PICK YOUR OWN SPONSORSHIP

As we continue to grapple with the COVID-19 pandemic, ongoing economic challenges, and continued social upheaval, ASA’s Pick Your Own Sponsorship initiative responds to the significant financial needs some members are facing. It is also an effort to keep the association strong during a time when ASA’s mission to serve sociologists in their work, advance sociology as a science and profession, and promote the contributions and use of sociology to society could not be more urgent. Take a sponsorship if you need one, give a sponsorship if you can. The ethos of the Pick your Own Sponsorship initiative is simple: "When we pull together, we all win."

JOURNALS

As a member of ASA, you automatically receive on-line access to ASA journals when you log into the ASA website. ASA Members have access to 9 journals:

- American Sociological Review
- Contemporary Sociology
- Contexts
- Journal of Health and Social Behavior
- Social Psychology Quarterly
- Sociology of Education
- Sociological Methodology
- Sociological Theory
- Teaching Sociology

ASA members automatically receive online access to ASA journals. As part of our larger member-driven effort to reduce ASA’s carbon footprint, we do not mail print journals by default. You may, however, request a print copy of the journal of your choice at no additional charge if you so choose.

Print Journal Opt-in: I would like to receive a print copy of the journal of my choice. * □ Yes □ No

NOTE: International Associates do not have the option of an included print journal.

If opting-in, write the name of your selected print journal below.

COMMUNITY MEMBERSHIP

Communities are member-initiated, ASA-supported groups that are free for any interested ASA member to join. Communities create spaces for groups of members with common professional backgrounds or common identities to connect with one another for a variety of purposes including networking, asking for and offering professional advice, professional development activities, and Annual Meeting-related events. For more information on ASA Communities, click here.

ASA CODE OF ETHICS

The American Sociological Association’s Code of Ethics sets forth the principles and ethical standards that underlie sociologists’ professional responsibilities and conduct. These principles and standards constitute normative statements for sociologists and provide guidance on issues that sociologists may encounter in their professional lives. As a member of the American Sociological Association, I agree to uphold both the general principles and specific ethical standards delineated in the ASA Code of Ethics.

□ By checking this box and submitting this form with payment for membership in the ASA, I indicate my agreement to uphold both the general principles and specific ethical standards delineated in the ASA Code of Ethics.

v. 2023
DEMOGRAPHIC INFORMATION

ASA has an explicit commitment to diversity and inclusion. Collecting demographic information is one expression of that commitment. We use demographic data to conduct statistical analyses and report findings with aggregate data in which individuals cannot be identified. We use individual-level demographic information to provide relevant committees and individuals a confidential resource to diversify candidates for volunteer positions within ASA. If you do not wish your information to be used for these purposes, select, "Prefer not to state" for each question below. We currently are collecting more detailed information than in the past based on requests from various groups within the membership. Over time, the specific questions and their response categories will likely evolve, based on emerging scientific recommendations on survey methodology.

Responses are required for all questions in this section. Incomplete responses will result in the delay of application processing
