essential concepts and principles of sociology, the authors give special attention to diversity issues, multiculturalism, and the intersection of social inequalities.

HENSLIN

Essentials of Sociology: A Down-to-Earth Approach, 2/e

This book is a brief version of the top-selling introductory text, Sociology: A Down-to-Earth Approach. Its 15 core chapters retain the dual emphases on micro and macro (individual and structural) sociology, as well as an emphasis on culture, everyday life, and a generous use of down-to-earth examples that help make sociology come alive.

EITZEN & BACA ZINN

In Conflict and Order: Understanding Society, 8/e

In Conflict and Order is based on the assumption of an inherent duality in American society; it is a study of the forces that lead to both stability and change. Students enjoy its writing style and powerful examples, often finding their own basic beliefs challenged, and instructors have praised the exciting classes the book helps create.

KENDALL

Social Problems in a Diverse Society Social Problems in a Diverse Society focuses on the centrality of race, class, and gender in understanding people's life experiences and social problems in the U.S. and in other nations. Theoretically balanced and written with an engaging style, the text invites students to analyze how social policies reflect the various interests and values of the parties involved, and how social problems and policies affect students' lives.

A new political sociology text!

CLASSES AND ELITES IN DEMOCRACY AND DEMOCRATIZATION

Edited by Eva Etzioni-Halevy

This extraordinary textbook/reader examines the sociology of democratic—and democratizing—societies. Organizing the readings around class theory and elite theory, the editor avoids the "either/or" approach and integrates the theories for a rich and fascinating analysis of democratization. The collection features both classic works and recent scholarship, as well pieces written specifically for this volume.

Two important new articles collections!

ANTI-FEMINISM IN AMERICA

A Collection of Readings from the Literature of the Opponents to U.S. Feminism, 1848 to the Present

Edited with introductions by Angela Howard Zophy and Sasha Ranae Adams Tarrant 3-volume set: c. $225/or by volume 32712-9 All volumes to be published by 1/98

These original sources put an illuminating spotlight on the arguments of opponents of women's equality that is drawn from extensive writings, ranging from the elegant pronouncements of a popular politician to sincere endorsements of the status quo by female apologists for the anti-women's movement, to purveyors of low satire in the popular press.

ASIANS IN AMERICA

The Peoples of East, Southeast, and South Asia in American Life and Culture

Edited with introductions by Franklin Ng
6-volume set: c. $450/or by volume 32689-0
All volumes to be published by 10/97

This collection of articles presents contemporary research on the growing political power of Asian Americans, the empowerment of emigrant women, the rise of youth gangs, relations between ethnic groups, the migration of higly educated Asians, and other important subjects. The writings are drawn from many disciplines to provide a broad range of information and insights and give in-depth exposure to important issues.

Time for Life

The Surprising Ways Americans Use Their Time JOHN P. ROBINSON AND GEOFFREY GODBEY

"Time and its uses have unexpectedly become matters of high politics in contemporary America. . . . The first priority [in the ongoing debate] is to get the facts straight. Against this backdrop, it is hard to imagine a more timely and important book than this one."

—From the Foreword by Robert D. Putnam 390 pages $24.95

New Pioneers

The Back-to-the-Land Movement and the Search for a Sustainable Future

JEFFREY JACOB

"This study will help elucidate the continuing movement away from the frenetic pace and products of capitalistic industrialism."—Publishers Weekly 278 pages $26.50

Don't Burn It Here

Grassroots Challenges to Trash Incinerators

EDWARD J. WALSH, REX WARLAND, AND D. CLAYTON SMITH

"Incinerators have been a prominent target of environmental protest in the last fifteen years, but no thorough study has yet examined them in the kind of detail that these authors do. This important book contributes greatly to our understanding of the causes, dynamics, and consequences of environmental protest."

—James M. Jasper, New York University 280 pages $17.95 paper

Organizing Dissent

Unions, the State, and the Democratic Teachers'

MARIA LORENA COOK

"Cook's richly documented study... will be a milestone in linking social movement theory with the study of political change in non-liberal settings like Mexico."

—Sidney Tarrow, Cornell University

James Gilligan, M.D.

VIOLENCE Reflections on a National Epidemic

Vintage • 320pp. • Paper $14.00 • $19.50 in Canada

"A stunning book.... As a psychiatrist who has spent twenty-five years of his professional life treating men who committed murder, Gilligan draws poignantly on his work with prisoners to help us understand what motivates desperate men.... He offers a compelling psychoanalytic explanation of violence while calling on society to take social, economic, and cultural measures to help prevent the 'deadly epidemic' from spreading."

—Judith Friedlander, Dean of the Graduate Faculty of Political and Social Science. The New School for Social Research

Wahneema Lubiano, editor

THE HOUSE THAT RACE BUILT Black Americans, U.S. Terrain

Pantheon • 336pp. • Cloth $26.00 • $36.00 in Canada

Coming in paperback in March 1998 from Vintage Books

"This is a marvelous book. Open it to any of the essays and you will find yourself in dialogue with a public intellectual profoundly engaged with the ideology and operation of racism in the United States. This is the indispensable book for moving us beyond stalemated rhetoric and towards a more egalitarian future."

-Martin Duberman

Congratulations to Melvin L. Oliver and Thomas M. Shapiro, authors of Black Wealth/ White Wealth, the winner of the ASA's 1997 Distinguished Scholarly Publication Award

"Melvin Oliver and Thomas Shapiro have written the definitive book about...black-white differences in assets.... Rather than ending with a description of the black-white differences in wealth or with comments about the need to eliminate discrimination, they propose strategies..." —Contemporary Sociology

"...reveals for the first time the full economic damage caused by the special difficulties that blacks face.... These facts need to be publicized so that white Americans can be made aware of the extent to which the civil rights movement of the 1960s failed to achieve its goal of fairness for blacks."

—George M. Fredrickson, The New York Review of Books

"Their analysis provides telling insight into the causes and persistence of American racial inequality....The authors' study uncovers the buried fault line of the American social system."

—Publishers Weekly

"...challenges the assertions that the failure of black entrepreneurship is rooted in a poor work ethic and an inability to defer gratification. Oliver and Shapiro are not asking for 'special privileges' for black people. They are calling for a level playing field." —Robin D.C. Kelley, Voice Literary Supplement

The award-winning Black Wealth/White Wealth offers a powerful portrait of racial inequality based on an analysis of private wealth. Melvin Oliver and Thomas Shapiro analyze wealth—total assets and debts rather than income alone—to uncover deep and persistent racial inequality in America, and they show how public policies fail to redress the problem. Compelling and informative, Black Wealth/White Wealth is pioneering research. It is a powerful counterpoint to arguments against affirmative action and a direct challenge to our present social welfare policies.

GENDER DIFFERENCES IN SCIENCE CAREERS

The Project Access Study
Gerhard Sonnert, with Gerald Holton
Foreword by Robert K. Merton
Using the largest database of its kind (699 questionnaires and 200 face-toface conversations), the authors outline a theoretical framework for understanding the causes of gender disparities among scientists, test the hypothesis of a gender- specific "glass ceiling," and provide a wealth of pertinent statistical information.

ORGANIZING FOR EQUALITY

200 pp. Cloth, $50.00

The Evolution of Women's and Racial-Ethnic Organizations in America, 1955-1985 Debra C. Minkoff

Minkoff uses multivariate techniques to demonstrate that there is an ecology of organizational evolution that has shaped the formation and survival of national women, African-American, Asian-American, and Latino social and political organizations.

150 pp. Cloth, $48.00

EDUCATING FOR FREEDOM

The Paradox of Pedagogy
Donald L. Finkle and William Ray Arney
finkle and Ray argue that the primary vehicle necessary to a liberating education, the personal relationship, is also the fundamental obstacle to the achievement of genuine liberation.

IDENTITY DESIGNS

The Sights and Sounds of a Nation

Karen A. Cerulo

High Society. Ice Cream Socials. Gang Wars. Fighting Words.

Human society has countless manifestations and meanings. We track them, and provide you with thousands of references to enhance your knowledge.

Sociological Abstracts (SA) and Social Planning/Policy & Development Abstracts (SOPODA) contain a spectrum of information directly related to your areas of interest and expertise.

We present abstracts of articles published in more than 2,500 journals from 35 countries. The database of 400,000+ items also contains abstracts of books, book chapters and thousands of conference papers. Our detailed bibliographic entries will guide you to relevant dissertations and important book and other media reviews. All are expertly indexed and classified for easy access.

SA and SOPODA are available in a variety of media: print, online, CD-ROM, and magnetic tape.

Let us help you uncover the latest research and opinion about our global society and the patterns of communication by which we live. And, when you have pinpointed the most relevant abstracts, order the full text of the journal article or other documents from SOCIOLOGY*Express.

Now SA's Web site, located at www.socabs.org, will deliver information directly to your desktop computer. We offer a selection of searchable subsets, hot topics, the Note Us newsletter, and links to other sites and resources of professional interest to sociologists and social scientists.

SOCIAL THINGS

An Introduction to the Sociological Life By Charles Lemert

"Social Things is the best book about the discipline and practice of sociology since

C. Wright Mills' The Sociological Imagination. Charles Lemert has accomplished the impossible—he has written a lucid, sophisticated, and engaging book that informs all stages of sociological education. A must read for the novice and for accomplished sociologists." — Rhonda F. Levine, Colgate University

"Charles Lemert interweaves

biography, sociological inquiry, and American social processes into a bright, rich, subtle fabric. Readers will see how to locate themselves in the larger web of social relations and how to start making sense of the complexities that pervade twentieth-century life." —Charles Tilly, Columbia University

"Charles Lemert makes sociology vital and alive in this provocative yet friendly introduction. In a probing analysis he Visit us at BOOTH 54 for the complete selection of our recent titles brings in tough questions of race, class, and gender that most other introductions bypass." — Joe Feagin, Author of White Racism

"Social Things is at once a literary achievement, a very compelling introduction to sociology, and a treasure trove of worldy wisdom." —Avery Gordon, University of California-Santa Barbara

The Sociometrics Social Science Data Library

6th edition

The Sociometrics Social Science Data Library consists of six topically-focused study data set collections:

- American Family Data Archive: 14 studies, 20,000+ variables
- Data Archive on Adolescent Pregnancy and Pregnancy Prevention: 136 studies, 87,000+ variables
- Data Archive of Social Research on Aging: 3 studies, 19,000+ variables
- Maternal Drug Abuse Archive: 7 studies, 5,000+ variables
- AIDS/STD Data Archive: 11 studies, 14,000+ variables
- Research Archive on Disability in the U.S.: 16 studies, nearly 17,000 variables

All studies were selected by national panels of experts using strict scientific criteria of technical quality, substantive utility, policy relevance, and potential for secondary analysis.

A choice of media is offered for each study data set, including CD-ROM (PC and Mac), 3.5" diskette (PC and Mac) and mainframe tape. Included with all archives are:

- · raw data for mainframe or microcomputer use
- SPSS and SAS program statements
- a data dictionary and frequencies for all variables
- · a printed and bound User's Guide
- original questionnaire and codebook (available for most studies for a separate price)

Value-added features accompany data sets on CD-ROM:

- Search & Retrieval software for locating and selecting variables by topic, type, keyword or study
- Data Extract software for building SPSS and SAS system files for preselected variables

187 Exemplary Study Data Sets Now Available

The sixth edition of the Sociometrics Social Science Data Library (all six available archives, 187 study data sets) can be purchased for $2,950 on CD-ROM or mainframe tape.

Prices for the individual archives range (depending on the archive) from $450 to $950 and are available on mainframe tape and PC or Mac CD-ROM.
