

Footnotes

AUGUST 1988

VOLUME 16
NUMBER 6

Wilson Elected President; Bonacich is VP

William Julius Wilson

William Julius Wilson, Lucy Flower Distinguished Service Professor of Sociology and Public Policy at the University of Chicago, has been elected the 81st President of the ASA. He assumes office in August of 1989 after serving one year as President-Elect. Wilson's election follows a busy year in 1987 in which he received a five year MacArthur Prize Fellowship and published the provocative The Truly Disadvantaged: The Inner City, the Underclass, and Public Policy.

Joining Wilson as Vice-President is Edna Bonacich, Professor of Sociology at the University of California-Riverside. Beth B. Hess, Professor of Sociology, County College of Morris (NJ), won election to the three year term as Secretary of the Association.

The four Council members elected to three year terms are: Robert R. Alford, University of California-Santa Cruz; Ivar

Edna Bonacich

Berg, University of Pennsylvania; Troy Duster, University of California-Berkeley; and Jill Quadagno, Florida State University.

The Publications Committee receives two new members: Maureen Hallinan, University of Notre Dame, and David Mechanic, Rutgers University. The six winners joining the Committee on Nominations are: District 1—Linda J. Waite, Rand Corporation; District 2—Robert Perucci, Purdue University; District 3—Cookie White Stephan, University of Hawaii-Honolulu; District 4—Katrina W. Johnson, National Institutes of Health; District 5—Karen Oppenheim Mason, University of Michigan-Ann Arbor; District 6—Judith Lorber, City University of New York.

New members on the Committee on Committees are: District 1—Joseph W. Scott, University of Washington; District

Beth B. Hess

2—Wendy Griswold, University of Chicago; District 3—Jennie J. Kronenfeld, University of South Carolina; District 4—Rhoda Lois Blumberg, Rutgers University; District 5—S.M. Miller, Boston University; District 6—Patricia A. Roos, State University of New York-Stony Brook.

The referendum on three changes to update the Constitution and By-Laws passed by an overwhelming margin.

Election results are as follows:

PRESIDENT—ELECT
Immanuel Wallerstein	1,009
William Julius Wilson	1,733*
VICE PRESIDENT—ELECT
Edna Bonacich	1,459*
Alejandro Portes	1,121
SECRETARY—ELECT
Oscar Grusky	1,003
Beth B. Hess	1,430*

COUNCIL

Robert R. Alford	1,342*
Ivar Berg	1,338*
Troy Duster	1,350*
David Gold	1,141
Albert E. Gollin	782
Jae-On Kim	1,185
Victor G. Nee	665
Jill Quadagno	1,462*

COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS

Maureen Hallinan	1,256*
David Mechanic	1,409*
Ronnie J. Steinberg	721
Ivan Szelenyi	841

COMMITTEE ON NOMINATIONS

District 1
Herbert L. Costner	1,061
Linda J. Waite	1,110*
District 2
David Knoke	822
Robert Perrucci	1,184*

See Elections, page 5

Preliminary Program Corrections

The following listings were omitted or printed incorrectly in the Preliminary Program. Please note this information for your convention schedule and accept our apologies.

- The Family Section Business Meeting will be at 12:30 p.m. on Thursday, August 25
- Section 93, Family Informal Roundtable Discussions, Table 5: Problem Solving in Family Relationships. Louis N. Gray and Irving Tallman, Washington State University. □

Atlanta: Old South, New South

by Charles Karcher, Mercer University, and Barbara Karcher, Kennesaw College

Travel requires, among other things, both time and insight in order to savor the experience. The former we can't provide although the 1988 meeting of the ASA offers the opportunity for you to become acquainted or re-acquainted with Atlanta. It is our intention, however, to provide a loose framework of insight that will help you to better experience and understand this new South city and its old South roots. Perhaps a better way of saying it is that our intention is to present one insider's image of the city to set the stage for your visit.

Originally founded as "Terminus" in 1837 the southernmost point for the Western and Atlantic Railroad out of Tennessee, Atlanta (renamed as such in 1845) in quick succession became a stop on the lines of the Georgia Railroad, the Macon and Western Railroad and the Atlanta and West Point Railroad. Rail lines formed the umbilical cord for the city's birth and its life line until the mid-twentieth century. Not much remains of this history but the odd jumble of streets in the central business district left from this period when streets were laid out either parallel or at right angles to the rail lines, themselves curving through the growing city, and the massive railroad yard where the Omni Complex now sits.

Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport has the largest passenger terminal complex in the world.

Atlanta today, as then, remains a transportation hub. However, the rail lines have been replaced by air and ground routes. Hartsfield Airport is ranked the busiest airport in the nation today and probably has been the source of some tribulation for those of you who regularly travel through the southlands. Atlanta, too, is the crossroads for I-85, I-75, and I-20 linking the city with outlying regions in all directions. In fact, the mental image of the city held consistently by local college students is that of the pattern of the three interstates as they pass through the city and the encircling perimeter road labeled I-285. This image may be altered in the future as the discussion of an additional perimeter road twenty miles further distant

See Atlanta, page 5

INSIDE

Footnotes

- 2 Executive Officer's Report, Inside 1722, Aiken Now Proposed at University of Pennsylvania
- 3 Observing: ASA Audit
- 5 ASF Raffle and Gem Silent Auction, Sculptor and Harpist Scheduled for Exhibit Area
- 6 1989 Call for Papers—Sessions, Organizers Announced
- 8 ASA Department and Business Columns
- 14 Obituaries

Executive Officer's Report

A Year of Progress and Problems

I begin this sixth Annual Report with a special word of thanks to Bettina Huber who in July completed her seven year tour with the Executive Office. I simply want to add my own words of appreciation to those that appeared in the May Footnotes profile on Bettina.

During her 7 years with the Executive Office, Bettina was responsible for guiding the work of several key committees, including Publications and Certification, and the Status of Women in Sociology. Her reports invariably set a standard for excellence, and the one on future job trends was deemed sufficiently important that Council authorized that it be published as a special monograph of the Association.

In her last two years in the office, Bettina took on the responsibility of reorganizing and updating the office's computer system, developing special computer programs to meet specific ASA needs. In addition, she worked closely with the leaders from the Committee and the Section on Sociological Practice to bring forth a viable model for a journal that would reflect the interests and needs of people working in business, government and nonprofit organizations, as well as those in academe who devote varying degrees of time and energy to applied, policy, evaluation and clinical work.

Bettina's influence on the Association will be felt for years to come. We salute her and wish her well in her new endeavors, as the Director of Research for the Modern Language Association in New York City.

The Auditor's Report on the financial condition of the Association is reviewed in detail on page 3. I need only note that the Association finished the year 1987 with a budget in balance, after $30,386 is transferred from the general fund to the Rose Fund. This is in keeping with the agreement by which Council borrowed some $80,000 from the Rose Fund to help finance the publication of Sociological Methodology and Sociological Theory in 1986, as well as the publication of the 15-year Cumulative Index. It is expected that the balance of the loan will be repaid within the next two years.

In the following sections of this report I want to focus primarily on the changing opportunity structure for sociology, and the challenges posed by this changing structure.

A Changing Opportunity Structure. In recent months I have documented a variety of events that point to a major change for sociology and the other social sciences, a change that, among other things, means new and increasing job opportunities in business, government and academe. For a variety of reasons, sociologists may expect to find themselves in greater demand. The challenge posed by this changing opportunity structure has to do with the nature of the labor supply now and in the next decade.

On the Supply Side. The supply, of course, includes the surplus labor pool of MAs and PhDs that built up between 1977 and 1984, the recent and current crop of undergraduate majors, and the potential supply of majors who will enter high school and then college during the next 10-15 years. The students who will be entering college in the year 2000 will be entering first grade this fall. What factors will influence them toward or away from sociology?

For each of the past three years, about 1000 members have identified themselves as low income, meaning that they earn less than $15,000 a year. They generally have been forced by circumstances to be part-time lecturers, may travel to as many as 3 or 4 campuses a week, seldom if ever have opportunities to interact with other faculty or even the students they teach. They may well make up a pool of alienated workers. (See January 1988 Footnotes, pp. 7, 12 for the features on part-time faculty). Their prospects for full time permanent employment in academe are less than certain in this changing climate. We know that some found employment in business and government, but have no systematic knowledge about the numbers, or about their degree of satisfaction with current occupations.

In January of this year, a special committee chaired by Irwin Deutscher presented a report on un- and underemployed sociologists to Council with a series of recommendations. In turn, President Gans appointed a subcommittee of Council, to be chaired by Vice President Glen Elder, to examine the recommendations and develop specific policies that may help at least some of the members in this low income pool to find full time permanent employment. One possibility to be explored is special one or two year fellowships in highly marketable research areas.

On the demand side, the year just completed (June 1987-May 1988) saw 759 different jobs advertised in the Employment Bulletin. This figure was 57 higher than the previous year and continues an upward trend of the past several years. Among the 759 jobs listed, some 162 were for those at the associate, full professor and department head levels, while 60 were in jobs in business and government, both double the number offered five years ago. This growth in demand suggests that with some 500 new PhDs coming into the job market annually, there appears now a window of opportunity for them and for recent PhDs.

The Changing Pool of PhDs. With job opportunities improving, our concern turns to the recruitment of sociologists. Scattered evidence from the past few years suggests that at least by one measure, GRE scores, sociology candidates are lagging behind physical sciences, economics, math and humanities, with scores between 50-100 points lower on verbal and quantitative exams. And in the last 20 years sociology student scores have fallen by one full standard deviation, which the U.S. Office of Education has declared to be an "extreme" decline. Meanwhile, scores in physics, chemistry, math and economics have gone up, while student scores in the humanities are holding their own.

My concerns take me finally to sociology in the graduate programs. How serious are problems of recruitment caused by comparatively low GRE scores? Are there problems across almost all departments? Are problems exacerbated by limited financial opportunities with TAs, RAs and fellowships? How well are graduate programs geared to the teaching, research and policy/practice needs of the discipline and of human society generally?

Beginning Early. Admittedly, GRE scores are only one measure of intelligence and achievement; we need much more systematic information before we can tell how we are faring comparatively in the competition for the best and brightest young students. Nevertheless, evidence compiled by the National Research Council in their Ten Year Report on the Behavioral and Social Sciences suggests that the problem of recruitment goes back at least to secondary schools. Physical sciences and math have more rigorous, challenging courses than do the social sciences, thus invariably attracting the more talented students.

The Ten Year Report goes on to note how the differential pattern of course difficulty is continued at the undergraduate level, thus further diminishing the probability of attracting bright students searching for an intellectually challenging major into the social sciences.

On the hopeful side, there are at least two organizations, the National Center for the Social Studies and the Association of American Colleges, at work on the national level trying to gather systematic information about the state of the social sciences at the secondary school and undergraduate college levels. We should be hearing reports from these two groups during the next two years. The improvement in the quality of sociology taught at these levels should help us recruit a larger share of the most talented students. At the same time, the impact of higher quality programs should not be lost on the large number of students who take only one or two courses in sociology, and who go on to be the next generation of business and political leaders, and taxpayers, one and all.

As I begin my seventh year in the Executive Office, these are the problems that seem most pressing. The Association now has in place a strong and revitalized Minority Fellowship Program, a Teaching Services Program that reaches thousands of members annually, and a Professional Development Program that is gradually extending the field of sociological practice. We have a range of journals led by distinguished editors, and opportunities for research that may have a significant impact on human society in the 21st century. The challenge to insure that the supply of talent and the programs offered are sufficient to meet the demands and the needs should now be occupying the attention of the Association.

William V. D'Antonio

Inside 1722

a series of articles on the Executive Office staff

A Front-Office Dynamic Duo

Frances M. Foster and Angela Foster Grigsby

Immediately upon entering the row house that is the ASA Executive Office, you see that the "nerve center" is on your left. What was once a parlor, ornate with carved woodwork and tile fireplace, now displays office decor: computer terminals, printers, desks, phones. Managing all the goings on are two SE Washington natives: Frances M. Foster and Angela Foster Grigsby.

Frances currently serves as the Administrative Assistant to the Minority Fellowship Program. With such an active program to oversee, her duties are constantly expanding, especially as the Program looks to add a training component for undergraduates. She keeps track of all the applications, the students' progress, insures that stipend checks go out on time and manages the data for the reports to the funding agencies. Frances also has another commitment: she serves in the Air Force Reserves one weekend a month. She is a staff sergeant and air cargo specialist. Recently, she spent a week-end in rural North Carolina on a training mission that she described as similar to Outward Bound. Her service has taken her to Germany, Italy, and Spain. Can you imagine that she has mixed feelings about cutting short her time at the ASA annual meeting to go to the Azores for two weeks?

Angie was working as a tenant service coordinator for a large apartment complex before she followed her older sister to ASA. Her educational background includes training in accounting and office automation. She enjoyed her work in building management, commenting "I could have all this rent money coming in and get to pay bills with it; it's a volume that exceeds any salary I'll make!" At the ASA, Angie handles non-member subscriptions. Her job puts her in contact with libraries and individuals around the world. Some of her more challenging moments are filling requests written in languages no one can identify. She spends a lot of time tracking down shipments of journals to far-away places and corresponding with people to ensure that they receive their publications on time. In her hours away from ASA, she and her husband enjoy their new boat.

Frances and Angie admitted to being typical sisters who fought a lot when they were younger. Angie says Frances was a bit overprotective when Angie joined the staff and made sure she toed the line. "But now we enjoy one another and if she gets that way, I ignore her." All the action in the "front office" is something we don't ignore; we're grateful to Frances and Angie for being a dynamic duo that keeps the MFP and subscriptions records up to speed.—CBH □

Aiken Now Provost

ASA Secretary, Michael Aiken, began service as Provost at the University of Pennsylvania in 1987. He was formerly the Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences. University President Sheldon Hackney called Mike Aiken "a proven academic leader, both thorough and fair, who provided the School of Arts and Sciences with leadership and a sure sense of direction. He understands universities and how one works in a collegial fashion to strengthen them."

Aiken brings a background in organizational sociology to his new post. He was formerly at University of Wisconsin-Madison before coming to Pennsylvania as chair of the sociology department and subsequently Dean. In the two years since his appointment as dean, Aiken led the faculty in the development of the five year plan titled "Building on Excellence" and in overhauling the school's distribution requirements. He has held a number of visiting professorships including four terms at Belgium's University of Leuven. We offer belated congratulations on his new position and appreciate his extensive service to the ASA as its Secretary. □

Observing

1987 Audit: ASA Budget in Balance

The Auditor's Report, on the financial condition of the American Sociological Association, shows an excess of revenues over expenditures of $30,386 for the year 1987, compared with a surplus of $18,240 for 1986 (Table 1). This raises the Fund Balance to $391,584 as of 12/31/87. However, this increase to the Fund Balance is only temporary.

During 1985 and 1986 Council had authorized a loan from the Rose Fund to the General Fund of some $80,000 to help support the publication of Sociological Methodology, Sociological Theory, Teaching Sociology, and the 15-year Cumulative Index. In accordance with Council's instructions, the $30,386 is to be transferred to the Rose Fund as a partial pay back of this loan, thus leaving the general operating budget in balance. Since the transfer of funds took place in April, 1988, the change will be noted in the 1988 audit. Further, the General Operating Fund expects to be able to repay the balance of the loan in the next year or two.

The Balance Sheets (Table 2), present the financial position of the Association for both the General and the Restricted funds. The latter, totaling $515,145 as of

William V. D'Antonio, ASA Executive Officer

12/31/87, includes the Rose Fund, the Fund for the Advancement of the Discipline, the several funds supporting the Minority Fellowship Program, and funds held by the various sections of the Association, as well as a number of other small grants and endowments. Certain assets, such as the Ford Foundation Grant, which was received in 1986 and largely expended in 1987, help explain why the Association ended the year with total lower assets than it had in 1986. Depreciation of the property, plant and equipment also lowered the asset total. The building has a fair market value in excess of its historical cost reduced by depreciation. Generally accepted accounting principles do not permit the carrying of assets at the fair market value. (See Note D, Notes to Financial Statements, below.)

Tables 2 and 4 present detailed statements of revenues and expenditures for 1987 compared with 1986. General operating revenues increased by some $50,000 while revenue for restricted funds decreased by more than $120,000, primarily because fewer new grants were received in 1987.

Overall, publication costs were about equal in both years, thanks to outstanding efforts and some sacrifices by the journal editors. Most of the increased costs ($56,000) come from General and Administrative Expenditures. About half that amount is found in Executive Office salaries, and most of the remainder in depreciation and amortization.

During the past two years the Association has been able to strengthen its major efforts in publications, teaching services, and professional development, while holding expenditures at a fairly stable level. And with the aid of the Ford Foundation Grant, it was able to move ahead with a major new initiative for the Minority Fellowship Program.

Barring any unforeseen events, 1988 should follow closely the pattern set in the previous two years. And the pattern is in no small measure the result of the work of the Executive Office staff. It is most appropriate, therefore, to close this review of the audit with a special word of thanks and appreciation to them for their diligence, competence and dedication to the Association. -WVDA □

We have examined the balance sheets of American Sociological Association (a District of Columbia not-for-profit corporation) as of December 31, 1987 and 1986, and the related statements of revenue and expenditures, operating fund balance and changes in financial position for the years then ended. Our examinations were made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of American Sociological Association at December 31, 1987 and 1986, and the results of its operations and changes in its financial position and cash flow for the years then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a consistent basis.

Grant Thornton
Washington, DC
March 22, 1988

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE A—SUMMARY OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES

A summary of the Association's significant accounting policies consistently applied in the preparation of the accompanying financial statements follows.

1. Property, Plant and Equipment

Depreciation is provided for in amounts sufficient to relate the cost of depreciable assets to operations over their estimated useful lives, on a straight-line basis without regard to salvage values.

2. Deferred Income

Deferred income represents amounts received in advance for the following:

- (a) Member and section dues which are applicable to programs planned for subsequent periods.
- (b) Subscription to periodicals which are applicable to subsequent periods.

3. Income Taxes

The Association is exempt from income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, except for unrelated business income (mailing list rentals, advertising, etc.) that resulted in Federal and District of Columbia income taxes of approximately $1,000 and $1,800 for the years ended December 31, 1987 and 1986, respectively.

4. Inventories

The Association values its inventories at the lower of cost or market using specific identification.

NOTE B—RESTRICTED FUNDS

These funds are held by American Sociological Association (ASA), as custodian, to be used for specific purposes and are, therefore, restricted.

Certain grants and funds administered by ASA committees provide for the actual expenses by budget categories as set forth in the grant awards or fund documents. The expenditures made by the Association under the terms of these grants are subject to audit. To date, the Association has not experienced any unallowable expenses relating to grants or funds in force. The expenses include reimbursements to the unrestricted operations for administrative expenses of $20,337 and $24,074 for the years ended December 31, 1987 and 1986, respectively.

NOTE C—RETIREMENT PLAN

The Association has a voluntary retirement plan for its eligible employees. All executive office staff members who work at least 1,000 hours per year are eligible. Under the program, the Association contributes 5% of the employee's salary to the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association. In addition, if the employee contributes 4% or more of their salary to the retirement plan, the Association will contribute an additional 4% to the plan. Contributions by the Association on behalf of the employees amounted to $43,992 and $41,708 for the years ended December 31, 1987 and 1986, respectively.

NOTE D—PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

Following are the components of property, plant and equipment:

	1987	1986
Building and improvements	$232,581	$229,226
Office furniture and equipment	396,316	345,213
	628,897	574,439
Less accumulated depreciation	408,840	329,584
	220,057	244,855
Land (1722 N Street NW Washington, DC)	39,000	39,000
	259,057	283,855

Building and improvements include the original cost of the building of $52,196 and improvements of $180,385 and $177,030 for the years ended December 31, 1987 and 1986, respectively. No effect is given to the fair market value of the land and building in these financial statements.

Continued on next page

TABLE 1: STATEMENTS OF OPERATING FUND BALANCE

Years ended December 31, 1987 and 1986
Balance at January 1, 1986	$342,958
Excess of revenue over expenditures	18,240
Balance at December 31, 1986	361,198
Excess of revenue over expenditures	30,386
Balance at December 31, 1987	$391,584

TABLE 2: BALANCE SHEETS

	December 31, 1987			December 31, 1986
	Operating	Restricted (note B)	Total	Operating	Restricted (note B)	Total
CURRENT ASSETS
Cash	$ 381,459	$ 211,330	$ 592,789	$ 167,208	$ 183,650	$ 350,858
Certificates of deposit plus accrued interest	399,981	—	399,981	695,864	100,497	796,361
Investments (at cost, market value of $781,273 and $641,940, respectively)	481,143	303,815	784,958	308,331	288,966	597,297
Accounts receivable, net of allowance for doubtful accounts of $5,000 in 1987 and 1986	45,821	—	45,821	48,470	—	48,470
Accounts receivable—restricted funds (note G)	—	—	—	77,342	—	77,342
Inventories (note A4)	5,000	—	5,000	5,000	—	5,000
Prepaid expenses	127,284	—	127,284	117,151	—	117,151
TOTAL CURRENT ASSETS	1,440,688	515,145	1,955,833	1,419,366	573,113	1,992,479
PROPERTY, PLANT, AND EQUIPMENT
At cost, net of accumulated depreciation (notes A1 and D)	259,057	—	259,057	283,855	—	283,855
PURCHASE PUBLICATION, net of amortization of $6,667 and $3,334 in 1987 and 1986 (note E)	3,333	—	3,333	6,666	—	6,666
	$1,703,078	$515,145	$2,218,223	$1,709,887	$573,113	$2,283,000
CURRENT LIABILITIES
Accounts payable—trade	$ 126,429	$ —	$ 126,429	$ 152,231	$ —	$ 152,231
Accounts payable—restricted funds (note F)	—	—	—	—	77,342	77,342
Accrued liabilities	48,414	—	48,414	58,781	—	58,781
Deferred income (note A2)	1,136,396	—	1,136,396	1,132,243	—	1,132,243
Income taxes payable (note A3)	255	—	255	1,800	—	1,800
TOTAL CURRENT LIABILITIES	1,311,494	—	1,311,494	1,345,055	77,342	1,422,397
DEFERRED REVENUE	—	515,145	515,145	—	495,771	495,771
ACCOUNTS PAYABLE—Long-Term (note E)	—	—	—	3,634	—	3,634
FUND BALANCE	391,584	—	391,584	361,198	—	361,198
	$1,703,078	$515,145	$2,218,223	$1,709,887	$573,113	$2,283,000

Audit, continuedNOTE E—PURCHASE PUBLICATION

In April, 1985, the Association entered into an agreement with Sage Publications, Inc. (Sage) to purchase the rights to the "Journal of Teaching Sociology." The purchase price of $10,000 is to be used by Sage as a credit to offset charges for advertising, exhibition space, and/or mailing labels during the years 1986-1988. This amount was fully utilized in 1987. In addition to the purchase price, the Association will pay a royalty to Sage in the amount of $2,500 or one half the net income from the "Journal of Teaching Sociology," whichever is greater, determined on a cash basis for the years 1986-1988. In each of the years 1987 and 1986, this royalty amounted to $2,500.

NOTE F—RESTRICTED FUND SUPPORT FOR PUBLICATIONS

During 1986, the Association undertook to publish four publications. Losses were anticipated and through Board resolution, losses incurred both from direct costs not covered by revenue received and from unrecovered overhead charges would be funded for a three-year period by the Rose Fund. The loss in 1986, both from direct costs not recovered and from overhead allocated, amounted to $77,342.

In 1987, the Association's Council voted to repay the Rose Fund from the surplus of operations until the entire $77,342 is repaid. No interest is to be added. No amount was stipulated to be paid as of December 31, 1987.

TABLE 4: SCHEDULES OF GENERAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENDITURES

	Year ended December 31
	1987	1986
Executive Office
Salaries	$ 508,228	$ 480,499
Employee welfare	77,374	81,502
Payroll taxes	39,072	33,826
Travel	5,123	7,296
Staff development	2,565	1,424
Staff dues and subscriptions	1,211	1,118
	633,573	605,265
Plant and supplies
Building and equipment repairs/maintenance	31,961	29,216
Real estate taxes	24,228	22,775
Office expense	17,802	18,648
Utilities	13,775	14,448
Janitorial supplies	6,478	5,649
Equipment rental	4,011	5,410
Computer supplies	4,599	1,945
Disposal of fixed assets	—	688
	102,854	98,779
Outside services
Postage and delivery	53,548	42,462
Membership	52,253	39,874
Sections	29,991	26,913
Workshops	22,549	23,782
Teaching Resources Center	14,377	22,660
Teaching Services Program	7,071	10,157
Telephone	10,834	12,680
Legal and accounting fees	10,739	11,884
Insurance	15,587	11,198
Miscellaneous	4,395	14,991
Computer consultant/programming	5,151	6,566
Subscription services	5,925	6,085
Endowment fund campaign	—	6,000
Loss on sale of investments	4,400	—
Bad debts	165	300
	236,985	235,552
Governance
COSSA	22,048	22,018
Council and Committees	46,167	41,215
Dues, awards, and contributions	11,570	11,267
Elections	4,153	5,159
Executive Officer's fund	2,910	3,313
Official travel	1,222	1,426
Sociological staff projects	900	—
Secretary's fund	195	—
President's fund	1,977	—
	91,142	84,398
Depreciation and amortization	82,589	66,876
Total	$1,147,143	$1,091,370

TABLE 3: STATEMENTS OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURES

	December 31, 1987			December 31, 1986
	Operating	Restricted	Total	Operating	Restricted	Total REVENUE
Member dues	$ 628,467	—	$ 628,467	$ 575,673	—	$ 575,673
Section dues	57,940	—	109,770	50,738	49,302	100,040
Subscriptions	664,170	—	664,170	652,620	—	652,620
Grants	—	226,221	226,221	—	354,268	354,268
Advertising	59,310	—	59,310	51,421	—	51,421
Sales - back issues	9,884	—	9,884	5,435	—	5,435
Sales - other publications	181,164	—	181,164	138,937	—	138,937
Annual Meeting	223,267	—	223,267	202,205	—	202,205
Workshops/conferences	24,086	—	24,086	26,905	—	26,905
Reimbursement of administrative costs	20,345	—	20,345	24,074	—	24,074
Mailing List Rentals	34,326	—	34,326	36,814	—	36,814
Interest	61,237	27,888	89,125	69,933	33,547	103,480
Reprint permissions	4,188	—	4,188	5,055	—	5,055
Processing fees and voluntary page charges	9,825	—	9,825	8,785	—	8,785
Contributions	3,831	24,871	28,702	2,520	16,663	19,183
Money contributed to support new publications (note F)	—	—	—	77,342	—	77,342
Other income	3,373	—	3,373	5,838	—	5,838
Total revenue	1,985,413	330,810	2,316,223	1,934,295	453,780	2,388,075
EXPENDITURES
Publications
Journal printing and mailing	432,948	—	432,948	414,140	—	414,140
Journal clerical	147,094	—	147,094	165,033	—	165,033
Other editorial and publication costs	109,816	—	109,816	109,005	—	109,005
Total publications	689,858	—	689,858	688,178	—	688,178
Program Services
Annual meeting	—	249,503	249,503	—	369,040	369,040
General and administrative	1,147,026	—	1,147,026	134,707	—	134,707
	1,147,143	81,307	1,228,450	1,091,370	84,740	1,176,110
Total expenditures	1,954,027	330,810	2,284,837	1,914,255	453,780	2,368,035
Excess of revenue (expenses) over expenditures (revenue) before income taxes	31,386	—	31,386	20,040	—	20,040
Income taxes (note A3)	(1,000)	—	(1,000)	(1,800)	—	(1,800)
EXCESS OF REVENUE (EXPENSES) OVER EXPENDITURES (REVENUE)	$ 30,386	$ —	$ 30,386	$ 18,240	$ —	$ 18,240

ASF to Hold Raffle, Gem Silent Auction

At this year's Annual Meeting in Atlanta, the ASA will raffle off two pair of round-trip tickets on Eastern Airlines to any place in the continental United States. One pair of tickets will be good for six months after the Annual Meeting, the other for a year. A donation of at least $15.00 gives you a chance to win one pair of tickets. Donations will go to the American Sociological Foundation, the Minority Fellowship Program, and/or the Teaching Endowment Fund. Donors specify how they wish their donation to be allocated among these three ASA programs. In addition to the raffle of airline tickets, conference attendees will have the opportunity to participate in a silent auction of gems and stones donated by Edgar F. Borgatta (University of Washington). This is the third year Borgatta has donated stones and gems he has collected and polished. Proceeds from this silent auction will go to the ASF. Raffle tickets will be available Wednesday-Friday during the convention. A table will be set up in the book exhibit area at the convention hotel, the Marriott Marquis. The stones and gems for the silent auction will be available for inspection at the same table; bids are to be submitted with the individuals on duty there. The drawing of winners for the two pair of airline tickets will be Friday, August 26, at 6:30 p.m., in the book exhibit area where donations are to be made. The bids for the silent auction also will be opened at this time. Last year, Caroline Persell (New York University) won the raffle for a pair of tickets. She and her husband had a great winter vacation in Puerto Rico. And their trip helped them accumulate bonus mileage! Persell noted that her donation offered far better odds than the New York State lottery. Now she is curious to see if her luck will hold again. To be eligible, you must register and attend the 1988 ASA Annual Meeting in Atlanta. You also must make a donation of $15.00 or more to the American Sociological Foundation, the Minority Fellowship Program, and/or the Teaching Endowment Fund. Not eligible to participate in the raffle are ASA staff, exhibitors, ASF Committee members, MFP Committee members, and spouses of these individuals. Of course, all these persons are more than welcome to make donations. Airline tickets for the raffle are provided by the carrier and come to ASA from Meeting Management Associates, the travel agency that helps arrange discount flights for conference attendees and ASA committee members who travel on Association business. □

Lunching at the Exhibits in Atlanta

Art, music, and food represent the dynamic trio that can be found in the exhibit hall during the convention this year. A breakfast and lunch eating area will be placed at the rear of the exhibit hall where you can dine surrounded by local art and live harp music.

A sculpture exhibit will feature works by Robert Cheatham, an Atlanta artist who began sculpture in 1974. Robert is a modern artist who first started sculpture from an interest in furniture design. The show presented will include several pieces selected from his earlier and most current works.

Monica Hargrave, an accomplished Atlanta harpist, will perform during lunch time on Wednesday and Thursday. Monica studied at the Indiana University School of Music and the Oberlin Conservatory of Music and has performed for two years as the principal harpist in the Owensboro Symphony. She will play a range of music from easy listening and classical to light jazz. □ continues to resurface. While the interstates may not be as significant to visitors driving through the city, many will continue to recall these roads as race tracks used by the natives.

Atlanta, from page 1

Atlanta has no water transportation route. The Chattahoochee River, flowing east to west through the northern metropolitan area, provides a source of water, highly valued residential realty and national park land and recreation. The most use to which the River is put for conveyance is during the warmer months when stretches of it are filled with rafts. Significantly the River is responsible for some remaining legacy of the past. One cannot but help recognize the numerous roads that have "ferry" in their name such as Johnson Ferry, crisscrossing the area. Also, it was along the Chattahoochee that the Creek village of Standing Peachtree was located. (The River divided the Cherokee nation on the north from the Creek nation on the south). Whether a "peachtree" truly stood in the village is open to question. However, the village did influence the names of a multitude of streets all having the word peachtree in them. By the way, peach trees are not indigenous to Atlanta.

Atlanta, as reflected in its regional and national importance as a transportation center, has had a service economy. In 1864 General Sherman felt impelled to burn the then town of 9500 people because it was a major supply depot for the Confederacy. Today, the downtown skyline, at the heart of a two plus million population center, is dotted with the ever growing number of monuments to corporate wealth and power, ranging from the home grown Coca-Cola headquarters to the pink granite Georgia Pacific Building, to the most recent—the neo-gothic IBM Tower. Interspersed are the buildings necessary for wholesale and retail trade, convention activity and related activities. Thus, the Peachtree Plaza Hotel, touted as perhaps the tallest hotel in North America, the Merchandise Mart and the Omni Complex mark the landscape. The service economy and the growing population, among other factors, have made Atlanta relatively recession proof compared to other U.S. cities over the past decade.

Atlanta is basically a "new" city of glass, steel and stone. However, if one has the patience and the time one can visit the remnants of its past from Cabbage Town (formerly an old mill settlement of mountain people) and Oakland Cemetery on the southeast fringe of the CBD to restored Inman Park (the first rail connected subdivision dating to the turn of the century) and Baltimore Block (a displaced set of Baltimore row houses) to the east and north, to Techwood (the first public housing project in the U.S.) located across from Georgia Tech in the northwest. It has been and continues to be a constant struggle of the local preservationists to protect the city's visual past from the political and economic forces heavily for development.

To truly experience Atlanta, whether the old or new, one needs private transportation. As a typical sunbelt city that has "grown up" in the automobile age, the development of public transportation has been limited to Fulton and Dekalb Counties—the two central counties in the Atlanta Regional Planning Commission's seven county area and the two counties directly touched by Atlanta proper. This means that road development and its impact are constant issues in local politics.

A central focus in downtown Atlanta is Five Points—the point where the five major roads leading in and out of old Atlanta meet. Marietta Street and Decatur Street connect the towns of Marietta in the north and Decatur in the east, respectively; Whitehall connects present day West End to the southwest; Edgewood Avenue, constructed to connect Inman Park to the east; and Peachtree Street running north to originally connect the small community of Buckhead, and itself now the famed business corridor in Atlanta. Commercial and residential development have proceeded along these arteries, encompassing the outer cities and filling in the adjacent areas. However, a geographical, small scale examination of the area reflects significant economic and social differences.

The greatest development has been to the north, coinciding with a predominantly white population and higher income households. To the south lie predominantly black sections. Both areas have their elite section—the Buckhead area for the whites (also the location of the Governor's mansion) and the Cascade Road area to the southwest for the blacks (including many homes of politicians, including the mayor). The north-south geographical separation is an extension of the old Atlanta in-town racial separation with the white population primarily flowing northward along Peachtree Street and the black business and residential area running from "Sweet Auburn" Avenue east of Five Points through the southern section of the city. The separation has been not only geographical and economic, but social, political and psychological as well. While less economic development occurs to the south, the black community is buoyed up by the Atlanta University higher education complex, vibrant civil rights and cultural activity through the Martin Luther King Jr. Center and churches, and the political control of Atlanta. The economic structure of Atlanta still remains predominantly white and is becoming increasingly international in flavor.

Atlanta, historically, has had two major identifiable minorities—the Black and the Jewish. The Black minority has been separate and for all intent remains so. The Jewish minority has varied in its level of acceptance over the years. Today, the area is also enriched by two other clear minority groupings—Hispanic and Southeast Asian. Both are increasing in numbers.

Overall, relationships among the various groups have remained manageable compared to the situation in other cities. (Many years ago Atlanta was locally dubbed "the city too busy to hate.") However, one needs only recall the recent television drama dealing with the Mary Phagan case of the early 20th century and the nationally televised Forsyth County confrontation between blacks and whites to know that potential conflict simmers under a relatively calm surface, occasionally erupting in isolated incidents.

Atlanta proper must compete with its outlying areas. There is rapid growth of the retail industry, office complexes and light industry around and outside the perimeter with massive movement of population into these areas. Gwinnett County has recently been ranked the fastest growing county in the nation. A section of Cobb County north of the city where interstate 75 and 285 come together has a miniature downtown skyline and has been dubbed the "platinum triangle." Much of this growth is occurring at the expense of the city. However, it is also the bane of county and outer city governments little prepared to understand or control the rapid growth. The outer metropolitan area is a combination of urbane, sophisticated and rural; Mercedes and Brooks Bros. suits rub shoulders with pickup trucks and jeans. A continuing influx of northerners and urban dwellers is changing and challenging the existing rural lifestyle from speech patterns to political affiliation and religious mores. At the same time, the existence of the myriad of old political units comprising the area—incorporated areas and county units—have been staunchly defended, preventing the rational integration of services. Conflicts are continuous among these units ranging from issues of rapid rail expansion to water needs. Further confrontational issues arise because of the domination of the state legislature by rural representatives and because of the pervasive Baptist influence.

The symbols of Atlanta most familiar to the nation—Coca-Cola, Peachtree St., Gone With the Wind, baseball Braves and football Falcons, and Martin Luther King, Jr.—portray only a fragment of the social reality. We hope that you will be able to spend the time and make use of these personal insights to move beyond the one-dimensional symbols and come to know Atlanta, old and new. □

Two Special Events At Atlanta Meeting

□ The Section on Racial and Ethnic Minorities will mark its 10th anniversary on Friday, August 26, with a special reception at the Downtown Holiday Inn (175 Piedmont Avenue NE), approximately three blocks from the Atlanta Marriott Marquis.

The reception will honor the founder and charter members of the section. Food and cocktails will be included in the $20 per person price. The reception will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will have ASA officers and staff as special guests. Non-members are welcomed. Details will be forthcoming in the Section's newsletter, Remarks, or may be obtained from Joseph Scott, University of Washington-Seattle, or Charles U. Smith, Florida A&M University.

□ Widely-acclaimed filmmaker Fred Wiseman will show his new film, Missile, at the Annual Meeting, session 165. The session will be held Friday, August 26, in the Sydney room (Cluster 3) at 10:30 p.m.

For the past 22 years, Wiseman has been making a series of thematically related film documentaries about various American institutions. Missile is Wiseman's most recent film. □

Election, from page 1

Robert R. Alford

Ivar Berg

Troy Duster

Jill Quadagno

District 3
Cookie White Stephan	1,092*
John Sibley Butler	714
District 4
Katrina W. Johnson	1,136*
Gerald Zeitz	499
District 5
Karen Oppenheim Mason	1,179*
Maxine Baca-Zinn	801

District 6
Christine E. Bose	783
Judith Lorber	1,113*

COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

District 1
James N. Baron	796
Joseph W. Scott	1,115*
District 2
Wendy Griswold	1,129*
R. Stephen Warner	734
District 3
J. Michael Armer	866
Jennie J. Kronenfeld	953*

District 4
Rhoda Lois Blumberg	1,252*
David Byron McMillen	491
District 5
Duane F. Alwin	862
S.M. Miller	1,196*
District 6
Patricia A. Roos	1,077*
Glenna Spitze	763

CONSTITUTION & BY-LAWS

Article V. Section 5
Approve	2,008*
Disapprove	155
Article I. Section 5 & Article V. Section 4
Approve	2,060*
Disapprove	83
Article VII. Section 3
Approve	2,053*
Disapprove	99

□

1989 Call for Papers

August 9-13, 1989

San Francisco Hilton Square

Theme: Macro and Micro Interrelationships

Taking another look at a knotty problem for the social sciences, the 1989 Program Committee, headed by President-Elect Joan Huber, has organized thematic sessions that examine similarities and differences in patterns of aggregate and individual-level data. The regular sessions reflect the broad array of topics that perennially interest sociologists.

President-Elect Joan Huber and the 1989 Program Committee are calling for submissions to Regular Sessions and Roundtable Discussions, according to the guidelines below. All submissions are due as early as possible and must be received by December 15, 1988 at the latest.

Regular Sessions

Regular Sessions continue to constitute the heart of the program. The 1989 Program Committee has retained some broader topics and has expanded several areas to reflect current trends of interest and the 1989 meeting theme ("Macro and Micro Interrelationships").

Where to send papers. Members of the ASA and other interested persons should submit papers directly to the Regular Session organizers listed below. For topics having two co-organizers, please be sure to send two copies, one directly to each co-organizer. Submissions should include complete information (affiliations, mailing addresses) on all authors and co-authors.

Topics have been defined rather broadly by the 1989 Program Committee in order to discourage multiple submissions of the same paper to the organizers for two different topics (as with ASA journals). However, if you do feel that multiple submission is necessary for your paper, you are required to notify each organizer of this fact and to list the other organizers to whom the paper is being sent, so that the organizers may confer when advisable on the best location of the paper. Failure to meet this requirement allows organizers to drop the paper from all sessions involved.

Length and Style. Papers as submitted are limited to 20 pages, including footnotes, tables and bibliographies. For presentation at the meetings, papers should be turned into 15-minute talks. Presentations should highlight and interpret major points only and the delivery should be carefully paced. (Details of empirical data and procedures of collection and analysis should be reserved for handouts or written versions.) Lengthier versions are more suitable for subsequent publication than for oral presentation.

Original contribution. Papers must reflect original work or major developments in previously reported work. Papers are not eligible if they have been published prior to the meeting or accepted for publication before being submitted to organizers for consideration, or if they have been modified in only secondary respects after similar readings or publication.

How to send. Organizers have been instructed by the Program Committee not to accept abstracts, letters, or telephone calls in lieu of full papers when considering inclusions for their sessions; therefore, your opportunities for acceptance will be reduced if you fail to submit a complete paper. Authors should note that organizers have been informed that they need not return manuscripts unless these manuscripts have been accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Authors who want an acknowledgement of receipt of the paper by the organizer should also include a self-addressed, stamped postcard.

Deadlines. The deadline for submission of papers to organizers is December 15, 1988. Organizers are not obligated to consider papers received after that date. Abstracts and final copies of accepted papers will be due in the Executive Office by April 15, 1989.

Roundtables

Discussion Roundtables are continually popular features of ASA programs. They are particularly valuable for those who are developing new ideas or formulating issues in new ways and who would like to explore these ideas or issues with colleagues who have similar interests. Roundtables also offer an opportunity for those who share conceptual, methodological, professional, or policy concerns to meet one another and to initiate and expand networks.

At Roundtables, no formal papers are presented, nor is audio-visual or tape recording equipment permitted. Since these roundtables are classified as informal sessions, the presentations are not eligible for inclusion in the ASA Abstract and Paper Service. A roundtable session is usually comprised of up to 15 tables of discussion (each roundtable seats ten people) held at the same time in one of the larger public rooms in the hotel. Presenters introduce topics and facilitate discussion among all the participants at the table.

The Program Committee plans to continue the Informal Discussion Roundtables but for 1989 there will be Breakfast Roundtable Discussions instead of luncheon discussions. All Roundtable topics and presenters will be listed in the Program. The two types of Roundtables are similar, except that one involves the purchase of a breakfast ticket. Breakfast Roundtable presenters and attendees must make table reservations and purchase tickets in advance of the convention.

Members wishing to preside over a Roundtable should propose a topic or issue for discussion and send a one-page summary describing this topic to: Dana Vannoy-Hiller, Department of Sociology, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, OH 45221. These summaries will be reviewed by the Roundtable Organizing Committee for possible inclusion in the program. If authors have a preference regarding the type of roundtable over which they wish to preside, that preference should be indicated when the summary is submitted. The submission deadline is December 15, 1988.

Program Policies

Membership. All sociologists and graduate students of sociology who are listed on the Program must hold current membership in ASA. Participation on the Program is limited to ASA members, including graduate students. Exemptions may be made for the following three categories: (1) foreign scholars, (2) persons from other disciplines, and (3) sociologists invited by the Program Committee to participate on Thematic or Plenary Sessions. (Please note that a membership exemption does not include an exemption from the following pre-registration policy.)

Pre-registration. ASA Council policy requires all participants on the Annual Meeting program who present papers or serve as presiders, discussants or panelists to pre-register for the convention. If pre-registration fees are not received by April 15, participants' names may be deleted from the Program. Pre-registration fees are non-refundable. Foreign scholars and persons from other disciplines are not exempted from the pre-registration requirement but may pre-register at the member rate if they have received a membership exemption.

Listings. No individual may be accorded more than two listings on the Program. This ruling includes all types of participation except being listed as the organizer of a session. Persons may present only one sole-authored paper; however, they may do this in conjunction with one other participation on the program. Program listings which count as participations include president/moderator/facilitator, discussant/reviewer, sole author, co-author, roundtable presenter, roundtable president/leader, panelist, and seminar or workshop leader/co-leader. In short, every appearance on the program except that of organizer counts as a participation.

Services. Papers presented on Regular Sessions and Section-sponsored formal paper sessions are eligible for the ASA Abstract and Paper Service. Non-refereed roundtable presentations, including Breakfast and Informal Discussion Roundtables and Section Informal Roundtables, are not eligible for the Abstract and Paper Service since these sessions are intended to be informal discussions and not formal paper presentations. However, papers appearing on Refereed Roundtables, a format used by many Sections, are treated the same as papers on Regular Sessions. Abstracts of papers on eligible sessions (as noted above) will be included in the abstract publication and papers will be duplicated and made available for sale in the ASA Paper Sales Room during the Annual Meeting.

Questions relating to Program participation should be directed to the ASA Executive Office.

REGULAR SESSIONS TOPICS AND ORGANIZERS

Submission deadline: December 15, 1988

Aging. Matilda White Riley, National Institute on Aging, Building 31C, Room 5C32, 9000 Rockville Pike, Bethesda, MD 20892.

Life Course. Glenna D. Spitze, Department of Sociology, SUNY-Albany, Albany, NY 12222.

AIDS. Samuel R. Friedman, Narcotic and Drug Research Inc., 11 Beach Street, New York, NY 10013.

Arts. Judith H. Balfé, 94 Mt. Hebron Road, Montclair, NJ 07043.

Sociology of Asian Americans. Evelyn N. Glenn, 85 Wendell Street, Cambridge, MA 02138.

Biography, Narrative and Society. Jaber F. Gubrium, Department of Sociology, University of Florida, Gainesville, FL 32611.

Sociology and Biological Processes. J. Richard Udry, Carolina Population Center, CB#8120 University Square, 123 West Franklin Street, Chapel Hill, NC 27516-3997.

Sociology of Black Americans. Diane R. Brown, Institute for Urban Affairs and Research, Howard University, West Campus, Holy Cross Hall, 2900 Van Ness Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20008.

Children and Youth. Kathryn M. Borman, College of Education, Mail Loc. #2, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, OH 45221-0002.

Cities (Urban). Ivan Light, Department of Sociology, University of California, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

Community. Dietrich C. Reitzes, 260 E. Chestnut Street, Apt. 2112, Chicago, IL 60611; and Donald C. Reitzes, Department of Sociology, University Plaza, Georgia State University, Atlanta, GA 30303-3083.

Computers and Information Processing. James Katz, Room 2E-264, Bell Communications Research, 445 South Street, Morristown, NJ 07960-1910.

Criminology. Robert J. Sampson, Department of Sociology, 326 Lincoln Hall, University of Illinois, Urbana, IL 61801.

Cross-National Research. Orlando Patterson, Department of Sociology, 520 William James Hall, Harvard University, 33 Kirkland Street, Cambridge, MA 02138.

Culture. Jeffrey C. Goldfarb, 36 Hillside Terrace, Monroe, NY 10950.

Popular Culture. John R. Hall, Department of Sociology, University of Missouri, Columbia, MO 65211.

National Development. Victoria Bonnell, Department of Sociology, University of California, Berkeley, CA 94720.

Deviance. Candace M. Kruttschnitt, Department of Sociology, University of Minnesota, 267 19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, MN 55455.

Disability. Eileen M. Crimmins, Andrus Gerontology Center, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA 90089-0191.

Disaster. Gary A. Krieps, Department of Sociology, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, VA 23185.

Divorce. Arland D. Thornton, Institute for Social Research, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI 48106-1248.

Continued on next page

1989 Sessions and Organizers, continued

Dual-Earner Couples. Phyllis Moen, Sociology Program, National Science Foundation, Washington, DC 20550.

Economic Sociology. Fred L. Block, Department of Sociology, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA 19104.

Education and Society. Kenneth W. Jackson, Department of Sociology, Texas Southern University, 3100 Cleburne Avenue, Houston, TX 77004.

School Processes. Maxine S. Thompson, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, North Carolina State University, Box 8107, Raleigh, NC 27695-8107.

Emotions. Candace Clark, Department of Sociology, Montclair State College, Upper Montclair, NJ 07043.

Environmental Sociology. A. R. Gillis, Department of Sociology, University of Toronto, 563 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, Ontario M5S 1A1, Canada.

Ethnomethodology. John Heritage, Department of Sociology, University of California, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90024; co-organizer to be announced.

Evaluation Research. Paul D. Reynolds, Department of Sociology, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN 55455-0412.

Family and Kinship. Alan Booth, Sociology Dept., University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68588-0324.

Gender. Jean Stockard, Department of Sociology, Duke University, Durham, NC 27706.

Sociology of Hispanic Americans. Sylvia Pedraza-Bailey, Department of Sociology, University of Michigan, 3012 LSA Building, Ann Arbor, MI 48109.

Comparative Historical Sociology. Mark Gould, Department of Sociology-Anthropology, Haverford College, Haverford, PA 19041.

Social History. Eva T. Morawska, The Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, NJ 08540.

History of Sociology. To be announced.

Institutional Analysis of Socialist Societies. David Stark, Department of Sociology, University of Wisconsin, Madison, WI 53706.

Minority Labor Markets. Jose A. Cobas, Department of Sociology, Arizona State University, Tempe, AZ 85287.

Labor Markets. Michael Woodard, Department of Sociology, Room 201, University of Missouri-Columbia, Columbia, MO 65211.

Law and Lawyers. Terance Halliday, American Bar Foundation, 750 N. Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, IL 60611.

Lesbianism and Male Homosexuality. Ken Plummer, Sociology Dept., University of Essex, Wivenhoe Park, Colchester CO4 3SQ, Essex, England.

Intimacy and Friendship. Maureen T. Hallinan, 400 Decio, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, IN 46556.

Marriage. Ann R. Tickamyer, Department of Sociology, University of Kentucky, Lexington, KY 40506-0027.

Decline of Marxism? Axel van den Berg, Swedish Institute for Social Research, Stockholm Universitet, S-10691 Stockholm, Sweden.

Current Issues in Marxist Analysis. Jean Cohen, Department of Political Science, Columbia University, New York, NY 10027.

Mass Communications. Robert Horowitz, Department of Communication, D-003, University of California-San Diego, La Jolla, CA 92093.

Medical Sociology. Elena S.H. Yu, Pacific/Asian American Mental Health Research Center, 1033 W. Van Buren Street, 7th Floor North, Chicago, IL 60607.

Methodology: Qualitative. Shulamit Reinharz, Department of Sociology, Brandeis University, Waltham, MA 02254.

Methodology: Quantitative. Jae-On Kim, Department of Sociology, University of Iowa, Iowa City, IA 52242.

International Migration. Mary M. Kritz, The Rockefeller Foundation, 1133 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10036.

Occupations. Eze Spangler, Sociology/Boston College, 70 Ferncroft Street, Longmeadow, MA 01106.

Organizations. J. Miller McPherson, Department of Sociology, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853.

Political Sociology. David Sciulli, Department of Sociology, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19716.

Population. Donald J. Hernandez, Chief, Marriage and Family Statistics Branch, Population Division, FOB-3, Room 2381, U.S. Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

Poverty. Bruce B. Williams, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, University of Mississippi, University, MS 38677.

Professions. Willie Pearson, Jr., Science, Education and Transportation Program, Office of Technology Assessment, United States Congress, Washington, DC 20510-8025.

Public Opinion. To be announced.

Race, Class and Gender. Bonnie Thornton Dill, Department of Sociology, Memphis State University, Memphis, TN 38152.

Religion. Roland Robertson, Department of Sociology, Forbes Building, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, PA 15260.

Reproduction and Birth. Rose Weitz, Department of Sociology, Arizona State University, Tempe, AZ 85287-2101.

Risk. Eugene Rosa, Department of Sociology, Washington State University, Pullman, WA 99164-4020.

Rural Sociology. Charles C. Geisler, Department of Rural Sociology, 434 Warren Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853-7801.

Science: The Social Context. Mary Frank Fox, Department of Sociology, Pennsylvania State University, University Park, PA 16802.

Social Impacts of Science and Technology. Nico Stehr, Department of Sociology, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2H4, Canada.

Sexuality. Lynn Atwater, 287 Vose Avenue, South Orange, NJ 07079.

Small Group Processes. Martha Foschi, Department of Anthropology and Sociology, University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C. V6T 2B2, Canada.

Social Control. John R. Sutton, Department of Sociology, University of California, Santa Barbara, CA 93106.

Social Interaction. Sue Fisher, Sociology Dept., Wesleyan University, Middletown, CT 06457.

Social Movements and Collective Behavior. Rebecca E. Klatch, Merrill College, University of California, Santa Cruz, CA 95064.

Social Networks. Melvin L. Oliver, Department of Sociology, University of California, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

Social Psychology. Bonnie H. Erickson, Sociology, University of Toronto, 563 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, Ontario M5S 1A1, Canada.

Social Structure and Personality. Elizabeth Mitrani, Department of Health Behavior and Health Education, School of Public Health, CB#7400, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC 27599.

Socialization. Linda M. Grant, Department of Sociology, University of Georgia, Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602.

Sociolinguistics. To be announced.

Sociological Practice. Kathryn Grzelkowski, Department of Sociology, 201 Fernald Hall, University of Maine, Orono, ME 04469.

Sport and Leisure. Robert Jobu, Department of Sociology, 300 Bricker Hall, 190 North Oval Mall, The Ohio State University, Columbus, OH 43210.

Stratification. Toby L. Parcel, Department of Sociology, 300 Bricker Hall, The Ohio State University, Columbus, OH 43210.

Teaching Sociology. Edgar W. Mills, Department of Social Sciences, Springfield College, Springfield, MA 01109.

Contemporary Sociological Theory. Paul Colomy, Department of Sociology, University of Denver, Denver, CO 80208.

Theories of Modernity and Postmodernity. Bryan S. Turner, CSSCV (ASW), Faculteit der Sociale Wetenschappen, Rijksuniversiteit te Utrecht, Postbus 80140, Heidelberglaan 7, 3508 TC Utrecht, Netherlands.

Feminist Theory. Nancy Chodorow, Department of Sociology, University of California, Berkeley, CA 94720.

Interpersonal Violence. Rosemary Gartner, Department of Sociology, University of Toronto, 563 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, Ontario M5S 1A1, Canada.

War and Its Effects. Robert S. Lauffer, Department of Sociology, Brooklyn College-CUNY, Brooklyn, NY 11210.

Welfare State. To be announced.

Work and the Workplace. Ruth Milkman, Department of Sociology, University of California, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

Household Division of Labor. Patricia G. Voydanoff, Center for the Study of Family Development, University of Dayton, Dayton, OH 45469.

World System. Harriet Friedmann, Department of Sociology, University of Toronto, 563 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, Ontario M5S 1A1, Canada.

Names and addresses of organizers listed here as "to be announced" will be published in the program update in the November issue of Footnotes.

SECTIONS

The following ASA Sections sponsor program sessions during the Annual Meeting. Complete information on Section program sessions and submissions will be published in the program update in the November issue of Footnotes.

Submission deadline: December 15, 1988

Aging, Sociology of. Judith Treas, Andrus Gerontology Center, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA 90089-0191.

Asia and Asian America. Susan Takata, Department of Sociology, University of Wisconsin-Parkside, Kenosha, WI 53141.

Collective Behavior and Social Movements. Lewis M. Killian, 8820 Burning Tree Road, Pensacola, FL 32514.

Community. Gerald Suttles, Department of Sociology, University of Chicago, 1126 East 59th Street, Chicago, IL 60637.

Comparative Historical Sociology. Jill

Quadagno, Department of Sociology, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306.

Criminology. John F. Galliher, Department of Sociology, University of Missouri, Columbia, MO 65211.

Culture, Sociology of. Chair-Elect to be announced.

Education, Sociology of. Dan C. Lortie, Department of Education, University of Chicago, 5835 S. Kimbark, Chicago, IL 60637.

Emotions, Sociology of. Arlie Russell Hochschild, 84 Seward Street, San Francisco, CA 94114.

Environment and Technology. William R. Freudenburg, Department of Rural Sociology, University of Wisconsin, Madison, WI 53706.

Family, Sociology of. Alice S. Rossi, 34 Stagecoach Road, Amherst, MA 01002.

Marxist Sociology. Martin J. Murray, Department of Sociology, State University of New York-Binghamton, Binghamton, NY 13901.

Medical Sociology. Peter Conrad, Department of Sociology, Brandeis University, Waltham, MA 02254.

Methodology. Program Chair to be announced.

Microcomputing. If the section achieves the required number of members by the end of December, two program sessions will be held. Contact: Ronald Anderson, 13221 Lake Point Blvd., Belleville, MI 48111.

Organizations & Occupations. Ivar Berg, 100 Logan Hall, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6299.

Peace and War, Sociology of. Kai Erikson, Department of Sociology, Yale University, New Haven, CT 06520.

Political Economy of the World-System. John T. Walton, Department of Sociology, University of California-Davis, Davis, CA 95616.

Political Sociology. Richard A. Flacks, Department of Sociology, University of California, Santa Barbara, CA 93106.

Population, Sociology of. Larry Long, Center for Demographic Studies, U.S. Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

Racial and Ethnic Minorities. Chair-Elect to be announced.

Science, Knowledge, and Technology. Henry Etzkowitz, Department of Sociology, State University of New York, Purchase, NY 10577.

Sex and Gender, Sociology of. Margaret L. Andersen, Department of Sociology, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19716.

Social Psychology. Jeylan Mortimer, Department of Sociology, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN 55455.

Sociological Practice. Elizabeth Clark, Acting Program Coordinator, RD2, Box 141A, Chester, NY 10918.

Theoretical Sociology. Charles C. Lemert, Department of Sociology, Wesleyan University, Middletown, CT 06457.

Undergraduate Education. Chair-Elect to be announced.

Sociology in America: A 1988-89 Photo Wall Calendar

The Honors Program Student Association (HPSA) announces the arrival of their 1988-89, August-August, Sociology in America photo wall calendar, now available to you on a pre-order basis and also during the Atlanta convention activities. Featured in the calendar will be various sized black and white photographs reflective of the calendar theme, dates of regional and national meetings, deadlines for newsletters, famous sociologists' birthdates, and other tidbits of information relevant to American sociology and sociology.

Send orders to: Wendy Hagerman • HPSA • 2016 North 7th Street • Terre Haute, IN 47804

Please send _____ copies of the Sociology in America wall calendar at $7.95 each.

Name _____

Shipping Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Enclosed is check or money order for $ _____ . Please include 85¢ for postage and handling.

Please allow 4-6 weeks for delivery

Call for Papers

CONFERENCES

Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences Annual Meeting, March 28-April 1, 1989, Hyatt Regency Washington-Capitol Hill, Washington, DC. Theme: "Criminal Justice: Policy and Politics." To obtain a call for papers, contact: Finn-Aage Esbensen, Institute of Behavioral Sciences, University of Colorado, Campus Box 483, Boulder, CO 80309; (303) 492-3241. Abstract deadline is October 1, 1988.

American Association for the Advancement of Science Annual Meeting, January 14-19, 1989, San Francisco Hilton Hotel. AAAS members are invited to submit abstracts or request additional information from: Contributed Papers, AAAS Meetings Office, 1333 H Street NW, Washington, DC 20005. Abstracts are due November 1, 1988.

Conference on the Worker in Transition: Technological Issues, April 5-7, 1989, Washington, DC. Papers will be accepted until December 1, 1988, and will be peer-reviewed. Papers accepted for the conference will be published in bound conference proceedings by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Manuscripts should be submitted to the program chair: Thomas J. Koziak, Institute for Innovation and Design in Engineering, Texas A&M University, College Station, TX 77843-3123.

Eastern Sociological Society 59th Annual Meeting, March 17-19, 1989, Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore, MD. Theme: "Social Movements and Social Change, 1960-2000." Three copies of 10-15 page papers should be sent, along with a 250-word abstract, by November 15, 1988, to Jo Ann Gora, Dean, College of Arts & Sciences, Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison, NJ 07940; or Patrick Biesty, Department of Sociology, County College of Morris, Randolph, NJ 07869. Proposals for symposia should be sent by November 30 to: Vincent Parrillo, Department of Sociology, William Paterson College, Wayne, NJ 07470. Suggestions for workshops designed to illustrate innovative teaching and/or training techniques should be sent to: Beth Hess, Department of Sociology, County College of Morris, Randolph, NJ 07869. Proposals for colloquia/roundtable discussions, typically on work-in-progress, should be sent to: Cheryl Townsend-Gilkes, Sociology Department, Colby College, Waterville, ME 04901.

International Association for Semiotic Studies Fourth Congress, Barcelona (March 30-April 1, 1989) and Perpignan (April 2-6, 1989). Theme: "The Signs of Humanity." Participants are invited to send the proposed titles of their papers by December 31, 1988, with an abstract of no more than 300 words. Authors should classify the paper as theoretical, historical, or practical in one of three areas: semiosis in communication, semiosis in cultural and society, or semiosis in the sciences. Also specify the language in which the paper will be read and the preferred location (Barcelona or Perpignan). Send to: Secretariat du IV Congress de l'AIS, IRSCE, Université de Perpignan, Chemin de la Passio Vella, 66025 Perpignan Cedex.

International Conference on Drugs, Crime, and Social Control, December 14-16, 1988, University of Hong Kong. Suggested topic areas are: policing and drugs, the role of organized crime, social policy approaches, drugs and the law, and prevention and treatment strategies. Mail abstracts and inquiries to: Harold Traver, Department of Sociology, University of Hong Kong, Pokfulam Road, Hong Kong.

Northern Illinois Graduate Students in Sociology Conference, October 1, 1988,

Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, IL. Theme: "Graduate Research in Issues of Race, Ethnicity, and Gender." The conference is intended as a forum for graduate students to present work or work-in-progress and is held in conjunction with the University's "Unity Through Diversity Week." One-page abstracts should be sent by September 1, 1988, to: Fred Markowitz, Department of Sociology, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, IL 60115; (815) 753-6435.

Pennsylvania Sociological Society Conference, October 21-23, 1988, Sheraton Penn State, State College, PA. Theme: "Social Problems in a Changing Society." Proposals for presenting papers or inquiries about the conference should be addressed to: Norma Raiff, W. Psychiatric I&C, Webster Hall, Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15213.

Society for the Study of Social Problems, August 21-23, 1988, Westin Peachtree Plaza, Atlanta, GA. Sociologists who have produced tapes or films for classroom use or as research tools or reports are encouraged to submit these to the library. The films and tapes will be available on a strict sign-out/sign-in basis for viewing. Questions and descriptions or films or tapes should be addressed to: Diane R. Margolis, 225 Bishop Street, New Haven, CT 06511. Films or tapes should be sent to arrive no later than August 20, 1988, to: Richard Cox, Hold for Arrival: SSSP, Westin Peachtree Plaza Hotel, Peachtree at International Blvd., Atlanta, GA 30343-9986.

Southwestern Social Science Association 1989 Meeting, March 29-April 1, 1989, Excelsior Hotel, Little Rock, AR. Theme: "Vanishing Borders: America in the World Community." Sociologists interested in submitting papers or abstracts should mail them to: A. Gary Dworkin, Program Chair, Department of Sociology, University of Houston, 4800 Calhoun Road, Houston, TX 77004. Deadline for papers/abstracts is October 1, 1988.

Urban Affairs Association 19th Annual Meeting, March 15-18, 1989, Baltimore Marriott Inner Harbor, Baltimore, MD. Theme: "Urbanization in the Nineties: The Closing of a Century." Panel or roundtable proposals and papers on areas related to the theme are invited. Other proposals on topics related to urban affairs and urban studies are welcomed. For additional information or a copy of the UAA submission form, contact: James R. Bohland or Patricia Edwards, 1989 UAA Program Chairs, Urban Affairs and Planning, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, Blacksburg, VA 24061.

PUBLICATIONS

Arena Review invites manuscripts for the Spring 1989 special issue on "Ethnic Methods in the Sociology of Sport." Papers must use the current (since 1986) ASA reference format. Send three copies of manuscripts to the special issue editor: Charles P. Gallmeier, Sociology Department, California State University, 1250 Bellflower Blvd., Long Beach, CA 90840; (213) 498-4602. Submission deadline is December 1, 1988.

Clint Sanders is editing a volume focusing on the general topic of deviance and popular culture. Of particular interest are papers dealing with popular cultural presentations of deviance and deviants, and deviant activities within popular culture production settings. Submissions should be approximately 20 pages in length and in standard ASA format. Send papers by September 1, 1988, to: Clinton R. Sanders, Department of Sociology, University of Connecticut, Greater Hartford Campus, West Hartford, CT 06117-2697.

The sexualization of American society...

INTIMATE MATTERS

A History of Sexuality in America

JOHN D'EMILIO and
ESTELLE B. FREEDMAN

"Comprehensive, meticulous and intelligent."

—Washington Post

"No one could have done better than D'Emilio and Freedman... Intimate Matters summarizes the state of our knowledge about sexual behavior in the United States in clear prose and with discriminating insight. This fine book will be definitive for some time to come."—The Nation

"An excellent survey of sexuality in America from colonial days to the 1980s. The commercialization of sex, its use as a means of social control, and the search for its place in our lives are presented here clearly and readably. Highly recommended."—Library Journal

This first full-length study of the history of sexuality in the U.S. takes us from the English colonists and Native Americans to today's bitter clashes over abortion, homosexuality, and commercial exploitation. Shedding new light on the complex interplay of race, gender, and class inequality, the authors discuss such issues as white slavery and lynching, how sex has served as a symbol for a wide range of social problems, and how conflicts over sexuality have shaped the political and cultural contours of an era.

D'Emilio and Freedman draw on court records, diaries, letters, and popular art and culture to provide both a scholarly interpretation of the history of sexuality and a compelling narrative of the everyday lives of Americans.

"Far more than a compendium of sexual folkways or another revisionist look at the supposedly puritanical past... [the authors] marshal their material to chart a gradual but decisive shift in the way Americans have understood sex and its meaning in their lives..."

John D'Emilio and Estelle B. Freedman deserve our gratitude for putting sex in its proper place—which is in the long, uneven movement toward a more diverse and democratic society."

—Barbara Ehrenreich,
New York Times Book Review

HARPER & ROW PUBLISHERS

Visit us in Atlanta—Booth 325

Or order toll-free: 1-800-638-3030

Call for Papers, continued

Economic Development Quarterly has issued a call for papers for a special issue on "The Regional Economy and Neighborhood Development." Articles are due August 1, 1988. Send inquiries and proposals to the special topic issue editor: Wim Wiewel, Director, Center for Urban Economic Development, University of Illinois, 815 W. Van Buren, Suite 500, Chicago, IL 60607.

The European Review of Social Sciences seeks submissions (Chicago Manual style) for a special issue on the sociology of China. Inquiries and manuscripts should be directed as soon as possible to the guest editor: Georges-Marie Schmutz, Inter-University Program (Stanford Center), P.O. Box 13-204, Taipei, Taiwan.

The Journal of the American Statistical Association invites manuscripts for a special section on "Social Statistics and Public Policy for the 1990s." The 50-page section will include about 10 papers on the goals, substance, data content, design, and performance of national and international statistical systems as they relate to issues of public policy for the next decade. The section will be published in 1990 or early 1991. Direct inquiries to the special section editor: Richard C. Rockwell, Social Science Research Council 605 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10158; (212) 661-0280. Persons interested in submitting an article should first submit a short abstract of the planned article no later than September 30, 1988.

The National Society for Internships and Experiential Education is interested in summaries from faculty in any discipline describing how they use experiential learning approaches with their students. Summaries should be one page typed and should be sent, along with syllabi, reading lists, and other materials, to: NSIEE, 3509 Naworth Drive, Suite 207, Raleigh, NC 27609. Summaries will be considered for publication in future editions of Experiential

Education or may be published in a collection of selected faculty summaries.

Research in Community Sociology, a new serial publication, invites manuscripts dealing with theoretical and empirical studies on community structure/change, problems, policy-planning, and related issues. Cross-cultural, comparative, interdisciplinary, and critical studies are welcomed. Deadline for submission to Volume I is November 30, 1988. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts on IBM-compatible disks using the ASCII system. Send three copies (25-75 double-spaced pages) in ASA format to the series editor: Dan A. Chekki, Department of Sociology, University of Winnipeg, 515 Portage Avenue, Winnipeg R3B2E9, Canada.

Research in Social Stratification and Mobility invites papers for Volume 8. Theoretical as well as research contributions on any topic related to social stratification are welcomed. Papers will be reviewed by the editor and editorial board. There is no deadline for submissions and papers will be accepted until the volume is completed. Submit four copies of manuscripts and a $10 submission fee (payable to RSSM) to the editor: Arne L. Kalleberg, Department of Sociology, CB# 3210 Hamilton Hall, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC 27599.

Meetings

September 8-9. International Symposium on Operationalization and Research Strategy, Amsterdam, The Netherlands. Contact: Joop Hoex, Faculty of Educational Sciences, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands; U00005 at HASARAS (EARN/BITNET).

October 1. Northern Illinois Graduate Students in Sociology Conference, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, IL. Theme: "Graduate Research in Issues of Race, Ethnicity, and Gender." Contact: Fred Markowitz, Department of Sociology, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, IL 60114; (815) 753-6435.

October 3-4. Midwest Conference on the Social Implications of AIDS, Illinois State University, Normal, IL. Contact: Ann Elder, Acting Director, Community Research Services, Illinois State University, Normal, IL 61761.

October 4-7. Deutsche Gesellschaft für Soziologie/Osterreichische Gesellschaft für Soziologie/Schweizerische Gesellschaft für Soziologie Common Congress, Zurich, Switzerland. Theme: "Culture and Society." Contact: Kongresssekretariat "Kultur und Gesellschaft," Birchstrasse 95, CH-8050, Zurich, Switzerland.

October 7-8. American Association for the Advancement of the Annual Forum for School Science. Twin Bridges Marriott, Arlington, VA/Washington, DC. Contact: Forum for School Science, Office of Science and Technology Education, AAAS, 1333 H Street NW, Washington, DC 20005.

October 13-14. Wisconsin Sociological Association Annual Meeting, Sheraton Hotel, Milwaukee, WI. Contact: Robert Bendixen, Department of Sociology, University of Wisconsin, LaCrosse, WI 54601.

October 13-14. Symposium on Elderly Rehabilitation as Art and Science, Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, OH. Contact: May L. Wykle, Acting Director, Center on Aging and Health, Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, OH 44106; (216) 368-2692.

October 13-15. Conference on the Military-

Industrial Complex: Eisenhower's Warning Three Decades Later, Oregon State University, Corvallis, OR. Contact: Gregg Walker, Director, Peace Studies Program, Speech Communication Department, Oregon State University, Corvallis, OR 97331; (503) 754-2461.

October 20-22. Conference on Discourses of Power, Arizona State University, Tempe, AZ. Contact: Karen Adams, Department of English, Arizona State University, Tempe, AZ 85287; (602) 965-3810; BITNET: ATKLA at ASUACAD.

October 21-22. Society for Applied Sociology Annual Conference, Hilton Inn of Oak Lawn, Chicago, IL. Contact: Martin Jaeckel, Department of Sociology, Saint Xavier College, 3700 West 103rd Street, Chicago, IL 60655; (312) 779-3300.

October 21-23. Pennsylvania Sociological Society Conference, Sherraton Penn State, State College, PA. Theme: "Social Problems in a Changing Society." Contact: Norma Raiff, W. Psychiatric I&C, Webster Hall, Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15213.

October 27-30. American Studies Association Annual Convention, Fontainebleau Hilton, Miami Beach, FL. Theme: "Creativity in Difference: The Cultures of Gender, Race, Ethnicity, and Class." Contact: John Stephens, American Studies Association, 2100 Taliaferro Hall, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742; (301) 454-2533.

November 3-6. Social Science History Association 13th Annual Meeting, Bismark Hotel, Chicago, IL. Contact: Caroline B.

Brettell, Family and Community History Center, Newberry Library, 60 West Walton, Chicago, IL 60610; (312) 943-9090, x316.

November 6-10. World Association for Social Psychiatry 12th Congress, London, England. Contact: Conference Associates WASEP, 27A Medway Street, London SW1P 2BD, England.

November 9-12. American Society of Criminology Annual Meeting, Downtown Chicago Marriott Hotel, Chicago, IL. Theme: "State and Crime." Contact: Sarah Hall, ACS Executive Office, 1314 Kinnear Road, Suite 212, Columbus, OH 43212; (614) 292-9207.

November 9-13. North American Society for the Sociology of Sport Conference, Terrace Hilton Hotel, Cincinnati, OH. Theme: "Sport in the Social Context." Contact: Jim Frey, Program Chair, Department of Sociology, University of Nevada, Las Vegas, NV 89154.

November 10-12. Second Annual National Conference on Liberal Arts and the Education of Artists, New York, NY. Contact: Mark Salmon, Chair, Social Sciences Department, School of Visual Arts, 209 East 23rd Street, New York, NY 10010; (212) 679-7350.

November 18-21. American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies 20th National Conference, Hilton Hawaiian Village, Honolulu, HI. Contact: AAASS, 128 Encina Commons, Stanford University, Stanford, CA 94305-6029; (415) 723-9668.

Continued on next page

SPIRES CONSORTIUM

ALBERTA
CAL BERKELEY
HARVARD
IOWA STATE
ILLINOIS
MICHIGAN
OTTAWA
PRINCETON
STANFORD
SYRACUSE
WEST VIRGINIA
YALE

The SPIRES consortium membership invites you to join them in using the best software for managing textual information.

SPIRES is a full-function data base management system that allows you to store free form text and enables you to extract specific pieces of text quickly and easily using automatic keyword indexing. With a complete set of data base management tools built into SPIRES, you can easily create a wide variety of useful displays. Nobody else makes storage, retrieval and display of free form text this easy. And because no central data base administrator is needed, SPIRES puts you in charge of your data. Examples of SPIRES applications include:

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY
Taking advantage of SPIRES' ability to handle bibliographic information, Princeton has created a Library Serials Holdings data base containing about 40,000 titles, and a Manuscripts data base housing 46,000 records.

YALE UNIVERSITY
Researchers are cataloging major parts of the entire human genome at the Howard Hughes Medical Institute's Human Gene Mapping Library. This project will eventually generate a SPIRES data base containing over 500,000 records.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY
At the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center, researchers in the area of High Energy Physics can access a SPIRES data base of over 170,000 bibliographic entries from preprints, reports, and journal articles relevant to their field.

FEATURES

- Data base sharing on BITNET using Remote SPIRES
- A complete data base management system, with all applications code written in the SPIRES language

BENEFITS

- The SPIRES software, with annual updates (after initial $1,000 license fee)
- Free consulting assistance from the Consortium Office
- Access to a wide array of applications developed by the member institutions
- SPIRES workshops and courses
- A 42-member consortium with a BITNET discussion list and a strong sharing and helping orientation

The annual SPIRES Consortium membership fee is $8,000. SPIRES runs on IBM mainframes and compatibles under VM/CMS and MVS/TSO.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Call the SPIRES Consortium Office at (415) 725-1308, or send electronic mail to HQ.CON@STANFORD.BITNET

Uniquely Practical, Coherent, and Comprehensive

HUMAN ARRANGEMENTS

An Introduction to Sociology Second Edition

ALLAN G. JOHNSON
Hardcover,
784 pages (tentative)

AVAILABLE NOVEMBER 1988

Highly praised in its First Edition:

"superior organization to most introductory texts."

Jean H. Thoresen, Eastern Connecticut State Univ.

"(I) particularly liked the early interest in population."

Albert Friedman, Monmouth College

"This is one of the best sociology books I have seen!"

J. Poindexter, Prairie View A&M University

Refined and updated with a new chapter, new boxes, the latest census and General Social Survey data, and hundreds of new sources. Plan now to examine this groundbreaking introductory textbook.

HBJ Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Inc.
College Sales Office
7555 Caldwell Ave., Chicago, IL 60648
(312) 647-8822

Meetings, continued

December 14-16, International Conference on Drugs, Crime, and Social Control. University of Hong Kong. Contact: Harold Traver, Department of Sociology, University of Hong Kong, Pokfulam Road, Hong Kong.

December 27-29, American Association for Applied Linguistics/Linguistics Society of America Annual Meeting. Fairmont Hotel, New Orleans, LA. Theme: "The Acquisition and Assessment of Bilingual Language Ability." Contact: Margaret Reynolds, AAAL Membership Office, 1325 18th Street NW, Washington, DC 20036.

Funding

The Committee on Scholarly Communication with the People's Republic of China announces its 1989-90 National Program of Scholarly Exchanges with China. Three programs are included: (1) The Visiting Scholar Program supports one to three-month visits for American and Chinese scholars in all disciplines. Deadline for applications is November 15, 1988. (2) The Graduate Program supports individuals enrolled in a graduate program in social sciences or humanities to do coursework and dissertation research at a Chinese University. (3) The Research Program supports individuals who hold a PhD or equivalent to do in-depth research on China. The deadline for applications to the latter two programs is October 15, 1988. For application information, contact: Committee on Scholarly Communication with the People's Republic of China, National Academy of Sciences, 2101 Constitution Avenue, Washington, DC 20418.

The Council for International Exchange of Scholars announces the 1989-90 Fulbright scholar-in-Residence Program. Opportunities for American colleges and universities to host a visiting scholar from abroad are available. The program provides roundtrip travel, monthly maintenance, and allowances for travel, books, and services essential to the assignment. Host institutions are expected to share some costs in the form of supplementary funding and in-kind support such as housing. Deadline for receipt of proposals is November 1, 1988. Details are available from: CIES, 11 Dupont Circle NW, Suite 300, Washington, DC 20036-1257; (202) 939-5401.

The Fund for Research on Dispute Resolution invites applications for awards, totaling approximately $750,000-$800,000 each year, for research on dispute resolution. The next deadline for submission of concept papers is October 1, 1988. For a copy of the program announcement, contact: Fund for Research on Dispute Resolution, 1901 L Street NW, Suite 600, Washington, DC 20036. For more information regarding the program, contact: Robert Jones, Program Coordinator, at the same address or call (202) 785-4637.

The Institute for Advanced Study announces awards for postdoctoral research fellowships at the School of Social Science for 1989-90. During 1989-90, the School is examining "National Identity in Post-Colonial Third World States," but scholars whose work is relevant to any aspect of the human sciences are urged to apply. For information and application materials, write to: School of Social Science, Institute for Advanced Study, Olden Lane, Princeton, NJ 08540. All applications must be received by December 1, 1988.

The Institute of International Education will award 12 grants through the Fulbright Program in Japan. The awards will provide round-trip transportation, tuition, maintenance, and health and accident insurance. Only Masters and PhD candidates will be considered. Application deadline is October 31, 1988. Information is available from campus Fulbright Program advisors or from: IIE, 809 United Nations Plaza, New York, NY 10017.

The Judicial Fellows Commission invites applications for the 1989-90 Judicial Fellows Program. Fellows will spend a year, beginning September 1989, at the Supreme Court of the U.S. or the Federal Judicial Center in Washington, DC. Candidates should be familiar with the judicial system, have at least one postgraduate degree, and two or more years of successful professional experience. Stipends are based on salaries for comparable government work and fellows' salary histories, but will not exceed the GS15, step 3 level, presently $58,567. Information about the program and application procedures is available from: Vanessa Yarnall, Associate Director, Judicial Fellows Program, Supreme Court of the United States, Room 5, Washington, DC 20532; (202) 479-3374. Application materials should be submitted by November 15, 1988.

National Endowment for the Humanities, Interpretive Research Program of the Division of Research Programs, announces the annual application deadlines of October 1, 1988 for projects beginning on or after July 1, 1989, and October 15, 1989, for projects beginning on or after July 1, 1990. Funding is available for up to three years of collaborative research in any field in the humanities. Draft applications may be sent for staff comments until August 15, 1988. The Projects category is for collaborative research employing interpretive rather than qualitative methods. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dorothy Wartenberg or David Wise, Interpretive Research Program, Room 318 IR, National Endowment for the Humanities, Washington, DC 20506; (202) 786-0210. The Humanities, Science and Technology category supports collaborative research that draws on the theories and methods of the humanities to study current or historical issues in science and technology. For more information, write or call Daniel Jones or Elizabeth Arndt at the same address.

The National Institute on Aging invites grant applications for research on social, behavioral, and biological antecedents or consequences of the differences in life expectancy, health, functioning, and well-being of men and women as they grow old. For additional information, contact: Gender and Aging, Behavioral and Social Research, National Institute on Aging, Building 31, Room 5C32, Bethesda, MD 20892.

The Social Science Research Council offers a variety of opportunities for African researchers, individually or in teams, through the Project on African Agriculture. Applicants can come from any of three categories: recent graduates (Masters or equivalent); mid-career scholars at universities or research institutions; or professionals in government posts. Awards of three to twelve months will be made to support innovative projects involving training and research activities. For additional information, contact: Fellowship Program, Project on African Agriculture, Social Science Research Council, 605 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10158; (212) 661-0280.

The Society for Research in Child Development invites applications for 1989-90 Congressional Science Fellowships in Child Development, open to scientists and professionals at the postdoctoral level with interests in child development and public policy. Fellowship year begins September 1, 1989. Deadline for applications is November 7, 1988. Contact: Jeanette Goodstein or Barbro Miles, Washington Liaison Office, Society for Research in Child Development, 100 North Carolina Avenue SE, Washington, DC 20003; (202) 543-9582.

The Stanford Humanities Center will offer eight external fellowships for 1989-90, intended for postdoctoral scholars and teachers in the humanities, or those in other fields working on related projects, who would be interested in spending the academic year at Stanford. The fellowships are intended to enable fellows to pursue their own research and writing; recipients are expected, however, to devote about one-sixth of their time to teaching or contributing to intellectual life at Stanford. Deadline for applications is December 1, 1988. Additional information is available from: Morton Sosna, Associate Director, Stanford Humanities Center, Mariposa House, Stanford University, Stanford, CA 94305-8630.

Competitions

The Population Association of America invites pre- or post-doctoral graduate student papers for the 1989 Dorothy S. Thomas Award competition. The award is presented annually for the best paper submitted in the fields of internal migration or the interrelationships among social, economic, and demographic variables, areas of particular concern to Dr. Thomas. The award consists of a $1,500 prize and an appropriate certificate. Submissions should be 35 pages or fewer and based upon research undertaken while the author is a predoctoral graduate student. Individuals completing their doctoral program prior to January 1, 1988, are not eligible. Authors should send five copies of papers, along with a nominating letter from one of their research advisors, by January 15, 1989, to: Susan C. Watkins, Department of Sociology, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6298.

The Hebrew University of Jerusalem will award the eighth Yonina Talmon Prize for an article on kinship and the family, sociology of collective settlements, or the sociology of religion. The prize carries an award of $1,000. Manuscripts must be unpublished at the time of submission and must be written in either English or Hebrew. Authors may be up to ten years past the doctorate. Candidates should submit six copies of manuscripts by November 1, 1988, to: Yonina Talmon Prize, Chair, Department of Sociology, Hebrew University, Jerusalem 91904, Israel.

Contact

A scholar at the University of Sheffield, England, is looking for a U.S. base and some teaching for a Fall 1989 (possibly Spring 1990) sabbatical. Position and research interests include criminology, sociology of deviance, cultural studies, policing, youth, race and gender. Preferably eastern or western seaboard. Contact: Tony Jefferson, Centre for Criminological and Socio-Legal Studies, University of Sheffield, 432 Crookesmoor Road, Sheffield S10 1BL, England; (0742) 768555, x6816.

The May Issue of Footnotes carried a story about a conference on race and ethnic relations at Texas A&M. One of the organizers of the conference would like to form a network of people and groups who sponsor similar conferences. Anyone who knows about meetings on racial and ethnic issues, please contact: William P. Kuvlesky, Department of Sociology, Texas A & M University, College Station, TX 77843-4351, 1988. Contact: Jeanette Goodstein or Barbro Miles, Washington Liaison Office, Society for Research in Child Development, 100 North Carolina Avenue SE, Washington, DC 20003; (202) 543-9582.

The ASA Teaching Resources Center has two products that need revision. The revision process would take place during the 1988-89 academic year. ASA holds the copyright to the current documents so the revision may include as much of the original work as the editor feels is timely and appropriate. Additional material should be solicited and edited and the new editor can reshape the direction of the document with his/her own ideas. If you are interested in editing a revision of "Students with Reading/Writing Problems: Suggestions for Sociology Teachers" or "Teaching Demography: Syllabi and Instructional Materials", please contact: Carla B. Howerly, Director, Teaching Services Program, ASA, 1722 N Street NW, Washington, DC 20036. Please reply by September 1, 1988.

Texts, readings and other materials are sought for a course on "Sociology through Literature," using fiction and drama to teach fundamental concepts and ideas. Contact: John Gehm, Department of Sociology, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, IN 46556.

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Criminal Justice Program is beginning a research project focusing on "Minorities in the Juvenile Justice System." Part of the project involves compiling and evaluating the existing research literature focusing on the processing of minority youth through the juvenile justice system. A second phase is to identify policy and/or program initiatives focusing on the issue of fairness in juvenile processing. If you have any information in these areas or would like additional information on the program, contact: Carl E. Pope or William Feyerherm, Principle Investigators, Minorities in the Juvenile Justice System Grant, Criminal Justice Program, P.O. Box 786, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, WI 53201; (414) 229-6030/4851.

FOOTNOTEWORTHY BOOKS FROM PLENUM*

PLENUM STUDIES IN WORK AND INDUSTRY
Series Editors: Ivar Berg and Arne L. Kalleberg

INDUSTRIES, FIRMS, AND JOBS
Sociological and Economic Approaches edited by George Farkas and Paula England

0-306-42865-2/346 pp. + index
ill./1988/$39.50
text adoption price on orders of six or more copies: $24.50

MATERNAL EMPLOYMENT AND CHILDREN'S DEVELOPMENT
Longitudinal Research edited by

Adele Eskeles Gottfried and Allen W. Gottfried

0-306-42867-9/287 pp. + index
ill./1988/$34.50
text adoption price on orders of six or more copies: $24.50

ENSURING MINORITY SUCCESS IN CORPORATE MANAGEMENT
edited by Donna E. Thompson and Nancy DiTomaso

0-306-42944-6/378 pp. + index
ill./1988/$42.50
text adoption price on orders of six or more copies: $27.50

PUBLIC POLICY AND SOCIAL SERVICES
Series Editor: Gary Marx

DIVIDED OPPORTUNITIES
Minorities, Poverty, and Social Policy edited by Gary D. Sandefur and Marta Tienda

0-306-42876-8/268 pp. + index
ill./1988/$34.50
text adoption price on orders of six or more copies: $24.50

THE DIFFUSION OF MEDICAL INNOVATIONS
An Applied Network Analysis
by Mary L. Fennell and Richard B. Warnecke

0-306-42752-4/300 pp./ill./1988
$34.50
text adoption price on orders of six or more copies: $22.95

PERSPECTIVES ON DEVELOPMENT AND POPULATION GROWTH IN THE THIRD WORLD
by Ozzie G. Simmons

0-306-42941-1/264 pp. + index
ill./1988/$32.50
text adoption price on orders of six or more copies: $24.50

FAMILY AND SUPPORT SYSTEMS ACROSS THE LIFE SPAN

edited by Suzanne K. Steinmetz
0-306-42792-3/304 pp./ill./1988
$35.00
text adoption price on orders of six or more copies: $22.50

LATENT TRAIT AND LATENT CLASS MODELS
edited by Rolf Langeheine and Jürgen Rost

0-306-42727-3/328 pp./ill./1988
$45.00

Coming in 1989!
SOCIOLOGICAL FORUM
Official Journal of the Eastern Sociological Society
Editor: Robin M. Williams, Jr.

Volume 4, 1989 (4 issues)

THE LANGUAGE OF SCIENCE
Plenum
PUBLISHING CORPORATION

PLENUM PUBLISHING CORPORATION
233 Spring Street
New York, NY 10013-1578

*Please note that we're at booth 438!

People

Jeanne Ballantine, Wright State University, is the new chair of the Department of Sociology.

Panos D. Bardin was selected for inclusion in Biography International 5,000 Personalities of the World, and Directory of Distinguished Americans. In addition, he was invited to participate in meetings this summer and fall in Toronto, Taiwan, Malaysia, and Bulgaria.

Robert Bendiksen, University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse, is the new president of the Sociological Practice Association.

William F. Bengston, St. Joseph's College, will be a member of a delegation of criminologists visiting the Soviet Union as part of the Citizen Ambassador Program.

Georgette Bennett was the keynote speaker at the 1988 Annual Conference of the Criminal Justice Statistics Association, speaking on her book, Crime-warps: The Future of Crime in America.

Donald Bogue, University of Chicago, has retired after 36 years of service to the University. He was the former Associate Director of the Population Research and Training Center and founded and directed the Community and Family Study Center. He also founded and edited the journal Demography and has been a consultant to organizations throughout the world, including the Census Bureau, United Nations, and the World Health Organization.

Aubrey W. Bonnett, California State University-San Bernardino, was selected by Harvard University to attend its College Management Program during June-July.

Michael V. Carter, Carson-Newman College, was named to the new post of Associate Dean.

Andrew Cherlin, Johns Hopkins University, testified before the House Census and Population Subcommittee arguing against Office of Management and Budget plans to tamper with the 1990 Census questionnaire.

Sanford M. Dornbusch, Stanford University, will give an invited address at the 1988 American Psychological Association convention in Atlanta. He will speak on "Family Processes and School Achievement."

Claudine Dussert, American University, has joined three other persons in forming a corporation called "Strategies for Success." They will lead a series of seminars and workshops addressing issues raised by the latest developments in technology and management.

Erwin H. Epstein, University of Missouri-Rolla, has been appointed editor of the Comparative Education Review.

Barry Glassner has accepted the position of head of the Department of Sociology at the University of Connecticut, effective September.

Andrew Gordon, Northwestern University, is the University's new Associate Dean of the Graduate School.

Meredith Gould has joined Gillespie Public Relations, Inc. (Princeton, NJ) as Manager of Account Services.

Joan Vitek Hiller, Senior Program Evaluation Specialist for the State of Minnesota, testified on March 31 before the House Ways and Means Subcommittee on Public Assistance and Unemployment about the transition from foster care to self-sufficient adult living.

Dennis P. Hogan, Pennsylvania State University, has been named Director of the Population Issues Research Center, succeeding Gordon F. De Jong, who will continue to service as Director of Pennsylvania State's dual-title degree program in demography.

Howard B. Kaplan is now Professor of Sociology and holder of the Mary Marshall Professorship in Liberal Arts at Texas A&M University.

Elaine Stahl Leo, American University, was a funded participant and the only U.S. representative among scholars from 12 nations at the International Workshop on the Redesign of Working Time.

Margaret Mooney Marini has accepted a position as Professor of Sociology at the University of Minnesota.

Charles Maxson will serve as Acting Academic Dean for Grand Canyon College for the 1988-89 academic year.

David R. Meyer, Brown University, will be a Visiting Scholar at the Economic Growth Center, Yale University, for the 1988-89 academic year.

Edward Murguía, Trinity University (TX), has accepted a new position as Associate Research Professor at the Hispanic Research Center and Associate Professor in the Department of Sociology at Arizona State University.

Angela O'Rand, Duke University, and Harold Sheppard, University of South Florida, presented a seminar on "Older Workers in an Aging Society" for a COSSA sponsored breakfast on May 26.

Ruth Rubinstein, Fashion Institute of America, has been chosen to participate in a National Endowment for the Humanities Seminar on "Culture and Politics in Europe in the Era of the Liberal Crisis, 1880-1945."

Louise Shelley, American University, testified before the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Human Rights on May 4, 1988, about "The Status of Civil and Political Rights in the Soviet Union."

Stephen M. Shortell, Northwestern University, presented the Arthur Weissman Lecture at the University of California-Berkeley on April 20. He spoke on "The Evolution of Hospital Systems: Unfulfilled Promises and Self-fulfilling Prophecies."

Margaret Stafford, Cazenovia College, has prepared a new course on the sociology of dress and adornment. She will teach it as part of an overseas program in London and Bath.

Paul D. Starr, Auburn University, is the Chief of Party for the USAID-funded Haiti Agroforestry Project, in support of the community reforestation efforts of CARE and the Pan American Development Foundation.

Linda Brewster Stearns, Louisiana State University, has been awarded a Howard Foundation Fellowship. In addition, she was appointed Visiting Scholar at the Russell Sage Foundation for Fall 1988.

Richard Vandiver is now a Senior Staff Associate with the National Center for State Courts in North Andover, MA.

Gregory L. Weiss, Roanoke College, is the new editor of the Virginia Social Science Journal.

Caye Young has joined the sociology faculty at American University.

Mass Media

Michael Allen, Washington State University, was interviewed by a Los Angeles radio station about his book, The Founding Fortunes. The book was also reviewed in the New York Times and the Los Angeles Times.

Walter Allen, University of Michigan, had his research on racial discrimination cited in a New York Times article about racism on college campuses.

Carol Auster Gussman was featured in a New York Times article on women motorcyclists in the U.S.

Jomills Braddock, Johns Hopkins University, was cited in a June 23 Washington Post article about black enrollment in Maryland's Prince George's County.

Robert D. Bullard, University of Tennessee, had his research on "Blacks and the New South" featured in the February 5 Houston Chronicle. He was also quoted in a March 25 Greensboro News & Record article, "Decent Housing Scarce for Blacks."

Penelope Canan, University of Denver, was interviewed by two radio stations about her research on Strategic Lawsuits Against Public Participation.

Francesca Cancian had her book, Love in America, summarized in the April issue of Psychology Today. Her research on participatory research with working mothers was featured in a May 8 Register-Guard (Eugene, OR) article.

Meda Chesney-Lind, University of Hawaii-Manoa, had her research on child prostitutes reported in the April 5 Honolulu Star Bulletin. She was also cited in a March 18 Honolulu Advertiser article on clubs that do not allow women as full members.

Jeffrey Chin, Le Moyne College, was interviewed by WSTM-TV (Syracuse) on April 10 about crime on the city's east side.

Daniel Cornfield, Vanderbilt University, and Beth Rubin, Cornell University, were cited in a recent Beaumont, TX, Enterprise article on contingency plans by companies to operate plants in the event of a strike.

Don Dillman and Bud Langan, Washington State University, had their research on the increasing need for workers in the agricultural industry featured in the April 2-3 "Weekend" section of the Idahonian Daily News.

Russell Dobash and Rebecca Dobash, University of Stirling, Scotland, had their work featured in a television program, "Love, Honour, and Abuse."

Paul Eberts, Cornell University, had his research on building housing developments that mix low, moderate, and upper-level housing with small businesses featured in an Orange County Business Journal article.

Howard Ehrlich, National Institute Against Prejudice and Violence (Baltimore), was quoted in a front page New York Times article on April 17.

Cynthia Fuchs Epstein, City University of New York, was featured in an April 4 Wisconsin State Journal article.

Henry Etzkowitz, State University of New York-Purchase, was quoted in a New York Times article on ventures between businesses and university researchers.

John E. Farley, Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville, was interviewed concerning racial housing segregation by KMOX radio in St. Louis. He was quoted in the St. Louis Suburban Journal about his research on attitudes toward racial integration.

William Gibson, Southern Methodist University, was cited in a Omni article about his research on the "would-be warriors" who attend Soldier of Fortune conventions.

Michael Givant, Adelphi University, had his research on football "fanship" cited in the April 25 New York Times.

Barry Glassner, Hunter College and Syracuse University, was cited in a recent New York Times article titled "Smoking Becomes 'Deviant Behavior.'" He also authored a recent op-ed piece in the Times about Americans' preoccupation with health and fitness.

Anne Goetting, Western Kentucky University, and William Julius Wilson,

Continued on next page

Thank you,
ASA,
for remembering America's future:
our children

Wadsworth Publishing Company

(Cosponsors of the American Sociological Association's Childcare Program—a part of the 1988 ASA Convention in Atlanta)

WHEN YOU'RE READY FOR CATI...

Ci2·CATI
SYSTEM

Ci2 CATI is ready for you. Ci2 CATI is a PC-based computer-aided telephone interviewing system offering:

1. Full computer-aided interviewing
2. Call management
3. Quota control
4. Random-digit dialing
5. Incidence tracking
6. Interviewer productivity reporting
7. Remote monitoring

With Ci2 CATI you get responsive support, well-written documentation, at a price you can afford.

If you're ready for CATI, Ci2 CATI is ready for you. Call or write for a free demo disk.

Sawtooth Software

1007 Church St., Suite 302, Evanston, IL 60201 (312) 866-0870

Media, continued

University of Chicago, were cited in Life magazine's special spring issue on Black America.

Paul Goldstein, Narcotic and Drug Research, Inc., was quoted in a February 12 Science article on "AIDS and Drug Abuse: No Quick Fix."

Helen Gouldner, University of Delaware, and Mary Strong, Somerset, NJ, appeared on Baltimore's WJZ-TV "People are Talking" to discuss their new book, Speaking of Friendship: Middle Class Women and Their Friends.

Geoffrey Grief, University of Maryland, was interviewed by the Baltimore Sun about his book, Mothers Without Custody.

Robert Hampton, Connecticut College, was interviewed by WVIT-TV (Hartford) about his research and book on violence in the black family.

Diana K. Harris, University of Tennessee, was interviewed by the local ABC-TV station on May 22 on the topic of aging.

Marilyn Ihinger-Tallman, Washington State University, testified before the Washington State Senate Children and Family Services Committee about "Children in the Year 2000."

Philip Kasnitz, Williams College, was quoted in an April 15 New York Times article on Caribbean immigrants. He was also quoted in an April American Visions feature article on New York City ethnic politics.

Fred Koening, Tulane University, was interviewed and quoted in an Associate Press article about Mardi Gras.

Jeanne Kohl, Pacific Lutheran University, gave a commentary on President Reagan's veto of the Civil Rights Restoration Act on National Public Radio affiliate KPLU-FM on March 22. On March 31, she commented on the lesser media coverage of women's basketball in contrast to that of men's basketball.

Robert H. Lauer and Jeanette C. Lauer were interviewed by KOA radio (Denver) and featured in a San Diego Tribune article about their book, Til Death Do Us Part: How Couples Stay Together. They also had interviews and television appearances, including CNN's New Night, related to their new book, Watersheds: Mastering Life's Unpredictable Crises.

Helena Znaniecki Lopata, Loyola University of Chicago, had her research (with Judith Levy) featured in a April 3 Chicago Tribune article titled "Researcher Finds Suburbia Still Fascinates."

William Martin, Rice University, was on the TV show, "Nightline," on March 29, providing analysis and commentary on the fall of Jimmy Swaggart. He was also quoted in a Washington Post article on televangelism.

Winifred McCarthy-Don, Lyndon State College, had her dissertation research featured in an April 13 Weekly News article.

Lisa McIntyre, Washington State University, was interviewed by National Public Radio in Chicago about her book, The Public Defender: The Practice of Law in the Shadow of Justice.

Neil McKeganey, University of Glasgow, was quoted in a cover story on AIDS in the Health Section of the May 3 Washington Post.

Murray Melbin, Boston University, has been interviewed, cited, and featured in numerous newspapers and radio programs about his book, Night as Frontier.

Ramdas Menon, Texas A&M University, was cited in an April 14 Wall Street Journal article on arranged marriages among ethnic groups in the U.S.

Ashakant Nimbark, Dowling College, was quoted in a March 13 New York Daily News article on the trend toward moderation in exercise.

Erdman Parmore and Joseph DiBona, Duke University, were quoted in a New York Times article on campus protest demands for more minority faculty.

Barbara Risman, North Carolina State University, had her research on "Men Who Mother" featured in the April issue of Vogue.

Dmitri N. Shalin, Southern Illinois State University, authored a February 26 St. Louis Post-Dispatch article on "Democracy in the Hands of the People." He also authored a March 22 Los Angeles Times article on Soviet protests and demonstrations since Gorbachev's glasnost.

Allan Silver, Columbia University, was quoted in a May 15 New York Times magazine article on the twentieth anniversary of the student uprising at Columbia.

Julia Szalai, Hungarian Academy of Sciences, was cited in a May 16 New York Times article on organized opposition to the Communist Party.

Diane E. Taub, Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, was interviewed on two programs of "Nutrition for Life," Cablevision channel 33. She discussed the sociocultural aspects of anorexia nervosa and bulimia.

Verta Taylor, Ohio State University, had her book, Survival in the Doldrums: The American Women's Rights Movement, 1945 to the 1960s (co-authored with Leila Rupp), featured in a February 14 Chicago Times article. She was quoted in an April 8 Florida Lake City Reporter article the community impact of the Ted Bundy murders. She was also the subject of two National Public Radio interviews on postpartum depression and household labor by sex.

Barrie Thorne, University of Southern California, had her research cited in a March 22 Los Angeles Times article on the "Demise of the Tomboy."

Jackson Toby, Institute for Criminological Research, appeared on a one-hour special on education on June 6 (WWOR-TV, New York), a result of five articles on education he authored for the Wall Street Journal.

Michael Useem, Boston University, was quoted in the May 17 New York Times on his study, "Liberal Education and Corporate America."

Barry Van Driel, University of California-Santa Cruz and University of Nijmegen; Adri v.d. Wurff, University of Amsterdam; and Frieda Vreeman, University of Nijmegen, were interviewed by various national and local radio stations in the Netherlands and quoted in several newspapers regarding their research on public support for citizen patrols in the Netherlands.

Joshua M. Weiner, Brookings Institution, had his research on federal insurance for health care for the elderly featured in a May 9 Newsweek article.

Merry White, Boston University, was quoted in a May 9 Newsweek article on the stress encountered by Japanese workers and families in the U.S.

Awards

Judith Auerbach, University of California-Los Angeles, is one of four 1988-89 Congressional Science Fellows sponsored by the society for Research in Child Development.

Peter Benokos and Andrea DeCarbo were honored by the University of Akron as the outstanding graduate and undergraduate student, respectively, at the department's AKDB banquet in April.

Meda Chesney-Lind, University of Hawaii, was named one of "Ten Who Made a Difference in 1987" by the Honolulu Star-Bulletin for her work in the criminal justice system to protect the rights of sexually abused women.

Kerry Chevalier of Belpre, OH, received the ASA Award for Excellence in Social Science Research presented at the Ohio Academy of Sciences State Science Day on April 23 at Ohio Wesleyan University. Professor Jan Smith of the Department of Sociology made the award to Kerry, who was selected from a number of high school students. The award is given annually for a study of social interaction that draws in a significant way on a sociological concept.

Adele Clarke has received an American Council of Learned Societies travel grant award to attend the meeting of the Society for Social Studies of Science/European Association for the Study of Science and Technology.

Susan Cozzens has received an American Council of Learned Societies travel grant award to attend the Study of Science and Technology in the 1990s meeting.

Glen H. Elder, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, and William Julius Wilson, University of Chicago, are among 83 newly elected members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Wlodzimierz Wesolowski, Polish Academy of Sciences, was elected a Foreign Honorary Member.

William H. Frey, University of Michigan, has been named the Population Reference Bureau's Andrew W. Mellon Foundation Visiting Scholar for the fall term.

Lisa Fuentes has received an American Council of Learned Societies travel grant award to attend the 46th International Congress of Americanists.

Maryjoyce Green, Cleveland State University, received the North Central Sociological Association's Aida Tomeh Award for Distinguished Service.

Robert Gutman, Princeton University and Rutgers University, received an applied research award in the 35th annual awards program sponsored by Progressive Architecture magazine.

Karen V. Hansen, University of California-Berkeley, received a fellowship from the American Antiquarian Society to work on "The Social Dimension of Laborers' Lives, 1810-1860."

Gregory Harris, Florida A&M University, and Lee Pardue, Mars Hill College, were among 13 students selected by the Gerontological Society of American to participate in the Student Fellowship Program in Applied Gerontology.

At the postdoctoral level, the following persons will work in summer placements under GSA awards: Janice Bastlin Normoyle, University of Notre Dame; Karen Denton, ASPIRES/Sociological Planning, Information, and Research; Julia Hall, Drexel University; Eleanor Krassen Mazwell, University of North Carolina-Wilmington; and Steven P. Wallace, University of Misssouri-St. Louis.

David Hyllegard, City University of New York; Mary N. Kolb, University of North Carolina; Angela Valenzuela, Stanford University; and Carol J. Ward, University of Chicago, received Spencer Dissertation Year Fellowships from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

Judith Liu, University of San Diego, was named the Outstanding Faculty Member for 1987-88. She also was awarded a travel grant from the Henry Luce Foundation.

Val Moghadam has received an American Council of Learned Societies travel grant award to attend the International Conference on Socialism in the World.

Ewa Morawska, University of Pennsylvania, has been appointed a member of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton for the 1988-89 academic year.

David Reisman, Harvard University, received an honorary doctorate of letters degree from Skidmore College in recognition of his work on social behavior and his leadership in higher education.

Matilda White Riley received the 1988 Ollie Randall Award for Distinguished Contributions in Gerontology at the annual meeting of the Northeastern Gerontological Society.

Morris Rosenberg, University of Maryland, and Peter B. Evans, University of New Mexico and University of California-San Diego, received Guggenheim Foundation Fellowships for 1988-89.

Michael L. Schwalbe received the 1987 Theory Prize from the Journal for the Theory of Social Behavior for his article, "Mead Among the Cognitivists."

Laure Sharp, Bureau of Social Science Research, received the Stuart A. Rice Award from the District of Columbia

Continued on next page

MacATI™

Macintosh Assisted Telephone Interviewing

•

Professional Survey
Research Tools

•

Developed by and for Survey Researchers

The premier CATI system for the Macintosh™ • questionnaire editor, utilities package, and fielder • automatic phone dialing, appointments, & statistics • use at either individual workstations or network with AppleTalk™ and MacServe™ or AppleShare™ • much easier to learn, setup and run than other CATI systems • used in tens of thousands of surveys throughout the nation • free upgrades for one year following date of purchase • university discounts

Complete package with software for two interview stations - $795; 3-10 stations $2,195; 11-20 $3,795; 21 - $5,000.

Coming soon -- IPSS™ - Interactive Population Statistical System for the Macintosh. Demographic analysis package for applied demographers, population specialists, planners, and educators.

PSRC Software
Population and Society Research Center • BGSTU
Bowling Green, Ohio 43403 • (419)372-2497

Trademarks: MacATI, IPSS-PSRC Software, Macintosh, AppleTalk, AppleShare-Apple Co. Inc., MacServe-InfoSphere.

sociological abstracts

DELIVERS:

- Time saving access to and comprehensive coverage of 1,600 of the world's serials in sociology and discipline-related journals.
- IRPS — a complete bibliography of book reviews from the English and non-English language journals sa abstracts, as well as detailed book abstracts.
- Social Planning/Policy & Development Abstracts (SOPODA) — covering applied sociology and the social problems-oriented literature.
- sociofile — presenting abstracts of the serial literature added to the sa database since 1974 and recent dissertation citations, on a CD-ROM with SilverPlatter's user-friendly software.
- Copies of those difficult-to-find original articles and conference papers from sa's document delivery service.
- A training program tailored to the needs of sociologists and social science researchers.

sociological abstracts, inc.

P.O. Box 22206
San Diego, CA 92122 U.S.A.
(619) 565-6603

Awards, continued

Sociological Society for her contributions to DCSS and her excellent work in sociological practice.

Roberta Simmons, University of Minnesota, and Denton E. Morrison, Michigan State University, were elected fellows of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Nancy Stein and Richard Stanville, Normandale Community College, received a Fulbright-Hays group study grant to study, lecture, and do research in Thailand.

Verta Taylor received the Ohio State University Alumni Award for Distinguished Teaching.

Deborah Tootle, University of Georgia, received a Woodrow Wilson Rural Policy Fellowship.

John E. Tropman, University of Michigan, received the School of Education's Wilbur J. Cohen Award.

Bruce Weigand, American University, was awarded a Fulbright grant to teach at the University College of Belize.

William Julius Wilson, University of Chicago, received the North Central Sociological Association Distinguished Scholar Award for his book, The Truly Disadvantaged.

The Wisconsin Sociological Association has renamed its teaching award "The WSA Hans Mauksch Teaching Award" in honor of the contributions Mauksch has made to teaching sociology and his past affiliations with the Milwaukee and Parkside campuses of the University of Wisconsin.

New Books

Barry D. Adam, The Rise of a Gay and Lesbian Movement (G.K. Hall & Company, 1987).

Margaret L. Andersen, University of Delaware, Thinking About Women: Sociological Perspectives on Sex and Gender, second edition (Macmillan, 1988).

Joseph Raphael Blasi, California Polytechnic University, Employee Ownership: Revolution or Ripoff? (Ballinger Publishing Company, 1988).

Samuel R. Brown, Finding the Source in Sociology and Anthropology: A Thesaurus-Index to the Reference College (Greenwood Press, 1987).

Robert D. Bullard, University of Tennessee, Invisible Houston: The Black Experience in Boom and Bust (Texas A&M University Press, 1987).

Francesca Cancian, University of California-Irvine, Love in America: Gender and Self-Development (Cambridge University Press, 1987).

V.R. Cardozier, University of Texas-Austin, American Higher Education: An International Perspective (Gower Publishing Company-England, 1987).

Randall Collins, Sociological Theory (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1988).

Francesco Cordasco, Montclair State College, The New American Immigration: Evolving Patterns of Legal and Illegal Emigration. A Bibliography of Selected References (Garland Publishing, 1987).

Thomas Deitz, George Mason University, The Risk Professionals, co-authored with Robert W. Rycroft (Russell Sage Foundation).

Caroline Matheny Dillman, Reinhardt College, editor, Southern Women (Hemisphere Publishing Corporation, 1988).

Mary L. Fennell, Pennsylvania State University, and Richard B. Warnecke, University of Illinois-Chicago, The Diffusion of Medical Innovations: An Applied Network Analysis (Plenum Publishing Corporation, 1988).

Urs Gattiker and Laurie Larwood, editors, Technological Innovation and Human Resources, Volume I—Managing Technological Development: Strategic and Human Resource Issues (Walter de Gruyter, 1988).

James William Gibson, Southern Methodist University, The Perfect War: The War We Couldn't Lose or How We Did (Vintage Books, 1988).

Francis B. Harrold and Raymond A. Eve, editors, Civil Archaeology and Creationism: Understanding Pseudoscientific Beliefs about the Past (University of Iowa Press, 1987).

Marvin R. Koller, Humor and Society: Explorations in the Sociology of Humor (Cap and Gown Press, 1988).

Robert E. Kraut, Bell Communications Research, Technology and the Transformation of White-Collar Work (Lawrence Erlbaum Associates, 1986).

Pat N. Lackey, Invitation to Tocotoc Parsons' Theory (Cap and Gown Press, 1988).

Monty L. Lynn, Abilene Christian University, and David O. Moberg, Marquette University, editors, Research in the Social Scientific Study of Religion (JAI Press, 1988).

Anthony R. Mawson, Louisiana State University Medical Center, Transient Criminality: A Model of Stress-Induced Crime (Praeger Publishers, 1987).

Judith Marcus, Georg Lukacs and Thomas Mann: A Study in the Sociology of Literature (1988).

George McCarthy, Kenyon College, Marx' Critique of Science and Positivism: Methodological Foundations of Political Economy (Kluwer Academic Publishers, 1988).

Stjepan G. Mestrovic, Lander College, Emile Durkheim and the Reformation of Sociology (Rowman and Littlefield, 1988).

Afsaneh Najmabadi, Laud Reform and Social Change in Iran (University of Utah Press, 1988).

J. Zvi Namenwirth and Robert Philip Weber, Dynamics of Culture (Allen & Unwin, 1987).

Gilbert D. Nass, University of Connecticut, and Mary Pat Fisher, Sexuality Today (Jones and Bartlett Publishers, 1988).

Carolyn C. Perrucci, Robert Perrucci, Dena B. Targ, and Harry R. Targ, Purdue University, Plant Closings: International Context and Social Costs (Aldine de Gruyter, 1988).

Frances Fox Piven and Richard A. Cloward, Why Americans Don't Vote (Pantheon Books, 1988).

Mostafa Rejai and Kay Phillips, Miami University-Ohio, Loyalists and Revolutionaries: Political Leaders Conspired (Praeger Publishers, 1988).

Thomas Robbins, Cults, Converts and Charisma: The Sociology of New Religious Movements (Sage Publications-London, 1988).

Marilynn M. Rosenthal, University of Michigan, Health Care in the People's Republic of China: Moving Toward Modernization (Westview Press, 1987).

Mark O. Rousseau, University of Nebraska-Omaha (co-author), Regionalism and Regional Devolution in Comparative Perspective (Praeger Publishers, 1987).

Stephen M. Shortell and Arnold D. Kaluzny, Health Care Management: A Text in Organization Theory and Behavior, second edition (John Wiley & Sons, 1988).

Charles U. Smith, editor, The Civil Rights Movement in Florida and the United States: Contemporary Perspectives (Loiry Publishing House, 1988).

Barry Wellman and S.D. Berkowitz, editors, Social Structures: A Network Approach (Cambridge University Press, 1988).

Doris Y. Wilkinson, University of Kentucky, and Marvin B. Sussman, University of Delaware, editors, Alternative Health Maintenance and Healing Systems for Families (Haworth Press, 1988).

THE BASS SYSTEM™

BASS INSTITUTE

```
DATA WTSTUDY ;
  INFILE WTSHTS ;
  LENGTH SEX $ 1 ;
  INPUT AGE 1-8 @ 10 SEX $ @ 20 HEIGHT WEIGHT 30-37 ;
  FORMAT AGE 5.0 HEIGHT WEIGHT 6.0 ;
```

```
PROC GLM DATA=WTSTUDY ; CLASS SEX ;
  MODEL WEIGHT = HEIGHT AGE SEX ;
```

We ran this program two different ways on the same machine.

SAS/PC* (the competition) took 2 minutes 52 seconds, 640K, and 8.5 Meg of disk space. It costs $370 the first year, plus $190 per year thereafter.

The BASS SYSTEM* (our product) took 25 seconds, 384K, and 1.2 Meg of disk space. It costs $299 one time, with occasional updates at $35.

Both methods got essentially the same answers, produced similar printed output and produced similar log files. We used a 16 MHz 80386 computer equipped with an 80387 and a hard disk. No special cache or other memory resident programs were used. We used SAS/PC version 6.03 and The BASS SYSTEM version 88.10. The dataset had one thousand observations.

You're a professional data analyst—you analyze these numbers and decide. We'd like to help. Call or write for information, or, better yet, let us send you The BASS SYSTEM on 90 day approval.

*BASS and The BASS SYSTEM are trademarks of BASS Institute. SAS and SAS/PC are trademarks of SAS Institute Inc.

Name _____

Title _____

Company _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip Code _____

Phone Number _____

BASS INSTITUTE, INC. P.O. BOX 349 CHAPEL HILL, NC 27514

Deaths

Harold Feldman, Cornell University (emeritus), died on May 11 in New Orleans.

Nicholas Mullins, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, died on July 5.

Wai-Ying, Indiana University, died in November 1987.

Obituaries

Irving Goldaber
(-1988)

Irving Goldaber died on January 30, 1988. A product of New York sociology, he was an undergraduate at Brooklyn College and a student in sociology at Columbia. He moved on to the School of Human Relations at New York University after discovering that for him the justification for becoming a sociologist was to be able to apply the insights of the field to practical social problems. Had he stayed fulltime in the university he would certainly have distinguished himself as a theorist of conflict. While still a student at Columbia he devised a set of categories making it possible to apply quantitative measures to the study of that central social process. His first professional job was at the Mayor's Committee on Human Relations, beginning his lifelong commitment to the eradication of racial prejudice.

Dr. Goldaber's precociousness was not confined to developing techniques for measuring conflict. He was among the first, if not the first, practitioner to develop, as far back as 1972, the negotiation approach to the rescue of hostages. So successful was that technique that he was asked to teach annually at the conference of the Chiefs of Police—this despite or because of the fact that his technique obviated the necessity for calling in the police or anyone else in uniform. With his characteristic insistence on fairness to both sides of a confrontation, Irving developed a model of resolution that sought to eliminate the notion that one side to a controversy had lost.

Again, he was one of the first to discern that spectators at a sporting event constituted a potentially violent, indeed deadly, force and to realize that a central feature of human civilization was in jeopardy. In that connection and with his typical optimism that social pathologies could be cured, he worked with officials of the National Football League, Major League Baseball, the Kentucky Derby and the Indianapolis 500 motor car race to develop techniques of crowd control. The fact that we have not yet had the deadly outrages that have marred athletic events in other parts of the world may not have been entirely due to his efforts; but it is true that Goldaber was virtually alone among our colleagues in sociology to apply the lessons of collective behavior to life threatening social situations.

Irving was determined that the techniques he developed for resolving what were often ugly confrontations should not die with him. He always found time for the classroom and was an adjunct professor at Brooklyn College for many years. He also recruited and trained a number of practitioners who worked alongside or who went out on their own when there was a run of prison riots, hostage taking and other such clashes. They all subscribed to Irving's insistence that these things do not happen by chance, that grievances must be heard and the aggrieved be treated fairly.

It should be obvious that Irving Goldaber's strongest trait was courage. No matter how dangerous the situation, no matter the risks to his own safety, he always answered the call. And there he was, smiling and optimistic, convinced that something decent could be worked out.

Sidney H. Aronson, Brooklyn College and the Graduate Center of the City University of New York

John W. Hudson
(1926-1988)

On Friday, April 1, 1988, John Hudson and his guide dog, Hobo, took an evening stroll near their home in Scottsdale, AZ. Despite the fact that John was wearing a reflective vest equipped, front and back, with flashing strobe lights, master and his dog were struck down by a motorist. Early the next day John died. The injured Hobo ran off, but later crawled back and died at the scene of the accident.

Perhaps I will be forgiven a purely personal observation when I point out that it has taken me six weeks to write the above lines. Each time I have tried to say what needed saying, I have felt I could not proceed. The reason is that for the last thirty-some years, John and I have described one another as "best friends." As such, we have been more than colleagues. We have been inseparable companions who have sustained one another through tragedies such as the deaths of friends and relatives, through political battles, and through academic disasters and triumphs.

It strikes me that there is a sociological point (idea? hypothesis?) suggested by what I have been saying. It is this: Of all the types of primary group members, a surviving best friend is the most vulnerable when it comes to finding a substitute for a lost counterpart. A widowed or widower spouse can often find another partner within a relatively brief period of time. The grief occasioned by the loss of a child can at least be tempered by the arrival of a new offspring. But there is no adequate compensation for one who loses a truly best friend. Such a companion is a product of long development, of shared experiences and values, of deepened appreciation, and of growing affection. So, give me another three decades and I may perhaps find a substitute for John Hudson. But I doubt it.

John was unique in countless ways. Blinded in a basketball accident when he was thirteen, he never let his loss of sight block him in any significant way. He was an academic whiz, obtaining his sociology bachelor's, master's, and doctorate degrees in short order at Ohio State University. He taught at Merrill Palmer Institute and Wayne State University in Detroit, and in 1964 began a long tenure at Arizona State. His publications include a couple dozen research articles and a book, Courtship and Marriage in America (with two colleagues).

But John Hudson's gifts to "the academy" were not confined to his research and writing activities. Just as important were his singular ability to: (1) handle very large classes, ranging up to as many as 450 students at a time; and (2) use the sociological subject matter of the class—any subject, any class—as a vehicle for teaching students how to think rationally and live creatively. About 20,000 students, it is estimated, have benefited from such incomparable guidance. Alas, no more.

John is survived by the multitudes who loved and admired him, including his wife Karen, his five living children, and his colleagues/friends.

Thomas Ford Houli, Arizona State University

Maurice Jackson
(1925-1987)

Maurice Jackson passed away on December 11, 1987 at age 62, leaving behind many friends, colleagues, and loved ones, as well as a legacy for sociology. Maurice passed away as he lived: with strength, courage, and dignity. A model for all who face difficult or oppressive situations wishing to emerge with their humanity intact, he refused to be either defeated or dehumanized by racism. Maurice's success enriched our lives.

Professor of Sociology and Chair of Ethnic Studies at the University of California, Riverside, Maurice's major contributions and commitment to the academic community are clearly reflected in many public testimonials: articles in The Press Enterprise of Riverside, California; the Maurice Jackson Endowed Scholarship through the University of California-Riverside Foundation; the University of California-Riverside Academic Senate Memorial in the Riverside Division's Call to Meeting; and the ASA Award at its 1988 Annual Meeting in Atlanta for outstanding contributions in helping to develop the Minority Fellowship Program (MFP) in his role as the Association's first Executive Specialist for Race and Minority Relations. The Memorial Service in January, 1988 was truly a remarkable occasion.

A large number of colleagues, friends, and relatives gathered for this service. One speaker after another gave testimony to Maurice's influence and inspiration.

Maurice had a quality not seen often enough in the academy. Frequently the first to step forward to greet a newcomer with a friendly gesture and invitation to share ideas and projects, this warm and collegial spirit was highly appreciated by those at UCLA where Maurice studied as well as at the University of California-Riverside, where his career evolved and at ASA, where he spent a year. Indeed, his witty and wise observations, great sense of humor, and consistent support proved invaluable to those in need of good advice.

Maurice's background was complex and significant to his sociological interests. Carla, his wife, noted at the Memorial that Maurice was raised on a 200-acre, 18th-century farm in a white upper-class neighborhood in Cincinnati, Ohio. He graduated as valedictorian from an all-white high school, where he experienced daily incidences of racism. His first organized protest was during World War II, when he refused to leave the white officers' club at the Tuskegee Air Base. In the segregated Army Air Force of that time, Maurice risked court-martial, along with other black officers. All were cross examined by the commanding officer and placed under house arrest for a month. But after writing the President and Secretary of War, their struggle was victorious and the white officers' club was integrated. As a result of his courageous actions, Maurice was literally among the very first civil rights activists emerging from World War II. This struggle became the subject matter of a book.

These experiences led to a lifetime of involvement in the struggle for social justice and, fortunately for sociology, to a parallel involvement in the discipline. He authored, co-authored, or edited numerous publications, among them Aging in America: Implications for the Black Age; Social Movements: Development, Participation, and Dynamics; Race and Ethnic Relations: Cross-Cultural Perspectives; and numerous articles in journals and other professional periodicals. His recent work, Internal Colonialism in the United States: Selected Readings (in press) will be published soon.

Maurice served the profession extensively. Among his duties as ASA Executive Specialist for Race and Minority Relations, he was instrumental in developing and writing the proposal to NIMH that initially funded the Minority Fellowship Program in 1974; he became its first director. He also edited a new series in Footnotes, a column on developments in race and ethnic issues, both within the ASA and generally. Maurice continued to be a strong supporter of the MFP after he left the ASA, serving several times on the Program's fellow selection committee and in an advisory capacity to its various directors.

Maurice also was Chair of the Section on Racial and Ethnic Minorities of the ASA, Chair of the Committee on the Status of Minorities of the Pacific Sociological Association, founding Chair of the Department of Black Studies at University of California-Riverside, Vice President of The National Council on the Aging, Co-Director of a Symposium on Race Relations in Cape Town, South Africa, and a Member of the Board of Directors of the Association of Black Sociologists. These and countless other professional activities indicate the degree to which Maurice's insights and contributions shaped social decision making.

In these and many other ways Maurice left a major impact on sociology, his many friends, and admirers. We all have been enriched by him. With Carla, we all will miss Maurice tremendously. We feel very fortunate to have been close to such an exceedingly brilliant and loving man.

James Woods, San Diego State University

John E. Mayer
(1921-1988)

John E. Mayer, a sociologist who conducted studies of family life and the work of psychiatrists and social workers, died of a heart attack on January 15, 1988 while vacationing in Santa Barbara, California. His permanent residence was in Center Sandwich, New Hampshire. In 1977 he moved there from New York City after retiring from the faculty of the Department of Psychiatry at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Yeshiva University where he chaired the Social Science Section. He also held an appointment as Research Scientist at the Bronx Psychiatric Center.

Continued on next page

New From The World Bank

World Development Report 1988

- Opportunities and Risks in Managing the World Economy
- Public Finance in Development
- World Development Indicators (also available on diskette)

Social Indicators of Development

The World Bank invites all ASA members to visit booth #106 and receive a free copy of the 1988 Update to the World Bank Atlas 1987.

EXPERT SAMPLING

EX-SAMPLE 1.4: An artificial intelligence program. Computes sample size for comparing means, proportions, one-way ANOVA, contingency tables, regression, path analysis, correlations, log-linear models, factor analysis, LISREL. . . . Compares with maximum sample size given time, money, personnel. Adjusts for response rates, contamination, and exclusions. FEATURES: help screens, change/rerun, ASCII text file report.

IBM compatibles, 30-day guarantee, $195 +$5 shipping (50% educ discount). Call for quantity discounts.	<input type="checkbox"/> 5 1/4" <input type="checkbox"/> 3 1/2"	Number copies:
	<input type="checkbox"/> Check <input type="checkbox"/> VISA <input type="checkbox"/> M/C
Card #	Name:
	Signature:
	Shipping Address:

The German Marshall Fund

The German Marshall Fund of the United States offers grants for research that seeks to improve the understanding of significant contemporary economic, political, and social developments involving the U.S. and Western Europe. Projects should establish the potential importance of their findings either by comparative analysis of a specific issue in more than one country or by an exploration of that issue in a single country in ways that can be expected to have relevance for other countries. Applicants must have completed all degree requirements and should have completed one or more research projects which have received critical review. Usually the research experience will have focused on Europe but, assuming adequate previous preparation, experts on U.S. topics may apply for work on their subject in Europe. Fellowships are intended to allow recipients to work on research full-time. Within a fixed maximum ($28,000) the fellowship will help meet, but cannot exceed, the recipient's current income. Completed applications must be post-marked no later than November 15, 1988. For application forms and additional information, contact: The German Marshall Fund of the United States, 11 Dupont Circle, Washington, DC 20036; (202) 745-3950.

Obituaries, continued

Some academicians remain restless throughout their career. They question their choice of profession and second-guess themselves about the subjects they select to study. John Mayer never tortured himself in these ways. He was happy being a sociologist. He loved doing sociology, striving to perfect his craft, working hard to be a good sociologist. Any discontent he experienced resulted from pressing up against the limits of his ability to find the right word, to fashion a satisfying sentence, to finish writing a fully-realized paragraph. He was a meticulous researcher, carefully formulating an interview schedule, spending hours testing the proper posing of a question, then fiddling with its appropriate placement. Modest, a dedicated craftsman, John was open to suggestions, always ready at the eleventh hour once again to unfreeze a seemingly finished document.

John earned an undergraduate degree at Yale and served in the Army during World War II. He received his doctorate from Columbia in 1956. The Free Press published his dissertation, Jewish-Gentile Courtships in 1961. It is a qualitative study examining the dynamics of change. Using focused interviews, John was able to discover the social mechanisms to which acquaintances resort and that allow them to set aside initially unfavorable attitudes, eventually replacing these with highly favorable ones. He was also interested in exploring the clash of perspective between patients and members of the practicing professions—between clients and social workers, mental patients and counselors.

The Client Speaks: Working-Class Impressions of Casework, a qualitative study conducted in London with Noel Timms as co-author, was a pioneering effort to make manifest the latent expectations of working-class and middle-class clients in contrast to those of social workers. He was one of the first investigators to undertake a systematic study of the view of working-class clients, particularly their views about the value of direct advice-giving by social workers.

While at Bronx Psychiatric Center, John also conducted a series of qualitative and quantitative studies describing the social life of mental patients, granting a respectful hearing to their explanation of events, how they construed the reasons accounting for admission to a mental hospital, how they assessed the resources contributing most to their recovery, how they viewed the purpose of outpatient services, and their rational reasons for wanting to be readmitted to a mental hospital. These seminal studies were published in numerous psychiatric and social work journals in England and the United States.

After retiring, John retained his membership in the ASA and continued to read sociology. His most recent interest was the sociology of peace and war. Tennis was a lifelong passion. In retirement he developed a new interest in gardening, rising to the intellectual challenge of successfully raising and marketing melons and shiitake mushrooms, plants considered too difficult to grow in the cold climate of New Hampshire.

John is survived by his wife, Dale; a daughter, Ellen, of Cambridge, Massachusetts (who followed in his footsteps as a sociologist); three sons—Andrew, of Santa Monica, California; Donald and Douglas, of Somerville, Massachusetts; and a granddaughter, Geneva Pittman, of Cambridge.

Aaron Rosenblatt, Rockefeller College/State University of New York-Albany

Louis Anthony Zurcher
(1936-1987)

Louis Anthony Zurcher, Jr. died suddenly after an operation for cancer on December 10, 1987. He is sorely missed by his family, his many colleagues, students and friends.

Lou grew up in San Francisco and attended a Jesuit High School. His penchant for organization, and his extraordinary talent for composing his ideas orally bear witness to that educational experience. Upon graduation he enlisted in the Navy for four years. Leaving the life of a sailor for that of an academic, he nevertheless maintained a life-long commitment to the Navy through the Reserves. At the time of his death he had achieved the rank of Captain, and had devoted a significant portion of his academic career effort to the Navy and military life.

He received a PhD in psychology from the University of Arizona in 1965. Although his doctorate was in psychology, Lou's dissertation—a cross-cultural study of value orientation, role conflict, and alienation—was already pointing toward sociology and the application of social science knowledge. Postdoctoral research at the Menninger Foundation led to his first two books, From Dependence to Dignity and Poverty Warriors.

In 1968 he joined the department of sociology at the University of Texas at Austin. Lou impressed his colleagues and students with his enthusiasm, creativity, self-confidence, and deeply felt concern for others. He was an engaging and challenging teacher, a prodigious researcher, and a spirited and sensitive colleague who quickly assumed leadership roles in the department, university and profession. Lou was promoted to full professor in 1973 and became acting chair of the department of sociology the following year. In his many administrative posts over the course of his career, including Associate Dean of Graduate Studies at Texas, Associate University Provost and Dean of the Graduate School at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, Interim and then Acting Dean of the School of Social Work at Texas, Lou won praise from students, faculty and administrators.

At any one point in time, Lou held leadership positions in more than a half dozen organizations. He was President of the Society for the Study of Symbolic Interaction at the time of his death. Since 1979 he also creatively and distinctively edited the Journal of Applied Behavioral Sciences. Over the past two decades, he served on the editorial boards of 13 journals.

In spite of these heavy demands on his time and energy, he established close personal and professional relationships with hundreds of students, was honored for his teaching excellence, and continued research and writing at a pace which, since 1963, yielded 16 books and 90 journal articles and book chapters. In 1983 he achieved the distinction of being appointed Ashbel Smith Professor at the University of Texas at Austin.

Lou's scholarly works characterize an extraordinary range and breadth and include seminal contributions to the social psychology and social movements literature. His sustained contributions and major interests revolve around the most important concepts of social psychology: self and role. The entire social world in which he found himself was his laboratory for the study of social interaction, and for finding how to help others experience self-fulfillment.

Lou Zurcher's legacy lies not only in his written works which will continue to be read in the future, but also in those of us—his colleagues and students—who he encouraged not only to interpret the social world, but to make it better.

Charles M. Bonjean, University of Texas-Austin

R. George Kirkpatrick, San Diego State University

David A. Snow, University of Arizona
Michael R. Wood, Hunter College, City University of New York

Other Organizations

Alpha Kappa Delta announces its officers for 1988-89: James K. Skipper (University of North Carolina-Greensboro), President-Elect; Candace Clark (Montclair State University), Vice-President; Mark Hutter (Glassboro State), Region II Representative; Christopher Sieverdes (Clemson University), Region IV Representative; Kay Mueller (Baylor University), Region VI Representative; James Larson (University of North Dakota), Region VII Representative; and Eric Jensen (University of Idaho), Region X Representative. Other officers will be Donald Shoenker (Virginia Polytechnic University), President; Michael Malac (Boston College), Past President; Wayne Seelbach (Lamar University), Secretary-Treasurer; Dennis Pock (University of Alabama), editor of Sociological Inquiry; Donna Darden (University of Arkansas), newsletter editor; and Dudley Poston (University of Texas-Austin), American Collegiate Honor Society representative.

The European Community Studies Association was founded in March 1988 as a result of a series of initiatives taken by a group of scholars interested in the European community. Membership dues are $10 for students, $20 for individuals, and $50 to institutions. For free samples issues of the ECS newsletter or to join the association, write: Leon Hurwitz, Department of Political Science, Cleveland State University, Cleveland, OH 44115.

The Sociologists of Eastern Upstate New York held its ninth annual meeting April 22 at Siena College. The participants heard presentations by David Walczak of Union College and Katherine Berheide of Skidmore College. Walczak described his approach to teaching introductory sociology using popular song lyrics as text. Berheide addressed the feminist challenge to traditional sociology. Participants included sociologists from eight area colleges and universities.

Classified Ads

For Sale. Complete set of Sociology of Education, Volume 42, 1969, to Volume 60, 1987, inclusive. Best offer. Helen fax, NS, Canada B3H 3C3; (902) 420-4878 (office) or (902) 422-3693 (home).

I'll bring out the best in your book or paper. Expert editing for style, clarity, mechanics. Twenty years' experience with sociological material. Karen Feinberg, 5755 Nahant, Cincinnati, OH 45224; (513) 542-8328.

The University of Minnesota offers Master's and Doctoral degrees in Family Social Science, focusing on research, theory, and practice. Faculty research interests encompass family policy, family economics, gerontology, family life education, family financial management, human sexuality, family relationships, marital and family therapy. Fellowship support and assistantships available. Equal opportunity employer. For information, write/call: Dorothy Berggren, Secretary, Graduate Studies, 290 McNeal Hall, 1985 Burford Avenue, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, MN 55108; (612) 625-3116. All application materials must be received by December 15, including letters of recommendations, GRE scores, and official transcript of grades.

ETHNICITY AND ASSIMILATION

Blacks, Chinese, Filipinos, Koreans, Japanese, Mexicans, Vietnamese, and Whites

Robert Masao Jiobu

This book is one of the first to compare and contrast so many different racial and ethnic groups on various selected demographic, socioeconomic, and assimilation indicators. There is constant debate as to whether or not Asians have 'made it.' Jiobu's findings will shed new light on and lend fresh perspective to this discussion.

— Morrison G. Wong

ORDER FORM

State University of New York Press
P.O. Box 6525 • Ithaca, NY 14850
(607)277-2211/1-800-666-2211

Ethnicity and Assimilation/Jiobu; 320 pp.
____ copies @ $16.95 pb./____ copies @ $48.50 hc.
Prices subject to change without notice.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Please add $1.50 for postage and handling. New York State residents, please add sales tax.
Enclosed: check or money order for $ _____ Charge my: VISA M/C AmEX
No. _____ Exp. date _____
Signature _____
(required for charge orders)

Have you ordered your copy of the Index?

The Cumulative Index of Sociology Journals contains author and subject indexes for 1971-85 issues of all ASA journals plus the American Journal of Sociology and Social Forces.

764 pages, 1987

$37.50 members

$48.50 non-members

$65 institutions

Order from: ASA, 1722 N Street
NW, Washington, DC 20036

mellen

Publisher of Scholarly Books

Dear Colleague:

We are pleased to be able to attend the 83rd Annual Meeting of the American Sociological Association in Atlanta on August 24-28, 1988. We will be there to solicit manuscript proposals as well as to sell books at our special conference price.

The Edwin Mellen Press, founded in 1974, is a specialized publisher of scholarly and scientific books. It fills the niche created as traditional university presses have sought increasingly to publish books of general interest thereby leaving the task of publishing monographs, bibliographies, and translations to the new STM ("scholarly, technical, medical") publishers like The Edwin Mellen Press.

The publishing program of The Edwin Mellen Press consciously imitates certain programs of European, especially German, scholarly publishers. For example, it establishes continuing monograph series in specific areas of scholarship and solicits library subscriptions for them. At present, The Edwin Mellen Press sustains over fifty such series in virtually all areas of the humanities and social sciences, plus business, archaeology, leisure studies, and health and human services.

Mellen's main offices, where over twenty staff are located, are in Lewiston, New York (an important center of American history and art). In Lewiston, the press occupies several buildings: an editorial office, a center for typesetting and graphic design, a printing shop, a warehouse, a fulfillment/financial office, and a guest house for visiting authors. In addition to its Lewiston office, The Edwin Mellen Press also has a Canadian division, established four years ago. In 1988, The Edwin Mellen Press opened a European division in Great Britain, and will open a West-African division, based in Nigeria.

The sole purpose of The Edwin Mellen Press is to promote and criterion for accepting a manuscript for publication. The press does not support any ideology or scholarly "school." Although The Edwin Mellen Press is an independent, self-sustaining business, operating without any institutional subsidies, it accepts the obligation of public accountability by making its annual financial statements available.

The Edwin Mellen Press invites manuscript proposals for scholarly works in Sociology. Please provide the following information:

1. General topic or title of proposed work.
2. Specific contribution of this work to the field of scholarship.
3. What is the content of your work? (e.g., parts or chapters)
4. Your scholarly/academic background. (If possible, please send us your professional resume).
5. Present state of manuscript and projected completion date.
6. Your name, address, phone number (day and evenings).
7. Have you any questions?

We invite your inquiries and hope for the opportunity to become your publisher. Please deliver the answers to the above questions to our editors at the publishers' exhibit in the Atlanta Marriott Marquis Hotel. They will be in booth 402 and booth 404, both located near the entrance. For those of you who do not know our publishing program, stop by and pick up a free catalog and How To Publish brochure, which gives the publishing philosophy of The Edwin Mellen Press. We will also have available our scholarly works in Sociology at a special conference price of $19.95 for hardcover and $9.95 for softcover editions. Special prepublication discounts will also be offered on our forthcoming scholarly works in Sociology. Our editors look forward to meeting you in Atlanta.

Sincerely,

Herbert Richardon
Editor in Chief

The Edwin Mellen Press

240 Portage Road
Lewiston, NY 14092
USA (716)754-2266

4 Queenston Street #67
Queenston, Ontario
Canada L0S 1L0

Mellen House
Lampeter, Dyfed, Wales
United Kingdom SA48 7ED

Advantage

Sections

Sections bridge the interests of the individual ASA members and the larger organization. Joining one or more of ASA's 27 sections is a good way to become involved in ASA activities and to meet other sociologists with similar interests in research, teaching, and sociological practice. At every Annual meeting, each section has a Section Day program including paper sessions, roundtables, social events, and a business meeting. Several sections give awards to honor outstanding work in their specialty. Throughout the year, Sections communicate via their own newsletters and hold elections for their officers. Many sections have special projects to bring students into the profession. New sections include Sociology of Culture; Sociology of Emotions; Science, Knowledge and Technology; and a section-in-formation on Microcomputing. Attend the Annual Meeting Section Days and join a section! For more information, write: Administrative Assistant for Membership, ASA, 1722 N Street NW, Washington, DC 20036; (202) 833-3410.

Membership in ASA benefits you!

Footnotes

Published monthly except June, July, and September. Distributed to all persons with membership in the ASA. Subscriptions to non-members, $18. Single copy, $2.50.

Contributions to "Open Forum" should be limited to 800 words; "Obituaries," 500 words; and "Letters to the Editor," 400 words. News items and announcements are due the first of the month preceding publication (e.g., April 1 for May issue) and are printed once only on a space available basis.

Editor: William V. D'Antonio
Associate Editors: Carla Howery, Bettina Huber, Lionel Maldonado, William Martineau, Stephen
A. Buti
Production: Karen Gray Edwards, Susan Frensilii
Secretary: Michael T. Aiken

Send communications on material, subscriptions, and advertising to: American Sociological Association, 1722 N Street NW, Washington, DC 20036; (202) 833-3410.

Copyright 1988, ASA. Third class postage paid at Washington, DC and additional mailing offices. ISSN 0749-6931.

NON-PROFIT ORG.
U.S. POSTAGE PAID
WASHINGTON, D.C.
PERMIT NO. 504